More clothes are rubbed out than worn out. GOLD DUST saves rubbing and saves your clothes

Do not use Soap, Naphtha, Borax, Soda, Ammonia or Kerosene with GOLD DUST.

GOLD DUST has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form. The GOLD DUST TWINS need no outside help.

GOLD DUST lathers instantly in hot or cold, hard or soft water—converts itself instantly into thick, vigorous suds that remove grease, grime and settled stains and clear out germs and impurities. It leaves only cleanliness and wholesomeness in their wake.

GOLD DUST spares you and protects your clothes from washboard wear.

Save yourself long hours of weary, dreary toil, and double the life of your clothes by buying and trying a package of GOLD DUST next wash-day.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

GOLD DUST is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

TRANSCONA PARK, WINNIPEG, CAN.

Splendid Opportunity to Secure Lots in a Growing Place.

We call the attention of investors to the large advertisement to be found in to-day's issue, of Transcona Park, Winnipeg. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest opportunities that eastern investors will have of making money, as the property is sure to rapidly increase in value.

Lots 30 x 100 to a 16-foot lane, $5 to $7 per foot. Cash required, only $15 and $10 per month, thus being within the grasp of mechanics and others with limited means at their disposal.

Another important feature about the sale of lots is that Messrs. Clark & Munro, the owners, will agree to refund money in two years' time, if purchasers are dissatisfied, and pay 6 per cent interest. Could anything be fairer?

Read the advertisement for yourself.

"THE FORT GARRY" HOTEL, WINNIPEG.

Adjacent to the ruins of that historic monument "Old Fort Garry," memorable in the early history of Canada's new Western metropolis is being erected "The Fort Garry," truly representative of greater Winnipeg—a magnificent edifice—to rank with the world's finest hotels, embodying in its construction the most advanced, scientific and architectural ideals. Located in the very heart of the city, to which all lines of traffic converge, it is readily accessible to the railroads and electric car lines, and within a radius of a few blocks of most of the leading theatres, while one minute's walk will place one among the largest and most pretentious of the great stores in the centre of the shopping districts, or enable one to reach the great new terminal station of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

"The Fort Garry" to be constructed by the Grand Trunk Pacific will be built of the finest of Canadian granite and buff lime stone, in the style of the old French Chateaux of Normandy and Touraine and will rear its stately heights to fourteen stories, ly three hundred and fifty sleeping The building is to have approximate chambers and will be richly furnished in faultless taste. All its bedrooms are to have private bathrooms and are to be equipped with every approved modern appointment. Nothing that would in any way contribute to the comfort and welfare of its guests has been overlooked in the preparation of the plans and interior arrangements.

The keynote of the "Fort Garry" as judged from the design and interior arrangements is to be "homelike comfort." From basement to roof top, every detail of construction and furnishing has been worked out in perfect accord with this idea, and would seem to assure the largest measure of personal enjoyment and restfulness to its guests—a place where comfort-loving people might enjoy life to the utmost and feel thoroughly at home.

The main entrance of the hotel faces on Winnipeg's most beautiful thoroughfare "Broadway" and opens upon a spacious and imposing rotunda, which will suggest in its decoration and refinement the cheer and comfort provided within its walls, and from beautiful design, unbroken by column, lofty in height, and finely lighted by broad windows and circular domed ceiling.

The Mezzanine Gallery is also to be a novel feature of "The Fort Garry" and is obtained by the introduction of a storey midway between the office floor and the parlors. It is reached by a broad marble staircase from the main entrance lobby, and is to be finished and decorated in white and delicate shades of color. It overlooks the entrance lobby, dining room, cafe and tea room, and will be used as ladies' parlor, writing room and library. It commands a splendid view of those portions of the hotel where the most life occurs, and yet at the same time affords a quiet sense of retirement.

UNCLE TOBY'S RUSE

"Twenty-six! You surprise me. Yes, sir, you should be married. No young man should pass that age and remain single."

"You did, Uncle Toby," grinned Gerald McIntyre. Tobias Brenton was a confirmed bachelor of many years' standing.

"That's all right, boy," returned his uncle. "I'm the exception. But you should be married. Tell you what—Jerry—"

"What, uncle?"

"The day you get married I'll give you a thousand dollars for a wedding present."

"You will?"

"I will—with one proviso. If you marry anybody but Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who?"

"Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who's Patience Allene Truesdale? And why couldn't I marry her? And where does she live?"

"I didn't say you couldn't marry her," replied Tobias Brenton. "I haven't anything to say concerning her. I believe she is now at Collegeville. What I did say was that if you married anyone but her I would give you a thousand dollars."

"But, Uncle, I don't know this Truesdale, and there's no possibility of my marrying her, or anybody else."

"It's nearly train time," observed Uncle Toby, rising. "I realize you don't know Miss Truesdale, and so what I said may seem foolish. But you can't say I haven't put the proposition up to you. Think over this getting married, Jerry. A thousand dollars is a thousand dollars, these days. Let me hear from you."

The rest of the day Jerry gave his muscle to the hardware store where he was employed, but not his mind for that was elsewhere.

"Who was Patience Allene — Patience Allene; it was a quaint, sweet name — against whom his uncle seemed so prejudiced.

After supper he changed his clothes, tried on four necktles, and went to Collegeville.

There was chattering and laughter and an undercurrent of paintive tinkling in the College building for three of the party to the center had stringed instruments. From out of the pleasant babel, as Gerald passed the gate a voice said:

"Lead 'My Sweetheart Was a Rover,' Patience Allene."

He met Patience Allene Truesdale presently; the girl of the soprano voice was really she. It took five trips to Collegeville, and three ice cream socials before he accomplished an introduction.

Then he made up for lost time. He called on Patience Allene as often as Normal convention and the girl herself would permit patronized soda fountains and confectionary stores, as well as two moving picture theatres, liberally. And otherwise followed the path which his uncle's words should have barred. He fell heels over head in love with Patience Allene.

He puzzled still over the mystery of his uncle's dislike for her. She came from his uncle's home town. Long Rapids, and when he had craftily introduced his name into the conversation one night, she had spoken glowingly of Mr. Brenton, who was her father's best friend, she said. It was Mr. Brenton who had advised her to attend the Normal, so she could be a high school teacher.

"There's something troubling you, Jerry," she said, so unexpectedly, that he was taken completely off guard. "Tell me what it is."

Jerry, blundering, attempted to finesse it delayed things a little longer, but at last he had to tell.

"Your uncle needn't have worries," she said coolly, when he had finished. "I haven't any designs on you or your prospects. You are wasting time with me: better begin trying to earn that thousand dollars. No, I'm not angry; good night!

Jerry, raging, went home to find Uncle Toby, having dropped into town unexpectedly, the centre of his own merry family circle.

In five minutes Uncle Toby the wealthy, the courted and the masterful was on his way to Collegeville, virtually a prisoner in the custody of this grim and silent young stranger.

"Now, sir," grated Jerry, "I brought you here to say that your prejudice against Miss Truesdale doesn't make any difference. We're going to be married; and we don't need that thousand dollars."

"Is this true, Patience Allene?" asked Uncle Toby.

Patience Allene did not seem to mind the queerness of Jerry's proposal. "Yes," she said, simply; "but, Mr. Brenton, what did you say to Jerry?"

"What did I say, Jerry?"

"You said you'd give me a thousand dollars if I married anybody but Patience Allene."

"Correct. Anything else; any reflection on her?"

"No-o."

He took a hand of each. "My dear young people," he said, "your uncle has 'put one over,' as the boys say. If you dreamed I wanted you to marry, you'd have flown apart. There, now, never mind thanking me. I must be getting back. I suppose the last car goes pretty soon. I'll let you walk that three miles alone. And — the thousand dollars shall be five thousand."

And Uncle Toby smiled whimsically as he went away, yet sighed a little, too; for he knew he was already forgotten.

His Idea of Importance.

'In one benighted region of a certain state in the southwest,' says a Chicago lawyer, 'they cherish some peculiar notions touching the duties of a juror.'

One day a case was being tried, when suddenly the justice exclaimed:

"How is this? There are only eleven jurymen in the box. Where is the twelfth?"

The foreman arose and addressed the court respectfully, as follows:

"May it please your honor, the twelfth juror had to go away on important business, but he has left his verdict with me."

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

HUDSON'S BAY AND WESTERN PROSPECTS.

Ancient Corporation's Big Increase In Profits.

Some very interesting information regarding western Canadian conditions was given by Lord Strathcona when presiding over the annual meeting of the Hudson's Bay company, held in London recently. After reviewing the excellent reports which had been in the hands of the shareholders for some time, his lordship referred to the conditions which obtain at the present time. He quoted from a cablegram received from the stores commissioner, Mr. Burbidge, at Winnipeg, which stated that the volume of sales for the first five months of the current year had increased $500,000. This is at the rate of $100,000 per month. The cable messages read by his lordship were as follows: —

From Land Commissioner

"From personal observation, which corresponds with reports from the company's surveyor and other authoritative sources, the largest acreage in crop, seeded under ideal conditions, was followed by exceptionally favorable growing weather, and with present season the crop promises to be very considerably larger than any previous harvest yield in western Canada. This will no doubt stimulate the demand for agricultural lands from prospective occupants, and have an invigorating effect on growing cities and towns in the several districts."

From Fur Trade Commissioner.

"Compared with last year the fur catch has declined in British Columbia, Manitoba and Keewatin. An increase has occurred in Saswatchewan, Lake Superior, Lake Huron, St. Lawrence. There is no change worthy of mention in Athabasca. No advice to hand from James Bay, Labrador, Mackenzie river, but it is very probable volume has declined owing to unfavorable winter and scarcity of periodical furs. Adequate supplies have been forwarded districts. Transport service is well organised for efficiency and economy. The prospects are encouraging."

From the Stores Commissioner.

"The volume of sale shop trade for first five months of current year shows increase of over five hundred thousand dollars. Prospects during remainder of sale shop year are excellent, the outlook for a record crop being very favorable."

CALAGARY STREET RAILWAY HAS GOOD HALF-YEAR.

The net profits from the operation of the Calgary street railway system for the first six months of the present year were almost three times as great as for the corresponding half year in 1910.

The comparative statements of the receipts, expenses and profits of the system prepared and submitted to the city commissioners by Superintendent McCauley shows a wonderful growth of the city and increasing patronage of the system.

After deducting five per cent of the gross receipts and paying a percentage of the interest and sinking fund, the net profits for the six months of the year amounted to $49,705.81. For the half year in 1910 the profits amounted to $17,061.

The total revenue for the first half of 1911 amounted to $149,437.57. After deducting the total operated expenses of $75,966.80, five per cent of the gross receipts amounting to $7,471.96 and $16,296.28 for interest and sinking fund, a net profit of $49,705.81 was left.

Spanish 5 and 10 Cent Stores

Spanish newspapers are commenting on the new system of merchandising just introduced into Spain through the opening in Madrid of two bazaars along lines corresponding to the American 5 and 10 cent store. The Madrid bazaars have been started with a stock of toys, cheap jewellery, notions, perfumery, underwear, collars and cuffs, neckties, caps, chinaware, fans, handkerchiefs, belts, brushes, purses, small hardware and other articles priced to sell at 65 centimes, an equivalent of about 13 cents American money.

The American 5 and 10 cent store idea has not been developed in Spain to any extent, although the two bazaars recently established approach the system, at least in the range of articles carried, more closely than anything heretofore attempted.

Bazaars carrying articles offered within a certain price range have been operated in the larger Spanish cities for some time — Malaga has had such a store for over twenty years, prices varying from two to nine cents — but the limited variety of goods obtained and sold at these prices did not strongly attract the [illegible]

How Jones Lost Toes

Jones was a man whose boast had always been that whatever he dared he could do, but his braggadocio ended rather seriously — for him.

His friends declared that he would not stay in a certain haunted room for one night, and as the idea of being afraid of anything was particularly distasteful to him, Jones decided to accept the challenge to do so.

He slipped a revolver under his pillow and slept peacefully for a few hours. Then he was awakened by a peculiar moaning sound, the weirdness of which thrilled him with an apprehensive fear and a longing for home.

Looking towards the foot of the bed he thought he saw — a human hand!

"Remove that hand or I fire!" he shouted, bracing himself up for action.

One—two—three—no reply — then, bang!

And that's how Jones lost three of his toes.

Breakfast and the Morning Mail.

Did you ever hear that it is dangerous to open your morning mail at the breakfast table? According to a Berlin scientist, Professor Kron, it is dangerous—very. Professor Kron has succeeded in tracing several cases of contagion to the old custom of waiting until you sit down at the breakfast table before opening and going through your morning mail. He calls attention to the fact that the average man goes down to breakfast with hands and face scrupulously clean, teeth scrubbed and throat gargled. In that condition he is prepared to eat without danger of swallowing more disease germs than may have possibly escaped the watchful attentions of the cook.

But instead of doing that, he handles letters and papers which have passed through many hands before reaching his own. Between bites he opens envelopes and wrappers, and in doing so unthinkingly paves the way for the absorption of all kinds of germs which may, or may not, do him a great deal of harm.

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six: jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine laths, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully beautiful.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

Bad Walking.

The sidewalks throughout the city have been in bad shape for several days, being covered in many places with a heavy coating of ice. The result is that many falls are recorded. An elderly lady slipped near the Post Office yesterday, and received a severe shaking up, but fortunately without serious injury.

He Likes The Times.

Mr. A. R. Gill one of our esteemed rural route subscribers called yesterday and paid his subscription to the paper. He said he liked The Times very much, and found that it was very popular in his district. Almost every farmer on the rural route have become subscribers, and all tell the same story.

Underwent an Operation.

Mr. Stubbs, of the Collegiate Institute staff, went up to Toronto last week, where he was operated on for appendicitis. He is doing nicely and expects to be able to return to Peterborough in the course of a couple of weeks.

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1700 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most polite and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have seen. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that if it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

Registration Starts To-morrow.

The dates for the registration for the Provincial elections to be held on December 11, are announced as November 24, 25, 27 and 28, with morning, afternoon and evening sittings, at the following hours: 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.; 7.30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Registration can be made at the following places:

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

"I want to go to the station,' I [illegible] as we went along. 'I'm going [illegible]'

"He slowed up, rested his left hand [illegible] the back of the seat, turned half [illegible] around and said smilingly in [illegible]

"'You want to go to Pompeii?'

"'No,' I cried. 'I want to go to [illegible] station. I am starting for home, [illegible] America, for home.'

"'I'll take you to Pompeii,' he offered graciously, 'for 8 lire.'

"I braced myself for the conflict.

"'I want to go home,' I declared. 'I went to Pompeii. I wouldn't go over that old road anyway. I'd go by train. That's the same road you take to Vesurius. I was over it the day before yesterday. It is full of bears and ruts.'

"My driver paid not the slightest attention. Instead he pointed proudly to a passing cabby.

"'That's my brother,' he grinned, adding softly, 'I'll take you to Pompeii for 7 lire.'

"'A handsome fellow,' I said, 'and if you paid me 7 lire I wouldn't go to Pompeii to-day. I'm going home.'

"He drove awhile, then turned and smiled at me again.

"'This road takes you to the station,' he said, 'and to Pompeii, too. I'll take you to Pompeii for 6 lire. A whole long day, a handsome driver, a fine carriage, and all to yourself for 6 lire,' he summed up, flashing a triumphant face full upon me.

"'If you gave me the cab and the harness and the horse thrown in,' I wailed, 'I wouldn't go. You couldn't pay me to go, I know that old road. Besides, I want to start for home. Amerike! Home!'

"He drove and drove. I got absorbed in the things we passed. In the doorways, back of which was invariably the single room of the family, the one large bed, the three chairs at the foot of it, the table, and in the rear the altar, before which burned the little lamp to the Blessed Virgin, and in her humble worshippers, who lived, it seemed, on the door steps, there being only one room inside.

"There played the children, the little ragged girls of 5 and 6 holding the bambino done up in swaddling clothes, tossing it between them as they would toss an overgrown doll, and the boys more ragged yet, if that were possible. There were the dogs, cats, the chickens, and now and then a proud turkey, ignominiously tied, far from barnyards and its kind, by a string to a post.

"I didn't know which I pitied most, the babies in training for cripples swaddled so, their tidy limbs so unnaturally bound, the unwashed cats and dogs, or the turkeys in chains.

"I recalled my destination with a start.

"'Where are we?' I demanded to know.

"'The station is about a mile beak yonder,' my handsome driver said stolidly, 'and you'll be too late for your train. I'm taking you to Pompeii now for 5 lire.'

"I could have wept, but what was the use? I was now too late for my train.

"'Anyway,' I petitioned, 'you'll rescue me from the beggars. Won't you? When you get to them drive fast.'

"To my amazement he complied. We sped past the man with the withered arm, the cripple tangled up with the donkey, and passed another cab. The driver flung a bright look at me.

"'Do you see that man?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'Well, he's my brother,' gloated he.

He seemed to have an oversupply of brothers, but he endeavored to compensate for bringing me out of my way for five lire by showing me the sights.

"He pointed out all the pictures of the saints by the roadside, the crucifixes on the walls, the Holy Virgins at the corners of the lead-colored houses, until at last the wide sweep of level country where the dust and ashes of the buried city were began to show.

"Arrived there, a babbling guide hurried me through with the velocity of a whirlwind, showed me broken columns, old fountains, Maduas heads with the faces worn away by hands long since ashes, the buried dog, its mouth in the attitude of barking, prints of chariot wheels, gray walls through the apertures of which the smoky peak of the mountain that had done all the harm glowed purple, and hurried me out again through the gate to my cab.

"My cabby stood there smiling, a man beside him who was even handsomer than he.

"'My brother,' said he.

"I smiled and bowed, and we started over the long gray road of the poor to Naples.

"The sight saddened me. I wished I had started for America, for home! As we bumped over the terrible slags of the Naples streets my resentment grew. It was not lessened by the behavior of my guide. Three times more he had pointed out brothers. Now he leaned over to me, smiled, and pointed out another before we drove up to my door.

"Some acquaintances ran out, amazed at seeing me.

"'I thought,' they cried, 'that your started for home this morning.'

"'I thought so, too,' said I, 'but my cabby thought differently.'"

Its Wonderful Power in Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth Its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that doesn't know of the thousand and one uses of "Nerviline" around the stable has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of looking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of 'Nerviline' on hand. I always get a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth in the same class as 'Nerviline'. Last summer I had a $250 horse that got the scours, and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a half bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nerviline. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

GLEANED HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

For Rent.

Two Offices—newly fitted—$10 per month and $6 per month respectively Light, Lavatory and Heat supplied. Apply Drawer 1168, Peterborough.

Will Leave on Time.

The Times is requested to state that the members of the Y.W.C.A., who are taking part in the entertainment at Lakefield to-night, are requested to be at the Association building at 5.45 p.m. sharp as the bus will leave on time.

Gone to Ottawa.

The County Council left by special coach on the 11.35 C.P.R. yesterday for Ottawa where they will meet the Minister of Railways and Canals, the Hon. Frank Cochrane. There were twenty in the party.

To Keep Our Teachers.

The move to keep teachers in Ontario for one year after passing their examinations and to enforce their teaching for one year before granting them certificates is a good one. It may, however, not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended as the North West Provinces are willing to employ uncertificated teachers.

The New Wharf.

Work on the new wharf on George street is progressing satisfactorily, about thirty men being now at work. The dredge is at work cleaning out the river, so as to afford sufficient depth of water for steamers. This work will keep a large force of men busy all winter and most of next summer.

A Socialist Candidate.

The Socialists of Lindsay propose to run a candidate in West Victoria for the Ontario Legislature. He possibly may secure a few votes, but his candidature will hardly be taken seriously. Peterborough Socialists, of which there are a few only, are not as yet desirous of getting into the limelight politically.

Surveying Through Farms.

Lindsay Warder: Surveys for the new electric road, which will pass through Lindsay, from Port Hope to Orillia, have been locating lines through the farms of Messrs. R. Brown, J. Simons, H. Dorain, A. Cunningham and the Fisher Farm, all east of Lindsay. The purchase of the right of way will be dealt with at the company's earliest convenience

A New Siding.

The construction commenced yesterday morning of anew siding on the G.T.R. at Bethune street, running south. The siding has become necessary owing to the increased freight traffic which requires more accommodation for its cars. This increase is evidenced by the fact that two shunters are at work in that district whereas some little time ago, only one existed.

Sacred Heart At-Home.

A very enjoyable At-Home took place on Wednesday evening, in the St. Alphonsus Lyceum, under the auspices of the Sacred Heart T.A.S. Progressive euchre followed by dancing, made the evening pass pleasantly. In the euchre contest Miss Frawley and Mr. W. S. Merrell were the winners. Refreshments were served at midnight. Fraelick's orchestra supplied the music in their usual acceptable style.

Hon. W. L. King Coming.

Hon. W. L. King, of Berlin, formerly Minister of Labour, in the Laurier Cabinet, will visit Peterborough on December 7th, and deliver an address in Mr. Hall's interests, in the Grand Opera House. Hon. Mr. King's ability as an orator is well recognized, and he has many admirers here, who will no doubt be pleased to have an opportunity of hearing the President of the Ontario Reform Association express himself on Provincial issues.

Mr. G. N. Gordon for Council.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, of the law firm of O'Connell & Gordon, has consented to run for the council. There probably is no one in Peterborough better fitted for the position of Alderman than Mr. Gordon. He would be a worthy successor to Ald. Bradburn who will run for Mayor.

Mrs. Doughty Improving.

The Times is informed that Mrs. R. H. Doughty, formerly of this city, who was seriously burned at her home in Rochester by an explosion of gasoline, is improving, and is likely to recover. This will be good news to her many Peterborough friends, and especially to her mother, Mrs. Joseph Glass, 486 Parnell street.

Dividend at Xmas.

The Peterborough shareholders of the York County Loan will be pleased to learn that a second dividend is to be declared about Christmas. The first dividend was for 25 cents on the dollar and was paid on November 1, 1909. The second cheque for a similar amount, it is now stated, will be mailed to the shareholders the first week in December. There will be a third and final dividend later, but the amount of this is not yet known.

Coasting on the Sidewalks.

The dangerous practice of coasting on the sidewalks and highways of the city should be put a stop to. It is being indulged in more or less in the suburbs, where the police are seldom seen. Yesterday a couple of lads were coasting on the hill near the Central School, and narrowly escaped colliding with a team at the street crossing.

Want Hotel Rates Fixed.

It may be of interest to the hotel men of Peterborough to learn that the Ontario commercial travellers are talking of calling on Sir James Whitney and his Cabinet in a body to ask for an order fixing maximum rates for certain grades of hotels in the cities of the province. They claim that since the government imposed an extra tax on bar receipts, hotel rates have risen like magic, and the tax imposed by the license department practically comes out of the pockets of the commercial travellers or their employers.

Register To-day.

The following registration booths will be open at 10 a.m. to-day, of which all interested should take notice:—

Ward 1—VanEvery's, 204 Rubidge street.
Ward 2—Council Chamber.
Ward 3—Police Chamber.
Ward 4—Lee's shop, George and Smith streets.
Ward 5—Old Town Hall.

The Board of Appeal will sit on Monday, December 4th.

To register, the elector must be of age, a resident of the city for three months and of Canada for twelve months.

Government determined to attach a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College to the staff of the County High Schools. Beginning in six counties, every year the number has been increased, until to-day no less than 20 counties are being served by permanent men, covering nearly one-half of Ontario and the Government mean to continue the good work until all the province is served by these useful practical men. These experts and their assistants, besides teaching the latest and most scientific methods of farming, are always ready and willing to be consulted by the farmers in their districts on any aspect of farm work. There is no doubt that the greatly improved methods resulting from the work of these agricultural experts have put thousands of dollars into the pockets of the farmers.

The Whitney Government have also inaugurated Demonstration Orchards during the past season in no less than 31 different sections, an orchard has been taken over by the Department and handled by experts, showing the most scientific methods of spraying, pruning, etc. Under their management and watched by thousands of interested farmers, these orchards have shown an increase in yield of 50 to 500 per cent. Anyone can see the great benefit to be gained from these practical object lessons. This is another way the Whitney Government have done nothing. In the Liberal regime there were no Demonstration orchards, now there are 31.

The Whitney Government in pursuance of their policy (according to Mr. Hall) of doing nothing for the farmer, has also started and encouraged drainage work. They gave the sum of $4,000 for this good work in 1910 and in addition held 132 drainage demonstrations and surveyed for 14,672 acres.

The Whitney Government also inaugurated "Field Crop Competitions" and in 1910 no less that 110 societies entered, there were 1650 competitors, affecting 26,000 acres. To help this good work the annual grant of the Whitney Government is $7,500.00. Short courses in scientific agriculture to the number of 43 were also held. Note, in 1904 none of these good works were dreamed of by the Liberal regime.

With a view to showing the possibilities of scientific forestry to retain waste lands, the Whitney administration has bought 1,300 acres in Norfolk County and there they have 800,000 forest plants in nursery lines; 1,500,000 seedlings in seed beds; 200,000 plants of all kinds of trees. In addition over 400,000 forest tree seedlings are distributed each year to farmers all over the province.

Again the Ontario Agricultural College is helping the farmer in the vast amount of experimental work carried on, in the scientific testing of water, wheat and other commodities in the drainage campaign, in the ever increasing correspondence dealt with, in the bulletins prepared and addresses delivered, the preparation of teachers to teach agriculture in our public schools. In all this grand work the College gets in touch with and renders real practical aid to the men on the farms. And then Mr. Hall says, "The Whitney Government has done nothing at all." He has queer ideas on nothing, hasn't he?

In order to encourage live-stock breeding, the Whitney Government have established 9 sheep breeding demonstration stations, to show the farmers practically, the profit that can be made from even a small flock of sheep. The Bee-Keepers Association has also highly commended the Whitney Government for helping the bee industry. There are now 16 inspectors in this line, in 1904 there was only one.

The Government has also taken over and supported the Ontario Veterinary College and it is now recognized as one of the best institutions of the kind on the continent, and a site has been purchased for a new college.

The Government has also taken over at Jordan Harbor, on the borders of Lake Ontario, a farm of 100 acres and have made this into an experimental fruit farm and great success has attended its efforts to improve and profit fruit farming.

Grants to agricultural and Horticultural societies have been greatly increased and a special sum of $3,000 given to help societies in Northern Ontario. This year the sum of $10,000 to help societies which suffered from bad weather.

This is not all, or nearly all, the Whitney Government have done to help the farmers of Ontario, and all this was not done by the Liberal party, of which R. R. Hall is a distinguished example. This work is not only publishing dry reports as Mr. Hall says, but is real practical good work. Mr. Hall says, this work should be done, and I say it has been done and is now being done by the Whitney Government, and further, I say, the party to which Mr. Hall belongs never attempted to do these things when in power. Mr. Hall pays Sir. J. P. Whitney agreat compliment by taking his work as his (Mr. Hall's) political platform.

SAME OLD CHARGE AGAINST LABOR MEN.

Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, and Frank Morrison to Stand Trial for Alleged Contempt.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, must again stand trial in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia on charges of contempt arising out of the Buck's Stove and Range Case.

Justice Wright to-day handed down a discussion overruling the motion of the labor leaders for a dismissal of the proceedings under the statute of limitations. The court held that contempt of court is not classed as criminal, and consequently not subject to the bar of the statute of the limitations.

is more than skin-deep — and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSONS INVALIDS PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUBOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

His Bit of Empire.

It is a well-known fact that some Britons are more inclined to talk about the Empire's fringe, of which they are ignorant, than about its heart.

A housewife, whose husband was addicted this way, turned his thoughts into more homely channels by her ready wit.

One Saturday evening he came home late, smelling strongly of tobacco and very red in the face.

"Oh," he said, "I've had a fine time, I've been to an Empire meeting. It was good."

Then he frowned and said impatiently. "What's the matter with supper. Ain't it ready yet?"

His wife, who was peeling potatoes and holding a squalling baby, rose and extended the child to him. "Here," she said, "take hold of your bit of Empire while I fry these chips."

Napoleon III and his "Double"

Many of the stories relating to Napoleon III. and Eugene Vivier, the cornet-player, are apocryphal, but there can be no doubt the latter owed much of his social and artistic success to his remarkable resemblance to the French Emperor. This resemblance, from their first meeting in London, endeared him to Napoleon, who at once took him under his patronage so that his future was thenceforth assured. Indeed, he soon became on most familiar terms with the Emperor who, according to the Republicans and Orleanists, availed himself of his extraordinary likeness to the musician in employing the latter to impersonate him when he desired to be, like Sir Boyle Roche's bird, in two places at once.

Ready for Emergencies.

One of our French contemporaries, apropos of the desire of the Germans to get a piece of Africa, speculates as to what the personal equipment of the German commander will consist. Will it be as extensive as that of Count Waldersee when he went to China in connection with the Boxer rebellion? The intimate friend of the Kaiser, we are told, had a trunk of dressing-gowns, a vast quantity of "chemises de nuit," boots by the dozen pairs, with felt socks and gutta percha overalls, and fur-lined waistcoats. The Count also carried a portable kitchen, the fittings being of nickel and silver. Four coursing dogs, barrels of biscuits, and a domestic to look after the dogs accompanied Waldersee, whose life was insured for $100,000.

Carnegie and his Father

Dr. Andrew Carnegie told an audience at Liverpool the other day that he had "taken to library forming because his father did it before him." William Carnegie's efforts at library founding were extremely modest as compared with the work of his distinguished son. In 1838 Mr. Carnegie's father was a journeyman weaver in Dunfermline. He and two other drivers of the shuttle met, and agreed to convey the books they had in their respective homes to one house. The combined libraries only figured out twenty volumes. The pioneers were joined by other weavers, and they agreed to tax themselves to the extent of a few pence per month and from this fund purchase new books. The little institution ultimately blossomed into the Dunfermline Tradesmen's Library.

Little Brother's Candor

Brothers do not usually feel called upon to make their sisters conceited; in fact, they seem to consider it a sacred duty, imposed by Heaven, to keep them humble and unassuming, as the following anecdote goes to show:

She was an older sister, and a great chum of a ten-year-old brother, but in spite of their mutual affection, he was anything but demonstrative.

One day she begged him for a kiss, and the following dialogue was overheard:

"Say, Bob, give me a kiss, won't you?"

"I guess not"—(after a pause)—"I will if you give me a dime."

"I can't give you a dime," came back a maidenly voice, "but I'll give you a nickel."

"Nickel, nothing! I tell you it's worth a dime. You couldn't get another fellow to do it for a dollar," the young gallant assured her.

EDISON ON GERMANY

What most impressed Thomas A. Edison in his recent tour of Germany was the wonderful industrial expansion, especially in the northern part of the empire. As one got further north one saw fewer romantic old churches, but more smokestacks. That, he took as a sign of the times.

But he was struck by the fact that with all their industrial growth the technical methods and appliances of the Germans were far inferior to some others. The lack of up-to-date machinery in many instances was conspicuous. Undoubtedly the Germans were the greatest scientists and theorists in the world. It might be because they were more patient, but, adds Edison, in applied science they are usually far behind.

OBITUARY.

Lily Ida Gravelle.

The death of Lily Ida Gravelle, the six weeks' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gravelle, of Bridgenorth, occurred on Wednesday. Interment is to be held at St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

Mrs. Richard Patten.

At the age of 28 years, Mrs. Annie Maria Leggott, wife of Mr. Richard Patten, North Monaghan, passed away after a short illness, on Saturday, November 11.

Besides her husband and one child, there are two brothers and three sisters, who are, Harry, residing in the Northwest, and George at Toronto, and Miss Clara Leggott of Barrie, the latter having attended the deceased during her sickness.

The late Mrs. Patten was born in England and before coming to North Monaghan, resided in Barrie and Toronto. She had spent the past seven years in Monaghan, where many friends and acquaintances will sincerely miss her. The funeral took place from the late home, Lot 7, Concession 12.

Q. Why do school children with good sight, require Glasses?

A. Mainly to rest the eyes. The eye does not obtain its growth until the child is about the age of twelve. The growing eye is taxed beyond its strength: the proper glasses rest and preserve the eyes.

A. By squinting or frowning the muscle in the eye is relieved of strain; this is nature's way. Study-glasses relieves this strain, and—thus prevent squinting.

VOL XXXIV NO 270 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

The Deep Sea Mission

Dr. Grenfell's Great Work Before the People of Peterborough

The people of Peterborough are addressed with regard to a matter which will surely have much sympathy and heartiest support.

The whole civilized world knows of the splendid work of Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell among the Deep Sea Fishermen of Labrador.

For years a number of interested citizens have held what is known as the Deep Sea Mission Ball in the month of December. As there will be no ball this year the Ministerial Association has assumed the responsibility of appealing to the public to make up the usual sum without the festivity of former years.

Surely the Christian people of our city will respond promptly and gladly.

Never did the mission require funds more than it does this year. Peterborough will not leave its share undone.

Contributions left at any of the newspaper offices will be acknowledged promptly by Mrs. James Wood, who has consented to act as treasurer of the fund.

MR. STRATTON ACQUITTED

Hon. J. R. Stratton and T. J. Warren are not guilty of conspiring together with others, to represent to the Treasury Board that a sum not less that $250,000 had been bona fide paid by subscribers to the capital stock of the Farmers Bank, with intent to unlawfully obtain acertificate permitting them to do business.

This is the finding of Judge Winchester, in his judgment handed out yesterday, following the trial of Messrs. Stratton and Warren before him last week. There is still another indictment against these two men in the High Court which will be disposed of at the next sitting of the Criminal Assizes, when the present judge will have to decide whether this acquittal by Judge Winchester is equivalent to an acquittal of the standing indictment.

MR. HALL IN SMITH

A Strong Address Last Night at Temperance Hall, on the Fourth Line

Notwithstanding the bad weather, there was a fair attendance at the public meeting last night in the Temperance Hall, on the 4th Line of Smith.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. H. Garbutt, Reeve of the township, who opened the meeting with a short address.

Mr. Hall in his remarks said that one of the leading planks in the Liberal platform, to exempt improvements from taxation either in the whole or in part and in any event it should be left to each municipality to say whether or not they would exempt improvements in whole or in part.

Sir James Whitney opposes this policy and says that it is "too absurd for comment."

The Ottawa Citizen, a leading Conservative journal, denounces Sir Jas. Whitney, and points out that the supporters of non-taxation of improvements are quite as intelligent as the present Premier of the Province of Ontario.

The non-taxation of improvements in whole or in part has worked successfully in British Columbia, in Alberta, Saskatchewan and in Manitoba.

The policy of non-taxation of improvements appeals to the common sense of every one.

If a working man in our cities puts a new verandah on his house up goes his assessment and up goes his taxes.

If a mechanic paints his house and beautifies his grounds so as to make them attractive, up goes his assessment and up goes his taxes.

The policy of the Whitney Government is to discourage improvements or at all events to increase the taxes of the enterprising citizens who are really interested in the general welfare of the community in which they live.

The City of Vancouver does not tax improvements and it is a well known fact that that city has made as rapid progress as any city in the Dominion.

The City of Edmonton does not tax improvements and it is well known that it is making wonderful strides.

There certainly is no sound economic reason why a municipality should not have the right to exempt improvements from taxation either in whole or in part.

Other addresses were also delivered after which the meeting closed with cheers for the Liberal candidate and the King.

If a farmer puts up a new barn up goes his assessment and up goes his taxes.

If you are troubled with chronic constipation, the mild and gentle effect of Chamberlain's Tablets makes them especially suited to your case. For sale by all dealers.

A Social Evening.

The Philathea class of the Murray street Baptist church entertained the Baraccа class to a social evening last night. A program was given and refreshments served. The Baraccas were the successful contestants in the membership contest and their young lady opponents, just to show that they were good losers, entertained them last evening.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to Miss M. A. Nicholls, teacher of the young ladies class, with a beautiful bouquet of flowers in appreciation of the splendid evening given by the young ladies of the Philathea class to the young men of the Baraccа class.

Rev. Father Girard Loses Guerin Suit.

Montreal, Nov. 24.—Mr. Justice Greenshields dismissed the action for damages taken by Rev. Father Girard against Dr. Guerin, Mayor of Montreal, yesterday afternoon from the bench. Father Girard contended that the Mayor had told him to leave the City Hall after telling him he was not apriest, and he should be examined as to his sanity. The Mayor claimed that if even he said the words alleged, which he denied, he had had sufficient provocation.

To Quickly Gain a New Complexion

(American Family Journal)

The quickest way to get rid of a bad complexion is by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store. Just spread the wax over your face at night in the same manner you would use cold cream, and the beautifying work begins at once. Next morning when you wash this off, tiny particles of the old, worn-out skin are taken off with it. The following day more of the dead surface skin comes off, and so on until soon you have entirely discarded the faded, sallow, blotchy or muddy complexion.

The fresh, bright, healthy-hued skin underneath furnishes your new complexion. No process has yet been discovered that will give a woman such a rarely beautiful and youthful skin. Marks of age, weather, worry and disease which mar the skin, of course disappear with the skin itself.

The Charter to Farmers Bank Should Have Been Recalled

AN ANTIQUATED PRACTICE

A recent comer to Peterborough stood on George Street while a funeral procession passed by, and later talked with The Times concerning what he called the antiquated practice of the minister riding with the undertaker. The interview caused The Times to make some enquiries concerning the matter and discovered that one year ago the Ministerial Association passed a resolution asking the undertakers to see that a cab is sent for the clergyman. For a month or more a cab was sent for certain ministers to convey them to the house of mourning, but when leaving the house the minister was crowded in with mourners or pall-bearers. We are assured that the bereaved family pays in the account the sum of one dollar and a half for "conveyance for clergyman." In many cases this appears as a separate item, but in all cases it is included in the gross amount. We are assured that in all cases where the family are unable to pay the amount the ministers will gladly provide their own conveyance, but they are righteously indignant that their parishioners pay for a conveyance which is never provided. The undertaker's conveyance is for himself, not for the minister.

We are told that one minister has, on several occasions, been called for with a single buggy, in which an undertaker already sat with his wife. This minister refused to crowd the lady and walked the length of the city to the house of mourning.

Surely the time has come in the history of this city when all undertakers should furnish what is now furnished in all cities and towns—a cab for the clergyman, summer and winter, thus giving the mourning families the dignified service for which they are made to pay. Peterborough is now a city, and not a suburb of Apsley.

HENRY CLAY BEATTIE, JR., ELECTROCUTED AT RICHMOND

Richmond, Va., Nov. 24. Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., before his death in the electric chair at 7.23 a.m. today, confessed to the murder of his wife. The statement which was given out in the rotunda of a downtown hotel, follows:

"I, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., desirous of standing right before God and man, do, on this 23rd day of November, 1911, confess my guilt of the crime charged against me. Much that was published concerning the details was not true, but the awful fact without the harrowing circumstances remain. For this action I am truly sorry, and, believing that I am at peace with God, and soon to pass into His presence, this statement is made."

Beattie's confession was followed by the following statement by the attending ministers: "This statement was signed in the presence of the two attending ministers and is the only statement that can and will be made public by them.

"Mr. Beattie desired to thank the many friends for kind letters and expressions of interest and the public for whatever sympathy felt or expressed."

"Let's get it over with," said Henry Clay Beattie, jr., yesterday "If it has to be, the sooner it is ended, the better."

MR. KENDRY FOR SENATOR

Deputation to Go to Ottawa to Urge Appointment

It will be gratifying to the citizens generally, regardless of political leanings, to learn that a strong effort is being made to have our esteemed fellow-townsman, Mr. James Kendry Ex-M.P., appointed to the Senate of Canada. Mr. Kendry has long been regarded as one of Peterborough's best citizens. He has always taken his full share of municipal work, having for years sat in the Council and afterwards filled the office of Mayor for several terms, from which he finally retired to become the representative of West Peterborough in the House of Commons, a position which he filled with credit to himself and advantage to the whole community. His appointment to the Senate would not only be immensely popular with a vast majority of the people of Peterborough City and County, but would, we are sure, also meet with the hearty approval of the entire country.

THE INSTITUTION SHOULD HAVE BEEN INVESTIGATED—CASE WELL REPRESENTED BY LEGAL TALENT.

Mr. Burnham, with Others Chaperoned the Deputation

Ruined Old Man, Who May Have to go to Poor House, Among Those Who Waited on Cabinet.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—A large deputation of Farmers Bank shareholders met the Cabinet this morning and asked for redress. William Laidlaw, K.C., made the main argument for the shareholders. He contended that as the charter had been illegally granted, there was never, according to law, a Farmers Bank.

"You argue then there was really no chartered bank?" asked Hon. W. T. White.

"Yes, certainly. There was never a bank," replied Mr. Laidlaw.

"You argue also that the Government is responsible to depositors, though not the shareholders?"

"Yes."

HAD DECEIVED MINISTER OF FINANCE.

The Cabinet Ministers who were present were Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. W. T. White, Senator Lougheed Hon. J. D. Reid, Hon. B. Nantelt, Hon. G. H. Perley, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Hon. Samuel Hughes and Hon Martin Burrell.

Mr. Clark said that there had been deception practiced. Mr. Travers swore to it. The Minister of Finance also said he had been deceived If the Minister had had the facts he said he would not have granted the certificate. They might not have a legal claim, but they felt the Government should come to their assistance The first year of the bank a report was made to the Government that it had made $12,000. As a matter of fact it went behind $60,000.

FACING THE POOR HOUSE.

Mr. Welland said that the biggest argument for assistance were the men who had lost all their money. He pointed to an aged farmer who sat in the front row, who, he said, had no friends, had lost everything and would now have to go to the poor house.

"These Farmers," continued Mr. Laidlaw, "in the county of Halton, got entangled in the bank and are just as innocent of moral wrong as a babe a month old."

They realized that they had a moral obligation and wanted to do all they could for them.

The general manager took a million dollars and put it in a mine and lid to the shareholders. They say we have lost our money, but as we object to the double liability, we come before Parliament for redress."

Mr. Laidlaw read the letter of Mr. Knight, Secretary of the Banking Association, to Hon. W. S. Fielding warning him of the way the bank was being formed. The Treasury Board should have exercised its right until the bank had been investigated. The bank did not commence business for two months.

"Your position is that the charter could have been recalled?" asked Mr. White.

"Certainly the Department of Finance was bound when it received such aletter, to investigate." The Toronto manager, he explained, also after the bank had started wrote to the Department of Finance pointing out the illegal methods which were being followed.

With the knowledge they had, the bank should have been closed next day. Here was the Department of Finance with full knowledge and did not do a thing.

In answer to a question from Hon. W. T. White as to the broader grounds on which he based his plea outside of technical points, Mr. Laidlaw argued that there was nothing so important in growing Canada as the establishment of good faith between the Government and the people. If there is a great moral wrong it is the duty to correct the error of the Government. Mr. Laidlaw said, personally, he would like to see the Government stand on its own feet and the axiom, the King or the Government could do no wrong, abolished.

The deputation, which was introduced by Mayor Sam. Sharp, M.P., was chaperoned by a number of members, among whom was Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., for West Peterborough.

GREAT LIVERPOOL DISASTER 43 KILLED AND 100 INJURED

Liverpool, Nov. 24.—Forty-three workers are known to have been killed and upwards of 100 others injured by a boiler explosion which occurred to-day at the oil cake mills of J. Bibby & Sons.

The force of the explosion was so terrific that the roof of the great mill was blown off, while the walls split and crumbled, and the bodies of the victims hurled high into the air, mingled with the flashes of flames which instantly followed the bursting of the boilers.

Nearly 400 workers were engaged in the building at the time Every one was hurled to the ground through the violence of the explosion.

Those in the near vicinity of the boiler room had their arms and legs torn off, and their horribly mangled bodies fell into the adjoining streets together with the showers of brick and debris.

Fire instantly broke out, and the whole building was soon flaming fiercely. Men could be seen at every window with fire raging behind them frantically appealing for rescue.

MORE DAMS TO BE BUILT

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—As a result of the action of the Dominion Government in handing over the dow of the Otonabee River to the Hydro-Electric Commission, it is probable that more dams will be constructed on the Trent Canal for the development of power. The City will have Dams Numbers Four and Eight on which will be developed about 1000 horse power. This itself is a big thing for Peterborough. The whole waterway will be harnessed at an early date.

MR. BURNHAM ON SINGLE TAX

Some time ago the attention of The Ottawa Citizen was attracted by a letter in the Toronto World upon single tax, signed "Conservative." It turned out that the writer was Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. for West Peterborough. Mr. Burnham, interviewed by The Citizen on this subject now so rapidly coming into prominence, said:

The single tax and local option in taxation are not issues in this election. The logic of the contention that local option, however, is permissible in any given direction lies in the fact that the proposed measure affects the optioned municipality alone. This is the basis to all municipal government. It has come down to us from the earliest times but whether it had or not it is plainly reasonable and desirable. No argument can be lodged against it that does not savor of limiting the rights of municipalities. No such argument therefore, though it is often made and often acted upon, is admissible. The point then to settle regarding local option in taxation is whether the said taxation is merely a local affair. Where do the taxes go in the case at issue? Into the coffers of the municipality, and solely for its use and benefit. To deny local option to a municipality in this respect therefore is a gross violation of its rights. It is doubtful if the municipality so decided if the government could step in and prevent local option in taxation! The right is inherent, not delegated. All option runs the risk of being patchwork. But what has that to do with it, if the people have a right to it and want it? Sir James is balky in this matter just now, but when he becomes more familiar with it he will cease to shy at it and will adopt it with his usual

WHO IS MR. W. A. BAILEY?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see Mr. W. A. Bailey's name so frequently in print that I am curious to know who he is. He writes some very clever things, evidently having received a good education. At first I thought that "Bill" Bailey, as some people vulgarly call him, was not a reality, but a nom de plume. I see, however, that he evidently is in the flesh, and possesses both culture and brains.

A Reader.

Reply—The Times is informed that Mr. Wm. A. Bailey is the son of Sir Wm. Bailey, Bart., England, and left the "ancestral home of his titled forefathers" on account of a disagreement with his father, Sir Wm. Bailey.

THE McRAE CASE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Your account in The Times of the trial and conviction of Farquhar McRae, the Reeve of Lancaster Township, for manslaughter, and his sentence to imprisonment for life for the shooting of William Shaw, the Carp drug clerk, does not make clear or bring out the real underlying cause responsible for this crime, and in which so many innocent persons have been made victims and sufferers in this most deplorable and painful tragedy, judging from the statements made by Dr. Magee, and published in the August number of the 'Liberator,' of Ottawa. From this letter, the facts of which some would like to suppress, it is evident the invasion and destruction of this once happy Maree home, the shooting, death and life imprisonment of a good, useful citizen, and the terrible pain and suffering of innocent persons on all sides is unquestionably the direct result of the teaching, influence and enforcement of the 'Ne Temere' decree

STUDYING OUR INDUSTRIES

Anxious to Revive Cotton and Wool Manufactures in East Indies—He Visits the Lift Lock and Other Places of Interest in Peterboro'.

Mr. E. N. Murti, of Madras, India, who is on a visit to Canada, stopped off on his way west to see the hydraulic lift lock, of which he had heard so much. To The Times Mr. Murti said that he left his home four years ago, "and since that time I have visited many strange lands. And it will be a year or two before I do touch again the earth of India, for I intend to visit more places—your own great country and Japan and China. After that I shall return to the country of my birth and give my life to my people, that I may to some extent alleviate the suffering of the great mass of India's population—of my countrymen."

The Indian visitor is a young man of only 23 years, and has been in this country, but a short time, coming here from England, where for some time he attended the Manchester School of Technology. Slight of frame, with clear-cut features, and in the conventional clothes of a Canadian business man, only his dark complexion show he is not of this country.

"India, you know, is primarily an agricultural country," he declared.

ROYAL

VAUDEVILLE AND MOTION PICTURES

Special big show of New Motion Pictures and New Vaudeville Acts for to-day. Owing to the fact of the Vaudeville Acts booked for yesterday being unsatisfactory they were cancelled, and the Royal expects to have something special in Vaudeville and Pictures for to-day. The pictures are all new and all special and comprise 4000 feet of film. And for the benefit of those who were unable last July to see the pictures of the Coronation of His Majesty George V, they will be shown as an extra attraction at the end of each show to-day and on Monday. This will be the last chance of seeing this great production of this great event in history.

TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG

The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No. 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G. T. P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

Sacred Heart At-Home.

A very enjoyable At-Home took place on Wednesday evening, in the St. Alphonsus Lyceum, under the auspices of the Sacred Heart T.A.S. Progressive euchre followed by dancing, made the evening pass pleasantly. In the euchre contest Miss Frawley and Mr. W. S. Merrell were the winners. Refreshments were served at midnight. Fraelick's orchestra supplied the music in their usual acceptable style.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 8,365,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory" Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field.

The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 400 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro', or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest, (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks the physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the duet beneath his feet; because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought it was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa," will be received until 4 p.m., on Thursday, November 23, 1911, for the construction of a Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

ONTARIO

Provincial Loan of $1,000,000.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1911, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $1,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st November, 1911, and payable on the 1st November, 1941, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November in each year, at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N. Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

The issue price during the month of November, 1911, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of November, 1911, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st November, 1911.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of Stock or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

To Keep Our Teachers.

The move to keep teachers in Ontario for one year after passing their examinations and to enforce their teaching for one year before granting them certificates is a good one. It may, however, not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended as the North West Provinces are willing to employ uncertificated teachers.

The New Wharf.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Considerable Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, revealing not only an amazing profusion and very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East, where a western town may take the name of an eastern town which is more than can be said of the town itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the map of the prairie provinces will show that practically all of the names of towns and villages are original. The men who found and named the towns have drawn on the whole world for their inspiration. Many Scottish names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the nomenclature of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thompson's Sarsaparilla."

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

THE VEIL OF FUTURITY

By Martin Lyon
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Perfectly motionless lay the ship on the still water, awaiting the dawn to enter the harbor. In a deck-chair Leslie Cartwright stirred restlessly. It was late, and nearly all the other passengers had retired for the night; but he was in no mood for sleep.

In the dim light the man's face was gray with an unnatural pallor, scored blackly here and there, on the forehead and round the mouth, with short hard lines. Every now and then his hands would clench nervously, and a quick, impatient sigh escaped his compressed lips. The light murmur from the bulwarks, where a late fellow-traveler and the first officer were chatting over a last cigar, came to him as an impertinence and an irritation. At length the voices died away as the speakers moved forward, and nothing broke the stillness save the long wash of the Australasian sea and at intervals, with jarring suddenness, the striking of the ship's bell.

The man looked around to see if he was alone, and dropped back with an exclamation of satisfaction. By-and-by he began to murmur and fret once more. "What fools women are!" he growled. "They take an abstraction and make a god of it; they take a literature and make it a fetish. And what a fool I am to take so much notice of their chatter!"

He was silent for a time. Then he resumed his muttering. "Who said 'the Veil of Futurity is woven by the hand of Mercy'? Stuff! I should like to lift it, for one. Just as though there could possibly be any mercy in not letting a poor devil see what's ahead of him — and people have lifted it, too — what about the Eastern mystics — the sooth-sayers — the Chaldeans? — what about prophecy? The old prophets were more than the mere far-sighted statesmen as some would have us believe — wonderful — wonderful——"

His voice died away in a low, dreamy murmur; then he stirred again, and began to mutter once more.

"What about their wretched Western imitators! They are too grossly material to possess even a fraction of the occult power they presume to lay claim to. Centuries of European training have been quite enough to exterminate any force of the kind, even if it ever existed. Existed? — of course it did. Men have read the stars like an open book and seen their own fate in the signs of the wind and the wave — they have foretold war and famine and pestilence and the doom of nations; but they were men of old — not the puerile would-be mystics of to-day.

"I do not believe the most spiritualized, sensitive Anglo-Saxon could look five minutes into the unknown."

As he spoke, his white face grew whiter, and an expression almost of fear came over it. He shivered for a moment, then braced himself, evidently with an effort. He laughed nervously.

"Something is wrong with me," he said savagely. "I hope I am not going to get 'ever'. I had a feeling then that I could know the future, if I would — only — that it would be well for me if I did not will to know. It's horribly uncanny; I can't shake it off. Well — his voice rose in excited defiance — "I will test this power. I demand to see myself a year hence."

x x x

Then he was floating in a thick, heavy atmosphere; now dark — dark to blackness — now lightening into transparent blue; sometimes flashing into silver, and even blazing into a splendor of gorgeous golden freshness.

Around him, with him, and of him, were long, spherical gray shapes. He was conscious of a curious sense of dispersion — of separation in some indefinite, indefinable manner from himself; and yet he was perfectly capable of connected thought.

"Can this be an answer to my demand?" he questioned. "Bah! As vague as all prophecy! Well, we will ask eleven months." There was no change. "Well, then, ten — nine — eight — seven six!"

A look of horror seized him. Great drops of sweat sprang out on his brow. One might have seen the muscles start and stiffen in his hands as he gripped the arms of the chair. "Five — four — three — two — a month, yes, a month!" he spoke with agonized intensity.

The sense of uneasiness was with him still, but in a modified degree. He seemed more sentient, more living, more human. His voice rose to a shriek. "Take me back to this hour — to this minute." He was alive now, but oh! the agony of that revival! Ah, that fierce, deadly grip on his shoulder! A score of cruel, sharp points were entering his flesh and crushing his loins as in a steel trap! What was that awful wrenching tug at his foot? "Ah, mercy! mercy!"

The first officer reported to the captain:

"I had been talking to Mr. Chadwick till he finished his cigar. I noticed Mr. Cartwright — he was lying in a deck-chair. I thought asleep. Before turning in finally, I made the round of the decks, after Mr. Chadwick had gone. When I came back Mr. Cartwright was still there, and, as I thought he might get a chill if he slept in the open air, I was going to awake him.

"As I got close to him, I found that he was talking in his sleep very excitedly. I was just about to rouse him when he sprang out of his chair with a most dreadful shriek for mercy and before I could stop him he had rushed to the side and jumped overboard. I snatched up a coil of rope and ran to the place, but I was too late. It would almost seem as if the sharks had been waiting for him there were three of them."

And he turned away and put his hand over his eyes.

The man who always follows the dictation of his conscience must have very sharp ears.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George E. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to encourage our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-sea business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply selling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $3,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

The Down-Trodden.

A certain battalion of "the Terrors" possessed but a very small band. The commanding officer's feet — he was a burly farmer — were — well, very large. One day the battalion was to march out, but the music was not forthcoming.

"Where on earth is the band?" queried the adjutant.

For some time there was no reply; but when the question was repeated, a gruff voice was heard from the rear rank:—

"I do believe, sir, the colonel trod on it by accident."

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best; and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It acts at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

energy and satisfaction. Moreover his assumption that it will be patchwork is gratuitous. General adoption will remove the patch work. Now, as to the merits: Which should we do, tax industry or exempt it? You will answer that if it is possible to exempt it let it be exempted. If there are any discretions allowable and feasible let them be exercised in favor of industry. We do so now, whenever we practice exemption of industries. The basic principle of freeing industries from burdens needs no defence. It means a revival of production and of industrial activity. It may seem to conflict with acquired rights in some particulars. But no acquired rights can stand in the way of the general benefit of the people if due compensation be allowed. The principle of expropriation comes in here. Let us suppose that we expropriate. What do we take away? The unearned increment. Who owns that? The people and not the individual. No individual ever bought and paid for that. There was never any understanding on the part of a community that an individual should have the unearned increase. He had it because he took it and the community could not help itself. The land tax proposes to restore to the people its own, namely, the increase in value of land due to the accumulation of population in its vicinity. What individual can stand up and honestly say that he has a right to this unearned increase? None. Let the community take its own then, and when it has done this its needs are satisfied and industry freed. It sounds like magic and it is indeed magical. Like all great principles it is quite apparent when discovered. But has any property owner any reason to be alarmed even under these circumstances? None—If he is a producer and not a mere holder of vacant land waiting for the increase which he does not earn or own. His improvements go free, they are relieved of their former burden. No man need be alarmed as to any of his vested rights nor indeed under any condition where any right is involved. The attempt to scare the farmer is unworthy of consideration and due to ignorance of the principle. At present a farm worth say, $10,000 is assessed proportionately. How much would that farm be worth if it had no buildings or improvements on it or no cultivation? That is to say what is the value of it by reason of its position, the value given by others than the owner? Under the single tax that unimproved value is alone taxable. Is that not right? Is it not also better for the farmer? At present a man takes up land worth from its position a certain sum. He improves it, puts buildings, drains, silos and so forth upon it. He is taxed accordingly. Is that fair to the farmer? Then, you ask, why has it been done? Simply that others who do not improve their land may escape a portion of the burden of taxation at his expense. As a matter of fact each man's tax-bill will remain the same as at present, but those who improve their properties in the future will not loosen as at present, the tax bills of those who do not. The subject is worthy at least of a commission of enquiry. A gross wrong with respect to the unearned increase and the taxation of industry, at present surely exists. Is there no remedy for this wrong? Let us at least enquire.

HAS BIG PLANS

"Yet once it led in the manufacture of muslin. The art died. It has never been regained, not in my own country nor in any other. Cotton and wool are raised in India, and it is my opinion that our country can be made to excel in the manufacture of both.

Cotton and Wool Manufacture.

"It is for that purpose that I am travelling about and that was the reason of my spending so much time at school in England. I am going all over Canada and the United States and study the condition of the manufacture of cotton and wool here. I have been through the South and have learned much. I am going to make my headquarters in Ontario for a few days and visit the great woollen manufacturing plants hereabouts. After that I shall tour through the West and sail from Vancouver to Japan and China.

"When it is all ended I shall return to Madras. In that city my brother and I are engaged in the banking business. Five years ago that the banking business, as it is conducted in my country, does not do much good. It is a selfish business. It does not benefit many people. Thus, after my father died, I decided I would go abroad and learn how Europeans and Americans do business.

"I am going to start factories in my own country and try to give employment to some of the many thousands who are starving to death there. I want to do all that is in my power to make a great industry in India, which will give employment to as many people as possible. I feel that it can be done and I am going to do it. I love my country better than anything else and I want to make it better. I want to see my countrymen prosper as the people of other nations.

Conditions Impossible Here.

"People here cannot realize the conditions which do exist in India. The people here, some of them, are poor, but such poverty as exists in India is unknown. It could not exist. But India's people are a peaceful people, and are capable of great things if they are given a chance, and I intend to do what I can to help."

Speaking incidentally of himself, the visitor told The Times of the personal difficulties which such a trip as he was making meant. He explained that a Brahmin of the highest caste after leaving his own country could not return and at once dine with those of his family whom he had left at home. He said that before he could sit down and eat with his mother or brother again he would have to do many things upon his return to his native land.

It is against his rule to eat meat or fish or eggs.

Mr. Murti left for the west last night.

BUT HE FOUND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Quebec Postmaster Was Confined to Bed When He Started to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills—They Cured Him.

Tippins, Pontiac Co., Que., Nov. 24.—(Special) — Postmaster F. Tippins, of this place, who for three years has been more or less of an invalid, and who for some time was confined to his bed, is up and around again, a healthy and hearty man. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

"After recovering from an attack of Grippe," the Postmaster says in telling the story of his cure. "I took a pain in my back and I suffered for nearly three years, finally getting so bad that I was confined to my bed.

"One day I told my wife to go and get me some Dodd's Kidney Pills, as that would be the last medicine I would try. After using about half the box I began to feel better, so I kept on taking them. When I had taken two boxes I was able to get up, and ten boxes cured me completely.

The principal danger of Grippe is the after effects. The way to guard against this is strengthen the Kidneys so they can strain all the dregs of the disease out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills are always the last medicine anyone takes for Kidney Disease. It always cures and no other medicine is needed.

Italians Returning.

Yesterday about twenty Italians passed through Peterborough on the C.P.R. on their way to New York, where they will sail for Italy. They were joined here by several others. Large numbers from all over the district are purchasing tickets during the last few days for their homes in Italy and it is expected that there will be about 50 from this district. Many of the Italians are section hands on the Canadian Pacific, and some of them are from the Grand Trunk who are reservists in the Italian army and are going home to see if they are needed to guard their homes while the main army is in Turkey.

C.G.E. POWER HOUSE

Power Turned on For the First Time on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening, power for the first time was turned on from the new power house at the water works dam above Auburn, and everything worked like a charm. 1200 horse power can be developed. The machines are all modern and were manufactured at the C.G.E. works here.

In every department of the power house is shown the electrical triumphs of the 20th century, and Mr. Robert Cotton has added to his widely known reputation, by the splendid success which attended the first message to the C.G.E. last evening. He has charge of all the work of installation and the result speaks for itself.

There is still much work to be accomplished before the power house is finally completed. It is not a separate building, but is connected with the waterworks plant.

The agreement between the City and the Canadian General Electric Company, is that the city gives to the company the right to use the location and water for which it builds at its own expense the power house, installs the machinery and keeps the same in repair for twenty years, besides paying the city $2,000 per annum, and the taxes. At the end of twenty years the plant complete in every particular becomes the property of the city. At the time the agreement was under consideration, the company had large extensions in view, and these have since been made.

WEDDING BELLS.

Sharman—Watson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's church on Wednesday evening last, when Miss Mary Loretta, the charming daughter of Mr. G. N. Watson, 425 Chambers street, became the bride of Mr. Jas. Walter Sharman, late of Sheffield, England. The bride was attended by Miss Phyllis Edwards, and the groom by Mr. Jas. Simonite.

Keith—Hall.

Vancouver Province: Dr. W. D. Keith of this city and Miss Agnes Hall of Peterborough, Ont., were married yesterday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. E. Burns, at Shaughnessy Heights. The ceremony was quietly celebrated, only a small circle of friends being present. The bride and groom left for Southern California, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will take up their residence here.

SWIMMING AND BATHING

Sir Harry Poland, K.C., contributes to the "Marine Magazine" an article on "Swimming and Bathing," in which he gives advice from his own experience to those who wish to become good swimmers. He says:—One great thing, for a swimmer to accomplish is to swim without depending on the use of his hands, thus leaving them free for other purposes," and he recommends the swimmer to learn to dress and undress in the water, and to practice swimming while wearing heavy clothes.

"When I lived on the banks of the Thames, at Strawberry Vale, Twickenham, I used," says Sir Harry, "at a quarter past seven every morning to plunge into the river. I continued to do this for several years, although the dark mornings for about three weeks before Christmas and a few weeks after were a little trying. The great thing to attend to is to take your header directly you are out of bed, and to take care to keep warm until you plunge. For this purpose you should put on a coat lined with flannel, with a think coat over that, trousers lined with flannel, slippers lined with lamb's wool, and warm gloves. You should stand on a piece of carpet and throw your clothing off like a quick-change artiste, and on coming out of the water you may stand in the open and thoroughly enjoy the east wind for the first time in your life, and the snow, sleet, hail, or rain will only be a diversion. "Cold bathing in winter will not, of course, do for a man whose liver is sluggish or whose heart is weak. As I had to lead a sedentary life it must not be supposed that at any time I was an athlete; on the contrary, I was never very strong, and I mention this only for the purpose of showing that with the exercise of common prudence almost every youth can do as I was in the habit of doing."

THIS DOG CAN REALLY SPEAK

German Canine's Ability to Talk in Clear Intelligent Fashion, is .. Ascribed by Zoologists to Possession of Anatomical Peculiarities.

There is in Berlin a dog that talks. Learned men who have examined him assert that his talking is totally different from his barking, that there is no resemblance between the two, that they are never mixed, and that he only knows what he is saying. His speech is not like that of parrots, mere imitation, but is a true, though still rudimentary means of communication on between him and human beings.

A French newspaper man who interviewed Don — that is the dog's name — writes: "Do not get Don mixed up with the educated dogs of the country fairs and the cafe concerts. He is a well marked individuality endowed, it seems, with a strong will and an affection, extraordinary even in a dog, for the human race, with which he seems to be linked by obscure affinities, remarkable intelligence, and most eloquent gestures. What he says he thinks, not mechanically under the hypnotising influence of his master, as an 'educated dog' would do, but spontaneously and apparently under the single impulse of his own will.

"However, there is an excellent way of making this extraordinary dog talk. Give him something nice to eat, and even if he be in an exceptionally sulky humor, he will show himself ready at once to display his vocabulary to you. Profiting by this happy disposition, ask him his name. He will reply in a deep voice, slurring the initial consonant a little, 'Don.' Ask him what he likes, and he will tell you like a German baby, 'Haben, haben.' Inquire further what he wants, and he will surely answer 'Kuchen' (cake), a magic word that he seems to think includes all good things, and that he applies indiscriminatingly to cake, meat, and other favourite dainties.

Zoologists who have examined Don say that his superior intelligence is due to certain anatomical peculiarities, such as an exceptionally high forehead.

Highest on Earth

The Lea Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

The Bed-Time Prayer

In pleading for greater strictness in the habit of private prayer on retiring to rest, Rev. Dr. J. Douglas Adam of Brooklyn emphasized that some of the moral processes which are most powerful in moulding us take place when we have no definite consciousness of them. If the last thoughts before sleep were set upon high things, those thoughts would penetrate and work themselves out in the subliminal self during the hours of unconsciousness. They would weave themselves into the texture of character even while we dreamed. Hence it was of supreme consequence morally that the last thoughts at night should convey spiritual suggestion. John Keble was not familiar with modern psychology, but his lines appear to contain a vital truth:

Be my last thought—How sweet to rest
For ever on my Saviour's breast!

COURAGE AND HOPE

How often do we hear the admonition: 'Keep your head above water.' The best way to fulfill the injunction is to keep the spirit above. Courage, hope, what can a man not do with these? What is he able to do without them. Courage is an elixir of life, giving power both to mind and body. It strengthens the sinews, it revivifies the spirit. It makes life, indeed, worth living.

'But,' it may be asked, 'how can a person gain courage who is not "born with it"?' There are two requisites: 1. He believes that what he is doing is worth doing. 2. He must feel that of all the things in the world it is the thing that calls him. With these convictions, he is equipped with weapons that shall level every obstacle, make a path through every maze — for of these are born courage and faith.

NONE ARE MADE IN PANAMA

The Hat of the Name is not Made in Panama, the Material Not Being a Product of that Country.

It is not generally known that the popular head-gear known as the "Panama" hat is not made in the Republic of Panama, but in Peru, Ecuador, and Colombia, and that the material, the "tequilla" straw, is exclusively an Ecuatorian product. The city of Panama was, and is yet to some extent, a trading centre for this article, hence the name. In an article on the subject in "Peru To-Day" it is stated that these hats are waterproof and stemproof, and can be roughly handled and washed many times. The finest grades of hats are made in Ecuador. The material used is tequilla straw, which is obtained from the leaves of a squatty plant of the palm family.

The manufacture is carried on in the homes of the weavers and taken to the wholesale dealers on certain market days. They work about six to eight hours every day, fine hats being made only in the early morning or evening hours, when there is greater humidity; while the coarser grades are woven at any time. The quality and value of the hats depend upon their weight, evenness, compactness, and colour.

In Ecuador, where the finest hats are made, it is not uncommon for the wealthy planters to wear hats valued at one hundred sucres, about $50 and many fancy prices have been paid for specially made hats, particularly when used as gifts to princes or potentates.

Until within the last few years, when these hats came into fashion, the prices they brought, outside of their district and within the tropics, were entirely out of proportion to their real value. This was due chiefly to the difficulty in getting the hats direct and in suitable styles.

He Knew Them All

At one time Professor Snow, a well-known Kansas naturalist, was out with a party of students on his annual insect hunt, states the author of the "Life of a Fossil Hunter," when the owner of a large herd of Texas cattle, who was passing through, noticed the party out on the prairie with their nets in their hands, running about as if possessed. It happened to be the first time that he had ever seen insect-collectors at work, and his curiosity was aroused.

"What are those men doing?" he asked Jim Thompson.

"Catching bugs," was the laconic reply.

"I don't believe it," said the cow-man. "They are grown men."

"All right," said Jim, "you can find out for yourself if you want to."

The man started off after the professor, and I waited, with a good deal of curiosity, to hear his report on the conversation. On his return he was in a brown study. The professor had taken him into his tent, and shown him hund. ls of mounted insects, reeling off their names to him until his head whirled.

"Well, did I tell you the truth?" Jim asked.

"That man," said the cow-man, "is the smartest man I ever saw. He knows the names and surnames of all the bugs in this count—"

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. Pap was a mixture of crust soaked in water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 452 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the ministry devotion of generations of a past generation. There is, in fact, over ninety entries marked — Some of these entire Bibles — including them in the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

Army Illiterates

According to statistics recently published the number of illiterate recruits in the French Army has attained the astounding total of 14,000. On the other hand, the German newspapers point with pride to the fact that in the whole of Germany they have only 46 illiterates; that is, recruits who can neither read nor write. Ten years ago the number of illiterates in the German Army was 218. Going back another decade, the number was 560. The French journal from which these facts are taken further states that the percentage of illiterates in the English Army — the last figures available being those for 1907 — showed 1 per cent; France, 3.5 per cent.; Austria, 22 per cent.; Italy, 31 per cent.; and Russia, 62 per cent.

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six; jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine laths, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully beautiful.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

Bad Walking.

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1700 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most polite and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have seen. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that as it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit the people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto. Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., exept Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be :

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

The New Line?

While there is a certain amount of obscurity about the proposed electric railway from Port Hope via Peterborough and Lindsay to Orillia, there is no doubt about it that the work of locating a line of some kind is progressing. Surveyors are working this way from Lindsay and they are expected to reach Peterborough shortly. Whether it is a railway or a pole line for the transmission of power, is an open question, with odds in favor of the latter.

Laid at Rest.

The remains of the late W. J. Martin were borne to the cemetery yesterday, the funeral being largely attended. Rev. Mr. Rollins conducted the service at the house at 2 p.m. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful. the pallbearers were: Messrs. Albert Martin, Toronto, and Robert and William of this city (sons of the deceased) and Messrs. Jeffrey of Fenelon Falls, Wm. J. Martin and Will Comstock of city, (nephews).

A Close Call.

James Robinson, a section man on the G.T.R., well known in Peterborough, had a remarkably narrow escape from a horrible death at Omemee on Wednesday last. It appears that he attempted to board the pay car at the switch, when, without warning, the train started. Robinson was knocked down and dragged several yards before the train was stopped. Owing to the timely intervention of Sam Carieve, the engineer, was made aware of the accident. The unfortunate man was brought to the village and medical aid was summoned. Two or three ribs were broken, and he suffered severely from shock.

Power For Peterborough.

Peterborough is certainly fortunate in securing two of the dams on the Otonabee river from which over 4000 horse power can be developed. Last week an application was made to Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the lease of the water-power rights at dams four and eight on the Trent Valley system, capable of producing 2000 horse power each. Yesterday the Minister, Hon. Frank Cochrane, granted the application in spite of the protests of interested parties who represented certain bond holders, who were afraid the incursion of the Hydro-Electric would impair their securities.

Had a Good Season.

Mr. W. E. Brooks, proprietor of South Beach Summer Resort, was in the city yesterday and favored The Times with a call. He reports a good season's business, his hotel being full during the entire summer. South Beach is one of the most beautiful spots in the entire Kawartha system. Next year he proposes to have his premises in still better shape, and looks for another record-breaking season. Evidently "Billy" is the right man in the right place, being courteous and deservedly popular with tourists and travellers.

A Popular Appointment.

Secretary-Treasurer R. M. Glover, of the Peterborough Hockey Club, has appointed Mr. Arthur Perks, of the Bank of Montreal, as assistant-treasurer of the club, and he has consented to assume the duties of the position. Mr. Perks is well qualified to look after the financial end of the club, and his appointment will be popular with the executive. There will be an important meeting of the executive in the Examiner Office on Monday night, next, at 7.30 o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements with Brock street Rink, securing a trainer, and transacting other important business in regard to the coming season. All members are asked to be on hand sharp on time.

Register To-day.

The following registration booths will be open at 10 a.m. to-day, of which all interested should take notice:—

Ward 1—VanEvery's, 204 Rubidge street.
Ward 2—Council Chamber.
Ward 3—Police Chamber.
Ward 4—Lee's shop, George and Smith streets.
Ward 5—Old Town Hall.

The Board of Appeal will sit on Monday, December 4th.

To register, the elector must be of age, a resident of the city for three months and of Canada for twelve months.

A Suggestion for Peterborough.

The Lindsay Council has instructed the Market Clerk of that town on Friday afternoons to get the prices of different produce from the merchants each week and put it on the blackboard in the market hall it would tend to improve our market. Some people attended the market to sell and did not know what produce was worth and the same applies to the buyer. As a consequence, there is a tendency to hold up on the market. It would be a great advantage on Saturday morning to have a guide for buyer and seller and would improve the market. It might be a good idea for Peterborough to do likewise.

Society Women Use New Wrinkle Remover

(From Society World)

Since the discovery that a solution of ordinary saxolite and witch hazel has a peculiar effect upon wrinkled skins, it has been learned that many prominent society women all over the country have used this simple home treatment with great success. The formula is: powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. Use daily as a wash lotion.

The beneficial action of this wash is felt at once. There's an agreeable refreshing sensation and feeling of exhilaration. The skin soon becomes firmer and more youthful looking. flabbiness and all wrinkles are immediately affected. No one need hesitate to get the ingredients at the drug store and make the remedy herself, for there are no harmful effects whatever.

OBITUARY.

Herbert Booth.

There passed away at Nicholls hospital on Wednesday night an esteemed citizen, in the person of Mr. Herbert Booth, father of Mrs. Richard Fell, 535 Albert street. His death was due to hemorrhage of the brain, and a paralytic stroke. The deceased was in his 56th year and leaves to mourn his loss his wife and six childrenin Nottingham, England, and Mrs. Richard Fell, Peterborough. He was a cabinet maker and came to Canada about 18 months ago. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of his son in-law, Mr. Richard Fell, 535 Albert street, to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

Viola Cooley.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooley, 498 Aylmer street, will have the sympathy of their many friends in the death of their darling little daughter, three years old, which took place at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, to Little Lake cemetery.

Death of John Thackeray.

The death of John Thackeray, J.P. of Roseneath Alnwick township, occurred on Saturday, November 18th. He has held the position of Magistrate there for the space of 40 years, also of Indian agent for the past 28 years.

His wife and four sons are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Eldridge and Corelli of Roseneath, Barton E., of St. Mary's and William M. of town.

George Fry.

He leaves to mourn his demise, three sisters and two brothers. The funeral takes place on Monday afternoon from 256 Carlisle avenue, to Little Lake cemetery.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing

"NERVILINE" CURED QUICKLY

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh ranking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

NERVILINE CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large size bottles 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Beauty

is more than skin-deep—and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSON'S INVALIDS' PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUSOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

Yours truly,

in the Magee home, just as the influence and enforcement of this same decree in other homes in Canada has caused serious family trouble, though not with as serious results as in this case. The following is the clipping taken from the 'Liberator,' which puts the responsibility for this crime and suffering where it belongs. The publication of this clipping in The Times will be of public interest:—

Priestly Interference Leads to Murder.

The case of Dr. and Mrs. Magee, of Carp, tells in emphatic language what Rome has done, and what she proposes doing, unless firmly and strenuously resisted.

On October 21st, 1908, Dr. Magee married Miss Mary McRae. Dr. Magee is a Methodist, Miss McRae of the Roman Catholic faith. 'We were married on condition that she should become a Methodist,' said Dr. Magee, in conversation with the editor of 'The Liberator,' a year ago. The marriage took place in Chicago, by the pastor of Ashland Boulevard Methodist Church. Mrs. Magee being previously admitted to membership in the Dominion Methodist Church, Ottawa.

In January, 1910, Mrs. Magee left her husband and went to live with her father. 'Her father came for her,' said Dr. Magee, 'and said that if I would not go and be married by a priest, she would go home with him.' After she had left, she wanted me to settle the matter, and one bitter winter's day I arranged to meet her at the station at Alexandria. I had told her I wanted to see her alone. When I got to the station I found her father on the platform. He took me to the hotel and said he would look for his daughter. He was away about an hour and finally came back and said: "If you want to see Mary, you will have to see her and Father Dan McDonald at the Bishop's palace." Dr. Magee's reply was to the point.

In February, of that year, Mrs. Magee returned. Difference arose over the 'Ne Temere' decree. In May, 1910, Mrs. Magee again left her husband. Efforts were made to induce Dr. Magee to renounce his faith. "I was offered money and a hospital appointment; every sort of method was tried to move me,' said Dr. Magee. His wife returned of her own accord early in July. A baby boy was born in January last. In May following, whilst Dr. Magee was in Ottawa for the day, Mrs. Magee packed her trunks, took the boy with her, and that was the last the doctor saw of her.

One Saturday, early in July, Dr. Magee determined to put an end to his worry, and with his brother, J. M. Magee, and Wm. Shaw, of Carp, he started for Lancaster, to recover possession of his child. On reaching the house of D. C. McRae, father of Mrs. Magee, a search was made, but Dr. Magee did not find either the child or his wife. Just as he and his companions entered the automobile, and it moved off, Farquhar McRae, Reeve of Lancaster Township, fired. Shaw fell forward with an awful wound in his back. a few days later the shot proved fatal.'

Much sympathy is felt for Dr. Magee owing to the exasperating conditions he discovered in his home after his marriage, which was enough to drive any man almost to desperation, and is one more urgent demonstration of the absolute necessity for immediate Dominion legislation to remedy conditions here that are not tolerated in Germany or in the city of Rome, where this disturbing decree comes from.

THE FIRE PERIL.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see by the Toronto Press that the attention of the Ontario Government is being called to the great danger from fires in our public halls and theatres. In this connection I think the picture shows are fairly well equipped, but not so with some of the up-stairs halls. Or do I think the Opera House too safe in this regard. Fancy what would happen in that place, if a fire occurred, or even a "fire stampede." The results, if happened when the hall was filled with people, would be appalling. It could hardly be otherwise. I think if side openings were made in the building, at the rear, it would enable the people to escape in case of panic. I am sure Mr. Turner is himself as anxious as anybody to take all possible precautions against what might be a holocaust, in case of fire.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am

REMARKABLE ACTIVITY AT BOW ISLAND

Fifteen Additional Gas Wells Are to be Drilled—100 Car Loads of Material Will be Shipped to Bow Island to Carry Out This Gigantic Project.

Announcementhas just been made that an additional 15 wells are to be drilled at Bow Island, Alberta, and that the work of drilling these wells will be prosecuted vigorously right through the winter months. Bow Island now has 5 wells, the present daily production of which is 61,365,000 cubic feet of natural gas every 24 hours. This enormous production gives to Bow Island the distinction of being the greatest natural gas field in the world.

The Bow Island Board of Trade reports that hardly a day passes but that one or more inquiries or visits are received from manufacturers seeking locations to establish industries. Cheap fuel in the form of natural gas, will draw manufacturing plants to Bow Island.

During the past week there have been five different parties of surveyors at work in Bow Island. Two of these parties were made up of Dominion and C.P.R. surveyors. Another party was engaged in surveying the Hopkins property, recently purchased by the Grand Pacific Land Co. Limited, of Winnipeg, Man. Representatives of the Grand Pacific Land Co. spent considerable time in Bow Island in order to learn where the future city of Bow Island would be built and it is believed that by the purchase of the Hopkins property, the Grand Pacific Land Co. controls the situation at Bow Island. This company has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water Street, Peterborough, as its exclusive Peterborough representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the remarkable development and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterborough, or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Wm. Campbell, Keene, was in the city yesterday on business.

The hosts of friends of Miss Ethel Denison will be sorry to learn that she is suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis.

On Wednesday evening a party of young friends of Miss Maud Hawley, Gilmour street, were delightfully entertained at that young lady's home.

A UNIQUE "PLATFORM."

Mr. William Snowden Proposes to Settle the Power Question.

Mr. Wm. Snowden "interviewed" The Times yesterday in regard to municipal matters, including the Mayoralty. He was accompanied by a well-known citizen, who suggested that this great family journal give Mr. Snowden a boost for Mayor. Accordingly we now proceed to do so: To those who are not personally acquainted with the former genial proprietor of the Snowden House (and they are exceedingly few) this g.f.j. would say that Mr. Snowden is eligible for the position, being of the full age of 21 years and possessed of the necessary property qualifications. He is just now in the full vigor of manhood, and is physically able to maintain order at all meetings of the council without the aid of a policeman. If elected he proposes to settle the power question in quick order, as he has an option on Tom Brightman's dam, and proposes to secure one on G. Walter Green's dam also. He would arrange with Mr. Wm. Quinn to place a few million young carp in the waters of these dams, so that the citizens might be supplied with this edible all the year round. As fish is the greatest brain-food known, a community of more than ordinary intelligence would be developed. He would provide the Council with a double supply, so that they would rapidly grow big heads, possessing amazing brain power.

The above are only a few of the planks in Mr. Snowden's platform, but it is sufficient for the present. This g.f.j. is afraid to shove in any more for fear of breaking the press.

SALE OF WORK

St. John's Girl's Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. W. E. Conway made a great success of their sale yesterday. Beautiful articles were presented for sale by dainty ladies of Peterborough. The receipts up-to-date amount to $150. Afternoon tea was served and a substantial supper at 6 p.m. From 4 to 6 the boys and girls of the congregation gave a programof music, vocal and instrumental. From 7 to 9, at intervals during the sale a very choice program was rendered as follows:

Song—"Vanity Fair," by Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie.

Song—"Her Name is Mary and Tell Her I Love Her So." Mr. Leadbetter

Song—"The Children's Home." Miss Quartermaine.

Operatic Selection (piano) W.Mr. Shirley.

Song—"The Carnival," Mrs. R. Davidson.

Pianoforte Duet—Cyril Devey and Mr. R. J. Devey.

Song—"The Chimes," Mr. Aldred.

Song—"We Must Be Good," Harold Gollop.

Rev. Canon Davidson heartily thanked those in attendance for their patronage, also those taking part in the programme.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilized and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

Q. Why do school children with good sight, require Glasses?

A. Mainly to rest the eyes. The eye does not obtain its growth until the child is about the age of twelve. The growing eye is taxed beyond its strength; the proper glasses rest and preserve the eyes.

Q. Why do children squint?

A. By squinting or frowning the muscle in the eye is relieved of strain; this is nature's way. Study-glasses relieve this strain, and thus prevent squinting.

VOL XXXIV NO 270 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SEYMOUR POWER COMPANY ACQUIRE OTONABEE COMPANY

The Seymour Power Company has at last absorbed the Otonabee Company, so that all the power at present developed on the Otonabee River, between Peterborough and No. 3 Dam, below Lakefield, is owned by the former company. The announcement regarding the purchase was made by the solicitor of the Seymour Company at Ottawa last week, when he was endeavoring to secure from the Department for his company, No. 4 Dam also. The passing of the Otonabee Company will hardly mean that higher rates will be charged for light and power. Indeed, we believe, the uniting of the various power concerns will have a tendency to reduce rather than increase the rates, as a considerable saving will be effected in the management as well as in other ways. Fewer poles need be maintained and it will not be necessary to duplicate street wiring. Another satisfactory feature will be that in case of accident or trouble at any of the power plants, the load can at once be transferred to another plant. This is how the matter appeals to The Times.

We understand that $250,000 had been asked by the Otonabee Company by its owners. Just how much was paid is not known. The chances are that Messrs. R. R. Hall, W. G. Ferguson, Adam Hall and one or two other large stockholders disposed of their holdings, thus giving the new company a controlling interest. It is said that Mr. R. R. Hall's holdings amounted to about $75,000, Mr. Ferguson being the next largest stockholder.

VARSITY WON ANOTHER CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP

Stadium, Nov. 25.—Varsity won another Canadian championship when they downed Argos here by 14 to 7, before 15,000 people, with ample accommodation for many more. The game undoubtedly brought together the two greatest rugby teams playing their different styles of play. Varsity have throughout the season played offensive football, and it is doubtful if any team but themselves could have scored 14 points on the Argonauts to-day, who always adopt the defensive game.

The Argonaut back division performed magnificently well, and it is regrettable that in the two instances in which fumbles were made, they lost the ball when he was jolted in taking a pass and Varsity secured and by bucks made a try.

Binkley directed his play well at all times, and it was decidedly unfortunate that he missed a catch so close to his line that enabled Knight to go over. While these two instances undoubtedly had a decided bearing on the ultimate result of the game, it cannot help but be conceded that the better team in the game were the winners.

The slippery going materially affected the Varsity running and passing game, and it was seen on so many occasions a runner would slip when attempting a pass.

It was thought by some that Allan Ramsay might be nervous, but far from it, and he played one of the most useful games of either team and besides was considerably hampered by a nasty cut over his eye, which had to be patched up a couple of times.

A word must be said here complimentary to Dr. Arthur Wright, who took hold of a team of new players, and at one time during the year, he only had one regular of the season before playing. To win a Canadian Rugby championship with a seasoned team is honor enough, but to defeate a team of youngsters to defeat a powerfully organized club like the Argos, was truly a wonderful feat.

Every man who played to-day will be back to school next year and what a great team they will be at the end of next season. Pete Campbell will undoubtedly be the next captain.

Players of both teams were carried off the field at the conclusion of the game. [illegible] mentioning was the fact that Isbister captain of the Hamilton Tiger team, carried Pete Maynard on his shoulders off the field.

The field undoubtedly had a disastrous effect on Lawson who failed to shine as he had been expected by many people. Another thing that must be remembered when playing with Varsity, Lawson was given a much better opportunity to use his wonderful speed that the Argos do by their style of play.

Sinclair and Hassard, the Varsity outsides, were deadly tacklers, and this applies to Murray and Moore, the Argo outsides. The latter played his best game of the year. Smith and O'Connor were also effective throughout.

Visitors attended the game from all parts of Canada, and the concensus of opinion was that the better team won.

WHITNEY'S "SKIMPY" CHICKEN

A crowded house greeted Mr. R. R. Hall at his Saturday evening Rally. Mr. Thornton occupied the chair. He commended the stand taken by Mr. Hall in this election in fighting the cause of the working men. Sir Jas. Whitney is opposed to the working man otherwise he would not have issued the mandate that Allan Studholme, the labor candidate in East Hamilton must be defeated, while every working man answers "That Allan Studholme must be elected."

The amendment of the Workman's Compensation Act, said Mr. Hall, is one of the most important pieces of legislation that will come before the Legislature during the ensuing session.

The legislation that I propose to introduce or support for the benefit of the workmen will be of a most beneficial character. It will enable the injured workman to secure compensation for his injury without the expense of a law suit. It will make it, to the interest of the employer to use every modern means in his power to prevent accidents to his workmen.

Under this proposed legislation the employer will exercise the same diligence to guard the life and limbs of his employees from death or injury, as he does in guarding his property and machinery from damage by fire.

The very fact that the Whitney Government are putting up the strongest fight they possibly can against Mr. Allan Studholme, the labor candidate in East Hamilton, is the very best proof that any legislation that the workmen gets from the Whitney Government will be, to adopt the words of Sir James Whitney, a "skimpy chicken."

"I notice," said Mr. Hall, "that the Toronto World, a leading Conservative paper in Toronto find fault with the Whitney Government for placing a candidate in the field against Mr. Allan Studholme."

This strong opposition against Mr. Studholme goes to show that the Whitney Government and their candidates are entirely out of sympathy with the just claims of the workmen. The fact is that the Whitney Government has never been in sympathy with the workmen, otherwise they would not have left their wrongs unredressed for this last seven years. There is never a week goes by in the city of Peterborough but some workman is injured and in nine cases out of every ten the workman gets no compensation whatever.

"I am sure," continued Mr. Hall, "that every mechanic and workman in the city of Peterborough is anxious to see Studholme elected. He has fought their battles alone in the legislature and it is high time for every mechanic and workman in Peterborough to stand behind him in sending me to the legislature for the purpose of making sure that a real Workman's Compensation Act will be placed upon the Statute books of this Province."

Messrs. McCrae, O'Connell and Stratton also addressed the meeting.

THINK OBJECT IS TO HURT TURKEY

This is How Roman Officials View Sensational Stories About Massacre

Princess Louise of Saxony Said to Have Her Difficulties—Her Mother Declined to Take Her Erring Daughter Back.

Rome, Nov. 26.

THAT Italy is deeply indignant at the widespread stories of massacres in Tripoli is well known. She attributes them to a desire on the part of the enemies of Italy to discredit her. In speaking of the matter the other day a high official of the war office said "As General Sherman said once, 'War is hell.' There can be no battles without killed and wounded. We are fighting a semi-savage people, whose women take their places in the ranks with men. It is doubtless true that some of them have been killed. If I remember right, the same thing occurred in some of the Philippine campaigns. Sensational correspondents have seized such cases and have so exaggerated things as to make it appear that the Italian troops are acting in Tripoli worse than savages. This is not true. The work there is grim and deadly but it has not been more savage than has been necessary. There have been no representations to the Italian government by other governments, nor will there be in my judgement. Responsible statesmen understand these things and are not likely to be carried away by the popular clamor or aroused by sensational newspapers."

Following the recent publication of her memoirs it was stated that ex-Princess Louise of Saxony intended separating from her present husband, Signor Toselli, and contemplated retiring to the quietude of her mother's estate near Linden, Bavaria. The Princess' mother, however, declined [illegible] daughter, partly for reasons of state. Now it is announced in the Italian press that Mme. Toselli has been seen in the company of her husband in the main streets of Florence.

The princess engaged an elegant first-floor suite in the Hotel Bagliosi, under the name of the Countess D'Isette. She telephoned to her husband who arrived later on in the day. After shopping they drove to their villa in the hills, dismissed all their servants, terminated their house contract, and went off suddenly for Brussels, where it is supposed their child had been left.

No romance in the annals of royalty is better known than that of the woman who might to-day have ruled Saxony, but who elected to leave her six children, and elope with their tutor, who, in turn, left her ten years ago. The ex-princess was divorced from the crown prince, now king of Saxony in 1903, and four years later married Signor Toselli, her present husband, a piano-teacher. In her memoirs, "My Own Story," published a few weeks ago, she said of her second marriage: With that curious mania for self-effacement which sometimes seizes the Hapsburs, I choose to marry a man who boasts no pride of ancestry and possessed of no worldly wealth." That was the only reference to Toselli throughout.

In April, last year, however, the ex-princess left Signor Toselli, taking her child with her to Switzerland, and there was a suggestion that the marriage which took place in London was invalid. Signor Toselli was also reported to be on the point of bringing an action for legal separation. Now the couple have once again come to an understanding.

The patriarch of Lisbon has sent the holy see the names of those priests who have accepted the state pensions. They number 2,156 against 5,800 who have refused them. The Vatican has decided to allow the latter a small stipend until such times as an appeal be made to the Roman Catholics of Europe and America. Priests who have accepted the government's pensions will be forthwith excommunicated.

REMOVE THE DOUBT

In discussing the Ne Temere Decree, the Ottawa Citizen says: The cold fact is, that so far as the people of Canada are concerned, there should not exist any room for argument nor polemic hair-splitting as to whether any description of marriage contracted in good faith is legal or illegal. It should be clearly set forth in the laws of Canada what constitutes a legal marriage, not only in Quebec, but in every part of the Dominion. Then the matter would be set at rest and there would be no room for doubt or question. Apart from the religious phase, marriage is a contract of the first importance from the standpoint of the civil law as it applies to inheritance, and the distribution of estates, as well as sales of real estate and other transactions of commercial life. On the other hand, it is needless to point out the possibilities of unhappiness and injustice to the innocent which exist when even a shadow of excuse is afforded for people holding certain views to impugn the legality of marriages from their particular standpoint. Already the existing state of affairs had been productive of at least one tragedy, and many law suits. It is high time that the parliament of Canada took occasion to remove "misconceptions" on the subject and render further argument and hair-splitting unnecessary.

NE TEMERE DECREE UP FOR SPIRITED DISCUSSION

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Takes Strong Ground in a Sharp Debate

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—In the House of Commons on Friday, a debate was precipitated regarding the Ne Temere Decree. Mr. J. H. Burnham taking part in the discussion. He charged that the late Government was responsible for the continued operation of the "ne temere" decree. This decree, he stated, was a type of all attempts on the laws of the country. "The question is: are we married or are we not?" he asked. "If we are, how dare anyone say we are not? If they do, we are entitle to protection by the laws of the country. Defiance of the law by people was punishable in other cases, and [illegible] liable interference of outside bodies in the administration of Canadian laws. Mr. Burnham charged that the late Government, through Sir Allan Aylesworth had failed to state its position, in response to Mr. Taylor's question on the subject, and must be held responsible for the continuance of the decree.

HAS GOVERNMENT POWER?

Mr. E. M. Macdonald inquired whether Mr. Burnham held that the Dominion Government had power to deal with it and legislate under the British North America Act.

Mr. Burnham replied that it certainly had the power. It was a question that Senates, Synods, Assembles and Conferences had all taken up. It was a very important question in Ontario, and was one reason for the defeat of the Laurier administration.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley asked if the question played a part in the speaker's riding in the last election and if it was used against the Government.

"Assuredly," was Mr. Burnham's reply. "The country demanded a Government strong enough and willing enough to enforce the laws of the country against all who would set them at defiance."

"May I ask the hon. gentleman," queried Hon. Mr. McLean (Halifax), "if in his judgment this question played an important part in the campaign conducted throughout Ontario, and, if so, what proportion of the result was attributed to it?"

"It certainly did," replied Mr. Burnham.

Dardanelles Must be Kept Neutral

Paris, Nov. 25.—Russia to-day informed France and the other powers that she insists upon the neutrality of the Dardanelles as provided in the treaty of London in 1871. This notification follows the report that Italy is furthering the war against Turkey intended to blockade the Dardanelles.

FORTS READY FOR ACTION.

Constantinople, Nov. 25.—Should Italy attempt to force the Dardanelles the Porte has arranged to sink a number of Turkish ships with the purpose of obstructing the Fairway.

Turkish military officials are waiting developments with composure. They declare that an Italian fleet would suffer such losses in forcing the straits that even the numerically weak Turkish squadron would be able further to reduce the enemy's effectiveness to such an extent that if it reached Constantinople it would be at the mercy of the Turkish forts.

The Ottoman Ministers of War and Marine are now in the Dardanelles seeing that the forts are being placed in readiness.

Baptist Pastor Charged With Murder Is Relieved of His Charge—He Urged That Action.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—The Immanuel Baptist Church Society last night accepted the resignation of its pastor, Rev. Clarence V.T. Richeson, under indictment charged with poisoning his former sweetheart, Avis W. Linnell.

The action was taken at the regular monthly meeting of the society, after some members had made vigorous but vain objections.

A month ago the society voted not to accept the resignation and the matter came up again last night on the minister's renewed request that he be relieved of the pastorate.

ANGLICAN RECTOR SCORES THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP

Rev. Canon Kittson Replies to Archbishop Bruchesi's Letter on Ne Temere Decree

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—Rev. Canon Kittson, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, which is attended by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, has published a strong reply to Archbishop Bruchesi's letter on the ne temere decree.

SEARCHING ANALYSIS.

It is a searching analysis of the rights which it is claimed were given the Church in Quebec. Canon Kittson was himself a former Roman Catholic, and for several years lived in the Province of Quebec. He charges Mgr. Bruchesi with distorting the rights of the Roman Catholics in Quebec Province, and tells him "that it would be a sad day for him if he had to receive his orders from King Louis or Frontenac."

Continuing, he says: "A thorough searching of the archive reports will clearly define the limits of the freedom of worship which the members of the Church of Rome then employed." He further says that the Archbishop's amazing statement of claims has been disproved repeatedly by the evidence of the treaties themselves and by the records that any one can read in the Canadian archives.

"If we are to believe history and the records of the Canadian archives," he says, "then we must conclude that the guaranteed treaty rights of the Province of Quebec as understood by the Archbishop and Sir Richard Scott are mythical; that the reference to the French laws was limited to a small section of the Province of Quebec; that only toleration of the Church of Rome was conceded by the terms of the capitulation, and the treaty of Paris; that the jurisdiction of the Church and Pope of Rome is superior to the Brittanic Majesty was never admitted."

THE VITAL QUESTION.

In summing up Canon Kittson says: "The question may be put before the reading and thinking public in this form: Has the Church of Rome ever received power of jurisdiction under the supremacy of the Crown to constitute itself a judge and to summon parties and solemnly decide as to the validity of the marriage tie between them?"

MR. KENDRY FOR SENATOR.

Editor Morning Times:

Sir,—I am pleased to note that The Times is out strong for Mr. Kendry for Senator. In your article in to-day's issue you make no mention of the fact that Peterborough is a city of nearly 20,000, and is entitled to representation in the Upper Chamber. Mr. Kendry is the best choice that possibly could be made and his appointment would be extremely popular.

When the time comes, let there be a deputation to Ottawa sufficiently strong and influential to impress Mr. Borden of the fact that we are in earnest.

With Mr. Burnham, our capable member, on the spot, there should be little trouble in landing Mr. Kendry in the Senate.

A DISGRACE TO THE CITY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Peterborough has an indoor market and an outdoor market—the former is a large comfortable place, the latter is shelterless and wholly a disgrace to the city. If it rains, sleets or snows, the farmers or their wives must stand out in the inclement weather without shelter or protection. I have seen markets where a wide protecting canopy covers not only the farmer, but the citizens who were buying. The railway companies provide a comfortable indoor station and outdoors a wide cover over the heads of the people who have to be outside. The Peterborough Market is apparently constructed to give every one attending the greatest degree of discomfort—It is inhuman and a disgrace to the city. When the granolithic walk was put in, citizens suggested leaving square holes down the centre of the walk for posts, so that when the Council came to their right mind the work of putting in the centre posts would be easy—but the suggestion was lost—Is there any Councillor who will take up this matter and rid us of the present disgraceful condition of our outdoor market.

MR. WEBB CALLS ON OLD COUNTRYMEN TO REGISTER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—May I appeal through your columns to my fellow countrymen to be sure and register. Many of you gentlemen seem to think that because you registered for the last election, you need not do so for this, but I wish to impress upon you very strongly that you must—you must register boys, again, for you will not be able to vote on the 11th and you don't want that to happen. If you do not know where you are to register, go to Mr. Peck's committee rooms and you will find men there only too pleased to tell you. You have only to-day and Tuesday left, on Wednesday it will be too late. Do your duty boys, and register. The offices are open up to nine o'clock in the evening. I will gladly give you any information you need, and then on the 11th roll up and support our man, Mr. E. A. Peck.

TOLERANCE AND BIGOTRY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Quebec press has constituted itself a special dictionary for the definition of terms like Tolerance and Bigotry.

Broadly speaking Tolerance flourishes in Quebec, while Bigotry has its origin and home in the Province of Ontario.

Tolerance is that which demands on behalf of Quebec special sectarian privileges, which flaunts the principle of provincial rights and denies to other provinces the full autonomy enjoyed by the Province of Quebec.

Bigotry is that which opposes some thing that Quebec asks for, either for itself or for its co-religionists in other provinces.

The men of tolerance are those who touch the match to the liberties of a free province. The bigots are those who attempt to put the conflagration out.

Those who kindle the fire are broad minded patriots.

Those who try to extinguish it are incendiaries.

Tolerance manifests itself by the simple process of being always on the aggressive.

Bigotry is known by its tendency to defend itself when it is attacked.

Tolerance is merely trying to force the Dominion government to protect our children from illigitimacy through the offensive ne temere decree.

Bigotry is going to the hideous extreme of claiming for the Northwest the right to manage its educational affairs as it sees fit.

Tolerance.

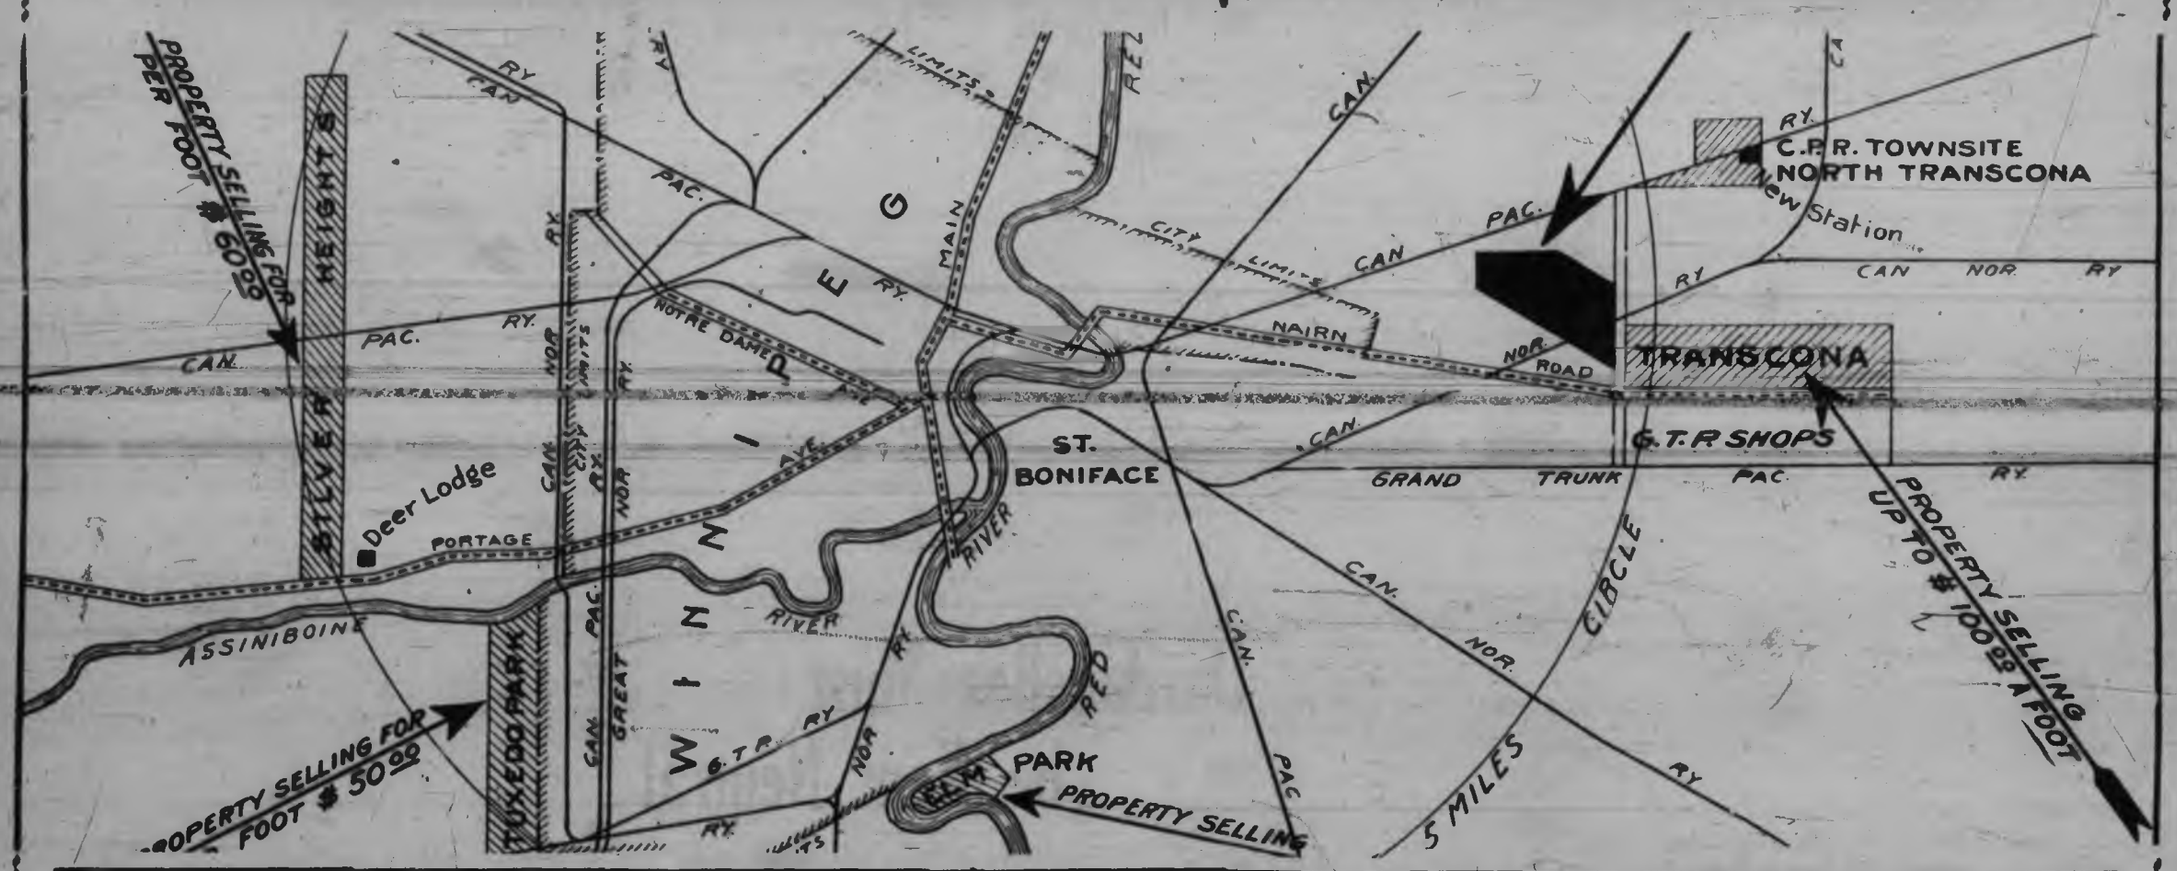
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No. 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about he same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 3,365,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory" Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 51,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field.

The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 600 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 305 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro', or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It Was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Bedsteads and Birdcages.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". In putting together chandeliers and gas fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa," will be received until 4 p.m., on Thursday, November 23, 1911, for the construction of a Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would [illegible] in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earlier [illegible] Indian, and many are [illegible] Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys, and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated. Men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, [illegible] or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and [illegible] than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some aspect of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another [illegible] of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thompson's Sarsaparilla."

Strength of Character

There are no [illegible] to point that character [illegible] to make itself [illegible]. Strength of character lies not in commanding special circumstances, but in [illegible] using any that may be given the work and daily contact with our fellows form our sense of action, and blesses with a peculiar blessing those efforts to put to profit, not merely selected occasions, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scott Holland, "Creed and Character."

THE VEIL OF FUTURITY

By Martin Lyon
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Perfectly motionless lay the ship on the still water, awaiting the dawn to enter the harbor. In a deck-chair Leslie Cartwright stirred restlessly It was late, and nearly all the other passengers had retired for the night; but he was in no mood for sleep.

In the dim light the man's face was gray with an unnatural pallor, scored blackly here and there, on the forehead and round the mouth, with short hard lines. Every now and then his hands would clench nervously, and a quick, impatient sigh escaped his compressed lips. The light murmur from the bulwarks, where a late fellow-traveler and the first officer were chatting over a last cigar, came to him as an impertinence and an irritation. At length the voices died away as the speakers moved forward, and nothing broke the stillness save the long wash of the Australasian sea and at intervals, with jarring suddenness, the striking of the ship's bell.

The man looked around to see if he was alone, and dropped back with an exclamation of satisfaction. By-and-by he began to murmur and fret once more. "What fools women are!" he growled "They take an abstraction and make a god of it; they take a literature and make it a fetish. And what a fool I am to take so much notice of their chatter!"

He was silent for a time Then he resumed his muttering "Who said 'the Veil of Futurity is woven by the hand of Mercy'? Stuff! I should like to lift it, for one. Just as though there could possibly be any mercy in not letting a poor devil see what's ahead of him — and people have lifted it, too — what about the Eastern mystics — the sooth-sayers — the Chaldeans? — what about prophecy? The old prophets were more than the mere far-sighted statesmen as some would have us believe — wonderful — wonderful——"

His voice died away in a low, dreamy murmur; then he stirred again, and began to mutter once more.

"What about their wretched Western imitators! They are too grossly material to possess even a fraction of the occult power they presume to lay claim to. Centuries of European training have been quite enough to exterminate any force of the kind, even if it ever existed. Existed? — of course it did. Men have read the stars like an open book and seen their own fate in the signs of the wind and the wave — they have foretold war and famine and pestilence and the doom of nations; but they were men of old — not the puerile would-be mystics of to-day.

"I do not believe the most spiritualised, sensitive Anglo-Saxon could look five minutes into the unknown."

As he spoke, his white face grew whiter, and an expression almost of fear came over it. He shivered for a moment, then braced himself, evidently with an effort. He laughed nervously.

"Something is wrong with me," he said savagely. "I hope I am not going to get 'ever. I had a feeling then that I could know the future, if I would — only — that it would be well for me if I did not will to know. It's horribly uncanny; I can't shake it off. Well — his voice rose in excited defiance — "I will test this power. I demand to see myself a year hence."

x x x

Then he was floating in a thick, heavy atmosphere; now dark — dark to blackness — now lightening into transparent blue; sometimes flashing into silver, and even blazing into a splendor of gorgeous golden freshness.

Around him, with him, and of him, were long, spherical gray shapes. He was conscious of a curious sense of dispersion — of separation in some indefinite, indefinable manner from himself; and yet he was perfectly capable of connected thought.

"Can this be an answer to my demand?" he questioned. "Bah! As vague as all prophecy! Well, we will ask eleven months." There was no change. "Well, then, ten — nine — eight — seven six!"

A look of horror seized him. Great drops of sweat sprang out on his brow. One might have seen the muscles start and stiffen in his hands as he gripped the arms of the chair. "Five — four — three — two — a month, yes, a month!" he spoke with agonised intensity.

The sense of uneasiness was with him still, but in a modified degree. He seemed more sentient, more living, more human. His voice rose to a shriek. "Take me back to this hour — to this minute." He was alive now, but oh! the agony of that revival! Ah, that fierce, deadly grip on his shoulder! A score of cruel, sharp points were entering his flesh and crushing his loins as in a steel trap! What was that awful wrenching tug at his foot? "Ah, mercy! mercy!"

The first officer reported to the captain:

"I had been talking to Mr. Chadwick till he finished his cigar. I noticed Mr. Cartwright — he was lying in a deck-chair, I thought asleep. Before turning in finally, I made the round of the decks, after Mr. Chadwick had gone. When I came back Mr. Cartwright was still there, and, as I thought he might get a chill if he slept in the open air, I was going to awake him.

"As I got close to him, I found that he was talking in his sleep very excitedly. I was just about to rouse him when he sprang out of his chair with a most dreadful shriek for mercy and before I could stop him he had rushed to the side and jumped overboard I snatched up a coil of rope and ran to the place, but I was too [illegible] It would almost seem as if the sharks had been waiting for him There were three of them."

And he turned away and put his hand over his eyes.

[illegible] man who always follows the [illegible] of his conscience must have [illegible] many ears.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London Museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George E. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporter in this might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-sea business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th. of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $3,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I [illegible] fully believe that our trade of [illegible] Argentine might be duplicated [illegible] each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that [illegible] trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell as commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade has been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the [illegible] part of manufactured goods [illegible] in South America, are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and [illegible] are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, nuts [illegible] hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association, and to develop and extend our export trade.

The Dawn-Treaders.

A certain battalion — the Terrors" — possessed but a very small band. The commanding officer's feet — he was a burly farmer — were — well, very large. One day the battalion was on march out, but the music was not forthcoming.

"Where on earth is the band?" roared the adjutant.

For some time there was no reply; but when the question was repeated, a gruff voice was heard from the rear rank:—

"I do believe, sir, the colonel trod — it by accident."

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND-MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

MISS ELLEN MARY KNOX

It has been said, and truly too, that Educationally Canada stands in the foremost rank. And little wonder when we think of the class of men and women who devote their lives to teaching. No one has done more to raise the standard than Miss Ellen Knox, the Principal of Havergal Ladies College, Toronto. Since coming to Canada in 1894 to assume the principalship of Havergal, this lady has made her college one of the largest and best known on the Con-

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not do well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experience and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many are the Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so potent that character may not display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering or using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and blesses with a peculiar blessing efforts to put to profit, not some selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

THE VEIL OF FUTURITY

By Martin Lyon
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Perfectly motionless lay the ship on the still water, awaiting the dawn to enter the harbor. In a deck-chair Leslie Cartwright stirred restlessly. It was late, and nearly all the other passengers had retired for the night; but he was in no mood for sleep.

In the dim light the man's face was gray with an unnatural pallor, scored blackly here and there, on the forehead and round the mouth, with short hard lines. Every now and then his hands would clench nervously, and a quick, impatient sigh escaped his compressed lips. The light murmur from the bulwarks, where a late fellow-traveler and the first officer were chatting over a last cigar, came to him as an impertinence and an irritation. At length the voices died away as the speakers moved forward, and nothing broke the stillness save the long wash of the Australasian sea and at intervals, with jarring suddenness, the striking of the ship's bell.

The man looked around to see if he was alone, and dropped back with an exclamation of satisfaction. By-and-by he began to murmur and fret once more. "What fools women are!" he growled. "They take an abstraction and make a god of it; they take a literature and make it a fetish. And what a fool I am to take so much notice of their chatter!"

He was silent for a time. Then he resumed his muttering. "Who said 'the Veil of Futurity is woven by the hand of Mercy'? Stuff! I should like to lift it, for one. Just as though there could possibly be any mercy in not letting a poor devil see what's ahead of him — and people have lifted it, too — what about the Eastern mystics — the sooth-sayers — the Chaldeans? — what about prophecy? The old prophets were more than the mere far-sighted statesmen as some would have us believe — wonderful — wonderful——"

His voice died away in a low, dreamy murmur; then he stirred again, and began to mutter once more.

"What about their wretched Western imitators! They are too grossly material to possess even a fraction of the occult power they presume to lay claim to. Centuries of European training have been quite enough to exterminate any force of the kind, even if it ever existed. Existed? — of course it did. Men have read the stars like an open book and seen their own fate in the signs of the wind and the wave — they have foretold war and famine and pestilence and the doom of nations; but they were men of old — not the puerile would-be mystics of to-day.

"I do not believe the most spiritualized, sensitive Anglo-Saxon could look five minutes into the unknown."

As he spoke, his white face grew whiter, and an expression almost of fear came over it. He shivered for a moment, then braced himself, evidently with an effort. He laughed nervously.

"Something is wrong with me," he said savagely. "I hope I am not going to get 'ever'. I had a feeling then that I could know the future, if I would — only — that it would be well for me if I did not will to know. It's horribly uncanny; I can't shake it off. Well — his voice rose in excited defiance — "I will test this power. I demand to see myself a year hence."

x x x

Then he was floating in a thick, heavy atmosphere; now dark — dark to blackness — now lightening into transparent blue; sometimes flashing into silver, and even blazing into a splendor of gorgeous golden freshness.

Around him, with him, and of him, were long, spherical gray shapes. He was conscious of a curious sense of dispersion — of separation in some indefinite, indefinable manner from himself; and yet he was perfectly capable of connected thought.

"Can this be an answer to my demand?" he questioned. "Rah! As vague as all prophecy! Well, we will ask eleven months." There was no change. "Well, then, ten — nine — eight — seven six!"

A look of horror seized him. Great drops of sweat sprang out on his brow. One might have seen the muscles start and stiffen in his hands as he gripped the arms of the chair. "Five — four — three — two — a month, yes, a month!" he spoke with agonized intensity.

The sense of uneasiness was with him still, but in a modified degree. He seemed more sentient, more living, more human. His voice rose to a shriek. "Take me back to this hour — to this minute." He was alive now, but oh! the agony of that revival! Ah, that fierce, deadly grip on his shoulder! A score of cruel, sharp points were entering his flesh and crushing his loins as in a steel trap! What was that awful wrenching tug at his foot? "Ah, mercy! mercy!"

The first officer reported to the captain:

"I had been talking to Mr. Chadwick till he finished his cigar. I noticed Mr. Cartwright — he was lying in a deck-chair, I thought asleep. Before turning in finally, I made the round of the decks, after Mr. Chadwick had gone. When I came back Mr. Cartwright was still there, and, as I thought he might get a chill if he slept in the open air, I was going to awake him.

"As I got close to him, I found that he was talking in his sleep very excitedly. I was just about to rouse him when he sprang out of his chair with a most dreadful shriek for mercy and before I could stop him he had rushed to the side and jumped overboard. I snatched up a coil of rope and ran to the place, but I was too late. It would almost seem as if the sharks had been waiting for him. There were three of them."

And he turned away and put his hand over his eyes.

The man who always follows the dictates of his conscience must have many ears.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George F. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporter. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-sea business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th. of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $3,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell as commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which probably would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and clothing are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from "manufacturers" and "traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

The Dawn-Treddin.

A certain battalion — the "Terrors" — possessed but a very small band, the commanding officer's feet — he was a burly farmer — were — well, very large. One day the battalion was on the march out, but the music was not forthcoming.

"Where on earth is the band?" queried the adjutant.

For some time there was no reply; but when the question was repeated, a gruff voice was heard from the rear rank:—

"I do believe, sir, the colonel trod on it by accident."

Creeps like a Serpent

Catarrh is an insidious disease, scarcely noticeable at first, but horribly relentless if not checked.

No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kills the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes, and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other remedies have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a commonsense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession and all intelligent pharmacists.

You are sure to be benefited quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial size, 25c. Sold by Druggists, and The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

ANOTHER CONSERVATIVE PROVINCE.

The overthrow of the Liberal government in Prince Edward Island is another surprising development in the year of political surprises. The by-elections in that province on Wednesday ended the Liberal regime which has continued in power for some time by a very slender margin. Premier Palmer, who succeeded Premier Haszard on the latter's elevation to the bench, was defeated in Fort Augustus constituency, and the election of an independent who will act with the Conservatives in the Belfast riding, overturns the Liberal majority in the provincial parliament. Before the elections on Wednesday the Liberals had sixteen members in the legislature, the Conservatives fourteen.

That the trend of Canadian public opinion is with the Conservative party is amply illustrated by the Prince Edward Island by-elections. The Haszard government had been steadily declining in ability and popularity and Premier Haszard's presence in getting from under is acknowledged. But the Palmer government, which succeeded to a precarious majority, proved even weaker. Premier Palmer's defeat in his own riding completes the ruin of Liberalism in the smallest of the Dominion Provinces, which now takes its place with Ontario, New Brunswick, Manitoba and British Columbia.

In Nova Scotia two by-elections held last Wednesday marked the decline of Liberal strength in that important Maritime province. Two Conservatives were elected to the local legislature by very comfortable majorities. The Conservative opposition is thus increased to thirteen, with the government membership at 25.

The sweep of Canadian favor is clearly with the Conservative party. Last month Alberta defeated Liberal candidates in the legislative by-elections. Now come the Maritime provinces with a similar cleaning-out process. Next month Ontario has an opportunity to record its preferences. There is no doubt whatever that the Whitney government will be endorsed by a splendid majority. The Liberal party appears to be receding further in the distance.

CANADIAN PEAT BOGS.

The known peat bogs of Canada are estimated to cover an area of approximately 36,000 square miles, says the Canadian Engineer, from which about 72,000,000,000 tons of air-dried peat could be produced. This is said to be equal in fuel value to some 14,000,000,000 tons of coal. To encourage the utilization of these resources, a peat bog of 300 acres with an average depth of 8-feet has been acquired by the Canadian Government, at Alfred, near Caledonia Springs, Prescott County, Ontario. About five miles of ditches have been dug, and a storage shed, blacksmith shop and office have been built. It is estimated that the erection of a plant capable of producing 50 tons of air-dried peat daily should not cost very much, and other workable peat bogs are scattered throughout the farming regions of Ontario and Quebec, the most economical for utilizing this fuel would be the erection of a number of plants at convenient points, to be operated in the interests of the neighboring communities.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

UNDER THE TWINKLING STARS

By Catherine MacDougall

Twenty years ago when Mathilde Westley was a girl in her teens, she, too, with her mother, father, sisters and brother, had lived in Lexington, and the Longwoods and Westleys were like twin families. But one by one the parents and sisters had passed away, leaving Miss Mathilde and her brother sole survivors. After a few years of dreary lingering in the old home they had drifted to Glendale, where Jake Westley had built up a flourishing little mercantile business.

A little later had come also the Peabodys and pitched their tent near the pretty rose-sheathed cottage. But for the circumstance Miss Mathilde might have been contented, even fairly happy. Her life was full of congenial, healthy tasks which she performed with as much cheerfulness as she did thoroughness, each day standing forth as its own bright monument of reward.

If only there had never been a Russell Peabody! Every day, for fourteen years, she had been forced to see him three times, four — sometimes five, as he passed in and out of the gate across the way going back and forth to his work.

For just a little while, many years ago, the sun of happiness had shone upon Miss Mathilde's life. It was in the days when she was a Vassar girl and he a student at Harvard. They had met, fallen desperately in love, exchanged vows and rings — only to find on their return from college that a bitter feud had existed between the Westleys and the Peabodys for scores of years. That marked the end of Mathilde Westley's brief love-dream, and Russell Peabody settled down as an old bachelor almost before he was a man. Thus the years drifted.

This morning Miss Mathilde was busy with her dust-cloth, interrupting herself every little while in the cleaning to run back to the kitchen and glance at the preserves sizzling in a big copper kettle.

"Put on a fresh white apron right away, Kitty, and take this over to the little brown house on the other corner where the Longwoods live. Tell them that Miss Mathilde sent it—for 'Auld Lang Syne' — can you remember that?" Then she added to herself:

Now there were two little brown houses across the way and each of them stood on a corner. Also, Kitty was a new maid and it was not unnatural that she should have selected the wrong place. Miss Mathilde was so deeply engrossed in the bottling process that she did not even look up as the girl went out of the gate.

Russell Peabody, by some peculiar circumstance, sat in his study looking over the contents of an old cabinet-drawer he had not opened for many years. He held in his hand a faded knot of pink ribbon—one that she had worn that night of their betrothal — and his face was less ruddy than its wont as he recalled the sweet memories of their short-lived happiness and the bitter thoughts of all the drab years that followed.

The sharp peal of the door-bell brought him to his feet. All of them were away for the Summer, not even a servant was in the house, and he answered the ring himself.

A look of surprise came into his face at sight of the trim, strange maid, but he took the dish from her hands with a smile of appreciation. Probably some neighborly friend of the family, pitying his bachelorhood, had sent it over.

"From Miss Westley — Miss Mathilde, sir — for the sake of "Auld Lang Syne," she said." A moment later, Kitty was out of the gate and Russell Peabody stood staring into the space through which she had disappeared, and as he stared, a radiant hope awoke in his eyes. For one second he knew what is termed 'mad, delirious bliss.' What if she had meant that there was no Past? That she wanted him again as he used to be — at her side? That she cared, even as he had, more and more through all the lonely years that had divided them? Was she clearing the road for him at last? The road for which he longed, but lacked the courage to take.

After a while he closed the door and went back into his study. With trembling hands he gathered up all his treasures and locked them back in the cabinet — all but the faded knot of ribbon. This he wrapped carefully in a piece of paper and wrote across the back of it:

"Will you wear it this evening — for 'Auld Lang Syne?'"

Afterward, he went out in the street and stopped a boy who was coming along with some papers. He gave him the package, thrust a half-dollar into his hand and pointed the way to Miss Mathilde's cottage.

The day hung heavy on Russell Peabody's hands. Would she wear the pink ribbon? Or was her overture of the morning simply an act of neighborly kindness? When night came, he dressed himself more carefully than he had done for a score of years. He discarded the usual black tie for one one of less sober hue and flicked imaginary specks of dust from his broadcloth lapels at least a dozen times. He looked at himself a bit uncertainly in the glass. But after all, forty-three was not so very old, and Time had traced no unflattering lines on his keen, good-looking face.

At 8 o'clock he left the house and walked rapidly, without looking up, till he came to Miss Mathilde's gate. The high fence was tangled in clematis and he did not see her at all till his hand rested on the latch. She was dressed all over in white, with a white rose nestling at her throat — above a faded knot of pink ribbon.

"Mathilde!" A vivid light leapt to his face, illumining it.

She answered by a quick flash of her eyes, and he, reading love's language in them, held out his arms.

She went to him with a little something between a sob and a laugh and he kissed her softly under the twinkling November stars.

C.G.E. POWER HOUSE

Power Turned on For the First Time on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening, power for the first time was turned on from the new power house at the water works dam above Auburn, and everything worked like a charm. 1200 horse power can be developed. The machines are all modern and were manufactured at the C.G.E. works here.

In every department of the power house is shown the electrical triumphs of the 20th century, and Mr. Robert Cotton has added to his widely known reputation, by the splendid success which attended the first message to the C.G.E. last evening. He has charge of all the work of installation and the result speaks for itself.

There is still much work to be accomplished before the power house is finally completed. It is not a separate building, but is connected with the waterworks plant.

The agreement between the City and the Canadian General Electric Company, is that the city gives to the company the right to use the location and water for which it builds at its own expense the power house, installs the machinery and keeps the same in repair for twenty years, besides paying the city $2,000 per annum, and the taxes. At the end of twenty years the plant complete in every particular becomes the property of the city. At the time the agreement was under consideration, the company had large extensions in view, and these have since been made.

WEDDING BELLS.

Sharman—Watson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's church on Wednesday evening last, when Miss Mary Loretta, the charming daughter of Mr. G. N. Watson, 425 Chambers street, became the bride of Mr. Jas. Walter Sharman, late of Sheffield, England. The bride was attended by Miss Phyllis Edwards, and the groom by Mr. Jas. Simonite.

Keith—Hall.

Vancouver Province: Dr. W. D. Keith of this city and Miss Agnes Hall of Peterborough, Ont., were married yesterday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. E. Burns, at Shaughnessy Heights. The ceremony was quietly celebrated, only a small circle of friends being present. The bride and groom left for Southern California, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will take up their residence here.

NEW ROLLING STOCK.

The Grand Trunk Railway System have placed an order for fifty first class coaches and twenty-five standard baggage cars.

The coaches are the standard equipment, 75 feet 6 inches long, mounted on six wheel trucks.

The inside finish is of mahogany, with green painted ceilings. All the latest improvements are installed in these cars, and they are models of perfection for railroad travel. The body of the coaches are upholstered in green plush and the smoking rooms in green leather. The total seating capacity of the cars is 60 persons. These cars are heated by steam, lighted with Pintsch gas, and are equipped with high speed Westinghouse air brake, and all the latest appliances for safety.

The baggage cars are 63 feet 10½ inches long, with a clear 60 feet in length inside. There are four doors to each car opening in the clear 5 ft. x 6 feet 2½ inches. These cars are mounted on four wheel trucks, are lighted with Pintsch Gas, and heated by steam. They are also equipped with the Westinghouse high speed air brake.

A Suggestion for Peterborough.

The Lindsay Council has instructed the Market Clerk of that town on Friday afternoons to get the prices of different produce from the merchants each week and put it on the blackboard in the market hall it would tend to improve our market. Some people attended the market to sell and did not know what produce was worth and the same applies to the buyer. As a consequence, there is a tendency to hold up on the market. It would be a great advantage on Saturday morning to have a guide for buyer and seller and would improve the market. It might be a good idea for Peterborough to do likewise.

Another high-class vaudeville act direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, where they have just finished a week's engagement. The Bernard Sisters come to the Royal highly recommended as being the best Sister Team in singing and dancing that has ever played the Griffin Circuit. They have the latest songs, most modern dances and most elegant costumes. Don't miss the Bernard Sisters at the Royal.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SUN STILL GOOD FOR LONG TIME

Learned Gentleman Gives the World Guarantee that after 50 Million Years Service, Old Sol is None the Worse for Wear.

Mr. Charles G. Abbott, director of the Astrophysical Observatory of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington has advanced the theory that the sun is composed of a gaseous or vaporous substance, except in the spots. He holds that the temperature is too great to permit its being in a solid or liquid condition. As the temperature attributed to the sun, 5,500 degrees absolute, would melt any known substance, it seems only reasonable to believe this statement. He further states that the specific gravity is too low to permit the sun's mass being other than gaseous.

The visible part of the sun is in the form of a gaseous shell, known as the photosphere. It is clear and incandescent, due to the great temperature. Although it is theoretically probable that the diameter of the sun is slowly decreasing at a certain rate, due to radiation and contraction, it cannot be decided practically as it would take 10,000 years to cause an appreciable change in the solar diameter. Even after transmitting energy to the earth, in the form of light and heat, through some 93,000,000 miles of space, during a period of about 50,000,000 years, the sun is apparently none the worse for wear.

When the Band Played

To the Hon. L. A. Frothingham, Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts belongs the distinction of having hit upon a plan for defeating the suffragettes who put their trust in noise.

Among the Berkshire hills Mr. Frothingham and other candidates on the Republican State ticket have been pursued by Miss Margaret Foley, of Boston, and her party of young women in automobiles. They attended the Republican meetings for the purpose of interrupting. Against their shouts Mr. Frothingham has matched the noise-producing powers of a village brass band, and the band has been winning right along. True, there can be no speaking while the suffragettes are shouting and the band playing, but, all the same, it is very discouraging to the suffragettes to find their voices drowned by the vigorous notes of trombone and bass drum.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

SWIMMING AND BATHING

Sir Harry Poland, K.C., contributes to the "Marine Magazine" an article on "Swimming and Bathing," in which he gives advice from his own experience to those who wish to become good swimmers. He says:—"The great thing for a swimmer to accomplish is to swim without depending on the use of his hands, thus using them free for other purposes," and he recommends the swimmer to learn to dress and undress in the water, and to practice swimming while wearing heavy clothes.

"When I lived on the banks of the Thames, at Strawberry Vale, Twickenham, I used," says Sir Harry, "at a quarter past seven every morning to plunge into the river. I continued to do this for several years, although in the dark mornings for about three weeks before Christmas and a few weeks after were a little trying. The great thing to attend to is to take your header directly you are out of bed, and to take care to keep warm until you plunge. For this purpose you should put on a coat lined with flannel, with a thick coat over that, trousers lined with flannel, slippers lined with lamb's wool, and warm gloves. You should stand on a piece of carpet and throw your clothing off like a quick-change artists, and on coming out of the water you may stand in the open and thoroughly enjoy the east wind for the first time in your life, and the snow, sleet, hail, or rain will only be a diversion. "Cold bathing in winter will not, of course, do for a man whose liver is sluggish or whose heart is weak. As I had to lead a sedentary life it must not be supposed that at any time I was an athlete; on the contrary, I was never very strong, and I mention this solely for the purpose of showing that with the exercise of common prudence almost every youth can do what I was in the habit of doing."

The Bed-Time Prayer

In pleading for greater strictness in the habit of private prayer on retiring to rest, Rev. Dr. J. Douglas Adam of Brooklyn emphasized that some of the moral processes which are most powerful in moulding us take place when we have no definite consciousness of them. If the last thoughts before sleep were set upon high things, those thoughts would penetrate and work themselves out in the subliminal self during the hours of unconsciousness. They would weave themselves into the texture of character even while we dreamed. Hence it was of supreme consequence morally that the last thoughts at night should convey spiritual suggestion. John Keble was not familiar with modern psychology, but his lines appear to contain a vital truth:

Be my last thought—How sweet to rest
For ever on my Saviour's breast!

COURAGE AND HOPE

How often do we hear the admonition: 'Keep your head above water.' The best way to fulfill the injunction is to keep the spirit above. Courage, hope, what can a man not do with these? What is he able to do without them. Courage is an elixir of life, giving power both to mind and body. It strengthens the sinews, it revivifies the spirit. It makes life, indeed, worth living.

'But,' it may be asked, 'how can a person gain courage who is not "born with it"?' There are two requisites: 1. He believes that what he is doing is worth doing. 2. He must feel that of all the things in the world it is the thing that calls him. With these convictions, he is equipped with weapons that shall level every obstacle, make a path through every maze — for of these are born courage and faith.

NONE ARE MADE IN PANAMA

The Hat of the Name is not Made in Panama, the Material Not Being a Product of that Country.

It is not generally known that the popular head-gear known as the "Panama" hat is not made in the Republic of Panama, but in Peru, Ecuador, and Colombia, and that the material, the "tequilla" straw, is exclusively an Ecuatorian product. The city of Panama was, and is yet to some extent, a trading centre for this article, hence the name. In an article on the subject in "Peru To-Day" it is stated that these hats are waterproof and sunproof, and can be roughly handled and washed many times. The finest grades of hats are made in Ecuador. The material used is tequilla straw, which is obtained from the leaves of a squatty plant of the palm family.

The manufacture is carried on in the homes of the weavers and taken to the wholesale dealers on certain market days. They work about six to eight hours every day, fine hats being made only in the early morning or evening hours, when there is greater humidity; while the coarser grades are woven at any time. The quality and value of the hats depend upon their weight, evenness, compactness, and colour.

In Ecuador, where the finest hats are made, it is not uncommon for the wealthy planters to wear hats valued at one hundred sucres, about $50 and many fancy prices have been paid for specially made hats, particularly when used as gifts to princes or potentates.

Until within the last few years, when these hats came into fashion, the prices they brought, outside of their district and within the tropics, were entirely out of proportion to their real value. This was due chiefly to the difficulty in getting the hats direct and in suitable styles.

He Knew Them All

At one time Professor Snow, a well-known Kansas naturalist, was out with a party of students on his annual insect hunt, states the author of the "Life of a Fossil Hunter." when the owner of a large herd of Texas cattle, who was passing through, noticed the party out on the prairie with their nets in their hands, running about as if possessed. It happened to be the first time that he had ever seen insect-collectors at work, and his curiosity was aroused.

"What are those men doing?" he asked Jim Thompson.

"Catching bugs," was the laconic reply.

"I don't believe it," said the cowman. "They are grown men."

"All right," said Jim, "you can find out for yourself if you want to."

The man started off after the professor, and I waited, with a good deal of curiosity, to hear his report on the conversation. On his return he was in a brown study. The professor had taken him into his tent, and shown him hundreds of mounted insects, reeling off their names to him [illegible]

"Well, did I tell you the truth?" Jim asked.

"That man," said the cow-man, "is the smartest man I ever saw. He knows the names and surnames of all the bugs in this county—"

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked in water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society for the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 452 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked 'S'—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

Army Illiterates

According to statistics recently published the number of illiterate recruits in the French Army has attained the astounding total of 14,000. On the other hand, the German newspapers point with pride to the fact that in the whole of Germany they have only 46 illiterates; that is, recruits who can neither read nor write. Ten years ago the number of illiterates in the German Army was 218. Going back another decade, the number was 860. The French journal from which these facts are taken further states that the percentage of illiterates in the English Army — the last figures available being those for 1907 — showed 1 per cent; France, 3.5 per cent.; Austria, 22 per cent.; Italy, 31 per cent.; and Russia, 62 per cent.

The perpetually clever man listened solemnly to the tramp's hard-luck story.

"That's the same old yarn you told me last week," he said, winking at his companion.

"Maybe it is," admitted the weary one as he started on. "I'd forgotten having met you. I was in jail then last week."

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six; jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine lathes, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully beautiful.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

Bad Walking.

The sidewalks throughout the city have been in bad shape for several days, being covered in many places with a heavy coating of ice. The result is that many falls are recorded An elderly lady slipped near the Post Office yesterday, and received a severe shaking up, but fortunately without serious injury.

He Likes The Times.

Mr. A. R. Gill one of our esteemed rural route subscribers called yesterday and paid his subscription to the paper. He said he liked The Times very much, and found that it was very popular in his district. Almost every farmer on the rural route have become subscribers, and all tell the same story.

Underwent an Operation.

Mr. Stubbs, of the Collegiate Institute staff, went up to Toronto last week, where he was operated on for appendicitis. He is doing nicely and expects to be able to return to Peterborough in the course of a couple of weeks.

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1700 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

The New Wharf.

Work on the new wharf on George street is progressing satisfactorily, about thirty men being now at work. The dredge is at work cleaning out the river, so as to afford sufficient depth of water for steamers. This work will keep a large force of men busy all winter and most of next summer.

Gone to Ottawa.

The County Council left by special coach on the 11.35 C.P.R. yesterday for Ottawa where they will meet the Minister of Railways and Canals, the Hon. Frank Cochrane. There were twenty in the party.

An irritable, fault-finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

A New Siding.

The construction commenced yesterday morning of anew siding on the G.T.R. at Bethune street, running south. The siding has become necessary owing to the increased freight traffic which requires more accommodation for its cars. This increase is evidenced by the fact that two shunters are at work in that district whereas some little time ago, only one existed.

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most pohte and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have seen. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that if it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left, Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

THE VILLAIN OF THE NOVEL

Where Novelists Draw Off For Characteristic Brigand, Down-trodden Peasant, and Dark-Eyed Ladies of Evil.

A British writer has evolved the [illegible] that the foreigner has been [illegible] and unfairly handled in [illegible] literature. There are certain [illegible] writers who would not dream [illegible] a novel without introducing a foreigner as chief villain. [illegible] Russian, the unfortunate has fared even worse [illegible] and German delineators, [illegible] is represented as nearly every [illegible] as a villain of the deepest dye, [illegible] ideals of social [illegible] ed up in bombs, knives, poisons, secret papers anarchist clubs, [illegible] and alarms. Were we to believe the extraordinary picture presented to us by our melodramatic writers, we should be justified in regarding Russia as a vast mob of [illegible] attempting to overthrow a small body of nobles. Yet we know from blue-books and trade reports that Russia does do some commerce, has possess factories other than secret factories for the manufacture of bombs and other illegal ammunition, has its theatres, its writers and its artists, its hospitals, and its pleasure grounds. Both the middle and the better classes in Russia seem to find time to grasp the intricate difficulties of foreign languages, for they are, as a nation, the finest linguists in the world. Surely that proves that they cannot be dodging bombs all the time. People have been known to visit Russia and to return with a whole skin and a glowing remembrance of Russian hospitality. Italy, Sicily, Spain, Corsica, and Sardinia are, according to English novelists, almost completely inhabited by brigands, dark-eyed ladies, priests, and down-trodden peasants, whose chief occupations in life appear to be vendettas, passions both amorous and clinical, and a wholly disproportionate belief in superstitions.

A HAILSTORM THAT COUNTED

Canada's Winter Cannot Produce Such Golf-Ball Hailstones as Were Recently Experienced in a Section of Europe.

In a letter to the London Times a traveler tells of a hailstorm in the Pyrenees. "It was as if night was devouring day before our very eyes; a night, too, of tempest and torn and trailing clouds, of storm, smoke and thunder." Midway in the darkness was "the clear cut straight line of cloud which invariably tells of hail." Except for the shelter of a small tree they were exposed to the storm's fury and when they examined the hailstones, they found they were of the average size of marbles, with a scattering here and there of much larger stones, "as large as golf balls."

This, however, was merely the prelude, the real storm came after they had reached their tents. "Suddenly the whole land was bombarded by great hailstones as large as lawn tennis balls." These fell with deafening roar on the canvas of the tent, and "it seemed only a matter of a few seconds for us to be battered into the earth, tent and all." An india rubber bath in front of their shelter, "with its sides beaten down in places, was half full of things like white cricket balls."

When the storm had finally passed the mountains around were white with the hailstones. The hail was weighed: "six stones went to the kilo." The size was that of a tennis ball, and almost uniform." Seventy sheep were killed on the heights above the travelers' shelter, and in a neighboring valley thirty-five cows and some mules and the body of a child that had been wandering in the mountains "were brought down by a stream."

A Modern Babel.

Confusion of tongues reigns in St. Gilles, the industrial suburb of Brussels, Belgium. Here the Flemish, Walloon and German elements meet. Statistics prepared for the Government on the language question show that of the 62,239 adults who form the population of St. Gilles 10,168 men and 14,213 women speak French only; 2,483 men and 2,445 women Flemish only, 90 men and 172 women German only, 12,595 men and 14,902 women both French and Flemish, 711 men and 795 women both French and German, 30 men and 31 women both Flemish and German, and 959 men and 643 women French, Flemish and German.

A Puzzler for Sure

The other day in the British Museum a guide was recounting to a little knot of tourists the glories of a battered centaur when a Chicago meat salesman broke the reverent hush with the question: "Excuse me, sir, but what would they feed a bloke like that on — ham and eggs or hay?"

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited
154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

PUBLISH MY LETTER THE WORLD OVER

The Words of Harold P. Busby, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere straightforward letter of H. P. Busby, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

Sent Up for a Week.

An elderly man named John Middleton was charged at the police court with being drunk, and was sent up for a week.

Eighteen Teams Laid Off.

Superintendent Wade last week laid off eighteen teams from the work at the new wharf, the filling having been completed so far as extra teams are concerned. A large force of men are now at work, as well as a number of teams, and will be employed throughout the winter.

The Otonabee Case.

In the Manley vs. Cooney case, which came up at the County Court again on Saturday, judgment was withheld. Judge Huycke suggesting that the accused should make restitution towards meeting the heavy expenses incurred by Manley as a result of the assault. Judgment will be given on December 5th.

Dan's First Ice Trip.

Mr. Dan. Whetung, of Chemong Indian village, crossed from his home to the Smith shore on the ice on Saturday. Our local contemporaries appear to regard this as somewhat sensational feat. It would have been still more remarkable had Dan went through the ice instead of over it.

Want to Be Constable.

The following have applied to the Board of Police Commissioners for position of constable: Patrick Carrol, Geo. A. Reynolds, Jos. Bullied, Alex. Windover, F. W. Lemeadin, Alex. Friendship, J. W. Reynolds and Jas. L. Young.

Some Fine Investments.

Those who invest in western town lots frequently make big money. The advertising columns of The Times usually contain the very best investment to be had. Almost any one can secure one or more of the lots advertised, as the terms are easy.

Made Big Money.

A local citizen a few months ago purchased a western lot, which was advertised in The Times. The price was $250. He paid $25 down and before the next payment matured he received an offer of $400 for the lot. He is holding it at $1000, which he expects to get in the course of a few weeks. At present there are some splendid snaps in western real estate to be found in the advertising columns of The Times.

A Serious Offence.

A local young man was charged at the police court on Saturday with assault, by persisting in escorting a young lady to her home the previous evening. It was evidently a case of jag for the young man when in his proper senses knows better. He requested permission to proceed to work, as he would probably lose his position, but his worship told him he would have to suffer the consequences and that he must stay in jail. The prisoner keenly felt his position.

Another Blacklister.

The way of the blacklister is hard these days. Jas. Pilling, who is on the prohibited list, was arraigned on the charge of being drunk. This was his second offence and the lowest fine was $20, while it could not exceed $50. The former fine was imposed and in default of payment, the accused will spend the next month a guest at Castle Nesbitt.

Another Rural Mail Route.

Mr. J. H. Pallin, postmaster at Jermyn, Otonabee was in the city on Saturday, and gave The Times a call. Mr. Pallin says that efforts are being made to secure a rural mail route throughout the section of Otonabee of which Indian River will be the centre. There is to be a meeting of those concerned at Indian River to-morrow, Tuesday evening, at which the petition to the Post Office Department will be signed and the routes arranged.

Charity Ball.

At the annual meeting of the King's Daughters, amongst other business transacted, arrangements were made for the holding of a charity ball in the Conservatory Hall on the evening of New Year's Day, the proceeds to be given to the Deep Sea Mission. This is a most worthy object and the ladies are entitled to much praise for taking this matter up.

Queen's University Suffragettes.

As a number of Peterborough girls are students at Queen's University, Kingston, it will be interesting to many to learn that considerable excitement was created there, when it was announced that the suffragettes at the University were about to enter upon a campaign of active and militant enterprise. The fair co-eds have decided to enter the political arena, and in the coming contest for alma mater elections they will place two lady candidates in the field.

Not Favorable Merger.

The merger which included the Laid say mills of which Messrs. J. D. Flavelle is president, is not likely to pay a dividend this term. The annual meeting which took place this week in Toronto, and as there are a number of stockholders in this district, it will be awaited with considerable interest if not anxiety. Mr. Flavelle no doubt, will explain matters to the satisfaction of all concerned. The cost of forming the merger is doubtless the cause of the passing of the dividend.

Church League Fall Champions.

All Saints' football team were given their medals on Saturday afternoon by the captain of the team Mr. E. Hooper. The team were photographed, wearing their medals and displaying the Burnham Trophy. The following members have received medals: R. Morraty, R. Hall, H. Gamble, T. Vickers, E. Hooper (captain), A. Edwards, C. Robinson, T. Monk, W. Downes, A. Cash, T. Williams, E. Dawson, T. B. Moffatt (sec'y), S. Curtis, (trainer). Reserves—A. Rew, W. Hawthorne.

Eggs Are Soaring.

At the market on Saturday, eggs brought 40c per dozen. This extraordinary price cannot long prevail. Many people who have yard room are already keeping hens, and others will no doubt follow suit. Besides, the high price will induce large offering of eggs, when the price will drop. The following prices prevailed:

Ducks—$1.10 per pair.
Butter—30c.
Geese—$1.25.
Eggs—40c doz.
Chickens—80c per pair.
Turkeys—$1.75 up.
Lamb—11c and 13c.
Pork—11c and 12c.
Beef—7½c and 8½c.
Potatoes—$1.50 per bag.
Hay—$16.00 per ton.
Farmers' hides—8½c.
Butchers' hides—9c and 9½c.
Live hogs—$5.90.
Dressed hogs—$8.00, showing a decrease of 50c, since last quotations.

More Pay for Postmasters.

It will be good news, especially for country postmasters, to learn that they are likely to get an increase in their salaries. Strong representations have been made to the Department by the representatives of the postmasters' association. The complaint is that postmasters in the Dominion are not sufficiently remunerated for the work done and the responsibility undertaken. When the inland postage was reduced from 3 to 2 cents and the imperial from 5 to 2, it caused a large diminution in revenue, and, of course, a relative reduction in the earnings of the postmasters, who are paid on commission. Of course, matters levelled themselves up as the traffic increased but has resulted in the postmaster having more work to do for the same money. Further it is felt that there ought to be some style of grading to meet the difference between postoffice and a small outgoing mail and a large ipcoming one, and an office which has its work divided the other way about.

Concert at All Saints' Parish Room.

An enjoyable concert was held on Friday evening last in the above room in aid of the Girls' Guild, and All Saints' Hockey Club. Mr. Simons occupied the chair in a very able manner, and under his guidance a very pleasant evening was spent. The hall was well filled by an enthusiastic audience and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly. During the evening, the winners of the Church League were presented with the "Burnham Trophy," kindly given by our member. The presentation was made by Mr. P. Webb, who congratulated All Saints' Athletic Club on their victory. Mr. E. Hooper, the captain of the winning team, suitably replied. At the close of the concert refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close. A vote of thanks to the chairman and all taking part was given with acclamation.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Blachford, of Montreal, is the guest of Miss Caldwell, Brock street.

Mr. Kenneth Crane, of Toronto, spent Sunday at his home in this city.

Mr. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute, spent Sunday in Toronto.

Rev. J. G. Brown preached the anniversary services at the Methodist church, Manvers Station, yesterday.

Mr. Archie Shook is home from the West on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shook, Mellonnell street.

Miss Jean McNeru, of Detroit, is the guest of Miss Ethyl Regan, Gilmour street.

Mrs. R. H. Leary and Miss Leary wish to thank all friends for sympathy in their bereavement.

Mr. Samuel J. Fanning, 255 Reid street, who underwent an operation for appendicitis, is doing nicely at the Nicholls Hospital.

Montreal Star: His many friends will be glad to hear that Rev. Dr. Symonds, now at Woodstock, Vt., is improving in health every day.

The many friends of Mr. Stubbs, will be pleased to know that he is improving rapidly after his operation in the General Hospital, Toronto, and expects to be able to resume his duties at the Collegiate shortly.

Mrs. Jessie Gampricht, Aylmer street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Wilhelmina F., to Mr. A. W. S. Hipperson. The wedding will take place about the middle of December.

Mr. John E. Balcher, C.E., spent a few days in Bobcaygeon last week, visiting friends.

Rev. Mr. Couch, pastor of the George street church, conducted anniversary services in the Methodist church at Cannington, yesterday.

Miss Mona Knight, of Kingston, who is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Wood, sang two solos in St. Paul's church last evening which were very much enjoyed by the congregation. Miss Knight's marriage to Mr. Herbert Wood, of Vancouver, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wood, takes place next month.

Beauty

is more than skin-deep—and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

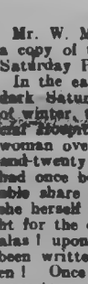
It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSONS INVALIDS PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.



Dr. J. M. BEAUBOLRIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

Yours truly,

BEAUTIFUL SNOW

An Anonymous Poem, Written by a Lady, and Published in The Times By Request.

Mr. W. Millar, Dumfermline, sends a copy of this poem, printed at the Saturday Press Office there.

In the early part of the war, one dark Saturday morning in the dead of winter, there died at the Commercial Hospital, Cincinnati, a young woman over whose head only two-and-twenty summers had passed. She had once been possessed of an enviable share of beauty, had been, as she herself said, "flattered and sought for the charms of her face;" but, alas! upon her fair brow had long been written the terrible word—fallen! Once the pride of respectable parentage, her first wrong step was the small beginning of the "same old story over again," which has been the only life-history of thousands. Highly educated and accomplished in manners, she might have shone in the best of society. But the evil hour that proved her ruin was but the door from childhood; and having spent a young life in disgrace and shame, the poor friendless one died the melancholy death of a broken-hearted outcast.

Among her personal effects was found in manuscript the "Beautiful Snow," which was immediately carried to a gentleman of culture and literary taste, who was at that time editor of the National Union. In the columns of that paper, on the morning following the girl's death, the poem appeared in print for the first time. When the paper containing the poem came out on Sunday morning, the body of the victim had not yet received burial. The attention of one of the first American poets was soon directed to the newly published lines, who was so taken with their stirring pathos, that he immediately followed the corpse to its final resting place.

Such are the plain facts concerning her whose "Beautiful Snow" will long be regarded as one of the brightest gems in American literature.

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
Filling the sky and earth below,
Over the housetops, over the street,
Over the heads of the people you meet
Dancing—flirting—skimming along

Beautiful snow! it can do no wrong,
Flying to kiss a fair lady's cheek,
Clinging to lips in frolicsome freak,
Beautiful snow from heaven above,
Pure as an angel, gentle as love!

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
How the flakes gather and laugh as they go,
Whirling about in maddening fun,
It plays in its glee with every one:
Chasing—laughing—hurrying by,

It lights on the face, and it sparkles the eye;
And the dogs with a bark and a bound
Snap at the crystals as they eddy round;
The town is alive, and its heart in a glow,
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow!

How wild the crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song;
How the gay sleighs like meteors flash by,
Bright for a moment, then lost to the eye;
Ringing—swinging—dashing they go

Over the crust of the beautiful snow,
Snow so pure when it falls from the sky,
To be trampled in mud by the crowd passing by—
To be trampled and tracked by thousands of feet,
Till it blends with the filth in the horrible street.

Once I was pure like the snow, but I fell—fell;
Fell like the snow—but from Heaven to hell;
Fell to be trampled as filth of the street;
Fell to be scolled, to be spit on and beat;
Pleading—cursing—dreading to die,

Selling my soul to whoever would buy;
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread,
Hating the living, and fearing the dead.
Merciful God, have I fallen so low?
And yet I was once like the beautiful snow.

Once I was fair as the beautiful snow
With an eye like a crystal, a heart like its glow;
Once I was loved for my innocent grace—
Flattered and sought for the charms of my face!
Father—mother—sisters—all,

God and myself, I have lost by my fall;
The veriest wretch that goes shivering by,
Will make a wide sweep lest I wander too nigh.
For all that is on or about me I know
There is nothing that's pure as the beautiful snow.

How strange it should be that this beautiful snow,
Should fall on a sinner with nowhere to go!
How strange it should be when the night comes again,
If the snow and the ice struck my desperate brain.
If fainting—freezing—dying alone,

Too wicked for prayer, too weak for a moan
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town
(Gone mad in the joy of snow coming down);
I should lie down and die in my terrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

Helpless and foul as the trampled snow,
Sinner despair not! Christ stoopeth low
To rescue the soul that is lost in sin,
To raise it to life and enjoyment again.
Groaning—bleeding—dying for thee,

The Crucified hung on the cursed tree
His accents of pity fall soft on thine ear;
"Is there mercy for me! Will He heed my weak prayer?
O God! in the stream that for sinners did flow,
Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!"

REMARKABLE ACTIVITY AT BOW ISLAND

Fifteen Additional Gas Wells Are to be Drilled—100 Car Loads of Material Will be Shipped to Bow Island to Carry Out This Gigantic Project.

Announcement has just been made that an additional 15 wells are to be drilled at Bow Island, Alberta, and that the work of drilling these wells will be prosecuted vigorously right through the winter months. Bow Island now has 5 wells, the present daily production of which is 61,365,000 cubic feet of natural gas every 24 hours. This enormous production gives to Bow Island the distinction of being the greatest natural gas field in the world.

The Bow Island Board of Trade reports that hardly a day passes but that one or more inquiries or visits are received from manufacturers seeking locations to establish industries. Cheap fuel in the form of natural gas, will draw manufacturing plants to Bow Island.

During the past week there have been five different parties of surveyors at work in Bow Island. Two of these parties were made up of Dominion and C.P.R. surveyors. Another party was engaged in surveying the Hopkins property, recently purchased by the Grand Pacific Land Co. Limited, of Winnipeg, Man. Representatives of the Grand Pacific Land Co. spent considerable time in Bow Island in order to learn where the future city of Bow Island would be built and it is believed that by the purchase of the Hopkins property, the Grand Pacific Land Co. controls the situation at Bow Island. This company has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water Street, Peterborough, as its exclusive Peterborough representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the remarkable development and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterborough, or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Interior Fittings, Postoffice and Customs, Niagara Falls, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 29th, 1911, for the work mentioned.

Tenders will not be considered unless made upon, and in accordance with, conditions contained in forms furnished by Department.

Plans and specifications to be seen on application to Mr. T. C. Brown, caretaker, Public Building, Niagara Falls, Ont., Mr. T. A. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal station F., Toronto, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender.

By order,

R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit,

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over-tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational polity is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

ANSWERS BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST

Q. Why do school children with good sight require Glasses?

A. Mainly to rest the eyes. The eye does not obtain its growth until the child is about the age of twelve. The growing eye is taxed beyond its strength; the proper glasses rest and preserve the eyes.

ANSWERS BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST

Q. Why do children squint?

A. By squinting or frowning the muscle in the eye is relieved of strain; this is nature's way. Study-glasses relieve this strain, and thus prevent squinting.

VOL XXXIV NO 273 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE CITY FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COM. IN SESSION

COMMITTEE WORKING ON PROPOSITION TO ILLUMINATE THE STREETS WITH GROUP-TUNGSTEN LAMPS.

Moonlight Service to be Changed to An Every Night Service—Mr. Munro Addressed the Committee.

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow, Chairman Ald. Morgan, Aldermen Metheral, Edgar, Kerneghan and Graham.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company offered free current to supply a reflecting light on the city's big sign on the river, north of the C.P.R. bridge. The chairman was instructed to accept this offer and arrange for the wiring, the cost of which will, of course, be borne by the city.

Mr. W. H. Munro, manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, addressed the committee on the question of the extensive improvements in the street lighting system. He offered that as the term of their contract will expire in 1914, it would not be wise for the company to expend some $2,500 or $3,000 in changes asked that would be more or less permanent. As to the outages charged against the company, 80 per cent. occur after twelve o'clock, up to which hour only the lamps are under full control. Some of the lamps reported out indicate by the carbon consumed that they had burned pretty well all night. Mr. Munro admitted that the open arc lamp is not a modern one, but is the lamp provided for in the contract.

TUNGSTEN LAMPS ON STANDARDS.

The committee here took up the suggestion of installing 5 or 3 Tungsten lamp standards for street lighting purposes. Should this system be adopted the Peterborough Light and Power Co. will furnish electric current free for a term of three years. Mr. Munro offered that to instal 60 of these lamps, wired (overhead) complete would cost the city between $8,000 and $9,000. The proposition is to distribute the standards over a given district at intervals of 100 feet.

Moved by Ald. Edgar, seconded by Ald. Metheral,—That the Mayor, the chairman and Ald. Graham be a committee to consider what streets shall form the first district to be lighted by standard Tungsten lamps, secure exact data as to cost of installing the system and report back to committee as to which standard it would be advisable to adopt—three or five lamps.

The intention is to instal these lamps on George street anyway, and the district may include parts of Charlotte, Simcoe and Hunter streets. The Fire, Water and Light Committee will probably only recommend to Council for action next year.

AN IMPROVEMENT.

To improve the present street lighting system, Mr. Munro offered to arrange for the lamps to burn every night in the year, cutting out the "moonlight" provision. This proposition was accepted with thanks. This new arrangement will cost the Peterborough Light and Power Co. an additional $1,000 a year.

DEDUCTIONS.

Reverting to the question of outages, Mr. Munro contended that it was manifestly unfair to charge against the company lamps as being out "all night" that were out for an hour or two only as evidenced by the carbons. He thought the system of charging outages might be more equitably adjusted.

It was decided to deduct only for the number of hours lamps are out, as shown by length of carbon.

WINTER CAPS.

Committee authorized the purchase of 12 winter caps for the firemen at a total cost of $15.

OFFICERS APPOINTED.

On recommendation of Chief Howard, Fireman Denno was appointed captain of the brigade and Fireman Munden was appointed lieutenant.

Outbreak Among Regiments Stationed at Tibet —Chi-I Assembly Calls Upon Throne to Abdicate

Pekin, Nov. 27.—The Assembly of the Province of Chi-Li resolved yesterday to summon the throne to abdicate. It passed a resolution to-day by which it decided to participate in the Republican Government which is now being formed.

The National Assembly attempted to hold a meeting to-day but only thirty members were present.

The Chinese troops in Tibet have mutinied, declaring their sympathy for the revolutionists.

THE DEEP SEA MISSION

The well known author, Norman Duncan, writes this in his "Dr. Grenfell's Parish:"

Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell is the young Englishman who, for the love of God practises medicine on the Coast of Newfoundland and Labrador. His profession round, quite out of the common, is two thousand miles of bitterly inhospitable coast, the Labrador and North Newfoundland Coast. The folk are for the most part isolated and desperately wretched, the shore fishermen of the remoted Newfoundland coasts, the Labrador "liveyeres," the Indians of the forbidding interior, the Esquimaux of the far north. It is such as these that the man gives devoted and heroic service—not for gain; there is no gain to be got in these impoverished places; merely for the love of God.

All the time, in storm and sun shine, summer and winter weather, Grenfell of the Deep Sea Mission goes about doing good. If it's not in a boat, it's in dog sled. He is what he likes to call "a Christian man." But he is also a hero—at once the bravest and most beneficiently useful man I know. If he regrets his isolation, if the hardships of the life sometimes oppresses him, no man knows it. He does much, but there is much more to do. If the good people of the world would give a little more of what they have so abundantly—and if they could but know the need, they would surely do that—joy might be multiplied on that coast; nor would any man be wronged by misguided charity.

"What a man does for the love of God," the doctor once said, "he does differently."

LINDSAY GETS ANOTHER LEMON

Electric Line Promoter Lands Behind the Bars

MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

The Promoter, Harry Malcolm Graham. Weds an Omemee Lady—Borrowed Money From the Stake-Driving Gang—How Promoter Got Money.

ELECTRIC railway building in Lindsay has received a setback that will last for some time, on account of the latest fake that has been worked off on the good people of that town. It is only a few months ago that a shoe factory proposition proved a costly fake to many of the citizens of that burg. The latest scheme involved the building of an electric railway from Orillia to Port Hope, through Peterborough and incidentally it means that about $1,000 was secured from people in the neighborhood of Lindsay by the Napoleon of finance. And not only did this young man get some of the people's hard earned cash, but he got one of Omemee's daughters as a wife. And now she is a bride of only two weeks' standing and her husband is behind the bars.

FROM TRENTON.

Harry Malcolm Graham is the name of the young man who was proposing to construct an electric line. He comes from Trenton, and was in trouble a short time ago in St. Catharines over an automobile deal. He dropped quietly into Lindsay about five weeks ago, and without getting much notoriety, started in to hire a gang of men to stake a right of way for his projected line. This is the gang of men whose staking caused such commotion around Best's Station a few days ago.

They staked at the rate of three miles a day, from the other side of Lindsay to Omemee and then to Best's Station. And, odd to state, wherever there was a farm house, or a barn or a nice orchard, the right of way invariably was headed right for it. Then, if the farmer paid Mr. Graham $50 or $100, the right of way would be moved, so that it would not mean the eventual destruction of the valuable buildings or possessions of Mr. Farmer. Many farmers paid over their little sums to avoid having the electric railway run through their orchards and farms.

LINDSAY WAS EASY.

He announced that he would build a real elevated railway, on two concrete walls, with the block system of operating. He had the Council ready to give him right of way and other assistance. During his stay in Lindsay, the young man made love to a maid in the Butler House, where he put up, and succeeded in persuading her to marry him. This was only two weeks ago. His board bill and hers mounted up, until it is now $103 and the proprietor is sorrowing over the loss of his star boarder and his bill.

Finally people became suspicious, and on Saturday the Chief of Police decided to take him into his paternal care. No information had been sworn, but the chief yesterday, took the initiative and Graham appeared in the Police Court, facing four charges of securing money under false pretences. He admitted his guilt and was remanded until Friday.

Rich in Minerals.

Mr. James Davis, a prospector, has just returned from a prospecting trip through the northern portion of Peterborough County. In conversation with The Times he stated that the northern townships were, he believed, rich in minerals of various kinds, and he looked for gold and silver strikes soon, as he had no doubt both these minerals existed in paying quantities. He had with him evidence of this from the samples shown us.

GENERAL PROTEST AGAINST THE NE TEMERE DECREE

Toronto, Nov. 27.—A combined movement on the part of all the Protestant churches of the Dominion to contest the legality of the Ne Temere Decree of the Roman Catholic Church is to be made shortly. This was the substance of an announcement made last night by Rev. Dr. Hincks during the course of his evening sermon at Broadway Tabernacle, when he outlined the steps that would be taken to denounce the famous marriage order. These follow the plan already announced in The News.

An appeal, said Dr. Hincks, was being issued to all Protestant churches throughout the country, asking that sermons of protest be preached while another development would be the sending out of scores of petitions to be signed, which would beseech the Dominion and Provincial Governments to take action in order that the legality of the marriage vows might be preserved in spite of the edicts of one particular church.

In order to combat with this impending assault upon the sanctity of the home, it would be necessary for all Protestants, regardless of faith, to combine, the speaker pointed out. The effect of the decree was to cause the breaking up of many households as well as casting the slur of illegitimacy upon many innocent children.

OBJECT TO PROPOSED BOUNDARY SETTLEMENT

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Manitoba members are not taking very kindly to the suggested changes in the boundaries, which would give Ontario a joint harbor at Port Nelson with Manitoba. They claim that the town site must be on the southern side of the inlet, which would mean the town of Port Port Nelson would be in Ontario territory. They think that if Ontario wants this harbor so badly, it should give something really substantial in its place, and suggest that the southern, instead of the northern boundary, be extended eastward to the 92nd parallel, which would throw Kenora and Lake of the Woods into Manitoba territory. They point out that Kenora does all its business, anyway with Winnipeg, and is its national capital.

PUBLIC OPINION

AN EXPLANATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The local papers announce that a Charity Ball is to be held shortly in the city, the proceeds to be given to the Deep Sea Mission. This item follows the letter inserted by the Ministerial Association, stating that no ball would be held this year in the interest of that Mission, and hence the appeal now being made through the press asking for voluntary offering in behalf of this work.

This creates a situation that necessitates an explanation to the public.

The persons who formerly promoted this ball had requested the present treasurer to assume that office. This she was willing to do when it was agreed that no ball should be held, but that the amount should be raised in another way. The Ministerial Association when asked, gladly consented to make an appeal to the public for voluntary subscriptions. A committee consisting of Revs. J. R. Webb, Canon Davidson, R. Pogue and J. G. Brown were appointed to supply material daily to the papers.

Not till Monday morning did the committee have any knowledge of an event such as is announced in yesterday's papers. We still hope that there has been some mistake and in any case, we wish to inform the public that the Ministerial Association are acting in good faith, and trust their appeal will meet with hearty response.

J. G. BROWN, Secretary.

AN OPEN RINK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The suggestion made by a writer in The Times to flood some of the open spaces in the city, so as to make a safe open rink for the children, is a good one, and I hope it will prove feasible. Throughout the summer we see play grounds for children strongly advocated. Naturally every one encourages this laudable proposition. Children thrive in the fresh air. But in the summer even without playgrounds the youngsters are enabled to take trips into the country, utilize old punts for a sail on the lake, organize little picnics and otherwise enjoy themselves.

But in the winter it is too cold to venture out unless it is worth their while. The houses are stuffy and often unsanitary; no exercise makes them sluggish and disinclined to study; they are forbidden to skate on the streets or to slide on the hills. Saturday comes and there is nothing to do.

My idea is for the city to rent, say two rinks, one in each end of the city. Let the children be admitted free, and what a happy congregation would result. They would plan for it during the week, and be thoroughly benefitted by it, especially on Saturdays.

The cost would be small, while the good it would do the little ones would compensate for the expenditure.

The Water of Eternal Youth

(From Home Queen)

The beauties of the Austrian court used a lotion which was so effectual in keeping the face smooth and free from wrinkles, even in the aged, that they named it the "water of eternal youth."

Some one has recently divulged the secret of this wonderful, though exceedingly simple, wrinkle lotion, which in her gratitude she has similarly dubbed as a preserver of youth: One ounce pure saxolite (powdered), dissolved in a half pint of witch hazel—that's all there is to it. Any woman can get these ingredients at her drug store, put them together, and use the solution with entire safety. To bathe the face in the same brings immediate results, even in case of the deeper wrinkles and furrows. This is also effective for hanging cheeks and double chin.

MR. HALL IN HARVEY

Splendid Meeting Held at Lakehurst Last Night, with a Large Attendance

One of the most successful meetings of the campaign took place last night at Lakehurst, township of Harvey, which was addressed by Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal candidate and Hon. J. R. Stratton.

MR. HALL'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Hall in his address particularly dealt with the necessity and advantages of having a practical demonstration with an agricultural college training located in the city of Peterborough for the purpose of showing that successful experiments made elsewhere can be profitably adopted here in this county.

Have you ever considered how many hundreds of thousands of dollars both the Dominion and Provincial Governments have expended in making experiments in every branch of farming and gardening? asked Mr. Hall.

Have you ever considered how valuable that information would be to farmers and market gardeners if they only knew the result of these successful experiments and how to adopt them?

Both Governments have sent out reports by the car load, giving the results of successful experiments, but who reads them with profit. The medical library is no use without a doctor. The agricultural library is little use without a practical demonstrator to show the farmer how to reap the benefit on his own farm, of the knowledge gained from successful experiments already made.

Such a practical demonstrator should be located at Peterborough to whom farmers and market gardeners could go for free advice.

Experiments show that if an orchard is properly scraped, pruned and sprayed at the proper time it will produce from three to five times as many apples and of a better quality.

If a practical demonstrator makes personal observations and analyses the soil, he can tell what fertilizer should be used on the land to double the crop.

A demonstrator with a knowledge of taking engineering levels can, tell exactly where an under drain should be placed upon the land to give the best results. Much money and labor is wasted now by putting drains in the wrong place.

A demonstrator can tell the cheapest and most effective way to destroy noxious weeds on being shown a sample of the weed that has to be destroyed.

A demonstrator can show the most up to date plans for the economic raising of poultry and the production of eggs especially in the winter time when the price is high and fresh eggs are scarce.

Demonstration farms can be located in different parts of the riding to show to the people the result of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture and to show how cheaply and easily every farmer and market gardener can profit by them in working his own land.

HON. MR. STRATTON.

Hon. J. R. Stratton got a good reception, and delivered a stirring address dealing with the issues of the campaign in a masterly manner. His remarks were frequently punctured with applause. At the conclusion of Mr. Stratton's speech, hearty cheers were given for the Liberal candidate and the King, after which the meeting broke up.

DIDN'T CHANGE FAITH.

Miss Sherman Did Not Become Member of Roman Church.

New York, Nov. 27.—Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman, was married to Lord Camoys of Great Britain on Saturday afternoon by the Roman Catholic ritual, but without renouncing her Protestant faith. It was said that Miss Sherman does not even contemplate such a step. Lord Camoys received a special dispensation.

SCHOOL SONG NOT PATRIOTIC?

The "Starry Blue" is Not the Old Union Jack

The attention of The Times has been called to the words of the song which is being sung by the pupils in the junior forms of our Public schools. Our informant says that he has forbidden his child, who is a pupil, to sing it, even at the command of the teacher, as he thinks the words refer to the flag of our American Republic. The following is the words:

Fling out the flag with its colors true—
The red and the Starry Blue.
We love our flag,
Our own dear flag,
We love our own
Dear red, white and blue.

Fling out the flag, we'll cheer anew,
The red and the white and the Starry Blue.
Three cheers for our flag,
Our own dear flag,
Three cheers for our own
Dear red, white and blue.

Fling out the flag and God bless it too,
The red and the white and the Starry Blue.
God bless our flag,
Our own dear flag,
God bless our own
Dear red, white and blue.

PETERS—EVERITT.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Everitt, 232 Wescott street, yesterday afternoon, Miss Winnifred Charlotte Everitt was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Henry Peters, by the Rev. J. G. Brown. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Cowan of Boliver street. After the ceremony the guests, which were the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties, sat down to a dainty wedding supper.

The happy couple will reside at 291 Townsend street.

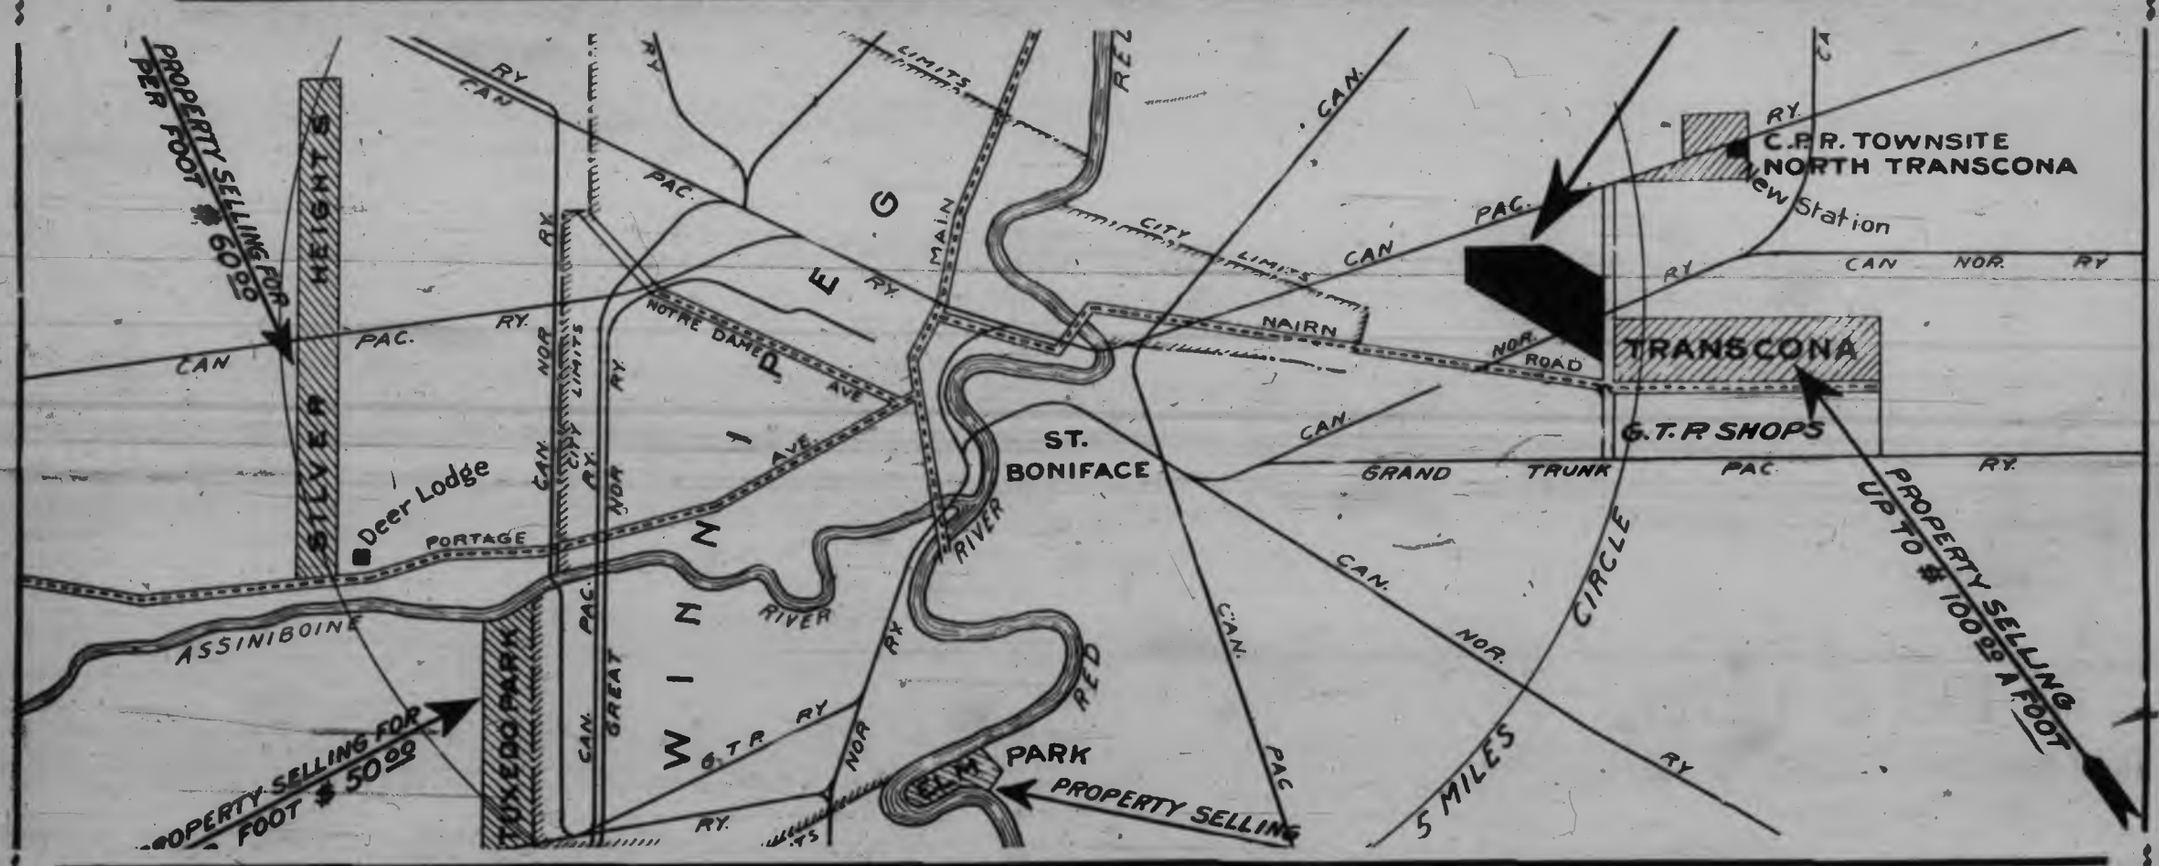
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Main Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the fourth of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No. 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

Lots 30x100 to a 16 Foot Lane

$5.00 to $7.00

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory" with its daily production of 6,365,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory", Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field.

The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 900 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro' or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

To Keep Our Teachers.

The move to keep teachers in Ontario for one year after passing their examinations and to enforce their teaching for one year before granting them certificates is a good one. It may, however, not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended as the North West Provinces are willing to employ uncertificated teachers.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines and dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It Was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.
The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.
"Say here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."
"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."
"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"
Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional horrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa," will be received until 4 p.m., on Thursday, November 23, 1911, for the construction of a Workshop, Victoria Island, Ottawa.
Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.
Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.
Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.
The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

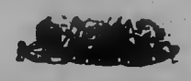
Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,645,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)
This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total is not less than $45,000,000 to $50,000,000.
Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, 400,000 annually.
The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

Placing the Blame

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.
She promptly took him to task, exclaiming the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.
Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.
At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"



SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.
Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.
In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.
A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.
Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.
There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man, well dressed, will talk better, will walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously, of course) line up to his appearance, and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet

An Emperor-Policeman

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear
We shall speak with words of love and cheer.
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."
Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

AN ATLANTIC TRAGEDY

By Bower Jones
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Mabel and I had known one another since as children we had played together. The friendship of our childhood had ripened into a love that was little short of ideal, and when she was nineteen — I being her senior by four or five years — we were married. I was an orphan, and had spent many years on the Continent; her parents were wealthy, and with them she had travelled much. Thus it happened that we were both familiar with the European capitals, watering-places, and winter resorts, and determined—as we had neither of us crossed the Atlantic—to spend the winter and the following summer in the new world. So a few days after our wedding we found ourselves on board the Royal Mail steamship Arcadia, our faces turned toward the setting sun, looking forward in joyful anticipation to the novel scenes we were to witness together.
The passage began by being a rough one, but we were both excellent sailors, and enjoyed its opening days. There was only one cloud in the horizon of our happiness, and that—foolish as it may seem—was Mabel's fear of the sea.
"Eugene, pray that the ship does not go down in the night."
One night we had retired as usual, and certainly the sea was awfully rough. It took even me, hardened as I was, some time to get to sleep. I was awakened by Mabel rapping on the side of my berth and crying out:—
"Eugene, Eugene! what is the matter?"
I roused myself and listened. Certainly a dull, roaring sound filled the ship—a banging and splashing which drowned the noise of the propellers. A little alarmed myself I jumped out of my berth, and telling Mabel to keep quiet, I went out into the passage.
I ran into the arms of a scared, white-faced stewart, of whom I inquired the cause of the commotion.
"The ship's sinking!" he cried. "Haven't they roused you? They're manning the boats up there on deck."
It was true. Isolated as we were in our state-room we had been forgotten. Assuming as careless an air as I could summon up on the moment, I returned to our state-room, where Mabel lay in an agony of alarm.
"Well, little woman," I said, "the curtain is rising on your long-looked for drama. The ship is going down, but there's no particular hurry and no cause whatever for alarm."
I helped her, and dressed myself, putting some papers and valuables into my pockets, and then, fastening the life-preservers round myself and her, we sent up on deck. We had indeed been forgotten! The last boat was just preparing to leave the ship with the captain and some of the crew. We hailed them, and jumped in just in time.
The boat that had left the ship before us had been swamped by a wave, and its occupants were struggling in the water. Instead of pulling off at once we hovered in the dangerous vicinity of the sinking ship, trying to rescue them. All at once the deck burst up, and the ship settled. Our boat was engulfed in the water; I had only time to seize Mabel in my arms, and we found our selves struggling for our lives in the eddy.
The night was pitch dark; there was no moon, and the stars were hidden behind the masses of storm clouds. I could not see Mabel's face, but her feverish clutch on my arm reassured me, and I knew that she retained consciousness. After about ten minutes, during a lull in the wind, I said to her:—
"You see, darling, the night is warm, and we are perfectly supported. It cannot be more than three or four hours to day-light at most, and then we are bound to be picked up immediately. You feel safe with me, do you not?"
Her voice came back in the impenetrable darkness:
"Yes, Eugene, I feel safe with you; but you have tied this belt too tightly round me. It makes me feel faint. Can't you shift it a little?"
"Of course I can," I replied, and the moment the sea seemed to be a little calmer I proceeded to do so. She was lying on one arm, and I was busily readjusting the belt with the other, when, in the darkness, a great wave came over us, and dashed her out of my grasp. I dived instantly and caught her by the hair, just as she slipped away, and, bringing her to the surface, I held her closely in my arms. The life-belt had been washed out of my grasp, and I had to trust to my own strength, assisted by the belt that was tied round myself.
Alas! my wife had lost consciousness, and hung a dead weight in my arms. For hours and hours and hours, it seemed to me that I bore her up in the blackness of the night, imploring her to speak to me — to open the dear eyes which I could feel were tightly closed.
It was all in vain; save for the occasional beat of the heart she might have been dead.
What a night of agony! Heavens! how I prayed for morning — for one ray of light by which to see my darling's face. I thought I should go mad. My arms ached, my limbs — my whole body grew numbed and cold; sometimes I almost felt myself dozing off into the sleep of death, waking with a start to cry aloud, "Mabel, Mabel, my darling, speak to me!" and nothing answered but the moaning of the storm as it died away in the distance.
At last a faint streak lit the horizon, a flush tinging the edge of a cloud, made it visible in the darkness, a breeze rippled the sullen billows that rose and fell smoothly around us. The day was breaking: I shrieked aloud a prayer of thanksgiving to heaven that the night was over, and bent over the motionless, senseless body that I held in my tired arms with a renewed vigour.
Little by little the sun upreose, and the dawn came. With the first grey gleam that crept across the ocean I peered into the face that had been mine all night.
It was that of another woman!

Romans in Britain.

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

Land of Revolutions

More Rebellions Have Taken Place in China than in any other Country on Record.

There are probably more revolts rebellions and revolutions recorded in the annals of China than can be resurrected from the histories of all the nations of the west. This is partly because Chinese annals of an authentic character go back much further than western annals and partly because the Chinese, inoffensive and docile though they seem, are predisposed to insurrection.
The tendency has persisted since the first of the eighteen emperors of the Hia dynasty mounted his throne away back in the dim mists of antiquity when the early Pharaohs were building their temples by the Nile and erecting their pyramids in the desert.
The Hia dynasty issued from 2205 to 1766 B.C., when it was overturned by the Shang, or Yin, dynasty, an equally active race, which ruled until 1122 years before the Christian era. Disaster overtook the Shang Emperors at last. From a rising of the people under the banners of Chou, although Rome had not been built and the Greeks were still scattered tribes when they gave way to the princes of the Chou line. A protracted period of unrest followed.
In many respects the greatest of all the Chinese Emperors, Kubla Khan began his reign in 1257, and held the throne until his death in 1294. In these years the nation was more illustrious and powerful than ever before. A succession of Mongol emperors followed Kubla Khan, principally remembered for their sanction of the introduction of Christianity. In 1368 the Ming dynasty was proclaimed upon the ashes of the political structure built up by the warlike Mongols, and it ruled successfully until the Manchus of the North, the fierce, well-built hill Chinese, swept down upon Peking and installed their own princes in 1651.
The Manchus have never been numerous, and although they have managed to keep their saddles by dint of cowing the peoples under them, they have been unable to preserve absolute order and tranquillity. One of the first steps they took to impress their sovereignty upon the country was the publication of an edict compelling the people to adopt the pig-tail. The Manchus were horsemen, and the pig-tail was prescribed as a national institution because, the Manchus contemptuously said, the Chinese were of the same status as their horses.
Rebellion after rebellion marked the troubled reigns of the Manchu Emperors, and in most cases the germ of revolt was first in evidence in one or other of the three provinces that are causing trouble to-day. Nahe Chaen, Hu-peh, and Hu-nan have always been centres of discord.

Most Remarkable Piano.

An artist, Jan van Beers, designed a piano of a magnificent nature. The body is of natural wood, the legs and ornaments being of bronze, chiselled and gilded by the most expert artists in bronze work that could be found in Paris. Set into the front and sides are five Van Beers paintings, depicting the four seasons and a minuet scene in the time of Louis Quinze. Small ivory plaques line the cover. But the most remarkable instrument in the world is that known as the "Napoleon piano." It was built in 1868, by the famous house of Erard to the order of the Emperor. Its keys are of mother-o'-pearl and tortoiseshell, the case is of rosewood, and there are five pedals, working drum, cymbal and triangle attachments. It was a present given by Napoleon to Josephine, and many years later the Empress Eugenie took great delight in playing upon it. When the Tuileries were sacked the piano was stolen; it was eventually recovered and put up to auction, when it was bought by a representative of the firm who originally built the instrument.

Nervousness in Children

Nervousness takes many forms, and parents should be on the look-out for any signs of it in a growing boy or girl. For it usually indicates that something is wrong — the child's work or play, or companions, or food, or general health. To trace it to its real source sometimes needs both great tact and much firmness on the mother's part, but no trouble must be spared to remove the cause, as excessive nervousness in childhood may, later on, reappear in a very serious form.
Scolding is, of course, the worst possible treatment for nervousness of any kind, though excessive sympathy is almost as bad. The child should be made to understand that his fears and shyness are the results of ill-health, and must be conquered by will-power duly accomplished by nourishing diet, plenty of sleep, and lots of enjoyed exercise out-of-doors.

Playing His Cards

It was the custom of Mr. Cameron to fall into an easy attitude wherever he might be. This habit led to an occasional dialogue of a spicy nature, and the dialogues led to a small square package which Mr. Cameron presented to his wife one night.
"What in the world are these?" inquired Mrs. Cameron, as the unwrapping of the package revealed a few cards neatly marked, "For Use," and two or three dozen marked, "For Show."
"Those, my dear," said Mr. Cameron, "are for you to attach, by the small pin on the under side, to the various sofa cushions, chair-backs, and unoccupied wall spaces in this house. Then neither my head nor that of any chance visitor will rest in or on any object designed for ornament. And once more, even with Christmas coming every year, and your friends as loving and generous as ever, we shall have a happy home."

The Down-Trodden.

A certain battalion — the Terrors" — possessed but a very small band. The commanding officer's feet — he was a burly farmer — were — well, very large. One day the battalion was on march out, but the music was not forthcoming.
"Where on earth is the band?" queried the adjutant.
For some time there was no reply; but when the question was repeated, a gruff voice was heard from the rear rank:—
"I do believe, sir, the colonel trod on it by accident."

MONEY NO OBJECT

WHEN PEOPLE ARE SEEKING HEALTH OR RELIEF FROM ANY DISEASE THE PRICE NEVER COUNTS.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and purs, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well-known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Complete outfit costs $1.00. Small size 25c. Sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

In Taking a Holiday

A great many people lead just as strenuous a life while on their holidays as they are accustomed to do during the working year with the result, of course, that they are very little better for the fortnight's change. They overlook their need for rest in the desire to participate in all the amusements and distractions offered to them. The young people are so anxious not to miss a minute of the time so wholly their own that they count themselves unfortunate to have a vacant hour in the day's programme. But for the middle-aged the holiday should not be of this strenuous order if it is to do any lasting good. Excess must be avoided none the less when the ordinary life is rather sedentary than otherwise. It is a big mistake for a man or woman to think that because he or she generally spends the best part of the day in a chair at a desk, the one precious fortnight ought to find them perpetually on their feet, or even indulging in the most violent exercise. Under the belief that they are getting their muscles into good order, they are putting a severe strain on the heart that has been long accustomed to very gentle movement only. The best thing for these people is to take a couple of days' entire rest, and then to begin gradually with walking exercise or the like. This moderation will enable the holiday-maker to enjoy every hour, and to undertake in the end considerable exertion with real benefit to his whole system.

He Wasn't Encouraging

"Concede nothing," was the advice of a well-known politician concerning a certain famous disputed election. His policy was followed to the letter by the man of whom the following is told:—

On the relief train that had been rushed to the scene of the railway [illegible] was a newspaper reporter. The first victim he saw was a man whose eyes were blackened and whose left arm was in a sling. With his hair full of dirt, one end of his shirt collar flying loose and his coat ripped up the back, the victim was sitting on the grass and serenely contemplating the landscape.

"How many people are hurt?" asked the reporter, hurrying up to him.

"I haven't heard of anybody being hurt, young man," said the other.

"How did this wreck happen?"

"I haven't heard of any wreck."

"You haven't? Who are you, anyhow?"

"I don't know that it's any of your business, but I'm the claim agent of the road."

World's Costliest

Who keeps the costliest kitchen in the world? Not, as one might imagine the American millionaire, but the Shah of Persia. The utensils, fittings, and furnishings of the Shah are said to be worth $2,650,000. Every saucepan is gilded inside, and the dishes appearing on his table are of solid gold, as well as the spoons, knives, and forks, the handles of which are besides ornamented with precious stones. Moreover, the chef, in preparing dishes for the Shah's table, must use none but silver spoons and forks, and any dish on which he puts cold viands to keep them must be also of silver, gilded inside.

Our Sovereign's Long Pedigree

There are few people who can boast so ancient a genealogy as our King and Queen, who trace their descent in unbroken line from the Saxon King Egbert, and through him back to the British kings, who in turn were reputed lineally descended from the survivors of the fall of Troy.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with the whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. E. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

UNCLE TOBY'S MUSE

"Twenty-six! You surprise me. Yes, sir, you should be married. No young man should pass that age and remain single."

"You did, Uncle Toby," grinned Gerald McIntyre. Tobias Brenton was a confirmed bachelor of many years' standing.

"That's all right, boy," returned his uncle. "I'm the exception. But you should be married. Tell you what—Jerry—"

"What, uncle?"

"The day you get married I'll give you a thousand dollars for a wedding present."

"You will?"

"I will—with one proviso. If you marry anybody but Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who?"

"Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who's Patience Allene Truesdale? And why couldn't I marry her? And where does she live?"

"I didn't say you couldn't marry her," replied Tobias Brenton. "I haven't anything to say concerning her. I believe she is now at Collegeville. What I did say was that if you married anyone but her I would give you a thousand dollars."

"But, Uncle, I don't know this Truesdale, and there's no possibility of my marrying her, or anybody else."

"It's nearly train time," observed Uncle Toby, rising. "I realize you don't know Miss Truesdale, and so what I said may seem foolish. But you can't say I haven't put the proposition up to you. Think over this getting married, Jerry. A thousand dollars is a thousand dollars, these days. Let me hear from you."

The rest of the day Jerry gave his muscle to the hardware store where he was employed, but not his mind for that was elsewhere.

"Who was Patience Allene — Patience Allene; it was a quaint, sweet name — against whom his uncle seemed so prejudiced.

After supper he changed his clothes, tried on four neckties, and went to Collegeville.

There was chattering and laughter and an undercurrent of paintive tinkling in the College building, for three of the party to the center had stringed instruments. From out of the pleasant babel, as Gerald passed the gate a voice said:

"Lead 'My Sweetheart Was a Rover,' Patience Allene."

He met Patience Allene Truesdale presently; the girl of the soprano voice was really she. It took five trips to Collegeville, and three ice cream socials before he accomplished an introduction.

Then he made up for lost time. He called on Patience Allene as often as Normal convention and the girl herself would permit patronized soda fountains and confectionary stores, as well as two moving picture theatres, liberally, and otherwise followed the path which his uncle's words should have barred. He fell heels over head in love with Patience Allene.

He puzzled still over the mystery of his uncle's dislike for her. She came from his uncle's home town, Long Rapids, and when he had craftily introduced his name into the conversation one night, she had spoken glowingly of Mr. Brenton, who was her father's best friend, she said. It was Mr. Brenton who had advised her to attend the Normal, so she could be a high school teacher.

"There's something troubling you, Jerry," she said, so unexpectedly, that he was taken completely off guard. "Tell me what it is."

Jerry, blundering, attempted to finesse it delayed things a little longer, but at last he had to tell.

"Your uncle needn't have worries," she said coolly, when he had finished. "I haven't any designs on you or your prospects. You are wasting time with me; better begin trying to earn that thousand dollars. No, I'm not angry; good night!

Jerry, raging, went home to find Uncle Toby, having dropped into town unexpectedly, the centre of his own merry family circle.

In five minutes Uncle Toby the wealthy, the courted and the masterful was on his way to Collegeville, virtually a prisoner in the custody of this grim and silent young stranger.

"Now, sir," grated Jerry, "I brought you here to say that your prejudice against Miss Truesdale doesn't make any difference. We're going to be married; and we don't need that thousand dollars."

"Is this true, Patience Allene?" asked Uncle Toby.

Patience Allene did not seem to mind the queerness of Jerry's proposal. "Yes," she said, simply; "but, Mr. Brenton, what did you say to Jerry?"

"What did I say, Jerry?"

"You said you'd give me a thousand dollars if I married anybody but Patience Allene."

"Correct. Anything else; any reflection on her?"

"No-o."

He took a hand of each. "My dear young people," he said, "your uncle has 'put one over,' as the boys say. If you dreamed I wanted you to marry, you'd have flown apart. There, now, never mind thanking me. I must be getting sick. I suppose the last car goes pretty soon. I'll let you walk that three miles alone. And — the thousand dollars shall be five thousand."

And Uncle Toby smiled whimsically as he went away, yet sighed a little, too; for he knew he was already forgotten.

His Idea of Importance.

'In one benighted region of a certain state in the southwest,' says a Chicago lawyer, 'they cherish some peculiar notions touching the duties of a juror.'

'One day a case was being tried, when suddenly the justice exclaimed: "How is this? There are only eleven jurymen in the box. Where is the twelfth?"'

The foreman arose and addressed the court respectfully, as follows:

"May it please your honor, the twelfth juror had to go away on important business, but he has left his verdict with me."

Has Our Own Sword Factory.

From the Hamilton Times.

Hon. Sam. Hughes is not going to put up with any disloyalty from Great Britain. He has issued an order in which it is claimed that some swords bought in England for the Canadian military have been partly made in Germany, and that Canada will buy no more of them. Rather turn every sword into a plow-share than permit an unpatriotic mother to sell German blades to be carried by our military! No foreign blades for Sam, not had they been forged by Andrea Ferrari!

Splendid Opportunity to Secure Lots in a Growing Place.

We call the attention of investors to the large advertisement to be found in to-day's issue, of Transcona Park, Winnipeg. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest opportunities that eastern investors will have of making money, as the property is sure to rapidly increase in value.

Lots 30 x 100 to a 16-foot lane, $5 to $7 per foot. Cash required, only $15 and $10 per month, thus being within the grasp of mechanics and others with limited means at their disposal.

Another important feature about the sale of lots is that Messrs. Clark & Munro, the owners, will agree to refund money in two years' time, if purchasers are dissatisfied, and pay 6 per cent interest. Could anything be fairer?

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1700 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Kenneth Crane, of Toronto, spent Sunday at his home in this city.

BELLY UPWARDS AFTER DEATH!

Just Because a Fish Turns Its Back Down is no Real Reason It Is Out of the Swimming Competition.

A fish keeps its balance very much as a bicycle-rider keeps his. In both cases, if the fish or the rider ceases to exert himself, over he goes. This appears clearly from experiments made in France, which show that the turning of a fish with its belly upward after death is not because of the departure of life, with its attendant chemical changes; for the same thing happens when the fish is momentarily stunned, as by electric shock. When he recovers, he flicks his tail and is right-side up in a jiffy, just as the dismounted cyclist, when he comes to his senses, mounts at once and is off again.

Says a writer in 'L'Illustration,' of Paris: "Messrs. Alliaud and Vies have experimented in the Roscoff laboratory to ascertain whether the normal position of a fish in the water is the result of static dynamic equilibrium; that is to say, whether the fish behaves like a well-ballasted ship or whether it is in a situation somewhat comparable to that of man on a bicycle, keeping himself in an unstable position by means of continued muscular exertion.

"It is well known that dead fish float belly upward; but this fact would be a sufficient argument in favor of the second hypothesis only in case the observation were made on a fish immediately after sudden death. New elements, such as the formation of intestinal gases might intervene at the end of a 'oc' or shorter time after death and completely alter the conditions of equilibrium.

"To study the phenomenon, the authors gave electric shocks to fish in the water by means of a current of such strength that there was immediate paralysis, without causing death, and that on breaking the circuit the fish could return more or less quickly to its normal state."

WIND BLOWN GEMS.

The diamond deposits discovered in Damaraland, German South-West Africa, three years ago, lie among great sand dunes hundreds of feet in height which pass in continual motion across the granite plateau that follows the line of the coast from the Orange River to Walfisch Bay.

These deposits are a puzzle to geologists, since their place of origin is a mystery, though there seems to be little doubt that they are carried with the sand by the heavy winds that blow from the south west for nine hours out of the twenty-four. The diamonds, which are found mixed with garnets, agates, and other semi-precious stones, vary in size from one-fifth to three-quarters of a carat. They are almost perfect octahedrons, and, though small, are of the purest water. An extraordinary feature of this discovery is that the diamonds resemble the Brazilian rather than the African stone, although the Orange River, which marks the southern boundary of German South-West Africa, has its source among the volcanic cones or "diamond pipes" of the richest diamond mines in the world in and about Kimberley.

The discovery of diamonds in Damaraland, so far as the white man is concerned, was first made about 20 miles south of Luderitzbucht, the principal part of German South-West Africa, whence the Government is building a railway across to Keetmanshoop to connect with the proposed road in British Bechuanaland that will tap the markets of Kimberley and Johannesburg. Here a native, who had worked in the diamond mines of Kimberley, and had been impressed into service by the railway builders, on his return home picked up two or three crystals from the sand and took them to a station-master with the information that they were diamonds. The station-master ridiculed the idea, but eventually sent the stones to Cape Town, where experts pronounced them to be gems of the purest water.

An Expensive Experiment

It has been estimated that an Irish Cabinet, if it were set up, would have at once to provide for an expenditure of £1,000,000 with a revenue of £90,000,000. The total of expenditure includes a contribution of $15,000,000 to British naval and military expenditure, but nothing on account of the National Debt. If Ireland were relieved of all debt charges and all charges for defence, she would still have a deficit of over five millions. Savings might be effected in the cost of administration, but these would be counterbalanced by increased expenditure on education, agriculture, and so forth. To meet the deficit the Irish taxpayer would have his burdens increased by 15 per cent. or the Imperial Treasury would be called upon for a grant.

Cat's Remarkable Journey

A cat has travelled recently from Kingston, Surrey, England, to its former home at Glastonbury, in Somersetshire, a distance of 123 miles. In April last the animal, described as half-Persian in breed, was sent from Glastonbury to the matron of the Kingston Nursing Home. It was sent in a packing case, drilled with air-holes, and obviously the animal had no opportunity of marking the points of its journey. Soon after its arrival at Kingston the cat was lost, and no trace of it could be found. The matron of the nursing home has now received a letter from Glastonbury stating that it has found its way back to its old home. It arrived emaciated and footsore, and apparently had walked the whole of the 123 miles.

Highest on Earth

The Lee Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

GIVES UP FAITH TO WED LORD.

New York, Nov. 25.—Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, became a member of the Catholic Church this morning, preliminary to her marriage with Lord Camoys of Great Britain, this afternoon. Lord Camoys is a Catholic. Owing to the illness of the father of the bride, the wedding ceremony will be celebrated in Mr. Sherman's room, and members of the immediate families will be the only witnesses.

AN ATLANTIC TRAGEDY

By Bower Jones

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Mabel and I had known one another since as children we had played together. The friendship of our childhood had ripened into a love that was little short of ideal, and when she was nineteen — I being her senior by four or five years — we were married. I was an orphan, and had spent many years on the Continent; her parents were wealthy, and with them she had travelled much. Thus it happened that we were both familiar with the European capitals, watering-places, and winter resorts, and determined—as we had neither of us crossed the Atlantic—to spend the winter and the following summer in the new world. So a few days after our wedding we found ourselves on board the Royal Mail steamship Arcadia, our faces turned toward the setting sun, looking forward in joyful anticipation to the novel scenes we were to witness together.

The passage began by being a rough one, but we were both excellent sailors, and enjoyed its opening days. There was only one cloud in the horizon of our happiness, and that —foolish as it may seem—was Mabel's fear of the sea.

"Eugene, pray that the ship does not go down in the night."

One night we had retired as usual, and certainly the sea was awfully rough. It took even me, hardened as I was, some time to get to sleep. I was awakened by Mabel rapping on the side of my berth and crying out:—

"Eugene, Eugene! what is the matter?"

I roused myself and listened. Certainly a dull, roaring sound filled the ship—a banging and splashing which drowned the noise of the propellers. A little alarmed myself I jumped out of my berth, and telling Mabel to keep quiet, I went out into the passage.

I ran into the arms of a scared, white-faced stewart, of whom I inquired the cause of the commotion.

"The ship's sinking!" he cried. "Haven't they roused you? They're manning the boats up there on deck."

It was true. Isolated as we were in our state-room we had been forgotten. Assuming as careless an air as I could summon up on the moment, I returned to our state-room, where Mabel lay in an agony of alarm.

"Well, little woman," I said, "the curtain is rising on your long-looked for drama. The ship is going down, but there's no particular hurry and no cause whatever for alarm."

I helped her, and dressed myself, putting some papers and valuables into my pockets, and, then, fastening the life-preservers round myself and her, we sent up on deck. We had indeed been forgotten! The last boat was just preparing to leave the ship with the captain and some of the crew. We hailed them, and jumped in just in time.

The boat that had left the ship before us had been swamped by a wave, and its occupants were struggling in the water. Instead of pulling off at once we hovered in the dangerous vicinity of the sinking ship, trying to rescue them. All at once the deck burst up, and the ship settled. Our boat was engulfed in the water; I had only time to seize Mabel by the arms, and we found ourselves struggling for our lives in the eddy.

The night was pitch dark; there was no moon, and the stars were hidden behind the masses of storm clouds. I could not see Mabel's face, but her feverish clutch on my arm reassured me, and I knew that she retained consciousness. After about ten minutes, during a lull in the wind, I said to her:—

"You see, darling, the night is warm, and we are perfectly supported. It cannot be more than three or four hours to day-light at most, and then we are bound to be picked up immediately. You feel safe with me, do you not?"

Her voice came back in the impenetrable darkness:

"Yes, Eugene, I feel safe with you; but you have tied this belt too tightly round me. It makes me feel faint. Can't you shift it a little?"

"Of course I can," I replied, and the moment the sea seemed to be a little calmer I proceeded to do so. She was lying on one arm, and I was busily readjusting the belt with the other, when, in the darkness, a great wave came over us, and dashed her out of my grasp. I dived instantly and caught her by the hair, just as she slipped away, and, bringing her to the surface, I held her closely in my arms. The life-belt had been washed out of my grasp, and I had to trust to my own strength, assisted by the belt that was tied round myself.

Alas! my wife had lost consciousness, and hung a dead weight in my arms. For hours and hours and hours, it seemed to me that I bore her up in the blackness of the night, imploring her to speak to me — to open the dear eyes which I could feel were tightly closed.

It was all in vain; save for the occasional beat of the heart she might have been dead.

What a night of agony! Heavens! how I prayed for morning — for one ray of light by which to see my darling's face. I thought I should go mad. My arms ached, my limbs — my whole body grew numbed and cold; sometimes I almost felt myself dozing off into the sleep of death, waking with a start to cry aloud, "Mabel, Mabel, my darling, speak to me!" and nothing answered but the moaning of the storm as it died away in the distance.

At last a faint streak lit the horizon, a flush tinging the edge of a cloud, made it visible in the darkness, a breeze rippled the sullen billows that rose and fell smoothly around us. The day was breaking: I shrieked aloud a prayer of thanksgiving to heaven that the night was over, and bent over the motionless, senseless body that I held in my tired arms with a renewed vigour.

Little by little the sun uprose, and the dawn came. With the first grey beam that crept across the ocean I peered into the face that had lain close to mine all night.

It was that of another woman!

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six; jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine laths, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully beautiful.

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief historiettes are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 600 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favourite form of play. Of these fourteen at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest it may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another. "Let us go out and kill something," is the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 162 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four is yachting or sailing a recognized diversion. Canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 96 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

Power For Peterborough.

Peterborough is certainly fortunate in securing two of the dams on the Otonabee river from which over 4000 horse power can be developed. Last week an application was made to Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the lease of the water-power rights at dams four and eight on the Trent Valley system, capable of producing 2000 horse power each. Yesterday the Minister, Hon. Frank Cochrane, granted the application in spite of the protests of interested parties who represented

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most polite and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have seen. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that if it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $300 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

GIVE UP BURROWING

Rabbit is Giving Up Digging Earth-Homes, and Begins Nesting Above Ground.

German natural historical periodicals are calling attention to an interesting change in the habits of wild rabbits, especially in the western parts of Germany. The animals in question are giving up their ancient habit of burrowing, and have commenced, in great part to occupy the hares, which, as is well known, nest only above ground. The rabbits themselves were once burrowers, and gradually went through the same change in habits in this particular that appears to characterize the rabbits of the present day — at any rate in Germany. In woods where the undergrowth is thick, and which are therefore especially suitable to the rabbits, they find better cover in nesting above ground, and even in open country, unwooded, and the rabbits seem to be taking more and more to the open. Here they take refuge in dead pines, rubbish-heaps, brushpiles, brick-kilns, drain-pipes, and ditches that are overgrown with weeds. The female makes little fortresses for her young, to protect them from the cannibalistic propensities of the males; she lines the nest warmly with fur from her own breast, hides them secretly at night, and perhaps suckles them once more during the 24 hours; but each time that she leaves them she carefully piles rubbish before the opening which leads to her defenceless family, and defiles the obstructions with ordure.

INTERESTING OCEAN FACTS

Complete Evaporation Would Leave an Immense Deposit of Salt Two Hundred and Thirty Feet Thick.

Oceans occupy three-fourths of the earth's surface. At the depth of 3,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the poles to the burning sun of the equator. A mile down the water has a pressure of a ton on every square inch. If a box six feet deep were filled with salt water and allowed to evaporate, there would be two inches of salt left on the bottom of the box. Taking the average depth of the oceans of the world to be three miles, there would be a layer of salt 230 feet thick over the entire bed should the water evaporate. The water of the ocean is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In many places especially in the bays on the coast of Norway, the water freezes at the bottom before it does above. Waves are very deceptive. To look at them in a storm one would think that the whole water travelled. The water stays in the same place, but the motion does. Sometimes in storms these waves are forty feet high and travel fifty miles per hour — nearly twice as fast as the fleetest steamship. The base of a wave — the distance from valley to valley on either side at the bottom — is generally reckoned at being 15 times the height. therefore an average wave, say one 25 feet high, has a base extending over 375 feet. The force of waves breaking on the shore is said to be 17 tons to the square yard.

Be Good Winter Traffic

No better evidence of the increased Western traffic is needed than the statement that this year certain rail road services which in former winters have always been dropped, are this year, being retained, and in some cases added to. A leading official states that this year the Canadian Pacific Railway intends to run its St. Paul-Seattle through trains, all winter whereas in former winters this through service was always dropped. The source of the increased traffic between these two points is attributed to the growing interest in the Canadian Rocky Mountains. For the last five or six years tourists from the United States have been literally pouring into Canada through C. P. R. connections at St. Paul and Seattle the greater number having the Rocky Mountains and the resorts at Banff, Field, Emerald Lake and Glacier, as their destination.

HE WAS SURPRISED.

House Was Ransacked While Family Sit on Doorstep.

While Mr. Ovide Tanguay, in company with his family was enjoying the fresh air on the front doorstep of his on Gilford Street, Montreal, a nervy second story man introduced himself through a window in the rear and ransacked the place from top to bottom. When Mr. Tanguay made up his mind to retire he was dumbfounded to note the appearance of his bedroom. All the drawers had been emptied and contents were strewn pell-mell on the floor while all the jewelry and other valuable articles had been taken. Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

Electrician Dead, Two Are Injured.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 25.—Jonah Johnston, night electrician at the local power house, was instantly killed this morning by accidentally coming in contact with a brass rod while he was throwing off the switch of the street lighting circuit.

W. Kunder and J. Swanson narrowly escaped a similar fate when the former attempted to show Coroner Rankin how the accident happened.

Both were seriously burned, and Kunder may die.

The hosts of friends of Miss Ethel Dunlop will be sorry to learn that she is suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WESTERN PROGRESS

CORONATION, ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited
154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavenia, Ont. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

Antonio Mascorrow, the Italian who was found guilty at the police court of beating his wife, was yesterday sent to jail for a month by Police Magistrate Dunbar.

The boy's appetite is often the source of amusement. If you would have it, use Ferrozone. They not only furnish a healthy appetite, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. Per sale by all dealers.

Read An Interesting Paper.

Rev. Isaac Couch, M.A., B.D., read a paper yesterday before the Peterborough Library Circle on "The Dominion of Law" as seen in the progress of National Life.

New Mail Route.

Lindsay Warder: Mr. Geo. Ross, Chief Post Office Superintendent, was in Lindsay yesterday looking into the advisability of establishing rural mail routes in East Ops and part of Emily and in West Ops and part of Mariposa. Rural mail routes are becoming very popular with the farmers in the surrounding country.

Not For Deep Sea Mission.

The Times was in error in stating in yesterday's issue, that the proceeds of the ball, which is to be given in the Conservatory of Music Hall on New Year's night, would be given to the Deep Sea Mission. This is not correct, as the funds are required in connection with the work of charity, which the King's Daughters are engaged in.

Six Drunks at Police Court.

Six drunks were dealt with at the Police Court yesterday morning by Magistrate Dumble. Two railroad men from Bethany were fined $2 each and two from Lakefield were similarly treated. An Ashburnham man was found drunk on Saturday on the C. P.R. bridge. He parted also with the same sum. John Lowry pleaded guilty of drunkenness in a public place and paid over a two-spot.

Winter Races.

The Toronto Driving Club, Samuel McBride President, will inaugurate the ice racing season in Canada, Dec. 25, 27, 30 and Jan. 1, at Dufferin Park. Port Perry will probably follow this meeting, and then comes Lindsay, Peterborough, Belleville, Kingston and other towns. While there is not enough money hung up at the meetings following Toronto, as in Ottawa and Montreal, there will be sport galore for the horsemen who may not have the inclination or speed enough to take in the big meetings.

OAK LAKE.

Mr. Snelgrove of Beaverton, is spending a few days with Mr. George Ottrent.

Messrs. Dan and Fred Post have returned to Chandos after spending a week under the parental roof.

Mr. Bruce Post had the misfortune to cut his leg last week but we are glad to report that he is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Whitney and family are visiting friends in Cardiff.

Mr. Row of Cardiff, is holding religious services in the school house.

Mr. John Wood is suffering with blood poisoning in his hand.

Master Floyd Marshall has returned home after a week's visit at his aunt's, Mrs. Frank Post.

Mr. Alex. and Miss Annie McCutcheon of Rockdale, spent Friday and Saturday with their sister, Mrs. Max Post.

Mr. C. W. Butcher, principal High School, Havelock, spent Sunday at Mr. W. F. Post's.

An Open Winter.

Bobcaygeon Independent: Two of our Indian brethern came from Chemong village on Monday, having walked across Pigeon Lake on the ice from Grenadier Island, south of Gannon's Narrows, and followed along the west shore. They brought a little hand sleigh with them, as they came to the station expecting an express parcel. As regards the weather their impression was that the winter would be an open one. Pigeon Lake was open from Gannon's Narrows north on Monday.

Exciting Runaway.

Yesterday morning a delivery horse attached to a cart, ran away, about noon. It dashed down Water street, while the driver was absent. Between Hunter and Simcoe street, it crashed into one of the Allin ice wagons. The animal was caught a little farther on, and no very serious damage occurred.

A Fractured Leg.

On Saturday evening a serious accident occurred at the G.T.R. railway crossing at Smith street, when a runner on a sleigh carrying John O'Brien down the steep hill, became broken, with the result that the lad was thrown against one of the steel rails with such force as to fracture the right leg at the ankle. He was taken to the hospital, where the fracture was set by Dr. McNulty. The victim of the accident is a son of Daniel O'Brien, of Douro. He is employed at the Auburn mills and stops with his aunt, Mrs. Thos. Tobin, in Auburn.

'Passed' Through Peterborough.

Yesterday His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught accompanied by the Duchess, passed through the city on the C.P.R. yesterday, by special train. While the train stood at the station the Duke and the Duchess came out of their private coach, and bowed to the curious few who were wise to the big event. The train consisted of eight coaches, and arrived here about half past ten, having left Ottawa about eight o'clock. The program at Toronto is a heavy one, and will keep the new Governor-General hustling to fill.

Rapid Progress.

Telegraphic advice haw been received at Grand Trunk Headquarters to the effect that the main line of steel on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway had passed the Great Divide between Alberta and British Columbia. Rapid progress will now be made with the line in British Columbia, as this extension carries the work well into the mountain division and completes 1,044 miles of main line track west of Winnipeg.

The Great Divide is 250 miles west of Edmonton.

Shipping on the Increase.

Latest reports received from Prince Rupert, the Pacific Coast Terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway indicates that shipping from that point is ever on the increase.

During the month of October there were seventy-nine arrivals and seventy-eight departures.

This is a splendid record for this season of the year.

He Likes The Times.

Mr. F. H. Jamieson, one of the Rural Mail Route subscribers, is quite enthusiastic over the fact that The Times reaches him regularly every day—the day of publication, and he thus gets the news daily the same as if he lived in Peterborough, instead of 20 miles removed, in the country. He thinks the Rural Mail Routes are an immense boon to the farmer, as undoubtedly they are.

How to change Your Face

(From Fashion Review)

The painful, dangerous and expensive operation known as "face-peeling" is not necessary to accomplish the results sought. One can gradually and safely remove the old and unbeautiful cuticle from her face without pain, danger or detention indoors. Simply use ordinary mercolized wax, which can be obtained at any drug store. Apply it for a few nights like cold cream and wash it off each morning. The mercolide in the wax slowly absorbs the half-dead outer skin, which flakes off day by day in fine, invisible particles. The fresh young skin underneath soon blooms forth radiantly, making the face look years younger and much prettier. Employment of this process is not noticeable to others, except that your complexion improves rapidly.

Of course, the removal of the surface skin in this pleasant manner, takes with it all facial blemishes, such as chaps, freckles, moth patches, liver spots, fine wrinkles, pimples, etc. Mercolized wax has been known for years to many society women noted for their beautiful and lasting complexions.

A Painful Injury.

W. Rose, an employee of the Bell Telephone Company, who resides in the city, sustained painful, though not serious injuries yesterday morning by being struck on the head with a heavy pulley. The young man when struck fell about eight feet from the pole, to which he was clinging, alighting on his back with considerable force on the hard ground. The accident occurred while several of the linemen were engaged in stringing wires on Dalhousie street. The unfortunate man was cut about the head and face and stunned by his hard fall. A hurry call for the ambulance was sent in and the injured man was taken to Nicholls Hospital, and his injuries attended to by Dr. McCulloch, who reports that his condition is satisfactory.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Rev. Dr. Speers, of Toronto, was in the city over Sunday.

Mrs. E. J. Barnard, of Bailieboro is visiting with her sister-in-law, Mrs Porter White, 511 Stewart street.

His Honor Judge Huyeke will be in Port Hope until Thursday, where he is attending a conference, which is being held at St. Lawrence Hall.

Miss Bertha Telford left on Sunday for New York, where she will resume her training in the S. R. Smith infirmary.

Mrs. W. M. Klinger, of Toronto, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Renwick, Aylmer street. Mr. L. W. Klinger, of Perth, Mrs. Renwick's brother, was a visitor on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, returned from Cobourg yesterday, where he conducted anniversary services in the Presbyterian church of that town on Sunday.

Mrs. R. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a friendly call.

The many friends of Mrs. Frank Mason will be pleased to learn that her condition is improving, and that her early recovery is being looked forward to.

BIRTHS.

GOHEEN—On Saturday, Nov. 25, 1911, at 198 Rubidge street, the wife of Mr. G. A. Goheen, of a son.

Anybody Here Seen Page?

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Des Moines, Iowa, asking for information regarding the descendants of Thomas Page, who formerly lived in Leominster, Mass., but moved to Ontario, or Upper Canada, as it was then called about 1735. It is supposed that some of the descendants now live in or near Peterborough, though possibly those now here are not named Page, but may be Wright, Guernsey, Dunn or some other name which married into the Page family at an early date. It appears that owing to the death of other heirs, a large property amounting to several millions revert to this branch of the family, and has been lying dormant in the hands of trustees. It is supposed that Thomas Page lived until 1830. Any information regarding the Page family may be left at The Times' Office, and it will be duly forwarded to the proper parties.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Henry Moncrief.

On Saturday evening, the death occurred at her home on Lansdowne street, of Mrs. Janet Harvery Moncrief, widow of the late Henry Moncrieff. Mrs. Moncrief was 69 years of age, and had lived in Peterborough nearly all her life. She came from Scotland when about four years of age. Surviving her are three sons and three daughters. The sons are Foster, Adam H., at home, and William J., at New York, and the daughters are Mrs. W. H. Jackson, of Strathcona, Alta., Mrs. Isaac Lane, of Apsley, and Mrs. W. H. Gould, of city.

Three brothers and three sisters also survive. The brothers are Geo. Havery of Nevada, Adam, of Peterborough and James of Fenelon Falls. The sisters are Mrs. Robert Pollock, of Peterborough, Mrs. Samuel McKnight and Mrs. Robert Rosberry of Cleveland.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of deceased, 62 Lansdowne street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

The Late Mrs. Wm. Rudkins.

At four o'clock on Sunday afternoon there passed away at the family residence, 185 King street, an esteemed and popular lady, in the person of Mrs. Wm. Rudkins. The deceased was 46 years of age, and was in her usual health until Sunday morning, when she took ill suddenly, while attending eight o'clock mass at St. Peter's Cathedral. Death was due to paralysis. She was born in Oakville and had been a resident of Peterborough for over 19 years. The late Mrs. Rudkins leaves to mourn her demise her husband, Mr. W. Rudkins, and four children, Geraldine, Agnes, Catherine and Harry, all of this city, also two brothers and one sister, the Rev. J. H. Coty, rector of St. Patrick's church, Hamilton; Mr. L. W. Coty, postmaster at Oakville, and Miss L. Coty, Hamilton.

The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

Beauty

is more than skin-deep — and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSON'S INVALIDS PORT
(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUBOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:—

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

Yours truly,

ANSWERS BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST

Q. Why do school children with good sight, require Glasses?

A. Mainly to rest the eyes. The eye does not obtain its growth until the child is about the age of twelve. The growing eye is taxed beyond its strength: the proper glasses rest and preserve the eyes.

Q. Why do children squint?

A. By squinting or frowning the muscle in the eye is relieved of strain; this is nature's way. Study-glasses relieve this strain, and thus prevent squinting.

VOL XXXIV NO 274 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

TO LET THE WOMEN SMOKE

New York Lawyer Says They Can Do So in Gotham

May Do So on Public Streets or Anywhere Else Where Men Smoke—Corporation Lawyers Gives His Decision.

New York, Nov. 29.

HAT women may smoke in the public streets or anywhere else if they choose without fear of encountering the law and having to pay a fine for their amusement, is now assured, at least in New York. Archibald Watson the corporation counsel, ruled that the ordinance as proposed recently by the board of aldermen is illegal in all probability and would not stand the test of the courts.

Some of the city fathers were shocked by seeing women smoke somewhere in public — they did not say where—and sought to banish the practice by a strict law on the subject. After the ordinance was presented Ald. Frank Dowling, the Democratic leader, raised the question of legality and the ordinance was referred to Mr. Watson. The corporation counsel says:

"My opinion is that the courts would more likely hold an ordinance prohibiting public smoking by women to be void than valid. It is possible that such an ordinance might conflict with the Civil Rights Law, providing that all persons shall be entitled to equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges in inns, restaurants, hotels and other public places. In case of conflict the ordinance would give way to the statute."

Authority to prohibit women smoking in public was claimed by the aldermen under the section of the charter giving them the right to pass ordinances "for the peace and good order of the community and for the preservation of the public health and the suppression of vice and immorality."

On this point Mr. Watson says:

"The prohibition would attempt to control personal conduct which in a way encroaches upon the rights of others, and which conduct many might consider to be not subversive of public order, health or morality. Personal conduct or habits which might be merely vulgar or indelicate, in the opinion of your board, or involve bad taste, would not of necessity be sufficient to sustain the validity of a prohibitive ordinance."—New York Herald.

A Sensation in McNamara Case.

Los Angeles, Nov. 28.—S. L. Brown chief of the department of investigation of the District Attorney's office, arrested Bert Franklin, an ex-U. S. marshal, to-day on a charge of having attempted to bribe a prospective juror in the McNamara case.

Brown asserted that he caught Franklin attempting to pass $4,000 to G. N. Lockwood, summoned on the twelfth venire, and that the money was now in his possession.

THE ONTARIO BAMK ACTION SETTLEMENT KEPT SECRET

Toronto, Nov. 28.—The response to the double liability call of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank has been so good that a return of between 20 and 30 per cent, of the amount is assured. Mr. James Bicknell, of Bicknell, Bain and Strathy, solicitors for the liquidators, told the Star this morning that it would probably be in the neighborhood of 25 per cent.

"Of course," said Mr. Bicknell, "it is impossible to say definitely what the amount would be until the rest of the assets have been realized upon. There is a valuable piece of property at Fort William among these assets, and if the liquidators realize upon it as they expect to, the amount of the return will in all probability be about 25 per cent.

There has been a good deal of speculation in town as to what became of the suits against the former directors of the bank in an effort to compel them to assume the deficit. Inquiry at Osgoode Hall by The Star led to the interesting discovery that the consent of the parties for the settlement of the action had been sealed by order of Mr. Justice Teetzel. In response to a question as to what had become of the actions, Mr. James Bicknell said that they had been adjusted to the benefit of the shareholders. Details of the adjustment he would not give out, the court having decided that the settlement should not be made public.

ANGLICAN BISHOP ON NE TEMERE MARRIAGE LAW

Montreal, Nov. 27.—The Lord Bishop of Montreal has issued a strong pronouncement in reply to the statement of the Roman Catholic Archbishop's making certain claims for the Catholic Church in connection with the ne temere decree.

The Lord Bishop denies that the ne temere decree has been in force since Easter, 1908, "in every country in the world," pointing out that it has never been in force in Germany. While it is true the matter was dealt with at the Council of Trent in 1563 its enforcement is a new thing in Canada. The Lord Bishop continues:

"We did not object to it as long as it was lying dormant in the pages of history; nor did we trouble ourselves when the decree was promulgated in Canada, so long as it did not come into active operation. Great Britain and the United States do not trouble themselves about the decree, because they know that the civil law amply protects them. When, however, the ecclesiastic court annuls a marriage and our civil court sustains its decisions, and when its other features are being rigorously enforced, it then becomes a practical matter, which deeply concerns every citizen of the Dominion.

His Lordship then quotes from letters of the Archbishop and illustrates inconsistent statements and continues:

"The Archbishop says the Roman Church's right to so administer the marriage law is secured by treaty and by the constitution. Certainly the treaty of Paris, which gives to his church the free exercise of its worship "as far as the laws of Great Britain permit" does not give such

HERBERTS ARE AGAIN MADE MAN AND WIFE

Montreal, Nov. 28.—Formal inscription for judgment following the desistment filed by the husband in the Hebert marriage case was made by George V. Cousins, attorney for the wife, this morning.

This was the formal request for the prothonotary to award costs, the opposition to the original judgment annulling the marriage being automatically sustained and the couple declared man and wife.

DUKE AND DUCHESS WELCOMED ON BEHALF OF THE PROVINCE

Toronto, Nov. 28.—Ontario, not to be outdone by the City of Toronto, has officially welcomed their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. This morning, during a ceremony which was marked by dignity and yet by real feeling and enthusiasm, Sir James Whitney read an address of welcome to the royal visitors.

The Methodist Church in Canada, the Associated Boards of Trade, and a number of clubs and societies also took the opportunity of expressing their gratification at the coming of the Duke to Canada as Governor-General, and especially his extended visit to Toronto and other points in Ontario. The Duke replied in simple terms to all the addresses presented to him. At the close he was greeted with real live cheers, not the parliamentary sort which often are only rappings on the desks, this time the applause in the Legislative Chamber was real.

THE PARTY'S ARRIVAL.

At 11.25 the doors of the chamber opened, and his Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor, and Sir James Whitney appeared. They were followed by her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught, who was accompanied by Hon. Adam Beck, and after them came Mrs. J. M. Gibson and Hon. J. J. Foy. Next in line came Miss Pelly and Major Sharly, the attendants of the Duke and Duchess, and the Cabinet Ministers of Ontario.

Their Royal Highnesses proceeded to the dais, on which were placed on the two thrones. The Duke of Connaught was dressed in a plain morning suit, the Duchess wore a handsome gown of royal blue with an overdress of black lace. Her hat was a large black picture model with ostrich plumes.

The crowd, which completely filled the floor of the House and the galleries, had remained standing throughout the opening ceremony. Then Hon. J. M. Gibson raised his hand and said "please be seated." The Duchess also sat down, while His Royal Highness stood to listen to the address read by Sir James Whitney for the Province of Ontario. The audience began to rise to their feet again, but with a little motion of his hand, his Royal Highness intimated that he wanted them to sit down and not tire themselves by standing so long. This little act of courtesy was evidently appreciated. In his reply to the address the Duke spoke with evident sincerity, and when he sat down the chamber reverberated with applause.

Sir James Whitney presented the Duchess with a charming bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley.

Despatches received by the Chinese Free Press say that the Imperialists and rebels are fighting to-day in Nanking. The revolutionary navy is preparing to bombard the suburb. Shia Kwan, occupied by the Manchus

SIX NEGROES FOUND MURDERED IN BED

Lafayette, La., Nov. 28.—Arrested and accused of the murder of six persons, then confronted with her blood-soaked clothing that had been found near the crime scene, Clementine Barnabel, a young negress, laughed at the police to-day, refusing to admit any part in the murders. Her brother and two young negroes have been arrested, with Clementine as material witness.

Late yesterday the family of Norbert Randall, including six persons, were found in bed, their bodies horribly hacked. It is believed they were murdered Saturday night as they slept. They were negroes.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE MUCH-ABUSED UNDERTAKER

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice in your issue of Saturday a letter which seeks to show that the ministers are not fairly treated by the undertakers. Let the ministers show cause. I have buried hundreds of people and am prepared to speak. If the undertakers can make an extra dollar and a half by making room for the minister in their own rig, why should they not do so? Then again when all is said tell me why the undertaker should not take his wife to every funeral if he sees fit and why should she walk, and the minister ride. Again, if the minister could save a dollar and a half as the undertakers do would he not try to do it. What does the undertaker undertake. He undertakes to get through with the matter and why should the question of dignity enter into it at all. He has just to do the job.

Another question I know that in other places a lady never takes any part at a funeral, but if they like to do so in Peterborough why should they not continue to do it?

Again—Can you find finer steeds anywhere than those used by the local undertakers to convey the minister to the cemetery? If they want two horses and a costly conveyance, let them wait. They will get it some day with plumes.

BRITISH BORN MOSES REPLIES.

To British Born.

My Dear Friend,—Your letter in the Examiner of the 27th inst., has caused me much amusement, and I must thank you for many real good laughs. So I am a "British Born Moses," am I. Well that's very good—Moses was, according to what we know of him, a very decent sort of fellow, and I only wish I could do as much good for my fellow countrymen as he did for his. But the positions are reversed. My fellow countrymen are not in the wilderness, they are in the land flowing with milk and honey, thanks to the wise and democratic statesmanship of Sir J. P. Whitney. It is you and your party who are in the wilderness, you have been there this last six and a half years, and where is your Joshua to lead you into the promised land. This last newly annointed one makes the third, the High Priests of Liberalism have poured oil over and you are still stuck in the wilderness, stuck good and solid—you and yours are worshipping the golden calf and it is you who need a Moses, to rebuke you and bring you to your senses, if that is possible. When Jacob tried to deceive his old father by assuming the garments of Esau, Isaac's words are my answer to you. "The hands are the hands of Esau, but the voice is the voice of Jacob." Yes, "British Born" your "nom de plume" may be "British Born," but the voice is the voice of some interested politician. Jacob's tricks, however, will not do for the electors of Peterborough, as you will know on the eve of December 11th. Your party is kneeling at the feet of labor, agriculture and education, like Jacob, seeking a blessing, but like Isaac, they each reply "the voice is the voice of Jacob."

You go on to ask "what is my civic status, and what is my stake in the country," and here the old Jacob shows his colours clearly there speaks the crusted, ancient British Tory of a bygone age. A man must have position, he must have property else he may not dare express his views in the press. Now, you show your true colours, indeed. I ask you, Liberal of the Old Land, how your question as to my position and what property I have, fits in with their Liberal principles.

I answer you: I have no civic status; I am not a property owner. I am just a simple, common workingman, like the rest of my fellow countryman. I am not wealthy and count myself none the worse for that. The principles of true old country democracy declare with Bobbie Burns:

"The rank is but the guinea stamp,
The man's the gowd for a' that."

I would sooner go through life never owning a brick, than obtain wealth by shady means; I would rather have only just enough to eat, than grow fat on ill gotten wealth; I never intend to exploit business concerns to the gain of myself and the sorrow of others, even if I never get a position or a stake in the country. I do not possess many dollars, but they are all honestly earned. My character, "British Born" is good, ask anyone who knows me, and will guarantee it, will be better than the character of some Jacobs, who, wearing borrowed clothes, seek to appear well.

If I am Moses, it is a long time since I was in the bulrushes, my friend. Moses killed an Egyptian, who tried to harm his fellow countrymen. I will do my best to repeat that performance. You speak of beating one of a herd of cattle, the ex-

ALL A PACK OF COWARDS

American Editor Brands the Statesmen of the British Empire

Sensational Utterance of Rev. Dr. Cameron, of Boston, at Ottawa—The Ne Temere Decree Comes Up for Consideration.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.

WHEN the present religious situation is considered, both in the United States and Canada, it is evident that we must come to the conclusion that it will lead to the passing of religious liberty and ensure the coming of a new reformation, in which a feature will be a clash between the Knights Templars on the one side and the Knights of Columbus on the other, was the statement made by Dr. Robert Cameron, of Boston, Mass., during an address in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Cameron, who is editor of a Boston religious paper, made a slashing attack on the Roman Catholic Church, and his remarks created a profound sensation. He branded the statesmen of the British Empire as a "pack of cowards" for their refusal to risk their political heads in doing justice to the Protestants by settling such questions as the Ne Temere marriage decree.

"Until we have in this country," said Dr. Cameron, "the benevolent institutions of all denominations open to public inspection, as they are in Italy, we shall have religious trouble. And it will eventually lead to war. Through the present immigration into the United States, the Roman Catholic Church is securing nine adherents where the Protestant church is getting one. The Roman Catholics will soon be in the majority, and then, as they themselves tell us, 'good-bye to your religious liberty.'"

Turning to the Ne Temere decree, Dr. Cameron used the strongest language. "My God, is this the British Empire," he asked, "when a priest can go into a family circle and tell the wife or the husband that their marriage is not legal and that their children are illegitimate? Say what you will of Italy, there is no Ne Temere there, and the benevolent institutions of all churches are open to public inspection."

Dr. Cameron charged that statesmen in the British Empire and in the United States were afraid to deal with questions on which religion touches on their merits because "the Roman Catholic vote goes as a unit."

Death, in Paris, of Baron Rothschild

A BRAIN WORKER.

Must Have the Kind of Food That Nourishes Brain.

"I am a literary man whose nervous energy is a great part of my stock in trade, and ordinarily I have little patience with breakfast foods, and the extravagant claims made of them. But I cannot withhold my acknowledgment of the debt that I owe to Grape-Nuts food.

"I discovered long ago that the very bulkiness of the ordinary diet was not calculated to give one a clear head, the power of sustained, accurate thinking. I always felt heavy and sluggish in mind as well as body after eating the ordinary meal, which diverted the blood from the brain to the digestive apparatus.

"I tried foods easy of digestion, but found them usually deficient in nutriment. I experimented with many breakfast foods and they, too, proved unsatisfactory, till I reached Grape-Nuts. And then the problem was solved.

"Grape-Nuts agreed with me perfectly from the beginning, satisfying my hunger and supplying the nutriment that so many other prepared foods lack.

"I had not been using it very long before I found that I was turning out an unusual quantity and quality of work. Continued use has demonstrated to my entire satisfaction that Grape-Nuts food contains the elements needed by the brain and nervous system of the hard working public writer." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Valuable Hat Pin Found in Their Cow.

London, Ont., Nov. 28.—Wm. Watson, a St. Mary's cattle dealer, on killing one of a bunch of cattle that he had purchased for the Toronto market, because it was too thin to ship, was surprised to find in its stomach a lady's hat pin nine inches long, with a jewelled top, very valuable. MR. HALL IN ENNISMORE

Liberal Candidate Holds Very Enthusiastic Meeting in Town Hall

Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal candidate, held a very successful meeting in the town hall, Ennismore, last night. Although the weather was unfavorable, there was a large turnout, and considerable enthusiasm prevailed.

Mr. Hall discussed the bi-lingual schools. Sir James Whitney in his letter to Mr. McNaught, M.P.P., says: "There is no such thing as bi-lingual schools." Attorney General Foy says: "that bi-lingual schools cannot exist under the law."

That being the case, according to Sir James Whitney there is not bi-lingual schools to abolish.

But the fact remains, said Mr. Hall that there are over 300 bi-lingual schools in Ontario, and Sir James Whitney admits that there are so many bi-lingual schools in Ontario that it has taken Dr. Merchant over nine months to examine and report upon them.

But the fact also remains that for this last seven years over 2000 French Canadians have been added to our population—every year who cannot speak one single word of English.

"How is this state of affairs to be remedied?" asked Mr. Hall. I notice that Mr. Rowell the Liberal leader has been constantly asking Sir James Whitney if he proposes that these bi-lingual schools shall continue to run as they are at present. Sir James Whitney has made no reply. Mr. Rowell has also asked Sir James Whitney, if he proposes to make any changes in these bi-lingual schools. On that question also Sir James Whitney is as "dumb as an oyster."

"In my written pledge to the electors," said Mr. Hall, "I have prescribed a remedy. I have pointed out that two great general principles should be kept in view.

"First—That every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary education, and

"Second—That every child in the Province should be able to speak the English language.

"To carry this out I have stated that necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced, and necessary training schools should be established to furnish qualified and competent teachers for every school in every part of the Province. If such a course as this was pursued then our French Canadian fellow citizens would not be deprived of the advantage of having a working knowledge of English."

Hon. J. R. Stratton also addressed the meeting on the issues of the day, and concluded by urging upon the electors to vote for Mr. Hall, who proved himself to be a useful and energetic member.

At the conclusion of the addresses, cheers were given for Mr. Hall and the King.

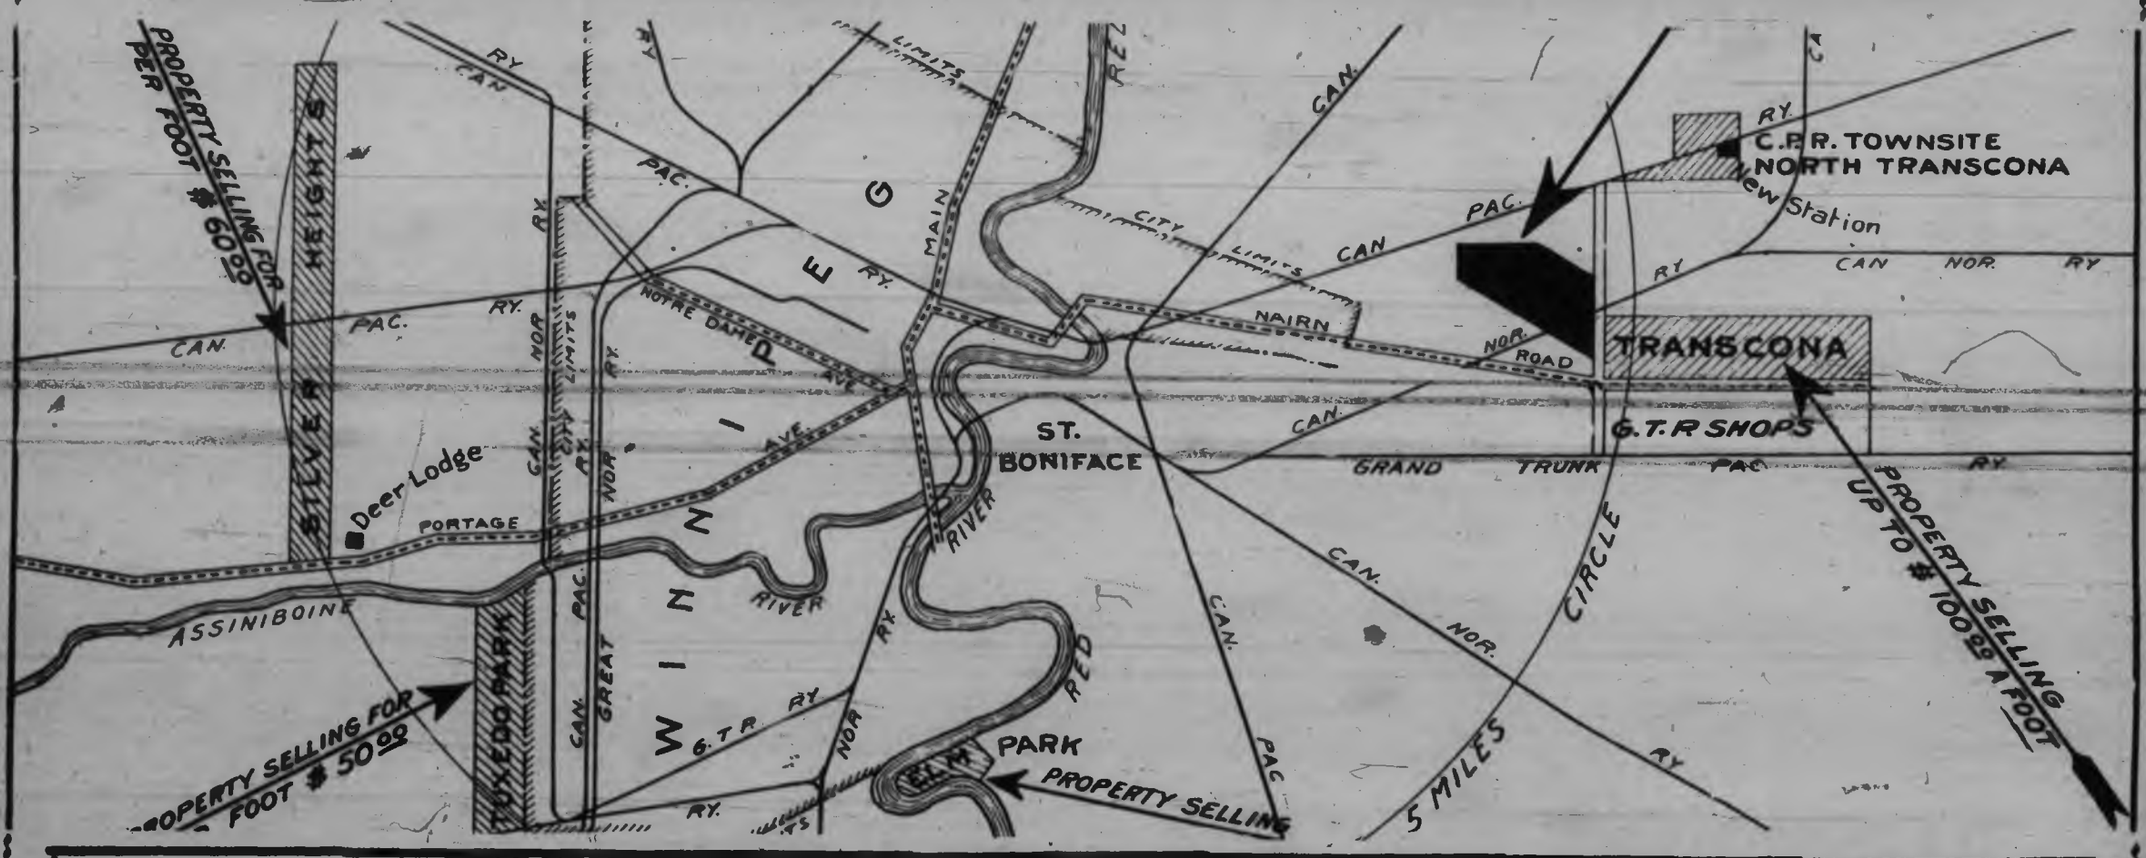
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No. 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 8,365,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory", Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field. The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 400 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro', or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

To Keep Our Teachers.

The move to keep teachers in Ontario for one year after passing their examinations and to enforce their teaching for one year before granting them certificates is a good one. It may, however, not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended as the North West Provinces are willing to employ uncertificated teachers.

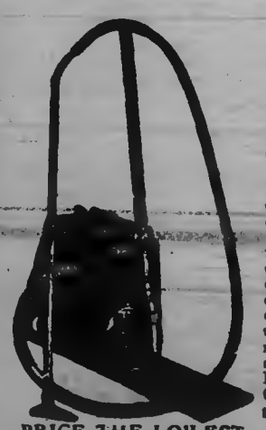
KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER



You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Thought for To-day

As 'tis that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things; and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It Was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"Hey here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man. "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total isn ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlshad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for curp purposes (Carlshad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $913,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those ungodful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. This the same man, well dressed, will talk better, will walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously, of course) live up to his appearance, and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet

Among the Duke of Wellington's special-constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."

Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

UNDER THE TWINKLING STARS

By Catherine MacDougall

Twenty years ago when Mathilde Westley was a girl in her teens, she, too, with her mother, father, sisters and brother, had lived in Lexington, and the Longwoods and Westleys were like twin families. But one by one the parents and sisters had passed away, leaving Miss Mathilde and her brother sole survivors. After a few years of dreary lingering in the old home they had drifted to Glendale, where Jake Westley had built up a flourishing little mercantile business.

A little later had come also the Peabodys and pitched their tent near the pretty rose-sheathed cottage. But for the circumstance Miss Mathilde might have been contented, even fairly happy. Her life was full of congenial, healthy tasks which she performed with as much cheerfulness as she did thoroughness, each day adding forth as its own bright monument of reward.

If only there had never been a Russell Peabody! Every day, for fourteen years, she had been forced to see him three times, four — sometimes five, as he passed in and out of the gate across the way going back and forth to his work.

For just a little while, many years ago, the sun of happiness had shone upon Miss Mathilde's life. It was in the days when she was a Vassar girl and he a student at Harvard. They had met, fallen desperately in love, exchanged vows and rings — only to find on their return from college that a bitter feud had existed between the Westleys and the Peabodys for scores of years. That marked the end of Mathilde Westley's brief love-dream, and Russell Peabody settled down as an old bachelor almost before he was a man. Thus the years drifted.

This morning Miss Mathilde was busy with her dust-cloth interrupting herself every little while in the cleaning to run back to the kitchen and glance at the preserves sizzling in a big copper kettle.

"Put on a fresh white apron right away, Kitty, and take this over to the little brown house on the other corner where the Longwoods live. Tell them that Miss Mathilde sent it—for 'Auld Lang Syne' — can you remember that?" Then she added to herself:

Now there were two little brown houses across the way and each of them stood on a corner. Also, Kitty was a new maid and it was not unnatural that she should have selected the wrong place. Miss Mathilde was so deeply engrossed in the bottling process that she did not even look up as the girl went out of the gate.

Russell Peabody, by some peculiar circumstance, sat in his study looking over the contents of an old cabinet-drawer he had not opened for many years. He held in his hand a faded knot of pink ribbon—one that she had worn that night of their betrothal — and his face was less ruddy than its wont as he recalled the sweet memories of their short-lived happiness and the bitter thoughts of all the drab years that followed.

The sharp peal of the door-bell brought him to his feet. All of them were away for the Summer, not even a servant was in the house, and he answered the ring himself.

A look of surprise came into his face at sight of the trim, strange maid, but he took the dish from her hands with a smile of appreciation. Probably some neighborly friend of the family, pitying his bachelorhood, had sent it over.

"From Miss Westley — Miss Mathilde, sir — for the sake of "Auld Lang Syne," she said." A moment later, Kitty was out of the gate and Russell Peabody stood staring into the space through which she had disappeared, and as he stared, a radiant hope awoke in his eyes. For one second he knew what is termed 'mad, delirious bliss.' What if she had meant that there was no Past? That she wanted him again as he used to be — at her side? That she cared, even as he had, more and more through all the lonely years that had divided them? Was she clearing the road for him at last? The road for which he longed, but lacked the courage to take.

After a while he closed the door and went back into his study. With trembling hands, he gathered up all his treasures and locked them back in the cabinet — all, but the faded knot of ribbon. This he wrapped carefully in a piece of paper and wrote across the back of it:

"Will you wear it this evening — for 'Auld Lang Syne?'"

Afterward, he went out in the street and stopped a boy who was coming along with some papers. He gave him the package, threw a half-dollar into his hand and pointed the way to Miss Mathilde's cottage.

The day hung heavy on Russell Peabody's hands. Would she wear the pink ribbon? Or was her overture of the morning simply an act of neighborly kindness? When night came, he dressed himself more carefully than he had done for a score of years. He discarded the usual black tie for one one of less sober hue and flicked imaginary specks of dust from his broadcloth lapels at least a dozen times. He looked at himself a bit uncertainly in the glass. But after all, forty-three was not so very old, and Time had traced no unflattering lines on his keen, good-looking face.

At 8 o'clock he left the house and walked rapidly, without looking up, till he came to Miss Mathilde's gate. The high fence was tangled in clematis and he did not see her at all till his hand rested on the latch. She was dressed all over in white, with a white rose nestling at her throat — above a faded knot of pink ribbon.

"Mathilde!" A vivid light leapt to his face, illumining it.

She answered by a quick flash of her eyes, and he, reading love's language in them, held out his arms

She went to him with a little sobbing between a sob and a laugh and allowed her softly under the twinkling November stars.

The Down-Trodden.

A certain battalion — the Terrors" — possessed but a very small band. The commanding officer's feet — he was a burly farmer — were — well, very large. One day the battalion was to march out, but the music was not forthcoming.

"Where on earth is the band?" queried the adjutant.

For some time there was no reply; but when the question was repeated, a gruff voice was heard from the rear rank:—

"I do believe, sir, the colonel trod on it by accident."

Fortress in India

An Englishman, while walking through a remote village of the Deccan, noticed a large stone pillar, richly carved, lying by the roadside. He asked the origin and destination of the monolith. It was for the plinth of a temple on the brow of a precipice two miles away overlooking the hamlet. The headman of the place, to whom the Briton had applied for information, explained that the villagers dragged the monolith on great festival days. In his lifetime, he added, they had moved it a hundred yards.

The headman was nearly fifty years of age, a circumstance that occasioned the foreigner much astonishment in connection with the foregoing statements. He wondered how long a period would elapse before the pillar would reach its destination.

"The English are in such a hurry," was the reply. "They come and they go. Others have come and gone their way, and so will you. But the pillar will reach the summit."

ANGEL OR CATAMOUNT?

By Kit Brun

Many years ago, relates a woman writer, a lonely man dwelt in a cave in the hills where rise the waters of the Iwaga. None knew whence he came, nor who he was, except that he called himself Randolph Jackson, and that he had made himself a habitation in the cave.

Beyond the ledge the hill arose, its crest looking towards the north-west where Greylock loomed and opposite towards the south-eastern hills, below the valley lay the guarding hill precipitate in its descent. At the foot the river murmured over its pebbled bed and between the forest clad hills. For the stately pines the ragged oaks and spruce and the graceful birches were crowded close on either side, and far upward, till they reached the fertile fields that the first settlers had cleared.

From the front of the cave, Randolph could look far across the valley, and could see no human habitation or human being; only now and then he might watch an eagle soaring across, or see a fox skulk away in the shadow, or hear the soft flap of the wings of an owl, when the great darkness had come down.

Randolph worked for the farmers down beyond the valley and took for his pay mostly provisions, for money was scare then in all this region, and trade was made by bartering. So from one he took the cloth, spun and woven there, that another farmer's wife made his garments from. Another gave him meal, another potatoes. From a fifth he secured the maple sugar that was his only luxury and from a sixth the pork that served him meat, or now and then a pat of butter. And then, too, he could use his musket, and sometimes also furnished himself a meal from the tender flesh of a rabbit, coon or quail; he would stride down the valley and from a brook on the other side of the river draw out an unsuspecting, unsophisticated trout. So Randolph lived.

One winter morning Randolph arose long before light, for he had work with a farmer down the valley whose hours were early, and he must be there to help before the tardy winter sun arose above the eastern hills. The winter had been hard, a thick coat of snow lay upon the ground. A day or two before more had come, and then had turned to rain, and then the rain had frozen into sleet, and formed a crust, hard enough to bear up the fox taken away from home, unawares and unfortunate, but not hard enough to bear the weight of the lone cave-liver.

When the long day's work was done, and the weary oxen in their stalls, and the dog snoring in the chimney corner and dreaming of the fox he had seen that day, Randolph started to his sheltering cave, across his shoulder a bag of potatoes, a side of salt pork, and a loaf of corn bread, given him by kindly Mistress Leonard. But it was darker than ever then. The dim ghosts of farm buildings, or towering trees were only a visible inky darkness the fog was so thick and close. And Randolph had no lantern, and perforce must find his way, alone and unlighted, up the slope of the valley to the ledge that made his roof tree. And he was tired, and painfully groped his way along the beaten road that was his path for a part of the distance.

Then he left it to try and find his path through the forest trees, his path alone, for none other lived in that valley, and none other ever passed that way.

Did he find it? He could not tell, but groped darkly and alone through the misty trees. Then he could not tell where he was. He could not tell how far up the hillside he had come, or where [illegible] began its serious length. And he paused alarmed at last.

[illegible] far off in the distance, [illegible] a noise distinguished itself from the breath and whisper of the tree, then more plain and clear yet, until it seemed to Randolph that it was a voice crying [illegible] This-a-way! Here-a-way!" [illegible] and the wanderer, and perplexed. "This-a-way!" [illegible] voice. "What was this?" [illegible] "Heere-eere!" pealed a voice far away in the darkness and the spruces "Heere-eere!" it came again and again. Randolph wiped the sweat from his brow, replaced his old fur cap, and went on again, slowly and painfully up the new clad hill. Again it seemed to him that his path was not here, and again he paused, and then, "This-a-way!" cried the voice, "This-a-way! Here, heere-eere."

And the clump of dark spruce trees close at hand seemed strange to him, and lacked their familiar outlines. Then he stumbled over a log that had no recollection of, and paused again, the ghostly voice would be heard again in the forest. "This-a-way! This-a-way! This-a-way!" And so he climbed the mountain, pausing ever and anon for the sound of the welcome voice far away calling plaintively, "This-a-way," or near at hand, echoing with a sighing cadence, across the valley, "This-a-way!"

Until at last, while supposing himself to be a long way from home, he suddenly saw before him the glimmer of a fire; the few embers left burning from his fire of the morning and he stumbled across the rocks of his hearthold with a sigh of relief, and threw himself down upon his couch of fir branches, tired and content.

And always, when he told the story of his long wandering up the hillside, and the dark night, and mimicked the sound that had come to him, and led him upward in safety, he said that he never knew if it was an angel calling him or a catamount.

COLD IN THE HEAD

What's the sense in sneezing and Sniffling, dosing with purgatives, or bothering with atomisers?

Catarrhozone

A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly.

Sensible people have long since abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints, it stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. In flammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE MORNING TIMES

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28

PROGRESS OF VACCINATION.

A New York contemporary points out that in spite of frantic efforts on the part of anti-vaccinationists this system of treating small pox presses ahead with increasing favor. More than that, the list of diseases treated by innoculation has measurably lengthened. Vaccination against typhoid is becoming a well established practice and in the Seventy-first New York regiment Dr. Karl Connell major in the medical corps, is vaccinating against typhoid all the members who are willing to receive the treatment. Thus far he has vaccinated over 400 men; 450 more are to be vaccinated this winter and it is expected that when the regiment goes into camp next summer only one-twentieth of the total strength will remain unvaccinated.

It is because of the practical demonstrations of the efficacy of vaccination against typhoid among soldiers that this practice may be expected to grow in civil life. There is no greater American scourge than typhoid, which is purely a filth disease, communicated through milk and water supplies and against which many of us are helpless. In 1910 there were 14,000 American soldiers inoculated against typhoid and among these men that year there were only six cases of typhoid and no deaths.

How great this progress has been may be seen by remembering what happened to the Seventh Army Corps when it was encamped at Jacksonville, in 1898, when out of a membership of 10,750 no less than 2,693 cases of typhoid were developed with 248 deaths.

In spite of all sanitary measures, good water and, inspected milk typhoid will continue to spread, especially among the children who have not been taught the need of care. Its great enemy is to be found in the blood of healthy humanity, which, by inoculation, may be strengthened to resist and overcome the germs. Slowly, but surely these facts are becoming known and appreciated and when the efficacy of vaccination has been thoroughly grasped the scourge of typhoid may be banished from among us.

rights. QUESTION OF DIVORCE.

"The Archbishop says that no outcry is made against divorce. He cannot have read the press of our day; if he did he would know that our clergy and our synods have condemned divorce over and over again. He does know that no Anglican clergyman is allowed to officiate at any marriage of a divorced person during the lifetime of the former partner. His statement is hardly borne out by the facts.

"This present agitation has arisen chiefly through the action of the Archbishop in annuling the Hebert marriage, which our courts have happily now sustained. To permit a woman who has been faithful to her marriage vows, to be cast off with her innocent child, because she was married by a 'Protestant' minister, duly authorized by the state to perform marriages, is much worse than divorce, which can in Canada only be granted for the cause of adultery. If this woman sinned against her church by her act, one would have thought that the fatherly heart of the Archbishop would have persuaded her to permit him to validate the marriage according to the laws of his church and not to cast her away as a 'vile woman.' No one either questions the right to discipline them when they violate these laws, but the extreme penalty which any church can exercise is to excommunicate the offender. No church or society can be permitted to annul marriages.

"The Roman Catholic has no special privileges by our constitution in Canada. Provincial legislation may have granted such, but not the constitution. Most earnestly would I appeal to His Grace, and to all citizens who believe in the sacredness of marriage, not to force upon us in Canada, purely civil marriages, as is the case in Italy."

SOME REMEDY NEEDED

J. H. BURNHAM, M. P., ON SIR JAMES'S DURHAM SPEECH.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—J. H. Burnham, M. P. for West Peterborough, in an interview given The Citizen, discussed the speech of Sir James Whitney at Durham Wednesday night, in which the provincial premier admitted that in the west some taxation remedy was needed but held that in the east, things were different.

"Sir James Whitney," said Mr. Burnham, "acknowledges the principle of Single Tax! Such at least appears to be the case if we may judge by the report of his speech at Durham, Ont., on Nov. 22. He admitted that for a new country like the west single tax was not only right but necessary. He acknowledges the principle. It does not remain therefore for those who agree with him to challenge him further in this respect. Henceforth it is merely a question of convincing him that what is right in principle is capable of application everywhere, it being but a matter of time to find the true rule of application, when once the correctness of the principle is ascertained. When you were good enough to invite me to say a word on this subject I had no idea that Olympus was soon to shake with Jovian thunder in defence of the principle of Single Tax. Hitherto the signs had not been favorable but let bygones be bygones and let us be thankful that Sir James's conscience would not let him rest in this particular.

"It is this overpowering conscience of Sir James that is the real moving force of public life in Ontario," continued Mr. Burnham. "You can't beat him. He is not the most gracious of all people in the world to the deputant or the interviewer but God help the man who is not straight. The late Sir Matthew Crooks Cameron was not a circumstance to Sir James in this regard except possibly in strength of voice. From now on, then, those in favor of the Land Tax i. e., the taking back by the community of that which has so unjustly been kept from it (viz., the unearned increase in the value of land due to the accumulation of population), may bend their energies to the correct application of this great principle. Sir James is on their side. The triumph is as glorious as it is sudden. Industry will be freed once more the people owe Sir James a debt of gratitude."

A Popular Exhibit.

The Grand Trunk Railway System have received the final report from their Director of Exhibit at Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, which closed on October 31st, 1911.

This report gives some very interesting information as follows:

Total number of visitors at Grand Trunk building were 367,133.

Advertising matter distributed, 189,344 pieces.

Cinematograph shows given in the building, 1066; at which 108,600 people attended.

The Grand Trunk building was one of the most popular at this exhibition, and was a great advertisement for Canada as well as the railway.

The popularity of this exhibit together with the attractive features that were shown has elicited the request from the Crystal Palace authorities for its perpetuation during an other year, and the Grand Trunk have acquiesced in their desire, and the exhibit will be continued during the summer of 1912.

The Grand Prix were received by the Grand Trunk for their efforts at the Festival of Empire, the highest awards that could be given by the Jury.

Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT.

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Avenue, Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c tablet.

TRANSCONA PARK, WINNIPEG, CAN

Splendid Opportunity to Secure Lots in a Growing Place.

We call the attention of investors to the large advertisement to be found in to-day's issue, of Transcona Park, Winnipeg. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest opportunities that eastern investors will have of making money, as the property is sure to rapidly increase in value.

Lots 30 x 100 to a 16-foot lane, $5 to $7 per foot. Cash required, only $15 and $10 per month, thus being within the grasp of mechanics and others with limited means at their disposal.

Another important feature about the sale of lots is that Messrs. Clark & Munro, the owners, will agree to refund money in two years' time, if purchasers are dissatisfied, and pay 6 per cent interest. Could anything be fairer?

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

W. A. BUCHANAN, M.P.

Mr. Buchanan, who supplants Mr. C. A. Magrath as parliamentary representative for the Medicine Hat constituency, was born at Fraserville, Peterboro county, on July 2, 1876, and took his educational classes at the High and Public Schools of Warkworth, Trenton, Brighton and Norwood. The allurement of journalism caught him soon after the completion of his scholastic course, and he opened in the profession as reporter on the "Peterboro Review", following on, and up, to Toronto, where, soon after, he graduated to the News Editor's desk of the "Telegram" This held him for four years, at the end of which time there was removal to St Thomas to take over the management of the "Daily Journal".

In 1905 Mr Buchanan heard the West a-calling in such promising tones that he decided to respond, and November of that year saw the establishment, under his proprietorship of the "Lethbridge Herald", now claimed as the leading daily and weekly newspaper of Southern Alberta.

W. A. BUCHANAN
Medicine Hat's New M.P.

At the general election of 1909, Mr. Buchanan was elected a member of the Provincial Legislature, and soon afterwards was honored by being chosen a member of the Government, a position subsequently abandoned over a difference of opinion on the Alberta and Great Waterways' Railway transaction. When the Reciprocity question came to the front he decided to enter the wider field of politics, and resigning his seat in the Provincial Legislature, came out as an opponent to Mr. Magrath, who as all the world now knows was compelled to retire under a one thousand votes defeat. Mr. Buchanan is, of course, a Liberal in politics, is an advocate of the reduction of the tariff and an increase in the British preference. He is President of the Lethbridge Canadian Club and Alberta and Eastern British Columbia Press Association.

Mr. ALEXANDER FRASER
Ontario Archivist and Author

Mr Alexander Fraser, who has recently issued a history of the old Huron villages, is recognized as a man who well fits his position as archivist of the Ontario Province. He possesses a wide and varied knowledge of things Canadian, and can, in addition, supply almost any details on demand with reference to Scotland and the Scots.

Mr. Fraser is a Highlander born and bred, but has been in Canada twenty-five years. He was on the staff of the Mail and Empire, for fifteen years, and afterwards edited the Massey Illustrated, the Presbyterian Review, and the Scottish Canadian. He is one of our leading Gaelic authorities and taught Gaelic at Knox College for three years. He established the Gaelic Society of Canada, and was one of the founders of the 48th Highlanders. He is prominent in all Scottish societies, and is the author of "Practical Lessons in Gaelic Grammar," "Short Scottish Biographies," "Essays on Celtic Literature," "Antiquities and Art," "The Mission of the Scot to Canada," "History of Toronto," "History of the 48th Highlanders," and other publications.

Mrs. Borden
Wife of Canada's New Premier

In course of an appreciation of the wife of the premier, a Canadian Lady writer says she is in truth "not only a very gracious and attractive woman, but she is, also, a very cultured and understanding woman, one to whom the laws of harmony are revealed. Therefore, whether I think of her in her gleaming evening gown, with orchids to match, trailing their rich lengths over her white arm, and all the glitter and the ceremonial of a viceregal opening of the Houses of Parliament for her background; or in her simple house dress, whose folds the hearthlight tinted with fires of amethyst; I think of her with the idea of the aesthetic taste well gratified — she is still a picture."

Mrs. Borden, feminine to a degree, is what one must call a woman's woman Woman and the concerns of woman interest her to an astonished extent, she has high ideals for her sex. She has great pride, also, in her sex's achievement."

"There is a beautiful custom in Japan," says the "Shanghai Mercury", whereby the wife, during the hot weather, sits up all night fanning the fevered brow of her husband."

An Arctic Cannonade.

At Sedonsk, in Northern Siberia, the silence of the intensely cold winter nights is sometimes broken by a loud report as of a cannon. This is due to the bursting of one of the ice-bubbles in the river. The streams coming down from the hills are frozen on the surface some six to nine inches thick. The water beneath flows faster than it can escape, and the pressure becomes irresistible. First the elasticity of the ice is seen by the rising of circular mounds from six to eight feet in diameter, and four to five feet high. The bursting point comes at last with a report like an explosion. The water escapes, but soon freezes again. Scores of these hillocks may be seen in a few miles of the river.

GIVES UP FAITH TO WED LORD.

New York, Nov. 25.—Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, became a member of the Catholic Church this morning, preliminary to her marriage with Lord Camoys of Great Britain, this afternoon. Lord Camoys is a Catholic. Owing to the illness of the father of the bride, the wedding ceremony will be celebrated in Mr. Sherman's room, and members of the immediate families will be the only witnesses.

OUT IN CHASE OF THE WHALE

An Exciting and Interesting Pursuit. Which However Seems to Point To An Extermination of the Species.

It may not be known generally but it is a fact that many varieties of the whale are now as extinct as the buffalo, and unless the remnants be protected from slaughter they will, it is feared, be altogether exterminated.

The whale is a mammal and not a fish; that is to say, it is a warm-blooded animal which breathes air instead of water, drowns if submerged too long, brings forth its young alive and nourishes it with milk from its own body. The largest of the family is the sulphur-bottom whale. Specimens measuring 97 feet in length have been killed. Such a creature would weigh 140 to 120 tons. A fair number of these creatures still exist in the Pacific Ocean, though they are now being killed off very rapidly.

Then there is the bowhead, also called the Greenland or Polar whale, which inhabits the waters round the North Pole. This species is now very scarce.

The right whale, slightly larger than the bowhead, is now virtually extinct. A quarter of a century ago it was found in large numbers in both the North and South Atlantic Oceans. The whale generally seen by passengers crossing the Atlantic is the humpback species, which attains a length of from forty-five to sixty feet. Then there is the finback of the North Atlantic coast, which attains a length of sixty feet, and yields little oil and is difficult to kill. In the Pacific Ocean there is the California gray whale, often found in comparatively shallow water, but savage and dangerous. It attains a length of about forty-five feet.

The virtual extinction of the right whale and the bowhead has been brought about by the invention of the harpoon gun. In the old days whales were captured from boats. It required courage, pluck, and the whaler took his life in his hands. To-day the animals are slaughtered by firing at them from the bow of a vessel with a heavy cannon, which shoots a harpoon weighing more than a hundred pounds, and having an explosive head of point, called the "bomb."

Not a portion of the great carcase is wasted. The blubber is "tried out" for oil, and the meat and bones are boiled for the same purpose. The flesh is artificially dried and sifted, making a very fine guano, and the bones are ground for fertiliser. Even the blood is boiled and dried with the flesh, and the water in which the blubber has been tried out makes excellent glue. The fins and tail, after being sliced into thin strips, salted, and barrelled, are sent to Japan, where they are used as food.

The Trials of a Parson.

If he delivers a written sermon, he is a back-number. If he preaches extempore, he is a shallow thinker.

If he is not constantly calling upon his people, he is unsociable. If he visits to any extent, he is a gadabout.

If he is married "he is an awfully nice fellow, but his wife doesn't amount to much." If he lives in single blessedness (?) woe be to him. All the eligibles and many of the others never speak to each other at the guilds and parish socials, or else they do speak — gossip!

If he is content to serve his Master and his people on a small monthly sum (paid at irregular intervals) he is "cheap." If he timidly asks for a large enough stipend to keep his household "decently and in order," he is worldly-minded.

If he would be "all things to all men," he is a hypocrite. If he is somewhat reserved, it is a cloak to conceal his sly attempts to foist a mediaeval priestcraft upon his people.

If he quotes the sources from which his best ideas are drawn, he is lacking in originality. If he fails to give due credit for these various ideas, he is dishonest and a thief.

Sartorial Sentences.

Eve is probably the only woman on record who could dress just as she pleased.

It takes a heroic woman to go to church in anything but her best.

How many a man takes a wife when he really only wants a needle.

Man owes his superiority to woman entirely to his pockets.

Self-consciousness is the precious faculty bestowed on a privileged few of bearing the sermon and at the same time studying the hats.

Who has not seen the Great shabby and spotty to a degree? It is one of the privileges of being great that one can afford to have samples of bygone repasts on one's waistcoat.

The Achilles' heel of a man is his hat. He must guard that as he does his reputation, for it is at once his strength and his weakness.

Every policeman is an arbiter of fashion. To him any originality in clothes means either crime or insanity. — From "The Talk of the Town," by Mrs. John Lane.

Lord Avebury's Pet Wasp.

There are few who would choose a wasp as a companion, but Lord Avebury is among the few. Some years ago he captured a wasp in the Pyrenees and he kept her for nine months. "I had no difficulty," he writes, "in inducing her to feed on my hand; but at first she was shy and nervous. She kept her sting in constant readiness; and once or twice in the train when the railway officials came for tickets, and I was compelled to hurry her back into her bottle, she stung me slightly — I think, however, entirely from fright. Gradually she became quite used to me, and when I took her on my hand apparently expected to be fed. She even allowed me to stroke her without any appearance of fear, and for some months I never saw her sting."

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six; jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine laths, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully exertiful.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

DELIVERY OF THE TIMES.

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief histories are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 660 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favourite form of play. Of these fourteen at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest it may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another "Let us go out and kill something," is the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 162 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four is yachting or sailing a recognized diversion. Canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 96 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

Power For Peterborough.

Peterborough is certainly fortunate in securing two of the dams on the Otonabee river from which over 4000 horse power can be developed. Last week an application was made to Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the lease of the water-power rights at dams four and eight on the Trent Valley system capable of producing 2000 horse power each. Yesterday the Minister, Hon. Frank Cochrane, granted the application in spite of the protests of interested parties who represented

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most polite and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have seen. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that if it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

GIVE UP BURROWING

Rabbit is Giving Up Digging Earthe Homes, and Begins Nesting Above Ground.

German natural historical periodicals are calling attention to an interesting change in the habits of wild rabbits, especially in the western parts of Germany. The animals in question are giving up their ancient habit of burrowing, and have commenced in great part to imitate the hares, which, as is well known, nest only above ground. The hares themselves were once burrowers, and gradually went through the same change in habits in this particular that appears to characterize the rabbits at the present day — as they rest in Germany. In woods where the undergrowth is thick, and which are therefore especially suitable to the rabbits they find hiding places in plenty for their nests; but even in open country, unwooded and the rabbits seems to be taking hares and more to the open — they take refuge in board-piles, rubbish-heaps, brush-piles, brick-kilns, drain-pipes and ditches that are overgrown with weeds. The female makes little fortresses for her young, to protect them from the cannibalistic propensities of the male; she lines the nest warmly with fur from her own breast, visits them secretly at night, and perhaps suckles them once more during the 24 hours; but each time that she leaves them she carefully rifles rubbish before the opening which leads to her defenseless family, and defiles the obstructions with ordure.

INTERESTING OCEAN FACTS

Complete Evaporation Would Leave an Immense Deposit of Salt Two Hundred and Thirty Feet Thick.

Oceans occupy three-fourths of the earth's surface. At the depth of 2,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the poles to the burning sun of the equator. A mile down the water has a pressure of a ton on every square inch. If a box six feet deep were filled with salt water and allowed to evaporate, there would be two inches of salt left on the bottom of the box. Taking the average depth of the oceans of the world to be three miles, there would be a layer of salt 230 feet thick over the entire bed should the water evaporate. The water of the ocean is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In many places especially in the bays on the coast of Norway, the water freezes at the bottom before it does above. Waves are very deceptive. To look at them in a storm one would think that the whole water travelled. The water stays in the same place, but the motion goes on. Sometimes in storms these waves are forty feet high and travel fifty miles per hour — nearly twice as fast as the fleetest steamship. The base of a wave — the distance from valley to valley or crest to crest at the bottom — is generally reckoned at being 15 times the height, therefore an average wave, say one 25 feet high, has a base extending over 275 feet. The force of waves breaking on the shore is said to be 17 tons to the square yard.

Be Good Winter Traffic

No better evidence of the increased Western traffic is needed than the statement that this year certain railroad services which in former winters have always been dropped, are this year being retained, and in some cases added to. A leading official states that this year the Canadian Pacific Railway intends to run its St. Paul-Seattle through trains, all winter, whereas in former winters this through service was always dropped. The source of the increased traffic between these two points is attributed to the growing interest in the Canadian Rocky Mountains. For the last five or six years tourists from the United States have been literally pouring into Canada through C. P. R. connections at St. Paul and Seattle, the greater number having the Rocky Mountains and the resorts at Banff, Field, Emerald Lake and Glacier, as their destination.

HE WAS SURPRISED.

House Was Ransacked While Family Sat on Doorstep.

While Mr. Ovide Tanguay, in company with his family was enjoying the fresh air on the front doorstep of his on Gilford Street, Montreal, a nervy second story man introduced himself through a window in the rear and ransacked the place from top to bottom. When Mr. Tanguay made up his mind to retire he was dumbfounded to note the appearance of his bed room. All the drawers had been emptied and contents were strewn pell-mell on the floor while all the jewelry and other valuable articles had been taken. Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

Electrician Dead, Two Are Injured.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 25.—Joseph Johnston, night electrician at the local power house, was instantly killed this morning by accidentally coming in contact with a brass rod while he was throwing off the switch of the street lighting circuit.

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that most infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diphtheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly lessen the danger of contracting these diseases. This remedy is famous for its cures of colds. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Twenty-five cents per month will pay for The Times, delivered to any home in the city every morning between 5 and 7 o'clock. Telephone orders accepted.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lawnale, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

CITY AND DISTRICT

OASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

For Rent.

Two Offices—newly fitted—$10 per month and $6 per month respectively Light, Lavatory and Heat supplied. Apply Drawer 1168, Peterborough.

Store Help Wanted.

A couple of bright girls wanted, during the holiday trade, at The Times Bookstore.

Apprentice Wanted.

To learn the printing business. A splendid chance for a bright boy to learn one of the best of trades. Apply at Times' business office.

For Sale.

Singer Sewing Machine, drop head, as good as new; bargain for quick sale. Apply 40 Robinson street.

Store to Rent.

The single store on Geotge street, recently occupied by G. Goldberg, ladies' tailor, to rent. For particulars apply at Times Office.

At Police Court.

N. Stewart, Thos. McGee and Harry LeFape were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning, before Magistrate Dumble, on charges of drunkenness. They were discharged. One man told the Magistrate that it was the first time in 20 years that he had been in the Police Court.

Old Age Pensions.

Our active member, Mr. J. H. Burnham, has again been heard from at Ottawa. He has given notice that he will move for a committee of the house with full power to enquire into all matters concerning an old age pension act for Canada.

Christmas Shopping.

Shop early is good advice, but still better is the advice to spread your Christmas shopping over two or three weeks. The gifts you will eventually buy are now on sale, and probably they are cheaper to-day than they will be on Christmas eve. Be sure and drop in and look over the splendid stock of Christmas Cards and Novelties at The Times' Bookstore, when making your rounds.

An Open Rink.

An open ice rink is to be in operation in the south end, the Rev. Dr. O'Brien of the Church of the Sacred Heart, having arranged for a water service. There cannot be too many of these playgrounds in the city, as they afford a safe and healthy means of recreation for the young.

Sale of Xmas Stamps.

The sale of Christmas stamps in aid of the Muskoka Hospital which has been customary in this city will be replaced this season by sale of Christmas stamps in the interest of the Peterborough Health Association The stamps will be issued in the near future when further information is to be given. Calendars will also be sold.

Consigned to the Tomb.

The remains of the late Mrs. Wm. Rudkins were interred in St. Peter's cemetery yesterday morning. The funeral proceeded to St. Peter's Cathedral, where high mass was sung by Fr. J. H. Cote, of Hamilton, assisted by Dr. O'Brien, and Fathers McCauley and McCarthy, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's cemetery for interment. A large number of sorrowing relatives and friends escorted the remains to the grave. The pall-bearers were:—Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, J. Fortye, T. O'Connor, John Shelvin, Frank McPherson and D. Sheehy.

Peterborough Old Boys.

The old boys from Peterborough, who reside in Winnipeg, to the number of a hundred or more, held a banquet last night in Winnipeg. Mr. R. M. Denniston presided, while Mr. R. F. McWilliams and many other former well known citizens of Peterborough are on the toast list. The list of the names of those who attended the banquet contained no less than 150, all of whom are old residents of this city. A congratulatory telegram was sent to the Secretary of the meeting by Mayor Morrow.

St. Andrew's Day.

To-morrow will be St. Andrew's Day, and it will be observed almost everywhere by the sons of old Scotia. A number of years ago our Scotchmen usually met at the banquet table and did honor to the land o' the heather, but for some years the Scotch society in Peterborough has not flourished, no doubt for the lack of leaders, and the day has passed by unobserved

WEDDING BELLS.

Arinola—Tomasso.

A wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, when Miss Maria Assunta Arinola, daughter of Dominico Arinola of this city, and Mr. Gratiano Mauritio Tomasso, son of Mr. Antonio Tomasso also of this city were joined together in matrimony. The Rev. Fr. McColl officiated.

Park Street Church Notices.

Next Sunday evening the Rev. W. C. Riddiford will commence a series of sermons on the theme: "Some pertinent questions the Peterborough public are asking and their answers." These sermons will be preached in the evening at 7 p.m. at Park street church:

DECEMBER 3rd—A question for dancers: "Would Christ attend or patronize a 'Charity Ball' to help the poor or missions?"

DECEMBER 17th—A question for dead-beats, who will not pay their debts: "Should the House of God be in debt; if so, how far?"

DECEMBER 24th—A question of getting married: "Why is a uniform marriage law a necessity in Canada?"

DECEMBER 31st—A question of councillors: "What kind of men do we need in the council?" K

SOUTH LAKE.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miles and Will Miles are spending the week end at Mrs. Charles Menzies.

Miss Kate Munro spent a few days at her home this week.

Misses Jennie and Maggie Balfour and Mr. Wes. Johnson, spent Wednesday evening at Mr. Charles Menzies.

Mrs. Thomas Menzies spent Monday with her mother, Mrs. Sandy McArthur.

Although the hunting season is over, Joe is still after a dear.

Telephone Hockey Club.

At aspecial meeting of the Telephone Club, held for the purpose of forming a hockey club, it was decided to enter a team in the Mercantile League. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Members—F. W. Doan, A. A. Smith, G. O. Cameron.
President—H. A. Trainor.
Vice-President—J. A. Hardiman.
Sec'y-Treas.—F. K. Spriggs.
Manager—W. E. Brisbin.
Captain—N. Wetlaufer.
Executive Committee—W. E. Brisbin, H. Soanes, F. Plummer and N. Wetlaufer.

It was moved by H. Soanes, seconded by B. Everett, that the colours of the club be white sweaters and a blue band around the neck and a large blue bell in the centre.

The meeting was then adjourned until next Monday night, when they will hold another meeting at which all members of the club are requested to be present.

Too Hoarse to Speak

An American Doctor Tells of the Grand Results Achieved With "Nerviline."

"I had a patient with Quinsy that I found great difficulty in curing," states Dr. Wilson. "Every time he caught cold or got chilled he suffered intensely from sore throat, huskiness, throat and chest soreness. After every attack his throat and chest seemed more sensitive. This patient lived in the country, and couldn't come to the city for treatment. I concluded that the best remedy would be an honest liniment, and because of its enormous sale and well-known merit, I advised 'Nerviline.' Morning, noon, and night Nerviline was rubbed over the neck and chest, and once a day diluted with water it was used as a gargle. In a day or two my patient reported an improvement, and by continuing the treatment with Nerviline he was cured. I can recommend Nerviline for breaking up colds, for chest tightness, throat inflammation, quinsy, tonsilitis and similar conditions."

NERVILINA CURES QUINSY

Not a druggist or doctor who has examined the formula of Nerviline who won't tell you how good it is—why it contains the best medicaments known to science and for general family use has no equal. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. S. Northy, of Selwyn, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. P. L. Allison will receive on December 5th, from 4 to 6, at 191 Brock street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner, Sr., have left for Regina, where they will spend about two weeks.

Miss Ross of the Queen Alexandra school staff, has returned from Allandale, where she was called last week by the death of her mother.

Miss Hayes leaves to-day for Toronto, where she has accepted a responsible position with the Canadian Northern Railway, in their Toronto office.

Kingston Standard: Ald. Armstrong is back in the city again after spending several months near Peterborough. Mr. Armstrong says he had a splendid time.

Mrs. Edwin J. Seawright (Lillian M. Little) will receive for the first time since her marriage, Thursday, Nov. 30th, afternoon and evening, at her home 306 Boswell avenue, and afterwards on the third Tuesday.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 887 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

1—Pain in the back.
2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5—Prostate trouble.
6—Gas or pain in the stomach.
7—General debility, weakness, dizziness
8—Pain or soreness under right rib.
9—Swelling in any part of the body.
10—Constipation or liver trouble.
11—Palpitation or pain under the heart.
12—Pain in the hip joint.
13—Pain in the neck or head.
14—Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
15—Pain or swelling of the joints.
16—Pain or swelling of the muscles.
17—Pain and soreness in nerves.
18—Acute or chronic rheumatism.

pression is yours, not mine, and you know best, of course.

As to your remarks on the Whitney Government, why don't you prove them.

In conclusion, though poor, I am honest, and have the courage to sign my right name to what I write and I quote facts and figures, and prove my statements. I do not merely shoot hot air.

Hoping you will soon get over that sore feeling.

Yours sincerely,
Percival G. S. Webb.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS DRAWING NEAR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—People of the city most interested in municipal matters are discussing with considerable vigor the possible candidates in the coming municipal election.

It is quite probable that a number of former aldermen will consent to allow their names to go before the people again in January. It is pleasing to note that pressure is being brought to bear upon a number of gentlemen to enter the contest who have never as yet volunteered their services in the interest of their fellow citizens. A number of names have been mentioned of persons who would do credit to themselves and their fellow citizens if elected to the Aldermanic Board.

Among those most prominently mentioned are Mr. Robert Kingan, the hardware merchant; Mr. E. N. McWilliams, the hatter; Mr. Robert Jones, the builder and contractor; Mr. G. N. Gordon, of the law firm of O'Connell & Gordon, and many others.

Mr. Gordon is the only one of these who has definitely decided to allow his name to go before the people. It is understood he will run in the Centre Ward, and his chances for election look very promising, as Mr. Gordon is one of the best known young men in our City, having been actively engaged in business for a number of years. He has always taken akeen interest in public affairs, is well versed in municipal law and would be a valuable addition to our Council Board. Mr. Gordon is a Liberal in politics, in religion a Protestant, and is a member of George street Methodist church.

is more than skin-deep—and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSONS INVALIDS PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUSOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:—

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

Yours truly,

Miss Emma Tucker was visiting Miss Ella Brown on Monday, 27th.

Mr. Wm. James, Hubert James, E. Philips & Son, and Mr. Alfred James all of Chandos, who have been in the Northwest for the past two months, have returned home and are not very highly impressed with that country. They report very cold weather and many acres of grain uncut and also many acres in the stook unthrashed, and not likely to be on account of the rains.

Miss Ella Brown has gone for a week's visit to Peterborough.

ANSWERS BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST

Q. Why do school children with good sight, require Glasses?

A. Mainly to rest the eyes. The eye does not obtain its growth until the child is about the age of twelve. The growing eye is taxed beyond its strength; the proper glasses rest and preserve the eyes.

Q. Why do children squint?

A. By squinting or frowning the muscle in the eye is relieved of strain; this is nature's way. Study-glasses relieves this strain, and thus prevent squinting.

A NEW TERROR OF THE SKIES

Baron Roenne Has Invented Invisible Air ships by the Means of Chromium

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE WAR

and Cannot Be Seen From the Earth, While It Can Send Forth Its Bombs From the Clouds—A Terrible Power.

London, Nov. 29. THE invention of Baron Roenne, the well known airship and naval engineer, has invented an invisible airship. Baron Roenne has submitted his idea to the officials at the Greenwich Royal observatory, and they declare that it is based on scientific principles, and most certainly practicable. The way this remarkable airship is made invisible is as follows: Take a white wall and paste a white sheet of paper on it. At a distance of a few feet you may be able to detect where the paper leaves off and the wall begins. At a hundred yards the wall looks all wall. You would never suspect the paper being there if you did not know already. This is Baron Roenne's idea.

Like a Chameleon.

It is due to the discovery of chromium, in fact, that the invisible airship is possible. The most important thing about the metal, as far as Baron Roenne is concerned, is that it possesses a very highly-polished surface. This surface is covered over with a thin coating of transparent varnish. The whole surface of the dirigible, in fact, acts as a mirror, and reflects the same color as its surroundings. If the sky is dull, so is the airship. If the sky is blue, so is the airship. The sides of the keel of this new airship are also reflecting mirrors, and by an ingenious arrangement of them the darker shade reflected from the earth is made lighter The keel will taper to a point and thus there will be no shadow on the bottom of the airship. In fact, it will be like the chameleon, and always like the color of its surroundings. In other words, it will be invisible!

Baron Roenne's new terror of the skies will be as large as the Olympic. The Olympic, if it could float in the skies, would easily be detected at a height of four or five miles, yet Roenne's dirigible will be absolutely invisible, even to telescopes, at a distance of less than a mile!

It is designed to carry four hundred passengers, or their equivalent in cargo, and it will be fitted with fifteen motors developing nearly two thousand horse power.

A Terrible Power.

What this "new sky scraper" will mean in time of war can hardly be realized. It could carry enough ammunition to utterly wreck any city, or blow the world's biggest navy to pieces. What is the terrible part about it, the enemy couldn't retaliate, for it would be unable to detect the airship. The only thing would be to fire into the air at random, a pretty weak defence, to say the least of it!

INTERESTING DEBATE.

To-Morrow Night in Charlotte Street Church.

There will be an exceptionally interesting debate in the lecture room of the Charlotte street church tomorrow evening, between representatives of the Y.M.C.A. and the Charlotte street Men's Bible Class. The subject will be "Resolved that Women are Better as they are, without the Franchise." There is an excellent musical and literary program also in preparation for those who will attend. The program will begin at 8 o'clock. All are welcome. Free to all—Not even a collection will be taken up.

Cannot Appear.

The Times is constantly in receipt of anonymous letters for publication, notwithstanding that we have repeatedly explained that such cannot appear. In all cases the bona fide name of the writer must be given.

NEARLY THIRTY SEATS WITHOUT A CANDIDATE

NO LIBERAL CONVENTION YET IN SIGHT, SAYS ORGANIZER.

A Few More Candidates Are Likely Before Nomination Day—No Word of Any Others in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—With only five days remaining before nomination day there are nearly thirty ridings in the Province where the Liberals have so far failed to produce a candidate, including all the local seats with the exception of North Toronto where ex-Mayor Oliver will oppose Hon. J. J. Foy.

This morning when the matter was broached Mr. F. G. Inwood, the Provincial organizer for the Liberal party, said that no additional conventions had been called to name candidates, but added that he expected to announce several more before nomination day.

In the last Provincial elections the Opposition allowed seven seats to go by acclamation, but it is expected that there will be a larger number this year despite the call sent out by the new leader for candidates in every riding.

The feeling is growing that the Liberals will not contest more than one seat in Toronto, though there will be the Labor candidates and two Independent Conservatives in East Toronto.

When asked this morning whether the other riding associations would select candidates Mr. A. E. Hacker, the local Liberal organizer, said that no steps had been taken in this direction except in North Toronto.

"Will you contest any of the other seats?" he was asked.

"I would rather not speak on that matter," was the reply.

DR. GRENFELL IN PETERBORO'

When Dr. Grenfell was in Peterborough two years ago, the Opera House was well filled with an admiring audience which applauded most heartily the talk which he gave concerning his work. How intently the people listened as he told of his experiences, floating out seaward on the cake of ice—how he had to kill his dogs and get the skins to keep himself from freezing—how simply and humbly he told the story and how the audience cheered at its conclusion.

UNITED STATES OFFERS TROOPS TO CHINA

Washington, Nov. 29.—The United States to-day formerly offered to China the services of 2,500 American troops now stationed in the Philippines to aid in keeping open the railway from Pekin to the sea, and for the protection of foreigners in China, if the Chinese Council of Ministers desires to accept their services.

A RECEPTION TO CLERICS

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 29.—The Roman Catholics of Kingston this afternoon tendered a reception to Archbishop-elect Spratt and the Papal delegate Mgr. Stagni, who will officiate até the consecration ceremony tomorrow. The elect, who arrived early in the afternoon, having come down in a private car from Belleville was met at the station by a procession of clergy, laymen and members of St. Mary's congregation, and was escorted to the palace.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

He crossed over to the cathedral a few minutes later and received an address of welcome from the members of the congregation, which was read by J. J. Behan. The elect made an apt reply.

The procession re-formed and marching to the station met Mgr. Stagni who also travelled in a private car from Ottawa. The distinguished prelate was escorted to the palace.

From there he entered the cathedral, where he was addressed by the Archbishop-elect Spratt, making a suitable reply. At different points along the line of march pupils from the separate schools were grouped, each having a Union Jack and a papal flag, and as the procession passed, they waved their flags. It is expected that Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice will attend the consecration to-morrow morning.

CARDINALS KISSED THE PONTIFF'S FOOT.

New Prelates Were Also Allowed to Kiss His Holiness' Hand.

Rome, Nov. 29.—This afternoon all the new cardinals went to the Vatican and on their arrival they formed into procession, and preceded and accompanied by the Swiss and Noble Guards and personages of the papal court, passed through the magnificent halls to the state apartment.

The newly-created cardinals were then introduced into the presence of the pontiff. Pius X. permitted each of the cardinals to kiss his hand and his foot afterwards imposing upon each the red birette as a first tangible proof of their supreme dignity.

Cadets of the Empire at Toronto Exhibition.

London, Nov. 29.—Manager Orr, of the Canadian National Exhibition, has arranged under Earl Grey for contingents of Cadets representing England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, South Africa and New Zealand to compete at the Toronto Exhibition next year. Invitations to such competitors will be sent by the Duke of Connaught to all Governors of colonies.

A PAINFUL INJURY.

Miss Layfield, telephone operator at the C.G.E., met with a very painful accident yesterday evening, when she slipped and fell near the corner Park and Boliver streets, fracturing a bone in her ankle. She was removed to her home and Dr. Cameron called to attend her injuries, which were very painful. Miss Layfield will be confined to her home for some time.

HYDRO ELECTRIC COM. TO SPEND $1,000,000 ON TRENT SCHEME

Hon. Adam Beck Declares Two Dams Leased from Government Will Give 20,000 h. p.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The installation of the power development system of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission along the Trent Valley Canal, will entail an initial expenditure of about $1,000,000. The water power at dams four and five in the canal system, will have a power development capacity of between 20,000 and 25,000 horse power.

Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Commission, said this morning that the leases to dams four and five having been secured, the Government was in a position to assure the municipalities of the Eastern and Central sections of the Province a cheap power supply.

In the Kingston district by-laws authorising the making of contracts for power are being voted on by Kingston, Brockville, Prescott, Cardinal and Lyns. In the central district the City of Peterborough and the town of Lakefield are also voting on by-laws The chairman of the Commission has no doubt as to the outcome of the vote in any of the municipalities.

How Thousands of Ontario French Children "Get in Wrong" from the Start

There are three hundred schools in Ontario in which bilingual text books are used.

These text books are poor affairs and in the hands of incompetent and unqualified teachers they are just that much worse.

You may have heard Sir James Whitney or have read about him saying, that "there is no such thing as bilingual schools in Ontario."

Her is a sample lesson, page 8, Premier Lavre De Lecture—First Reader—French on one side, English on the other, used in 300 bilingual schools in this Province:

Le chat voit une souris	The cat sees a mouse.
Cours, souris, cours!	Run, Mouse, run!
Si tu ne cours pas,	If you do not run
le chat va te prendre	the cat will catch you.
Voici la souris;	This is the mouse;
Le chat ne l'a pas prise.	The cat did not catch it.

Do you believe what Sir James Whitney says, or do you believe your eyes?

The quotations are from the French-English First Reader. These unlucky French children are is wrong from the start. They do not get a fair chance to obtain a decent elementary English education.

Every year 2,000 French children are added to the population of Ontario. They grow up without a working knowledge of the language of their native country.

VOTE FOR R. R. HALL, and a thorough English education for every child in Ontario.

See the French-English bilingual school text books for yourself in the Examiner window.

GIVES UP LUXURY TO JOIN DR. GRENFELL

Boston, Nov. 29.—To give up ahle of luxury and become a nurse in one of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell's hospitals in Labrador is the plan of Miss Amelia Forbes, daughter of the late J. Malcolm Forbes, the well known yachtsman and capitalist of Boston. At present Miss Forbes is training for her chosen profession in the Waltham Home for Nurses, and when she completes her course she is to start for the North and begin her duties among the Esquimos, Indians and fishermen.

Miss Forbes first became interested in the work of the Labrador medical mission while attending a lecture by Dr. Grenfell, and she volunteered her services.

COWBOY'S LASSOO SAVED MANY LIVES.

Roswell, N.M., Nov. 29.—While a bakery at Clovis was burning yesterday a cowboy's nerve and accuracy in throwing the lassoo prevented the destruction of surrounding buildings, and probably saved the lives of a number of people. He rode his broncho up to within forty feet of the blazing structure, lassooed a barrel of gasoline, and dragged it from the burning building.

Princess Sails Friday.

London, Nov. 29.—Prior to sailing on Friday next for Canada, Princess Patricia is staying with Princess Henry of Battenburg, at Kensington palace. She will likely go to Sandringham to say farewell to Queen Alexandra. She will travel to Liverpool in the Royal coach attached to the ordinary boat train. Yesterday the Princess opened the military bazaar at Salisbury, in aid of the soldiers. Her fellow passengers on the Empress of Ireland will include Mr. Bertram Patten, Miss Olga Schwartz Toronto; W. R. Peacock, Winnipeg; H. P. Holt, Montreal; C. R. Drayton Vancouver, B.C.; A. S. Barton and M. Lampman, Victoria, B.C. Miss Adam will be her lady-in-waiting.

Sagging or Hanging Cheeks and Chin

(From Woman's Magazine)

Flabbiness of cheeks, chin or neck has been considered very difficult to correct, until the recent discovery of a veritable wonder-worker for such conditions. The preparation is so simple and harmless any woman can easily make and apply it. It is all the more remarkable in that its beneficial effects are apparent even after the first application, both as to appearance and the feeling of comfort produced.

The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1 pt. witch hazel. Use daily as a wash lotion. The solution tends to contract and solidify the loosened, baggy tissue, smoothing out the folds, creases, and wrinkles, besides having a refining influence on skin of coarse texture and large pores. As witch hazel and saxolite can be had at any drug-store at little cost, many will doubtless be glad to have this successful recipe.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMMANDERS OF THE BRITISH NAVY ARE SHAKEN UP

London, Nov. 29. — Important changes in the Admiralty were announced last night. Admiral Sir Francis Charles Bridgeman, commander-in-chief of the home fleet, is appointed first sea lord, replacing Admiral of the fleet Sir Arthur Knyvet Wilson, Vice-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg becomes second sea lord, replacing Vice-Admiral Sir George LeClerc Egerton, Capt. Wm. C. Packenham, commander of the battleship Collingwood, becomes third sea lord, replacing Rear Admiral Charles Edward Madden.

Admiral Wilson has been offered a peerage, but declined, while the command of some important home port will be given to Vice-Admiral Egerton on the first vacancy. Several changes in the fleet commands incident to these promotions are also announced.

NOT ANY REFLECTION.

The changes in the admiralty came as a surprise to the public and are evidently the outcome of Winston Spencer Churchill's transference to the admiralty.

The changes are not held to imply any radical change in the naval policy, but rather the development, on progressive lines, of the reform policy instituted when Admiral Wilson was appointed to heal the discords caused by the reluctance of the order officers to accept the reforms.

The new head is a particularly strong one, with three officers fresh from service afloat.

WOMAN WAS ACQUITTED COURTROOM CHEERED

New York, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Francis O'Shaughnessy, who slew her faithless husband "to save his soul," was acquitted this afternoon, the jury declaring that she was insane at the time of the killing, but sane now. Justice Foster, however, remanded the woman back to the Tombs for examination by alienists to convince him that she is now in a normal mental condition.

There was a wild scene in the court room when the verdict was announced. Hundreds of persons burst into spontaneous cheering, which the bailiffs were unable to stop.

They Act Quickly and Always Cure

POSTMASTER TELLS OF QUICK RELIEF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS GIVE.

Two of Them Taken Before Going to Bed Clears Away His Pain in the Back—Why They Always Cure More Serious Kidney Diseases.

Buck Lake, Ont., Nov. 29.—(Special) — How quickly Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve pain in the back when taken in time is evidenced by Mr. James Thomas, the well known and highly respected postmaster here.

"I wish to inform you that I always find relief for pain in the back by taking Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Postmaster Thomas. "Sometimes in the mornings I cannot straighten up for hours, but if I take two Dodd's Kidney Pills before going to bed the pain all disappears and I have no trouble in the morning."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the Kidneys. Where pain in the back is caused by slight Kidney disorders the pain is relieved at once. Where the complaint is of longer standing and the Kidneys are diseased the cure takes longer, but Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail. Thousands of Canadians tell of the cure of Kidney Disease of all forms, from pain in the back to Bright's Disease, by Dodd's Kidney Pills. There is not on record a single case of Kidney Disease or of diseases resulting from diseased Kidneys such as Rheumatism or Dropsy which Dodd's Kidney Pills have failed to cure if taken regularly and according to directions.

"JIM DUMPS."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Readers of the Examiner since the fatal 21st of September, must have noticed the general pessimistic tone of its editorial column—in sharp contrast to the previous marked optimism—a sort of "before and after taking" effect. To the writer's mind the following lines cover the situation:

The sun that smiled on Sunny Jim
Has set. The world is dark to him.
Dragging along in gloomyspace,
The globe has lost the starry race.
Loud bawls from the terrestial ball
Proclaim faw can't forgive at all,
The men who made him bump the bumps;
For that is why he's now Jem Dumps

RAILROAD NOISES PREVENT SLEEP

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I beg to suggest that Mr. Sandy, the popular local Grand Trunk manager here, try and have the train men make less noise during the nights. The shunting and whistling of engines keeps the people who happen to reside near the tracks, awake at night. I think a good deal of this noise is unnecessary and might be stopped.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am, &c.

-Bethune Street.

THANKS TO THE TIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I happen to be one of those unfortunates who was recently forced to employ an undertaker, and find that I have been charged $1.50 for "carriage for the minister", the pastor at the same time riding with the undertaker in an open buggy, exposed to the weather.

The whole matter of funerals and their cost should be investigated, as I am told that the charges are frightfully out of proportion to their cost.

In the meantime it is well to know that the charge of $1.50 is, I believe, always made for driving the minister from the bereaved home to the cemetery, when the latter is forced to ride with the funeral director or walk. I say this is little short of a disgrace. Surely the dignity and respect which is due to the clergy as well as the affection which the bereaved relatives have for their dead would impel the undertaker to provide a cab in all cases for the minister, especially when it is being paid for.

I think the public, Mr. Editor, owe The Times a debt of gratitude for calling attention to this matter.

One of the Victims.

LET US BE CANADIANS ONLY.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—How long is this wretched attempt to segregate the British-born into a solid Conservative phalanx to continue. Mr. Peck may be a very worthy candidate and the local standard-bearer of a very worthy cause, but is it right, is it in the least praiseworthy for men like Mr. Hawkes of "Under-which-flag" notoriety, or Mr. Percival G. S. Webb to continuously din into the ears of Englishmen, particularly newcomers, that they must vote for a certain candidate, or the sun will refuse to shine. Certain Englishmen were told

A Good Investment.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Colonial Investment Company, 437 Homer street, Vancouver, B.C., in which Port Mann lots are offered for sale. These lots are being rapidly disposed of, as they are regarded as likely to rapidly increase in value. Port Mann is the officially proclaimed terminus of a great transcontinental railroad, where railway and steel mills will employ 10,000 men. This alone will guarantee Port Mann a population of 40,000. The terms are such that almost any one is in a position to buy. See advertisement.

TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG

The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL: 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory", Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 26,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,000,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field. The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 400 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 305 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro', or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total isn ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 4,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and no other threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognized that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man well dressed, will talk better, will walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously of course) line up to his appearance, and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come,
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."

Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were but I knew it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George E. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-seas business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th. of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $2,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

RUBY MINES AT DISCOUNT

Nature's Secret of Precious Stone Manufacture Said to Have Been Laid Bare and Big Slump in Prices Is Promised.

Attempts to manufacture diamonds in the laboratory have drawn the attention of the public from time to time, notably in connection with a recent lawsuit. The rich harvest which awaits the successful and not unscrupulous experimenter, and the extraordinary political consequences which must follow upon any sudden collapse of the diamond market and of the diamond mining industry, are absolutely startling to think of; certainly both rewards and consequences would be out of all proportion to the scientific value of the achievement. Yet there is reason to believe that before many years have passed the "synthetic diamond" may be as much a reality as the synthetic ruby is today. But the public will not be allowed to hear of the discovery at once the process will be kept secret as long as possible in order to maintain high prices — and it is pretty safe to prophecy that ten times as many swindles will be perpetrated with the synthetic diamond as there have been with the synthetic ruby. Even yet, although the industry has been in full swing for several years, and all the essential points of the process are known, the general public has not awakened to the fact that rubies of the finest quality and of the purest "pigeon's blood" colour, as well as sapphires, spinelles, and chrysoberyls, are being turned out in quantity from several laboratories in France and Germany. It is extremely difficult to get people to understand that these products are not imitation rubies — they are quite different from the red "paste" which masquerades as ruby in the cheaper sorts of jewellery. The new products are real rubies in every sense of the term, but they have been made by man, not by nature.

APPLES OF GOLD IN TASMANIA

Great Apple-Growing Centre Opening Up in Australia and Orchard-Owners on this Continent Will Have to Keep Awake.

Recent enlightenment has shown that Tasmania, which is one of the States of the Commonwealth, has a considerable area of splendid land suitable for agriculture and fruit-growing situated in the Great Tamar Valley, near the city of Launceston. This Tamar Valley is destined, in a few years, to be more famed for the production of apples than Oregon and Washington, or the Pacific slopes of U.S.A. Cox's "apples of gold" from this district, are among the choicest [illegible] and have been sold in Great Britain recently at over $5.00 per bushel case, after over 12,000 miles in cool storage.

The River Tamar extends over 34 miles; in parts it is two miles wide, and is a great attraction for pleasure seekers. Some of the land here has recently been sold at low figures, but prices are rising owing to the greater knowledge of its value as fruit land. This locality has originally been settled by hardy pioneers from the River Tamar and the town of Launceston in Cornwall, England, from which places the local names have been derived. The climate has plenty of sunshine and no great extremes; in fact, it may be summed up in one word, "ideal"; also the rainfall is from 30 to 35 inches per annum.

The land is being readily taken up by settlers from the various countries of Great Britain, Canada, India, and other parts.

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacterig because it has humps on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of the cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebrates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a young Mark Twain.

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It Was a Crush.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Oh, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 452 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked "B"—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing new Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

ONTARIO'S 1910 LUMBER CUT.

Ontario still produces a little over one-third of the quantity of the lumber cut annually in Canada, but its annual cut, while increasing, is increasing more slowly each year. Ontario's 1909 cut was 17 per cent. greater than in 1908; its 1910 cut was only 7.5 per cent. more than in 1909. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, has compiled statistics showing that 1,642,191,000 feet of lumber worth $30,011,000 was cut in Ontario during 1910, but that British Columbia will be Canada's premier lumber province in a short time. The diversified forests of Ontario have enabled this province to hold its supremacy up to the present, as illustrated in 1910, when the cliff cut of seventeen species came from Ontario. White Pine to the value of $17,743,074 came from Ontario forests and formed 85 per cent. of Canada's white pine cut. Nearly half of the hemlock cut in Canada in 1910 was cut in Ontario, as was over 90 per cent. of the red pine. Ontario contributed over 70 per cent of the hard woods. Of the total made up by 23 species cut in Ontario, over one-half was white pine. Red pine contributed 10 per cent., hemlock 12 per cent., leaving 25 per cent. to be equally divided among the hard woods and less important conifers. To arrive at the correct amount cut by lumber mills of Ontario in 1910, there must be added to the above lumber cut, 1,976,000,000 shingles worth $3,557,211 and 851,953,000 lath worth $1,943,544.

PRENEVEAU.

A number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. S. Munro gathered at their home on Friday evening, to congratulate them on their recent marriage. During the evening they were presented with an easy chair and a parlor table, accompanied by an address. Afterwards a pleasant evening was spent in games and social chat.

Mr. Jas. Robinson of Rush Point, called on friends in the settlement on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Warren, master Charlie and Mr. Reynolds spent Sunday the guests of Mr. Jno. Seabrook.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor of Havelock, were in the settlement on Sunday.

The Sunday School is preparing for a Xmas tree and entertainment in the near future.

HAVELOCK.

A very interesting event took place in Havelock this morning, Nov. 27th, when the new Governor-General, the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by the Duchess, stopped here for a time on his way to Toronto. The Duke of Connaught is the third son of Queen Victoria, brother of the late King Edward VII. and uncle of the present King. He is also the First Royal Governor who has honored Britain's Dominions. His private car arrived here about 7.25 and stayed until about 9.45. While they breakfasted the citizens and school children crowded around the car occupied by the Duke and Duchess and gave vent to many hearty cheers. The children sang some national songs. It was an edifying sight to see the number of townspeople who turned out. The car stopped between the freight sheds and the ice house. Every little while a voice in the crowd would cry out, "There he is, there he is!" Immediately every eye would turn towards the place indicated, only to see some of His Royal Highness' attendants. When the train was pulling out every one rushed to the rear of the train where the Duke together with the Duchess, and her lady-in-waiting, Miss Pelley were assembled. The Duke responded to the hearty cheers of the people by a "Thank you", and the Duchess waved and bowed. The Duchess was dressed in a navy blue suit trimmed with black braid, and wore a picture hat. They were on their way to Toronto where a grand reception is to be given in their honor.

BY-LAW NUMBER 644

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan to execute an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company for the right to use a Highway in the Township of North Monaghan as therein mentioned.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART.

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. AND it is expressly declared and agreed by and between the parties hereto that wherever in this agreement the parties of the First Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Corporation, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns.

3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6. THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with the water tables and drainage, and that the Company will maintain their roadbed between their rails and devilstrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by freshets or fires.

8. THAT it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation to lay down or permit to be laid down in the road water pipes and gas pipes, and to alter and repair or permit to be altered and repaired the same respectively, and also subject to Section 5 here of to grade, alter, improve and repair the road whenever public convenience may so require without cost or claim for damages against the Corporation for interruption or interference with the traffic of the Company or its railway.

9. THAT in case the Company shall refuse or on reasonable notice, neglect to do and perform any matter or thing required by the Franchise or contract thereunder to be done and performed by the Company the same matter or thing may be done by the Corporation and the cost thereof recovered from the Company.

10. THAT the Company shall and will at all times indemnify and save harmless the Corporation from and against all loss, costs, charges, expense, suits, actions, claims and demands whatever arising or occurring by reason of the constructing, maintaining or operating of the said railway or in anything connected with or relating thereto, including the cost of said Townsaip Engineer.

11. THAT each car will be numbered and supplied with a gong to be sounded on approaching and crossing an intersecting street, or in case any person or vehicles shall appear on or near the track.

12. THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for, will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not injuriously affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

In Witness Whereof the said parties of the First Part have hereunto affixed their Corporal Seal, evidenced by the hands of their Reeve and Clerk, and the parties of the Second Part have hereunto affixed their Corporate Seal, evidenced by the hands of their President and Secretary.

3. The Reeve and Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan are authorized to execute the said Agreement in duplicate under their hands, and the Corporate Seal, provided the same is executed by the said Peterborough Radial Railway Company, either prior to or at the time it is executed on behalf of the Corporation.

4. The votes of the electors of the said Township of North Monaghan will be taken on this By-law on the First day of January, 1912, being the same day as the annual Election of the Municipal Council for the said Township is being held, and the polls will be held at the same hour on said day, at the same places and by the same Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks as are appointed and fixed for the said Municipal Elections.

5. The second day of January, 1912, at the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Township Clerk in the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan will sum up the number of votes given for and against the By-law.

6. The Twenty-ninth day of December, 1911, and the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various Polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in promoting or opposing the passing of the By-law respectively.

7. In the event of the Company not constructing the said Railway upon the whole of that part of the Monaghan Road to which this Franchise applies, the Corporation may notify the Company, in writing, to proceed to construct and operate such said Railway over and upon the remainder of the road to which this Franchise extends, and in the event of the Company not constructing such Railway and operating the same within twelve months after the giving of such notice, this Franchise, at the option of the Corporation, may be terminated as to such portion of the road, to which this Franchise applies, not then constructed and operated upon by the Company.

Department of Militia and Defence
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS for the supply of flour for the permanent forces at Kingston, for the period ending March 31, 1912, will be received up to noon of Saturday, December 2, 1911. The tenders should be marked on the upper left hand corner of the envelope "Tender for Flour," and should be addressed to the Director of Contracts, Militia Department, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Director of Contracts, Ottawa, and at the office of the Officer Commanding 3rd Divisional Area, at Kingston.

Tenders must be made on the printed forms furnished by the Department, without any alteration what, ever, otherwise they will not be considered. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable, the Minister of Militia and Defence, for an amount equal to ten per cent. of the total value of the articles tendered for, which will be forfeited if the party tendering decline to sign a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the service contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does nor bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

EUGENE FISET, Colonel.
Deputy Minister.

A Letter From a Prominent Traveler

A traveller who has travelled the continent from Halifax to Vancouver has recently forwarded a letter to Mr. A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway System Toronto, which reads as follows:

"Have just arrived in Toronto from Malcom, B.C., travelling over the Grand Trunk Pacific from Edmonton to Winnipeg and uncolcited, I wish to state that I have made this trip several times, but the above mentioned road for service, equipment, roadbed and speed of travel, surpasses any road I have ever travelled over, and it is a pleasure for me to recommend this route. You sure have a good road."

MUST BE READY FOR WAR

C. H. CAHAN, K.C., A BOURASSA SUPPORTER, POINTS TO OUR HELPLESSNESS.

Peace Not Permanent—In the Face of Prepared Condition of U.S., the Dominion Should Act.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—"The authorities who are responsible for the defence of Canada cannot long ignore the military and naval preparedness of our peaceful neighbor to the south They must, sooner or later, take adequate measures for the due protection of our internal waterways and great transcontinental lines of railway communication," declared Mr. C. H. Cahan, K.C., at the luncheon of the Canadian Club this afternoon.

Mr. Cahan is one of Montreal's most prominent lawyers. During the recent Federal election he identified himself with the French Nationalist party, headed by Henri Bourassa.

"While there has been 100 years of peace between the two countries," Mr. Cahan said, "the possibility of its breach is omnipresent. There are obvious questions of vital concern to both which may arise between the United States and Great Britain that would make war between the two countries inevitable."

Mr. Cahan then sketched the defences of the Dominion at various points along the border, and declared that they were wholly inadequate. Montreal, the commercial metropolis of the country, said he, is "utterly undefended."

Durbar Apparel on Stranded Ship.

Calcutta, Nov. 27.—The steamship Beachey, from London, is stranded at Minicoy. She has a large consignment of articles for use in the Durbar at Delhi. These include the harness for King George's horses, many women's gowns and men's uniforms, and four hundred cases of fireworks. It is improbable that any of these articles will reach Delhi in time for the ceremonies.

Toronto Eastern Railway.

The Oshawa Vindicator, in referring to the above railway, says: The Toronto Eastern was being pushed as rapidly as possible. It is only eighteen months since the charter was passed. Our engineers are going over the route to improve it, and find better grades without lengthening the line and with a better alignment. We believe in making haste slowly. It is best from both the technical and operating points of view. For instance, it will be almost entirely a new line between Pickering and Cherrywood, where our engineers have, without making the length of the line longer than two hundred feet reduced the grade from three to one-half per cent. They are working now between Whitby and Oshawa, and expect to reduce the grades there. The locations in the town, of course, cannot be touched, as they have already been approved. As soon as the best location is obtained the work will start immediately.

An Open Rink.

An open ice rink is to be in operation in the south end, the Rev. Dr. O'Brien of the Church of the Sacred Heart, having arranged for a water service. There cannot be too many of these playgrounds in the city, as they afford a safe and healthy means of recreation for the young.

EASY FISHING IN THIS CLASS

In Filling the Crab-Claw Market the Original Owner is More than Obliging to the Man Who Supplies the Goods.

Visitors in Seville see women carrying baskets full of crabs' claws. The claws are cooked, and people nibble at them, more for fun than for sustenance, just as Russians nibble sunflower seeds. What becomes of the rest of the crustacean, especially, if he is a crawfish, of his tail?

As a matter of fact, the crabfish has no part in the business. The claws are taken from a salt-water crab, which lives along the shores of Morocco, Spain, and Portugal. Each little crab, with its one little mate, has a cave for a home, and, accepting the Eastern estimate of the other sex, he usually keeps his wife out inside the cave, meanwhile staying about the threshold himself and making a brave show with his big claws.

When the tide rubs out, the crab fishers prowl along the beach looking for crab holes. Either the crab is stalking up and down seeking what he may devour, and thus showing whether he has fine claws, or he is still at home, and the size of the doorway indicates the size of the householder. In one case the fisherman cuts off his retreat by blocking his front door with mud; in the other case he digs him out. Anyway, he deprives him of his pincers and sets him at liberty, to grow some more.

Right here appears the quaintest feature of the whole affair; for the crab claw with him, and romps off home without it.

pincers are not torn away from the crab at all. Instead, he presents them to the fisherman, perhaps even with his compliments. It is a fact easily demonstrable that the crab can detach his claw by muscular effort, thus making no hemorrhage, but leaving the stump in such a condition that a new claw is soon grown. The fisherman simply takes the crab by the hand, whereupon it lets go, leaves the claw with him, and romps off home without it.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box containing a tiny bell. Telephone tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Ears are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

BORN AFTER MOTHER'S BURIAL

Gruesome Experience of Woman, Who, Rescued from Death by Covetous Grave-Digger, Lived to Add to Family Birth Roll.

To be buried alive is a fate of which many persons have a nervous dread, which is by no means as fanciful as it appears. Very many cases have occurred in which a temporary suspension of animation has led to a living man or woman being actually fastened down into a coffin and even buried.

Most gruesome was the experience of the mother of Ebenezer Erskine, an Englishman, who was buried two years before her son was born! During an illness Mrs. Erskine was subject to faluting fits, and from one of these she was believed to have passed away. After the usual interval arrangements were made for her interment; and the village undertaker, who also served the community as sexton, measured her for coffin. The "deceased" was duly buried, and there, but for the cupidity of the grave-digger-undertaker, her story would have ended. But a ring which had been buried on the poor lady's hand had attracted his greed, and after the funeral this worthy opened the grave by night and began to saw off the finger bearing the ring. A ringing scream from the supposed corpse almost scared the thief out of his wits, but his humanity overcoming his fear, he roused the parson's family, and the buried lady was restored to health at the expense of a finger.

A similar experience was that of the mother of the famous General Lee, whose sorrowing relatives calmly looked on while she was buried alive! She related that she was fully aware of all the incidents of the funeral, but only mustered strength to make a rattling noise on the coffin lid when the clods of earth began to descend heavily upon it. The sound attracted the sexton's notice, and he hastily broke open the coffin, in time to save her from suffocation.

Geologic Work of Ants.

The immense importance of ants as geologic agents, especially in tropical regions is being recognised. Ant burrows have been found at a depth of four yards, and they ramify over vast areas. The geologic work performed by earthworms has long been recognised, but Prof. Branner believes that the ants and termites of the tropics bring a greater amount of earth to the surface than do the earthworms of the temperate zones and are in many ways an equally important factor in the changes that are going on in the upper strata of the ground.

TEACHING THE DOG

The training of animals, to teach them to perform all sorts of entertaining tricks, is a task that requires talent on the part of the trainer, but, above all, demands patience and a thoroughly methodical procedure. Begin with the dog, and see how he is taught his tricks.

The first thing every dog must learn is his name. Select a short, sharp-sounding name, and stick to it. Never call him anything else. If you have several dogs, the name is taught on the same principle. Divide their food, and then, placing a piece on the ground call each in turn by his name, and give him the food when he comes for it. Send the others back if they come forward out of their turn. By and by they will learn that a certain name is always associated with a certain dog. Ramble among the dogs, and call out one of their names every now and then. If the right dog comes to you, reward him with a piece of cracker. Pay no attention to the other dogs. They will learn very soon; and the first great lesson — dependence and obedience — will have been learned.

Having taught a dog to fetch and carry — which he will easily learn — the next thing is to teach him to go and get any object called for. Place a glove on the floor; then say to the dog, "Fetch the glove," putting the accent on the last word. Then, when he has done this several times, place a shoe on the floor; and teach him to fetch this in a similar manner. Now place both objects on the ground, and teach him to fetch either one, as asked for — rewarding him when he brings you the right one, and rebuking him when he fetches the wrong, which you take from him and replace. He will soon learn to distinguish the articles, when a third may be substituted, and so on until a number are on the floor. You should then go into the next room, taking the dog with you; and send him to fetch any article you mention. After a little time he will bring you the right one every time.

Similar methods can be adopted with regard to other articles and the letters of the alphabet.

The Retort Courteous.

Workers are, doubtless, they who shall inherit the earth. But certain indolent natures, gifted with wit, can afford to take occasional chances as residuary legatees. A writer in Vanity Fair tells of one such fellow, a student in a noted philosopher's class.

The student, who was a lanky youth sat in the rear seat. His attitude was sprawling, and he was either asleep or seemed about to go to sleep.

"Mr. Fraser," said the philosopher sharply, "you may recite!"

Fraser opened his eyes. He did not change his somnolent pose.

"Mr. Fraser, what is work?"

"Everything is work."

"What! Everything is work?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I take it you would like the class to believe that this desk is work?"

"Yes, sir," wearily, "woodwork."

SPECIES USED FOR LATHS—1910.

Within two years, the number of the kinds of wood used for laths has been doubled. This increase is illustrative of the extent to which lath production is becoming an adjunct to larger wood industries. Small quantities of lumber of odd sizes, slabs, and what would otherwise be mill waste are conserved and used to advantage in this way. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has compiled statistics for 1910 showing that twelve species of wood were used in the production of the eight hundred and fifty-two million pieces of lath produced in 1910, worth one million, nine hundred and forty-three thousand dollars. The first six species in importance were spruce, white pine, cedar, douglas fir, hemlock and balsam, which also are the woods used for some time in the manufacture of laths. The remaining six; jack-pine, red pine, yellow pine, poplar, basswood and larch are the new species increasing in importance. Spruce and white pine lathe, the two most important species, show a decrease in 1910 from the year previous, but together form nearly seventy per cent. of the annual output. Some million and a half more pieces of cedar were cut in 1910 than in 1909, and the amount for this species of seventy million pieces made up one twelfth of the total. Prices ranged from $1.25 for yellow pine to $3.18 per thousand for poplar.

New Chateau Laurier.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably.

Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed, work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence the interior decorations. Some of the wood work for the big rooms is in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms, is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully restful.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie [illegible] interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

Spruce for British Admiralty

The British Admiralty has recently placed an order for 200,000 feet of white spruce to be used in the manufacture of oars for the rowboats of warships. It is perhaps not generally known that the superior quality of the white spruce grown in the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the coast of British Columbia, was discovered years ago by British naval officers of the North Pacific station. The kind of timber was found to be ideally adapted for making oars, and it is now used exclusively for that purpose by His Majesty's vessels throughout the world. The timber will be shipped east by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Light from Sugar

This phenomenon, the cause of which has not yet been satisfactorily explained, may be observed when discs of loaf sugar are mounted on a lathe and rapidly rotated while a hammer plays lightly against them. An almost continuous radiation of light may be thus produced from the sugar. It has been shown that the light does not arise from heating of the sugar, and it is believed to be caused by some change taking place in the sugar crystals. The act of crystallisation is known to be sometimes accompanied by flashes of light. The practical bearing of these experiments is on the question of the possibility of obtaining artificial light by methods as yet untried.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

Power For Peterborough.

Peterborough is certainly fortunate in securing two of the dams on the Otonabee river from which over 4000 horse power can be developed. Last week an application was made to Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the lease of the water-power rights at dams four and eight on the Trent Valley system capable of producing 2000 horse power each. Yesterday the Minister, Hon. Frank Cochrane, granted the application in spite of the protests of interested parties who represented

A COMFORTABLE ROAD.

Traveller in West Gives Unsolicited Praise to New Railway.

A world-wide traveller, having just returned from a visit to Western Canada, has written to one of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk System his unsolicited opinion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and how it serves the travelling public. He says:

"I had the pleasure of travelling from Edmonton to Winnipeg on the new line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and I would like to say that of the 7000 miles travelled on railways during my last journey the time I spent on the Grand Trunk Pacific was the most comfortable of my entire trip.

"The road-bed is evidently a fine piece of work, the cars clean, and comfortable, the men in charge were most pohte and obliging, and any question asked of them was answered in a most gentlemanly manner.

"I would like to refer specially to the dining car service and its equipment, which is the best I have met. It was in fact a revelation to me after having travelled so far on other roads—the meals being specially good combined with pleasant surroundings and beautifully served.

"I beg to say that if it gives you as much pleasure to read this letter as it gives me to write you, you will perhaps pardon liberty I have taken in addressing you."

This is but a specimen of the many letters that are being received by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials, praising the exceptionally fine road and service that is now being operated in Western Canada.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

WANTED BACK THE PRESENTS

Thrifty Young Man of Massachusetts Makes a Legal Effort to Recover the Price of Presents Made to a Sweetheart.

New Bedford, Mass., seems to have the unenviable distinction of owning the meanest man who has come into the light of publicity in recent times. He is a well-to-do-young man, and he can now claim to be prominent as well.

For three years he "paid considerable attention" to a young school teacher. He waited too long before proposing to clinch matters, for before he was brought to the scratch a rival had appeared, and the offer was refused.

Although unfortunate in love, he was thrifty, for he demanded the return of the presents he had made. "This," says the teacher, "I was only too glad to do, giving him back a ring a bracelet, a neck-chain and several other articles. I thought that ended the affair."

It did not, for the thrifty young man found that he was still out on presents exactly $29.16, and in order to recover that amount he instituted legal proceedings and had the teacher's salary attached.

The man who can calculate the value of presents to a sweet-heart down to sixteen cents has a soul of about that size.

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked in water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

Not Room for Both

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

BATTLING WITH THE CLOUDS

Mankind Has Been Trying to Fight the Threatening Hail-Storm From Time Immemorial.

From time immemorial mankind has endeavored to find some physical means of preventing hailstorms. In antiquity the custom of hurling javelins and other missiles against clouds that threatened a discharge of hail was widespread. In the middle ages the aid of the sorcerer who claimed the power of influencing the weather — was invoked to the same end. Bells, also, were believed to be efficacious in averting hailstorms. Early in the nineteenth century metal-tipped poles were set up in great numbers in many parts of Europe, in the belief that they would draw off the free electricity of the air, which was assumed to be the chief cause of hailstorms. About 1896 the custom of "hail-shooting" was introduced in Europe, especially in vine-growing districts, and soon became immensely popular. This consisted in bombarding the clouds with various special forms of cannon. In the year 1900 five hundred of these cannon were in use in France and Spain, 2,000 in Austria-Hungary, and 3,000 in Italy. This custom still flourishes. It is, however, open to the fatal objection that, even should it prove efficacious, the expense entailed in systematic protection by this method is in excess of the benefits to be obtained.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

Electrician Dead, Two Are Injured.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 25.—Josiah Johnston, night electrician at the local power house, was instantly killed this morning by accidentally coming in contact with a brass rod while he was throwing off the switch of the street lighting circuit.

W. Kender and J. Swanson narrowly escaped a similar fate when the former attempted to show Coroner Rankin how the accident happened.

Both were seriously burned, and Kender may die.

CORONATION, ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited
154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that most infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diptheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly lessen the danger of implicit weakness. For sale by all dealers.

It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with perfect safety. ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Rare Specimen.

Messrs. LaFountain Bros. hunting party, of Tweed, brought with them from their hunting grounds a very rare specimen of the red deer family and one entirely new to the hunters of this district. It was a spike-horned doe and was shot by Mr. Geo. LaFountain. One spike had been broken off but the other was intact, and about 7 inches in length. Only once in our experience have we heard of a similar case which occurred, we believe, near Cheatville last fall and, if we remember right, the doe was pure white in color as well as being spike-horned.

He Will be Missed.

Peterborough is about to lose another young and popular citizen in the person of Mr. F. B. Hammerley, for several years foreman of the Induction Motor Department of the C. G. E. Co., of this city. Mr. Hammerley who leaves for the United States in a few days, has accepted a responsible position as general works manager of a large engineering company there, where the best wishes of his many friends will follow him. Mr. Hammerley was an enthusiastic supporter of amatuer sports while in Peterborough and was a faithful attendant at ball games and hockey matches. He is a thirty-three year degree ball fan and alover of the art of Izaak Walton. He will be missed greatly by his many friends.

"Sick Man's Friend"

That's the Name Given by Thousands to the Old Family Stand-by "Nerviline."

1,000,000 Bottles Used Annually.

No better known or more popular family remedy has ever been compounded than "Nerviline." During the past half century its success has been phenomenal—due to the fact that it always cures.

"No one could get me to go to bed at night unless I was sure we had Nerviline in the house," writes Mrs. R. R. Weightman, of Bolton P. O. "Six years ago my husband was taken badly with rheumatism, which affected his right arm and shoulder. It was so sore and stiff as to be almost helpless for four years. I read of the cure of James E. Everett, and felt sure that when Nerviline cured a case like his, it would, cure my husband. I got a dollar's worth of Nerviline, five bottles, in Buffalo, and am pleased to write you that the fourth bottle cured. We have since used Nerviline for Lumbago, Neuralgia, Colds, Chest Tightness and other minor ailments in the family and found 'Nerviline' to be the 'Sick Man's Friend.'"

CURED 4 YEARS RHEUMATISM

No other remedy is so useful in the home, so universally employed to alleviate pain and curing the sick. Refuse anything offered you instead of Nerviline, which is sold: Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. By all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Edward's Inventios.

Mr. W. A. Edwards, of Toronto, formerly proprietor of the Crystal Theatre in this city, has patented a valuable invention. As many of our readers already know, Mr. Edwards is a skilled blacksmith and has evidently put this knowledge to good use. He has invented a device to prevent horses from slipping. It fastens on the underside of the foot and is readily attached. Mr. Edwards states that this non-slip shoe is proving a boon to horsemen generally, and is meeting with ready sale. Rice, Lewis & Sons recently placed an order for a thousand pair and another well known firm has agreed to get away with five thousand pair. These attachments sell at four dollars per set and are meeting with especial favour among milkmen of Toronto.

An Exciting Runaway.

An exciting runaway occurred on Charlotte street, when a spirited team of horses attached to a light market wagon, bolted, while left standing alone. They ran up Charlotte street, and when out near the boundary, a front wheel caught on an electric light pole, with the result that the wheel was demolished, and the tongue pulled out, smashing the front of the wagon badly at the same time. The horses continued until they reached the top of the hill where they took to the ditch. Here one fell, hauling the other on top of a ridge. Some men ran out and grabbed one of the horses by the head, and managed to secure them. The horses were severely bruised. The wagon was a total wreck, and the horses will require attention for some time.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Chas. A. Stevenson, is home from Hartford, Conn., for two weeks vacation.

Mrs. P. L. Allison will receive December 5th, from 4 to 5, at 191 Brock street.

Mrs. W. A. Logan, 14 Murray street, will receive only on the first Saturday in December.

Dr. Halliday is in Montreal, visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ross. He expects to be home in the course of a couple of weeks.

Mrs. R. Ruddy, 59 McDounel St., will receive on Friday, Dec. 1st, afterwards on the first Friday of the month.

Mrs. Bolton, 507 Bethune street, was the hostess of an enjoyable party on Tuesday evening, at which some twenty guests were present. A most enjoyable evening was spent in games and refreshments were served. Mrs. Bolton's hospitality was much appreciated.

WEDDING BELLS.

Greenan—Moher.

St. Joseph's Church, Douro, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday last, when Miss Anastasia, third daughter of Mr. William Moher was united in matrimony to Mr. Peter Greenan, of Lindsay. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McGuire, and the wedding march was played by Miss M. Allen. The bride was charmingly attired in a travelling suit of navy blue and black hat with willow plume to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Zeta Moher, who was also charmingly attired in a suit of navy blue, with a black hat. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Patrick Greenan. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of mink furs, to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch and to the groomsman a pearl stickpin.

Mr. and Mrs. Moher left for Toronto on the 5.30 G.T.R. train, for a short honeymoon and on their return will reside in Lindsay.

McGrath—O'Sullivan.

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, Miss Minnie O'Sullivan, daughter of the late Dr. O'Sullivan of this city and Dr. McGrath, the well known local physician, were united together in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Rev. Fr. O'Brien performed the ceremony.

Successful Complexion Renewing Treatment

(Journal of Hygiene)

A treatment for sallow, muddy or blotchy complexions that is always successful is the nightly application of plain mercolized wax for from one to two weeks. This method is sure to succeed for the simple reason that it literally takes off and discards the old complexion. The mercolide in the wax possesses the peculiar property of absorbing the wornout, faded or discolored surface skin, with all its imperfections. This is done so gradually, the skin coming off a little each day, in fine, almost invisible particles, that no inconvenience or discomfort is experienced—and the most careful observer cannot detect the use of this treatment.

The mercolized wax, which can be had at any drug store, is applied the same as cold cream, but not rubbed in, and washed off in the morning. The new complexion produced in this way, exhibiting the true beauty of health, is not to be compared with the kind made by cosmetics.

Beauty

is more than skin-deep — and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anaemic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSONS INVALIDS PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUSOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

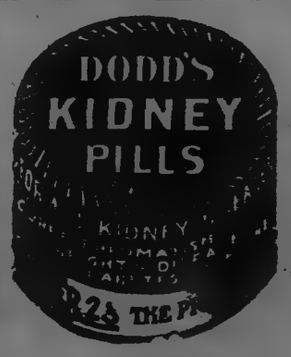
in the last campaign that if they voted for Reciprocity that they would wake up some fine morning and find the Stars and Stripes at the top of the pole, instead of the Union Jack.



and certain Englishmen during this present campaign are probably being told that if the Liberal party is returned to power they will have no more beer to drink. This is a great country, but its greatness is still in being a new country, and, if anything will hinder its growth it will be the formation of such evils as the "English vote," the "Irish vote", the "Catholic vote" or the "Protestant vote." Above all things let us have a good intelligent Canadian vote on public questions, irrespective of race, creed or birth. Englishmen come from a land whose freedom of thought, speech, and action has ever been its boast, and the rise of the great American Republic is principally due to her first immigrants, the men of good old English stock, who did not leave these great Anglo-Saxon characteristics behind when they weighed the Mayflower's anchor and sailed for the western shore. Mr. Percival G. S. Webb may be a clever fellow and a very clever fellow indeed: he may be the ambitious hireling of a political party, an unscrupulous strife-breeder in the guise of a philanthropic vote instructor. If Englishmen wish to vote for Mr. Peck let them do so. They live in a great Anglo-Saxon land, whose law is founded upon the unalienable rights of the individual. But if they vote for either candidate let it not be as units of the "English vote", but as fair-minded Canadian voters. And in spite of the demagogues whose only interest is their own selfish little interest, the great majority of Englishmen will undoubtedly do so I am.

Yours truly,
Canadian.

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

VOL XXXIV NO 277 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SACRILEGIOUS TO PUT A PRELATE IN COURT

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The last number of the "Acta Apostolicae Sedis" just received here from Rome contains an important "motu proprio" of the Pope regarding the censures inflicted upon those who bring ecclesiastics before the civil courts.

The Pope's pronouncement reads as follows:

"Since in these evil times it has been the custom to pay so little heed to ecclesiastic immunity that not only clerics and priests, but even bishops and cardinals of the Holy Roman Church are brought before the lay tribunals, the situation requires of us that we restrain, by the severity of the penalty, those whom the gravity of the offences does not deter this sacrilegious action. Wherefore, we, "Proprio Motu" lay down and decree that any private person, layman or cleric, male or female, who, without permission of the ecclesiastical authority, summons before a lay court any ecclesiastical person whomsoever, either in criminal or civil cases, and compels him to appear there publicly will incur excommunication "Latae Sententiae," especially reserved to the Roman pontiff. And what is laid down in these letters we will to be valid and ratified, all things to be contrary notwithstanding."

PROPERTY COM. AND RUTHERFORD BROS. NOT YET AGREED AS TO SETTLEMENT FOR CROOKED COLUMNS AT LIBRARY

COMMITTEE'S PROPOSITION NOT ACCEPTED.

The Contractors Feel That in the Face of Conditions That Existed, They are Justly Entitled to a Full Settlement of Their Account—They have not Yet Been Officially Notified by the Architects that Their Work on the Columns was Not Satisfactory.

The City Property Committee met last night. There were present:—Mayor Morrow, Chairman Ald. Geo. Duncan, and Aldermen Bradburn, Graham, Morgan and Brown.

The Library Board asked for a supply of additional book racks, tables, chairs, typewriter, etc.

The chairman reported that there remained in hand a little less than $100 of the Carnegie fund against which there was a few small accounts.

On motion it was decided that after the outstanding accounts are paid, the balance of the Carnegie fund—in the neighborhood of $50 or $60—be handed over to the Public Library Board. The Board to purchase their own supplies.

Regarding the dispute between contractors Rutherford Bros and the city in connection with the crooked columns at the Public Library entrance, pending the straightening of which the city is holding $300 of the contract price in hand. Rutherford Bros. were present.

The contractors claimed that it was impossible to make a more semetrical job of the columns with the Don Valley Brick called for in the specifications.

Christopher Rutherford contended that not one person in a thousand would have noticed the imperfection of the pillars had attention not been called to them.

Mr. Thos. Rutherford offered the following grievance his brother and he had against the city; they were prevented from proceeding with the work one whole winter—six months—by reason of the heating apparatus not having been installed at the date called for in the specifications—Nov. 1910. And during that time they had been at a loss through having to retain 60 degrees of heat in the building in accordance with the terms of their contract.

Architect Blackwell in reply to the committee offered that the columns might be improved and made true by being covered with Roman stone, at a cost of about $150.

Ald. Morgan contended that its up to the architects to pay for remedying the crooked columns.

Architect Blackwell could not see it that way, asserting that the builders should be responsible for their own work. Besides, he had nothing to do with the brick work, Mr. Belcher looked after that.

Mr. Belcher was not present being confined to his house with a severe cold.

Mr. Thos. Rutherford contended that he and his brother are suffering by reason of swelling the columns to please architect Belcher. Neither of the architects had notified them officially of anything being wrong in their work; they merely bracketed a resolution to that effect in connection with the columns passed by the council.

It must be understood that Mr. Bogue contracted with Rutherford Bros. for the brick work on the columns in question, and the latter are holding back $150 of the former's account with them pending a settlement of this vexed question.

Subsequent enquiry elicited the fact that $150 would not pay for covering the columns with Roman stone, the scaffolding included.

The committee offered the following proposition: That Rutherford Bros. be paid the $300 held in hand, they to cover the columns with Roman stone; or that Rutherford Bros. receive $150 in full payment of their account, they to take no further action regarding the columns.

Rutherford Bros. refused and left the committee room; they figured that covering the pillars as suggested would cost them at least $150, and as they had yet to pay Mr. Bogue $150, they might as well let matters stand as they are, so far as the council is concerned, and recover their claims in their own way.

No further action wat taken and the question was left in abeyance that Rutherford Bros. may have a few days to consider the committee's proposition as above outlined.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.

ICE GAVE WAY AND A STUDENT DROWNED.

Anson, Ont., Nov. 30.—While students of Stirling High School were passing their noon hour skating yesterday the ice gave way and three of them went through.

One, Stewart Haig, aged 14 years, and son of John Haig, living a mile west of Stirling, was drowned.

Young Haig's body was in the water for 20 minutes, and, notwithstanding, doctors worked over it for some time, they were unable to restore life.

CARD GAME LED TO A MURDER.

Robert Fitzsimmons, Employed in Montreal Vaudeville House, Shot By Companion.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—Moaning "May God have mercy on me and him too," Robert Fitzsimmons, chief usher and ticket-taker at the Orpheum vaudeville theatre, on St. Catharines street, died at fifteen minutes to one on the operating table at the Royal Victoria Hospital, from the effects of a bullet fired into his abdomen by Charles J. Ross, of Ottawa, an advertising solicitor for the Orpheum programme. Ross was arrested at midnight by Constable Marineau of the Chenneyville street station, taken to the station in a cab and later he was charged with murder.

The cocaine habit in conjunction with a quick and violent temper and the ever-ready revolver, are held responsible for the tragedy, which was the result of the quarrel over a game of cards, played in the men's cloakroom in the basement of the theatre.

Death Claims Tommy Burns' Only Child.

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 30.—An Australian cable says that Winnifred, the only child of Tommy Burns, former world's champion, is dead. His mother-in-law is critically ill in Seattle.

Rounding Up the Blind Piggers.

South Porcupine, Nov. 30.—License Inspector Morrison and Chief Calbeck rounded up six blind piggers at Golden City last night. Six convictions were secured, five paying $100 and costs, a P. Fister, who claims to be a French Count, was sent to Sudbury jail for four months, this being his second offence. Annie Patterson, a Danish woman, who was also arrested is to be tried to-day.

UNITY OF FLEET ESSENTIAL

London, Nov. 30.—The Globe in an editorial says: "Laurier's naval policy pleased nobody and offended everybody. Mr. Borden's policy is open to less misunderstanding and seems popular in Canada. It will certainly be well received here. The new Government happily realizes that unity of the Fleet is essential."

FARMERS WILL BE GLAD TO GIVE TURKEYS AWAY

London, Ont., Nov. 30.—As the result of farmers holding turkeys in expectation of receiving top prices for Christmas, local dealers have had to turn down orders for several hundred thousand pounds from western firms, who have since contracted for a supply in Chicago. Dealers claim that now there will be practically no market and that farmers will be glad to give away turkeys before Christmas.

THANKSGIVING MENU OF CHAMPION GLUTTON

Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 30.—Charles W. Gliddeh of this city, who calls himself the champion eater of New England, believes that his Thanksgiving menu to-day will stand as the biggest individual effort of the kind in the United States. He will eat fifteen pounds of turkey, two loaves of bread, three quarts of tea, six bananas and cream, twelve doughnuts, one bunch of celery, ten large potatoes, one half pound of butter, one order squash, two quarts of cranberry sauce, one mince pie.

HAVE SENT HOME MILLIONS

AUSTRIANS, ITALIANS AND JAPANESE HAVE PROSPERED IN CANADA.

British Born Record—Shipped Home Over Eight Million Dollars in Money Orders—The Post Office Report.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The Post Office report, which has just been issued, shows that the Austrian settlers sent home money orders amounting to no less than $2,840,000 this year, which is a million more than the year 1910.

The Italians in this country even beat this record and sent home $2,972,640. The few Japs in Canada must be prosperous, for they sent $868,570.

The "British born" also must be doing well in their adopted country, for money orders to the extent of $8,095,292 were issued, which was slightly counterbalanced by money orders payable in Canada from Britain to the value of $1,372,553.

There was sent to the United States money orders to the value of $8,442,263 and money orders to the extent of $6,647,385 were payable in Canada.

NE TEMERE DECREE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In common with many others I have just been reading with mingled amazement and indignation the latest 'Ne Temere' manifesto of the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, as published in your columns a few days ago.

All Protestants should carefully note the fateful words:

"Then in the Province of Quebec, when we demand that the civil power recognize the impediments on marriage ordained by the Catholic Church, we do not solicit any favor, but demand a right guaranteed by treaty, and by the laws of our Civil Code."

This is, of course, no new statement, but it at last puts the issue before us in unmistakable terms. No amount of sophistry must be allowed to blind our eyes to the vital nature of this issue. The real question at stake is this:

"Is the Bishop of Rome or the Crown of Great Britain to be supreme in this Dominion of Canada?" This question, moreover, is now assuming an Imperial aspect, as involving the inherent liberties of all British subjects throughout the Empire. Protestant sentiment in this matter is daily growing in intensity, and the Roman Church may well take warning in time that the Reformation principle is certain to be fully established, that—

'The Bishop of Rome has no jurisdiction in the Realm of England.'

The rights demanded for Rome are subversive of the sacred liberties of the British home. Let me give two instances from my personal knowledge. I know an Irish Protestant lady married to a Roman Catholic gentleman in Ireland a few months ago by a rector of the disestablished Irish Church. I have seen his certificate of marriage. What action did Rome take in regard to this marriage? The Roman priest publicly denounced the marriage, and the bridegroom was so relentlessly boycotted that he was driven to take refuge in Canada.

Another man, well known to me, married many years ago a Protestant being himself at that time a Roman Catholic. He promised his wife that if there were any children they should be brought up Protestants. Ten years after the marriage the Roman priest began his nefarious work. 'You are no Catholic,' he said to the husband, 'or you would bring up your children as Catholics.' 'But,' said my friend, 'I promised my wife that I wouldn't.' 'Very well,' replied the priest, 'You are no Catholic.' 'All right,' answered my friend, 'if I am no Catholic, I might as well be a Protestant.' And a Protestant he is to this day.

It is useless for the Roman Church to claim that the Ne Temere decree does not invade the rights of Protestants. Facts are wholly against this claim, and facts are stubborn things.

We appeal to the manhood of all

MR. HALL AT BRIDGENORTH

A Successful Meeting Held in the Interests of the Liberal Candidate

Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal candidate, held a very successful meeting at Bridgenorth last night, at which there was a good attendance.

In opening his address, Mr. Hall referred to the discension and differences existing in the Whitney Cabinet over the bilingual school question.

Premier Whitney says "There is no such thing as 'bilingual schools,'" while Attorney General Foy says "that they have no right to exist under the law." The Hon. Dr. Reaume that Minister of Public Works in the Whitney Government said in an interview with the Toronto World (Conservative) that when Mr. Foy made the statement that bilingual schools, as such, were illegal and would have to be abolished he spoke "on his own book."

Then Dr. Reaume continues "you know I find the biggest opposition to bilingual schools is where "people have not got them and consequently do not know much about them."

It is therefore quite apparent says Mr. Hall, that Dr. Reaume flatly contradicts Sir James Whitney because he says, bilingual schools do in fact exist. The bilingual schools have afull set of French Readers upon the back of which is endorsed the words "authorized by the Education Department of Ontario." These Readers are used in 300 schools and have French upon one side and English on the other. These Readers have for several days been on exhibition in the Examiner window and may be seen by any one.

"The reason is quite apparent," said Mr. Hall, that the Whitney Government have permitted 2000 French Canadians to be added to our population during this last seven years, who cannot speak a word of English. They have neither the courage nor the ability to meet the situation. The school law is not being enforced and there is no guarantee that it will be enforced in the future. There is no guarantee that the Whitney Government will devise any system whereby the children in our public schools will receive a thorough elementary education and will acquire a thorough knowledge of the English language.

The Whitney Government suggests no remedy.

Mr. Rowell does suggest a remedy, that necessary training schools shall be established and necessary aid should be given by the Province to insure to every child athorough English education. The French Canadians themselves have the most cause to complain against the Whitney Government because they are being handicapped for life in this English speaking Province and in this English speaking continent.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill also spoke. The meeting closed with three cheers for the King and for the candidate.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

DONALD (in response to a friendly invitation) —"Weel, mon, I never touch whusky, noo, unless I'm at the beicht o' hilarity or the depth o' depression; but I daurnay, I am at present just in the state o' mind that would justifie a bit taste."—London Opinion.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLION FOR BATTLESHIPS

London, Nov. 30.—The probability of a big naval loan in the near future is revived by The Pall Mall Gazette, which anticipates that $150,000,000, and possibly more, will be raised supplemental to the usual naval estimates. It is argued that in view of an increased navy for that country, it is necessary for Great Britain to show that she is determined to preserve the "2 to 1" standard. The provision of the adequate docks for the dreadnought battleships also necessitates heavy expenditures.

14 NEW CARDINALS GET RED HAT AT THE VATICAN

Rome, Nov. 30.—The concluding and most impressive ceremony connected with the creation of the new cardinals occurred this morning at the great public consistory at the Vatican, when fourteen princes of the church were invested with the red hat, indicating their rank.

Unusual excitement prevailed as for four years no consistory had been held and for centuries not so many creations had occurred at one time.

To-day the only person who remained absolutely calm was the pontiff himself. His serenity of mind is one of the secrets of Pius X's influence over all who approach him.

Every available space in all the rooms and corridors along which the papal procession was to pass and in the Hall of Beautification, where the consistory was to take place, was occupied at an early hour.

A MAGNIFICENT PICTURE.

The picture which enrolled itself was magnificent. First came a jewelled cross held aloft by a white-clad figure. Following came a group of Swiss guards in their old-world uniforms of red, black and yellow, designed by Michael Angelo, the men carrying halberds. Then came the Sistine choir, led by Abbe Peroci, singing as they marched, and after them ecclesiastics of all orders, priests in black, monks in brown and white, heads of religious congregations, and members of the papal court, dressed in quaint Elizabethan costumes.

Behind were the Cardinals of Curia about twenty in number, all dignified and solemn. Then followed a detachment of noble guards. Directly afterwards came the venerable figure of Pius X in full pontificial robes, blessing the kneeling multitude as he passed. The procession closed with another detachment of guards.

When all were seated intense silence fell upon the assembly broken only by the rising to their feet of the Cardinals of Curia, who advanced to do homage to the Pope, and then to introduce into the papal presence the new princes of the Church. The cardinals just created approached the papal throne and one by one knelt before Pius X, kissing his hand and foot and receiving the papal embrace. They were then led to the places set apart for them to the accompaniment of music by the Sistine choir.

EMBRACED NEW CARDINALS.

The new cardinals then again advanced separately to the foot of the throne to receive their red hats which were held over the head of each recipient by the Master of Ceremonies, while the Pontiff repeated feelingly in his melodious voice the usual Latin formula for such occasions, after which he tenderly embraced the suppliant kneeling before him.

CROSSED RICE LAKE ON THE ICE

Cobourg, Nov. 30.—(Special)—Two Hiawatha Indians skated across Rice Lake on Saturday. This is the earliest on record for any person to cross Rice Lake on the ice that has been reported for several years. They took a canoe with them in case of accident.

DR. GRENFELL AND D. L. MOODY

"It chanced one night that Grenfell dropped into the Tabernacle in East London, where D. L. Moody was preaching. The Dr. heard the sermon and came out determined that thereafter his religion should be 'practical.'" • • •

Later in Life—indeed before the evangelist's death Dr. Grenfell thanked him for that sermon.

"And what have you been doing since?" was Moody's prompt and searching question.

A BIG SHORTAGE IN BARLEY

New York, Nov. 29.—A condition without precedent in the trade now confronts the brewers of the world. The production of barley and hops has been yearly decreasing, so that under normal crop conditions the world's supply would amount to little more than the actual requirements.

The unprecedented drought in England and Northern Europe last summer had a disastrous effect upon all farm produce and was particularly severe with respect to hops and barley.

As a result British brewers have bought hops and barley from the Pacific Coast freely and as the American barley crop was short, prices have gone to the highest point that has been reached in more than twenty-five years.

The average price of barley malt has ruled during past years at about 70 cents a bushel, whereas to-day it is quoted at $1.40 with an upward tendency. Hops have averaged fifteen to twenty cents per pound during past years and are selling to-day at 50 cents.

Brewers affirm that it costs a dollar a barrel more to make beer than in previous years. In many centres brewers have already advanced their beer 50 cents a barrel.

SAYS HE IS A GRANDSON.

Welland, Ont., Nov. 30.—Clayton J. Page, manager of the Welland Electrical Company of this place, states that he is a grandson of the late Thomas Page whose estate, valued at several millions, is at present awaiting dormant at Leominister, Mass., a claimant. Mr. Page has the old family Bible giving all particulars of the death of his grandfather, and tracing down to lineage. He has communicated with the parties interested.

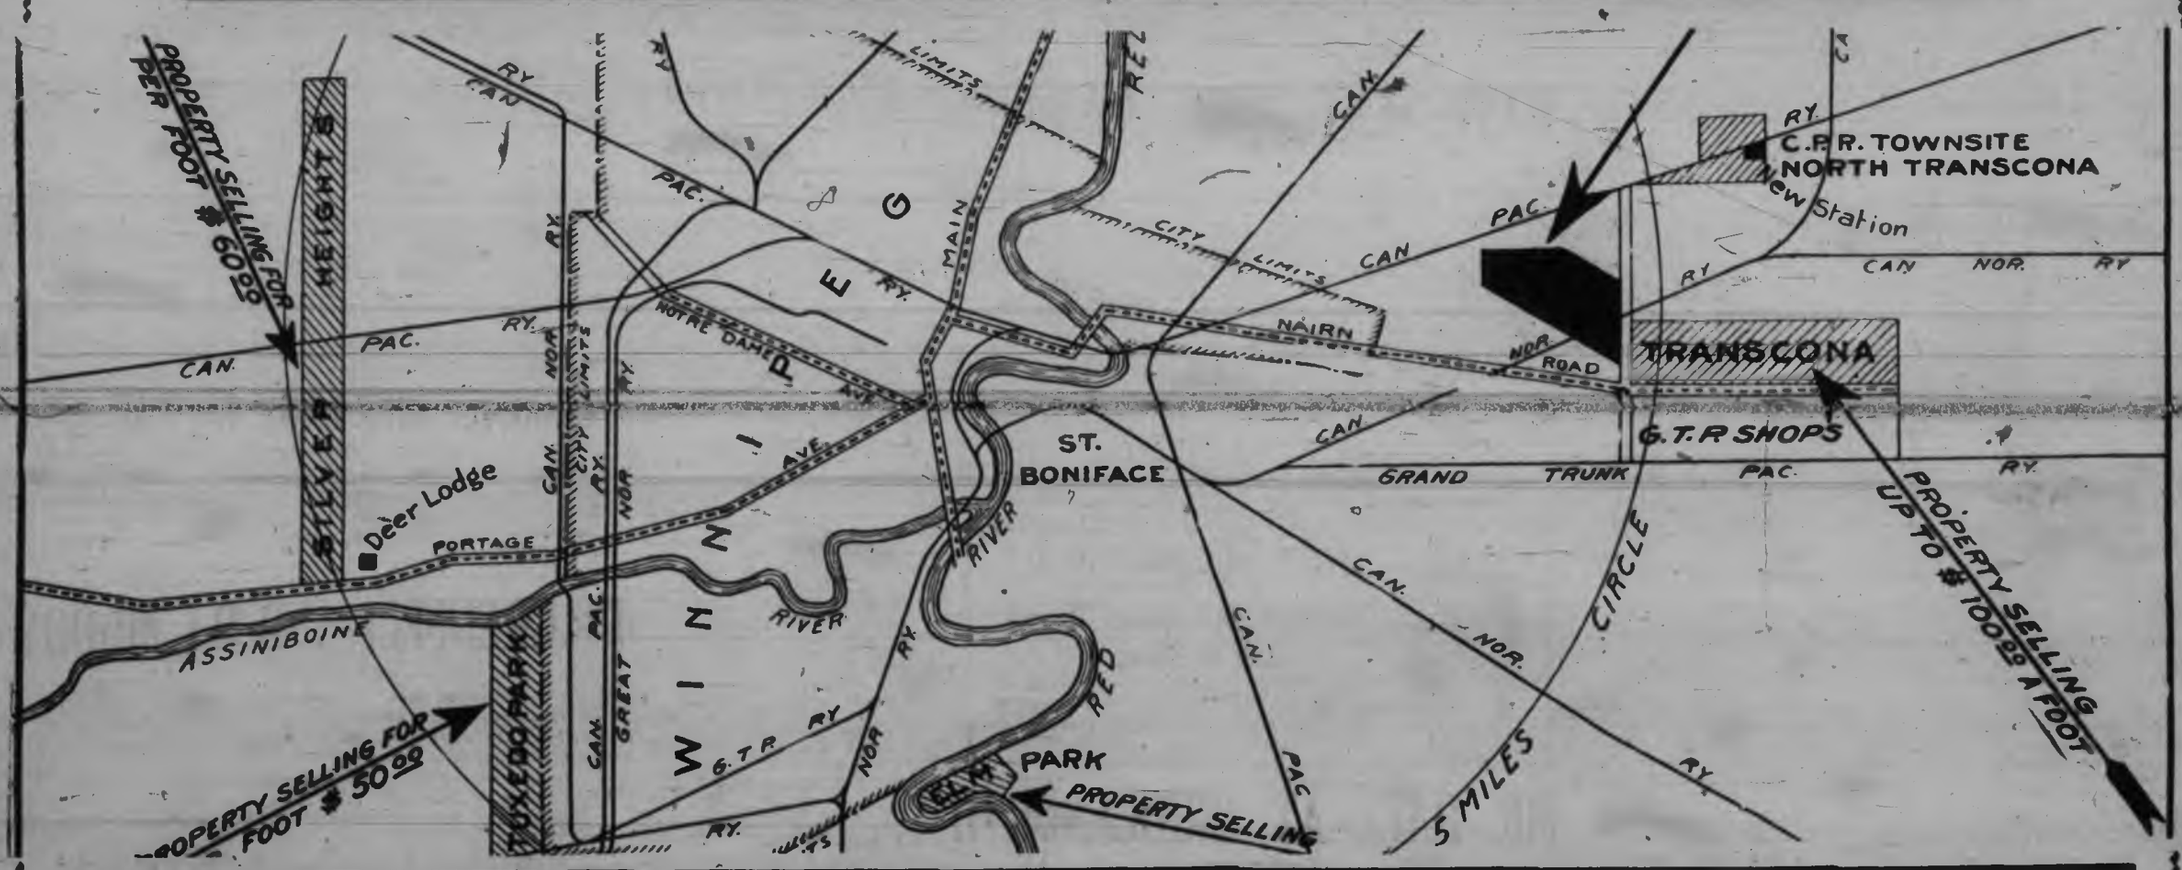
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 8,365,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory", Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field.

The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 400 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 395 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro', or the Grand Pacific Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A canninal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacteria, because it has bumps on its back. The canninal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the bump. The shepherds of the canninals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the canninal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebrates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a young Mark Twain.

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

Bedsteads and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

ONTARIO

Provincial Loan of $1,000,000.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1911, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $1,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st November, 1911, and payable on the 1st November, 1941, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November in each year, at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N. Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

The issue price during the month of November, 1911, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of November, 1911, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st November, 1911.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of Stock or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

C. H. CAHAN, K.C., A BOURASSA SUPPORTER, POINTS TO OUR HELPLESSNESS.

Peace Not Permanent—In the Face of Prepared Condition of U.S., the Dominion Should Act.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—"The authorities who are responsible for the defence of Canada cannot long ignore the military and naval preparedness of our peaceful neighbor to the south They must, sooner or later, take adequate measures for the due protection of our internal waterways and great transcontinental lines of railway communication," declared Mr. C. H. Cahan, K.C., at the luncheon of the Canadian Club this afternoon.

Mr. Cahan is one of Montreal's most prominent lawyers. During the recent Federal election he identified himself with the French Nationalist party, headed by Henri Bourassa.

"While there has been 100 years of peace between the two countries," Mr. Cahan said, "the possibility of its breach is omnipresent. There are obvious questions of vital concern to both which may arise between the United States and Great Britain that would make war between the two countries inevitable."

Mr. Cahan then sketched the defences of the Dominion at various points along the border, and declared that they were wholly inadequate. Montreal, the commercial metropolis of the country, said he, is "utterly undefended."

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total ian ot less than $45,000,000 to -$6,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $913,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, exposing the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man, well dressed, will talk better, will walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously, of course) live up to his appearance, and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet.

An Emperor-Policeman

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."
Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were out I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

AIR CONQUEST LONG STRUGGLE

Berget is of Opinion that the Monoplane is the Machine of the Future.—Present Speed Must Be Doubled to Secure Safety.

The fundamental principle of aerostatics was discovered by Archimedes and formulated as follows: "Every body plunged into a fluid is subjected by this fluid to a 'pressure' from below to above which is equal to the weight displaced by that body." The first application of this principle was to balloons, care being taken to produce a body whose total weight was less than that of the volume of air it displaced. But although the principle was thus applied as far back as 1783, it was not until 1884 that the first balloon capable of being steered was produced by Col. Renard, who accomplished a circular flight in what deserved the title of a dirigible. The reason for this was that in order to steer a body floating in a fluid it is absolutely essential that this body should possess an independent speed, to permit it to move in the fluid of its own accord. In 1887 Col Renard succeeded in obtaining an electric motor of eight horsepower weighing only forty kilogrammes a horsepower and capable of great endurance.

Monoplane the Future Machine

Today mechanicians have succeeded in perfecting motors especially designed for aviation of the almost incredibly light weight of two kilogrammes a horsepower and of such perfect action that they can start in an instant without preliminary preparation. Professor Berget, in his volume "The Conquest of the Air," explains clearly and briefly the mechanical difficulty of the problem and the scientific reasons why it took a century to discover how to guide the machine which the brothers Montgolfier launched into the air in 1783. Next came the problems connected with the resistance of the air, which determine the shape of the envelope for a dirigible balloon. A spherical balloon can not be propelled. So long ago as the beginning of the nineteenth century Marey Monge predicted the necessity of adopting a shape, should an attempt be made to propel aerostats, which should have "the head of a cod and the tail of a mackerel." According we see the fusiform shape in the Giffard and Santos-Dumont, the fish shape in the Renard, Lebauchy and Clement-Bayard and the cylindrical in the Zeppelin. As the result of the laws of air resistance large balloons have an advantage over the small, the Zeppelin (18,000 cubic meters) being the largest ever made, though the shape is against its best interests in this particular case.

The Aeroplane.

The forerunner of the aeroplane was the kite. In a chapter entitled "Application of General Principles," after discussing the wings and their proper angle, stability and the means for its realisation, Prof. Berget pronounces decidedly in favor of monoplanes as against biplanes and declares that the Rheims meet of 1909 conclusively demonstrated the superiority of the monoplane, which appears to be the aviation apparatus of the future. One of the defects of the Wright biplane, he asserts, to be the warping of the wings to keep the carrying surface as horizontal as possible. This must inevitably end in endangering the essential solidity of the structure, he says. Another defect is that it requires an extra action on the part of the pilot.

SOME HOMES THAT ARE HOMELIKE

Children Provided With Playgrounds Are Healthier and Happier for It.

The tendency when building homes in the city is to ignore the sides and especially the rear of the house, letting the windows and openings come haphazard wherever it fits in with the interior arrangement conveniently, but give the front of the house every attention as to detail, making it artistic, sometimes the reverse of this, by an excessive use of ornament which contrasts greatly with the bald appearance of the rest of the home. While designing a home in this fashion can hardly be approved, it is admittedly natural.

When planning country homes, one faces different conditions. The house is not hemmed in between two other homes, with an alley in the rear, neither is the size of the house restricted in any one direction because of lot line limitation. There are no laws requiring the house to be so many full stories high, and set back a certain number of feet from the sidewalk, so that a designer or a builder of a home in the country has no excuse for not making the home as beautiful on one side as on another.

There is no reason why the kitchen porch and entrance should not be attractive, although simple in design, whether it be on a city home or a country home. True the average passerby does not see the rear entrance and in most cases it is well that he does not, but the owner of the house, and his family, whose needs, comforts and pleasures should be most considered, see the rear of the house frequently and it is a poor compliment to them to assume that they are not as capable of appreciating an attractively designed house from the rear as much as the average passerby appreciates it from the front.

Daisy: "Is she so economical?"
Maisie: "Well, she's saving her wedding dress for a possible second marriage."

What poverty is like that of moral penury? When the head is poor, what mockery is money wealth!

Few people regret the times when they were silent, but many regret and often suffer because of imprudent speech.

People who pray on their knees on Sunday, and prey on their neighbors on Monday, need simplicity in their faith.

The essence of all good work is timeliness. For the right thing done at the wrong time is as bad as the wrong thing at any time.

GENERAL MILES PRAISES CHINESE

War Always Unpopular with the Chinese but They are a Brave People but Nothing Can Stop Revolution.

(Special Cable Service.)

In some respects, China was to me the most interesting country I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. In their ancient civilization we find much that we could adopt with benefit, and still more that has been obsolete for centuries.

Ages ago China passed through some of the experiences that now interest or agitate our people. The controversies between capital and labor and the unequal distribution of wealth were problems in which they were concerned thousands of years ago. As a race they have encouraged industry, art, science and literature

GENERAL MILES

Compared with some other people, their integrity has been proverbial.

It was my good fortune, in 1902, to have the opportunity of seeing the different sections of China, as well as visiting the principal cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Taiensin, Pekin and other important places. A marked contrast is noticeable between that and our country.

During my sojourn in that country nine years ago I found the leading men greatly exercised concerning the threatened dismemberment of their country. Ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining spheres of commercial influence, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan had all acquired control of certain portions of Chinese territory, and it seemed only a question of time when their nation would disappear from the map of the world.

China owes her existence today partly to the fact that two of the aggressive powers became involved in war over a certain portion of her territory.

To realize how far the absorption of that country had extended, one needed only to visit Hong Kong and see the formidable fortification defending the entrance to the harbor—the powerful fleet of battleships, the palace of the governor general and the 5,000 trained, disciplined, veteran (English) troops, all under a foreign flag. Similar occupation could be observed in other parts of the empire.

For hundreds of years war and the military profession has been unpopular with the Chinese people. They abhor the first and if possible would always avoid the latter. Their army now consists of approximately 160,000 men, and the government had recently been endeavoring to increase this number to 350,000.

That great empire of 430,000,000 people is now quaking like the tremors of the earth. From the center to the remotest quarter of that vast territory a political convulsion and revolution is affecting all its conditions and attracting the attention of the world. What will be the result — how far reaching will be its influence, or to what extent it will affect the 400,000,000 of the human race in other countries of the orient, it is impossible now to determine.

GERMANY AGAIN AFTER TERRITORY

PARIS. — It is learned from an authoritative source that Germany is negotiating with Spain for the acquisition of territory in Rio Muni, or Spanish Guinea, where it is proposed to establish warehouses and factories. Rio Muni is in Western Equatorial Africa, between Kamerun and the Muni river. A German commission will be sent to Rio Muni shortly to engage in topographical work.

MADRID. — Prime Minister Canalejas denies the statement that Spain was about to sell her Guinea colony to Germany or any other power. He added that Spain was willing to use great moderation in her negotiations with France about Spanish vested rights and interests in Morocco.

CANADA FOR MANUFACTURERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Hon. J. G. Henderson, commissioner of industries of Hamilton, Ont., declared "Annexation sentiment in Canada is absolutely nil," while addressing the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association convention on the subject, "Canada, the manufacturers' opportunity."

"As a budding nation our loyalty is intense and practical, and our position as one of the leaders of the Empire compels us to maintain our tariff wall," he asserted.

The speaker stated that Canada is a firm believer in the home market and that there was no possibility in the very near future of any reduction in duties levied on articles manufactured this side of the line.

Maybe So.

"Pa!"
"Well, Hildegarde?"
"Sawfish live in the sea, don't they?"
"Yes, my child."
"Doesn't the salt water make their teeth rusty?"

Mr. X.—"Oh, I've been doing quite a round of calls, and I've been so unfortunate."
Mrs. Y.—"What, everybody out?"
Mr. X.—"No, everybody in."

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness," of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size 25c, sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

CITIES AND FOOD PRICES.

The increasing suffering caused by the abnormal prices of food in European countries, especially Germany, has prompted the city council of Berlin to take a step in the line of socialistic endeavor which will be watched with no small degree of interest. The city sent agents to the fishing centres in the North sea to contract for carloads of sea fish at the best obtainable wholesale prices. The first deliveries were made last week, when at ten market places in Berlin, the fish was sold to retailers at low cost. The retailers are under bond to sell at prices fixed by the city. The municipal council is planning to open seventy branch markets under city control, where other foods besides fish may be sold. A Berlin dispatch says that some of the smaller cities of the empire have arranged to purchase wholesale supplies of vegetables and meat foods to be distributed in a similar manner.

Some time ago the city authorities of Budapest established a municipal bread factory. It has been very successful, and its capacity is to be increased three-fold. The municipality has also decided to establish a central milk market and to build extensive abattoirs for which cattle will be bought by the city direct from the breeders. In addition, Budapest is developing a large system of market gardens, the products from which are to be sold through a central organization under municipal control.

In France the communes are also taking up this matter of municipal relief from the inordinate prices exacted for foodstuffs. In the United States the manipulations of the trusts controlling foodstuffs have caused a tremendous sentiment in favor of some similar action by the United States municipaluties. Trust extortion is proving a powerful argument for socialism. Despite the activity of the federal courts not much relief has been afforded by anti-combine prosecutions. The combines may be dissolved and their constituent parts become nominally independent, but in reality prices are maintained at trust levels by a common understanding against which the legal weapons of the government seem powerless.

HINDUS WANT FREE ENTRY INTO CANADA

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—An important conference was held this morning in the office of Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of the Interior, when the delegation of Sikhs from British Columbia laid before the Minister and the members from the coast their request for a removal of the present restrictions against the entry of their wives into Canada.

ALL SOLDIERS.

The deputation pointed out that 90 per cent. of the Hindus at the coast were Sikhs and the majority had served in the British army. They claimed that there was no good political, economic or racial reasons why the regulations should not be abolished. They asked that there be a repeal of the present regulations which calls for continuous journey. There was nothing to prevent a British subject of inherent right to reside or travel in any part of the Empire. They claimed that economically they had "made good" in British Columbia as citizens and producers. They said that the Sikhs home life was identical with that of the Christian. They also stated that they would undertake to give bonds that no Hindu shall become a public charge. They asked that the amount required for the Hindus entering Canada shall be made uniform with other nationalities and the present $200 be abolished.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BY-LAW NUMBER 644

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan to execute an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company for the right to use a Highway in the Township of North Monaghan as therein mentioned.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council, the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART.

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. AND it is expressly declared and agreed by and between the parties hereto that wherever in this agreement the parties of the First Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Corporation, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns, and wherever in this agreement the parties of the Second Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Company, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns.

3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6. THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with the water tables and drainage, and that the Company will maintain their roadbed between their rails and devilstrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by freshets or fires.

8. THAT it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation to lay down or permit to be laid down in the road water pipes and gas pipes, and to alter and repair or permit to be altered and repaired the same respectively, and also subject to Section 5 here of to grade, alter, improve and repair the road whenever public convenience may so require without cost or claim for damages against the Corporation for interruption or interference with the traffic of the Company or its railway.

9. THAT in case the Company shall refuse or on reasonable notice, neglect to do and perform any matter or thing required by the Franchise or contract thereunder to be done and performed by the Company the same matter or thing may be done by the Corporation and the cost thereof recovered from the Company.

10. THAT the Company shall and will at all times indemnify and save harmless the Corporation from and against all loss, costs, charges, expense, suits, actions, claims and demands whatever arising or occurring by reason of the constructing, maintaining or operating of the said railway or in anything connected with or relating thereto, including the cost of said Townsaip Engineer.

11. THAT each car will be numbered and supplied with a gong to be sounded on approaching and crossing an intersecting street, or in case any person or vehicles shall appear on or near the track.

12. THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not injuriously affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

In Witness Whereof the said parties of the First Part have hereunto affixed their Corporal Seal, evidenced by the hands of their Reeve and Clerk, and the parties of the Second Part have hereunto affixed their Corporate Seal, evidenced by the hands of their President and Secretary.

Secretary.

3. The Reeve and Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan are authorized to execute the said Agreement in duplicate under their hands, and the Corporate Seal, provided the same is executed by the said Peterborough Radial Railway Company, either prior to or at the time it is executed on behalf of the Corporation.

4. The votes of the electors of the said Township of North Monaghan will be taken on this By-law on the First day of January, 1912, being the same day as the annual Election of the Municipal Council for the said Township is being held, and the polls will be held at the same hour on said day, at the same places and by the same Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks as are appointed and fixed for the said Municipal Elections.

5. The second day of January, 1912, at the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Township Clerk in the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan will sum up the number of votes given for and against the By-law.

6. The Twenty-ninth day of December, 1911, and the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various Polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in promoting or opposing the passing of the By-law respectively.

7. In the event of the Company not constructing the said Railway upon the whole of that part of the Monaghan Road to which this Franchise applies, the Corporation may notify the Company, in writing, to proceed to construct and operate such said Railway over and upon the remainder of the road to which this Franchise extends, and in the event of the Company not constructing such Railway and operating the same within twelve months after the giving of such notice, this Franchise, at the option of the Corporation, may be terminated as to such portion of the road, to which this Franchise applies, not then constructed and operated upon by the Company.

Clerk.

NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed By-law, which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the Township of North Monaghan (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in the Peterborough Weekly Times Newspaper, the date of which publication is the 30th day of November, 1911, and that at the hour, day and places therein fixed for the taking of the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

A Letter From a Prominent Traveler

A traveller who has travelled the continent from Halifax to Vancouver has recently forwarded a letter to Mr. A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway System Toronto, which reads as follows:

"Have just arrived in Toronto from Nelson, B.C., travelling over the Grand Trunk Pacific from Edmonton to Winnipeg and unsolicited, I wish to state that I have made this trip several times but the above mentioned road for service, equipment, roadbed and speed of travel, surpasses any road I have ever travelled over, and it is a pleasure for me to recommend this route. You sure have a great road."

THE TONGUE OF SCOTLAND

Scottish Words Are Now Used Very Extensively in Every Day Use Though There Is No Indication to Make Serious Use of the Tongue.

Such direct imitation, however, is perhaps less important than the passage of many Scottish words and phrases into English use, a process largely fostered of late by some of the daily papers. Within Scotland itself the newspaper press is more Scottish in respect of language than it was a quarter of a century ago; and it is clear that few writers have now much dread of allowing an occasional Scotticism to slip from their pen. The leading weekly papers have long made a special feature of a Scottish column in prose or verse, and have thereby done much to support the humbler levels of a vernacular literature. In special cases these columns are even valuable for the number of local words and expressions they contain, and their frequent lack of literary merit is thus atoned for by their linguistic worth. On the other hand, it must be said that the newspapers have not always been sufficiently careful to distinguish the vernacular from the vulgar, and have helped to lower the popular taste in this respect.

Taken at its best, the literary standing of Scottish is thus in many ways a satisfactory one, and in some respects has been so high that certain limitations attaching to it are apt to be overlooked. At the most, no higher position can be claimed for it than that of a dialect, the use of which is confined to certain spheres, chiefly those which have the closest relation to common everyday life and thought. There is a great contrast here, if we look back to the days when Scottish was a real national tongue, when it was not in any way subordinate to English, but stood side by side with it, as Portuguese with Spanish, or Swedish with Danish. Before it can in any way recover its old position it must be cultivated for higher purposes than it has been in recent times. It is not enough to use it, however correctly or effectively, for the dialogue portions of tales [illegible] descriptive parts are in English. It is not even enough to employ it in poetry, whether of a light or serious kind, for poetic diction is a thing by itself, and affords no test of the practical value of a language. Of any such serious use of the Scottish tongue, however, there are at present no indications.

Kitchener a British Prisoner

Kitchener's ability in disguising himself has given rise to many stories true and otherwise, of this famous soldier. The following incident was told by one who served with the Essex Regiment in a campaign against the Dervishes.

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds, a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request, 'Corporal, I wish to get out of this.' I, of course, reported the occurrence to the Sergeant of the Guard, only to be met with the curt reply, 'let the fool stay where he is.'

I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter and this time the reply was as curt but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again.

As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said, 'Say, Corporal, you are of the Essex Regiment?' I answered that I was and the prisoner said, 'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

'What name?' I queried. 'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the Sergeant. He immediately made for the prisoner's quarters and I shall never forget that meeting.

The dishevelled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops.

Chinese Facts

In China the average rate of wages throughout the empire is about 18c. a day. The labourers at work on the new telephone line in Pekin get 16c. and wheelbarrow coolies in Shanghai $4 a month. The wages of Pressmen average about 48c. a day.

In the homes of the middle-class Chinese the husband's mother reigns supreme, and clubs have been formed among wives with such titles as "Rebellion Against the Mothers-in-law" and "Restoration of Female Rights."

Pekin is often erroneously referred to as "The Forbidden City." As a matter of fact, it is the Royal Palace a Pekin which is the real Forbidden City and from which foreigners, except on very special occasions, are rigidly excluded.

The Chinese, as a rule, are poorly housed. In the towns the buildings are mostly brick with tiled roofs, but many are built of wood. There is practically no attempt at internal decoration. The windows are papered, but glass is coming into use among the well-to-do. The labouring classes live in mud or wattle huts [illegible] or roofed with [illegible]

Durbar Apparel on Stranded Ship

Calcutta, Nov. 27.—The steamship Beachey, from London, is stranded at Minicoy. She has a large consignment of articles for use in the Durbar at Delhi. These include the harness for King George's horses, many women's gowns and men's uniforms, and four hundred cases of fireworks. It is improbable that any of these articles will reach Delhi in time for the ceremonies.

His Original Scheme

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and added his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that—happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark: they could only howl. It was not till they became used to men again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

NOTICE is hereby given that owing to a change in the law requiring a report from the City Engineer, which takes considerable time to prepare, before local improvement works can be undertaken, petitions for sewers, sidewalks or pavements to be constructed as local improvements must be received before February 1st, 1912, to be acted upon in 1912.

FIRST LOVE OF KAISER WILHELM

The Stern Necessities of Politics Cast a Cloud Over Two Young Lives and Compelled a Prince to Desert His Love Who Died.

The touching story of the romantic attachment of the Emperor William I. to Princess Eliza Radziwill when he was a young man and she a girl, and of the obstacles that arose to prevent their union, is related in detail in a book just written by Dr. Bruno Hensig, of Berlin. The stern necessities of politics cast a cloud over these two young Royal lovers, and compelled Prince William — as he then was — to desert the girl he loved to contract a union based on prudence instead of on personal inclination.

Towards the end of the eighteenth century Prussia had absorbed a portion of the ancient kingdom of Poland, and was engaged in the difficult task — still only imperfectly accomplished — of assimilating the conquered Poles, who regarded their German masters with repugnance.

The hopes of Prussia in those days were largely centred in Prince Antony Radziwill, one of the Polish magnates, who accepted Prussian supremacy over his native land in a friendly spirit, and married Princess Louise, a niece of Frederic the Great, after which he was appointed Viceroy of Prussian Poland, with his seat of government at Posen. His real home, however, was in Berlin, and it was here that his daughter, Princess Eliza, who as a Hohenzollern on the maternal side associated freely with the Prussian Royal Family, met Prince William, the second son of the reigning King, Frederic William III.

Prince William and Princess Eliza grew up from childhood together, and it was not until 1820, when he was 23 and she three years younger, that their friendship ripened into love. The first words of love were spoken at a pic-nic in the forest round Berlin, at which Prince Antony and Princess Louise Radziwill and the King's remaining children, the Crown Prince, Prince Charles, and Princess Alexandra, were also present. "Dear, dear Lulu," wrote little Princess Eliza to her friend, Countess Stosch, "how happy, how supremely happy I was with William."

A Shadow

During the next two years the young couple saw one another constantly, but a shadow had fallen across their happiness owing to the degree of difference in their respective ranks, which constituted a bar to their marriage. When Princess Eliza's mother — a Hohenzollern Princess — married Prince Radziwill, her inferior in birthright, she descended to his rank, and their children were not Royal Princes and Princesses, but merely the descendants of a Polish noble family, with Royal blood in their veins.

A marriage between Prince William and Princess Eliza would thus have been a morganatic union, and the right of their children to inherit the Prussian Throne would, according to the "House Laws" of the Hohenzollern dynasty, have been open to doubt. The question was raised whether Princess Eliza could not be raised to the rank of "Royal Highness" either by the King of Prussia or by the Tsar, and the two lovers went through an anxious time, which extended into several years, while this matter remained undecided.

But Prince William was obliged by what he considered his duty to the State to desert the girl of his heart, and in February 1829 his engagement to Princess Augusta of Weimar was announced.

Princess Eliza did not live long after the marriage of William to Princess Augusta of Weimar.

HOW VANDERBILT SQUEEZED

Many are the battles royal fought between the "Bulls" and "Bears." Those who read money articles in newspapers have often seen the phrase, "Such and such a share rose sharply on what is believed to be a 'bear' squeeze." What is a "bear squeeze?" The uninitiated might be pardoned for thinking that the "Bears" must have caught the "Bulls" and were proceeding to hug them. Whereas it is in reality a painful operation inflicted upon the "Bear." The best illustration of it is the classic instance of how a big railroad magnate "squeezed" a whole Legislature in America a long time ago. It was in the days when American Legislatures were rather corrupt. It appeared that this body promised Commodore Vanderbilt certain railroad concessions which inflated the value of his stock. They then formed themselves into a "Bear" clique, and sold it heavily. The "Bears" kept on selling until they had sold a good deal more stock than there was actually in existence. When they thought they had made millions they repealed their grant of the concession. The stock had come down very little despite all the selling, but they thought that when their decision was announced it would slump. It did not. Some of them then decided to "cover." The price they sold at was 75, and it had dropped to only 73. If they could close their deal at that figure they would have a profit of two points on each share. But when they came into the market there was no stock to be had. They started bidding, and the price rose with amazing rapidity to 179. The Commodore had all the stock! He allowed the "Bears" to settle at 179. They lost millions, and he raked in millions as the result of his great "corner."

Brown: "It's a fine thing to have the advantage of a college education."

Jones: "Yes, I've found it so."

Brown: "But you didn't go to college."

Jones: "No, but my wife did."

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

SPORTING COLUMN.

BASEBALL, CHECKERS, FOOTBALL

Baseball Expert Maintains that Football is the Greatest Game Known.

Christy Mathewson, the "Big Gun" of the Giants, is supposed to favor two pastimes in the realm of sport. The first of these is baseball, the next checkers, in both of which Christy is a champion.

But, on the other hand, neither baseball nor the game of checkers holds the highest spot in Christy's esteem. Despite the fact that he has achieved the highest niche in all pitching halls of fame, the Giant star picks football as the greatest game he ever played.

"I'd rather play one good game of football," Matty replied to a query along this line, "than a dozen games of baseball, checkers, or anything else. I'm not knocking baseball: It's a great old game, and has done more than its share for me. But for all that I've never drawn the thrill nor the pleasure from it I used to get in a moleskin suit while hitting a line or taking a shot at the goal in a tight pinch."

JOSE REVERS

The sensational Mexican Feather weight who set the boxing world afire by his string of knock outs until he met his Waterloo from Johnny Kilbane.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

Princeton University is led by Capt Hart, who last year played with a special head gear. His neck was supposed to be broken, but it wasn't. Some of the ligaments were torn. Hart tore the Harvard line to pieces and downed the backs for losses, repeatedly.

Playing beside Hart, at left guard is Wilson, who played with his right arm strapped to his side as the result of torn ligaments. He was mighty effective.

Bloomenthal is the Princeton center. He is built close to the ground and is fast. Phillips, at right tackle has been one of the powerful men in the remarkable defense that stopped Harvard's rushes and forced the crimson backs to kick, time and again.

Ten Years Ago.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Home Market Club Against Its Free Importation Into American Markets Especially from Canada.

(Special Cable Service.)

BOSTON. — Just before adjournment of its meeting here, the Home Market Club went on record as against the free importation of wood pulp and print paper from Canada, and the possibility of the extension of this policy to other pulp and paper exporting countries. The resolution, which was adopted unanimously, was as follows:

"Whereas, wood pulp and print paper have been placed on the free list so far as Canada is concerned, notwithstanding that the expected concessions on the part of Canada have been denied us, and whereas demands are now being made under the favored nation clause by all paper exporting countries for the same tariff privileges which have been extended to Canada:

"Be it resolved, that we protest against this unjust treatment of American paper manufacturers and respectfully petition Congress to repeal this legislation."

Secretary Marvin, after the adoption of the resolution, pointed out that in 1906 and 1907, the paper producing countries of Europe, held by Norway, Germany, the Netherlands, Austria and Great Britain, had a surplus for export amounting to $337,127,000, or nearly twice as large as the entire paper and wood pulp production of the United States.

WOMAN IS AUTHOR OF MOST TALKED-OF BOOK

Mme. KARIN MICHAELIS

LONDON. — The most talked of book in Europe today is "The Dangerous Age", by Madame Karin Michaelis, a Danish woman. The book is an intimate study of the heart of a woman — daringly conceived and brilliantly executed. A storm of discussion has been started wherever "The Dangerous Age" has appeared, for it is not a book for sweet sixteen to read.

Madame Michaelis seems to think that the dangerous age is along about 40.

Newpop: "I have an unusually smart little boy."

Naggby: "Yes, so I've been told."

Newpop (flattered): "Ah, who told you?"

Naggby: "You did, a moment ago."

It is hard to convince a man that the world goes round when he never gets his share.

If the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, of course they should be looked into at once.

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited
154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

New C.P.R. Service.

The new train service over the C. P.R. grain route will be started in a few days. A train will leave Port McNicholl every morning, and run to Peterborough, via Orillia and Lindsay, returning in the evening. This will be a big thing for Peterborough, as it opens up direct communication with Orillia and district.

Power Transmission.

Citizens who imagine the erection of the fine new power house by the Seymour Power Company, at Auburn means that the power generated there will be used locally, are in error, as a 44,000 volt transmission line from Peterborough to Port Hope now nearing completion will provide satisfactorily for the interchange of power between Peterborough and other parts of the Electric Power Company's system and will incidentally feed the new sub-station at Millbrook.

A Big Industry at Campbellford.

Campbellford Despatch: A large paper manufacturing concern known as the Pulp Products Company are anxious to locate at Campbellford and negotiations are now going on between our City Fathers and the company. Two representatives of the company were here during the past week, and laid their proposition before the town council, the Board of Trade and the Electric Light and Power Commissioners. They offer to buy power to the amount of 1,700 horse power (at a price we do not seem it wise to mention at present) for the purpose of running a large paper mill which will cost to build and equip about $400,000.

Children's Chest Troubles

Nurse Carrington Says Her Long Experience Proves the Safest Remedy is to

RUB ON NERVILINE

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a young child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses, and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carrington says: "In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly, sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves, and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home."

A million bottles of Nerviline used every year—this is itself a burden of proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere, and by The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Rev. R. B. Grobb, curate at the Church of the Epiphany, Toronto, has been appointed by the Bishop of Toronto, to take the rectorship of All Saints' church. Rev. Mr. Grobb to assume his duties on January 1st. Rev. Mr. Grobb graduated with honors from Toronto University in 1904, and from Wycliffe in 1906. After being ordained he was stationed in Port Hope for two years, and for the last three years has been curate at the Church of the Epiphany, Toronto, during which time he has been largely instrumental in having secured a new office. While at Wycliffe College Rev. Mr. Grobb won the scholarship for oratory.

Seymour Power Company's Operations.

Electrical News: The new power house of the Auburn Power Co. was put into operation early in November on the completion of the erection of the first 500kw. units in all. The station is designed for the installation of four 500 kw. units in all, three of which will be in operation before the end of the present year. The Electric Power Co. and their engineers, Messrs. Smith Kerry, & Chace, are to be complimented upon the fine appearance of this plant, as well as for the completeness with which the engineering features have been worked out. The power house, with its handsome red tiled roof when completed, will be a distinct credit to Peterborough. The power will be available for distribution by the Peterboro' Light and Power Company, who also obtain 1500 h.p., from the American Cereal Company's power house, thus providing in a very safe and effective manner for the present power needs of Peterborough.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Melville Wilson.

The death occurred in London yesterday morning, of appendicitis, Mrs. Melville Wilson, formerly Miss Jessie D. Buyers, of this city, and a daughter of Mr. J. W. Buyers, C. P. R. baggageman, residing at 217 Townsend street. The deceased young lady was married in Peterborough last December. Full particulars of the death have not yet been learned as only the bare tidings were wired to Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox church, yesterday morning.

Her demise will be sincerely regretted by a large number of friends in this city, with whom she was exceedingly popular.

William Hinchcliffe.

The death of Mr. William Hinchcliffe, of 429 Sheridan street occurred on Wednesday evening. The deceased was in his 68th year and was well known and highly respected. He had been poorly since early in October, when he was taken ill with a cold. He had been employed at the Canadian General Electric Company.

He leaves to mourn his demise his sorrowing wife and one nephew, Mr. Herbert Hinchcliffe, this city.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from 429 Sheridan street to St. John's church, and thence to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nicholls—Branch.

The wedding was quietly solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Branch, Selwyn, on Wednesday evening, of their daughter, Miss Maria, to Mr. Albert K. Nicholls. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Bonner, pastor of the Gilmour Memorial church. The young couple who were unattended, will reside in Selwyn.

Morois—Page.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Davis, Conger street, city, at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, when her sister, Miss Bertha Lavada Page and Mr. Levi Morois, of Bancroft, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. H. J. Keith performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Morois left the same evening for Bancroft, where they will reside.

Billings—Porter.

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at Dovercourt Road Presbyterian church, in the presence of their immediate friends, when Miss Lilian Victoria Porter, youngest daughter of Mr. John Porter, 377 Brock avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Cresswell S. Billings, of Petarborough.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Wilson, the young couple being unattended.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a travelling suit of gray and wore a black picture hat.

They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, which testified to the esteem in which the young couple were held. Mr. and Mrs. Billings left on the 4.30 G.T.R. train for Niagara Falls and Buffalo. They will reside in this city.

Peters—Pearson.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at the Charlotte street Methodist church, when Rev. G. W. Henderson, united in marriage Miss Isabel Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Pearson, 310 Pearl avenue, to Mr. Harry B. Peters of Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters left on the 4.38 train for a short trip to Toronto and Hamilton.

Beauty

is more than skin-deep — and cosmetics and other artificial applications to the skin will not restore personal comeliness.

It is a recognized fact that the pale-faced, anæmic girls in our large cities owe their ashen paleness to poor blood.

WILSONS INVALIDS PORT

(A la Quina du Pérou)

eradicates all poisonous accumulations, purifies and nourishes the blood, restoring healthy action to the skin by sending a supply of rich red blood to the cheeks, thus giving them the flush of health. By its action on the system, it causes the pores to open, the impurities to pass off, and the skin is made soft, smooth and velvety.

Replace that sickly paleness by the rosy hues of health—take Wilson's Invalids' Port.

Dr. J. M. BEAUBOLEIL, President of the Canadian Medical Association, says:

I know and recommend your excellent tonic "Wilson's Invalids' Port." I prescribe it to young persons and to debilitated women, and the result is most satisfactory.

I congratulate you for having filled with the greatest of care a time-honoured prescription, which is approved by the Medical Profession.

I heartily wish you all the success you deserve.

British subjects, both Protestants and Roman Catholic. We are fighting the battles for our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens as well as ourselves. What man, worthy of his manhood, can possibly tolerate ecclesiastical interference between himself and the pure woman of his choice? A woman is living in sin, forsooth, and is to be dishonored, because she has dared to be married before God by a Protestant clergyman to a Roman Catholic! It is an abominable outrage on the very laws of our nature, and will never be tolerated by a nation of free men. Once more, let me cry with all manly men—'Hands off wedlock! What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.'

AN ELECTION TIP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am sure you will be glad to learn that at last the country is safe. Our R.C.. friends have just been handed out the dope, and it is all PECK—No mention of Hall at all at all! No en masse Grit vote in Ennismore this time, thank you—the butter is on the other side of the bread since Sept. 21st. What do you know about that? Wouldn't you like to wear your principles on your sleeve or be able to turn your coat to suit every passing breeze? Or perhaps you value your independence of thought and action too much to ever become a mere puppet in the hands of your spiritual adviser? A man who can't think and act for himself is a poor citizen, and a menace to civilization, and until he severs the degrading bonds that bind, cannot expect to be viewed in any other light by the "free and independent."

Two-and-a-Half.

MOSES SPEAKS AGAIN.

A Reply to Canadian.

My Dear Friend,—Thanks for your interesting letter in to-day's Times. My poor efforts seem to be stirring some of your Liberals up. I notice none of you seem to have any proper names. Have you never been baptised, or given a name in baptism? If you have use it, and don't be ashamed of it. Now, my friend, you like "British Born" and other Liberals seem to be awfully annoyed, because I appeal to my fellow countrymen. Now, most Canadians need no appealing to, as they are familiar with and appreciate the splendid record of Sir James Whitney. The proof of this is shown in the great majority they gave him at the last election, to say nothing about the greater one they intend to give him on the 11th.

My fellow countrymen do not know so much as Canadians know, about Sir James Whitney's grand record, and so I have taken upon myself to tell them. I am the more determined to tell them the truth, because the Liberal speakers and their organ are so unfair and unjust in this campaign. Really, if my countrymen have to rely for their information on the untrue and unfair statements dumped out by the Liberals, they will certainly be led far astray.

I quote facts and figures and you do not attempt to dispute them, you just kick and sneer, but I shall continue to show up the Liberal fake statements, and that is what makes you so sore. As you say, I may be very clever, and again I may not, but cleverness is not needed to show up your party's wilful untruths and fake statements. The plain unvarnished truth is alone required to do that. Why don't your party tell the truth? You dare not, it is against your interest to do so.

I have facts and figures and I can prove that Sir James Whitney has kept every one of his promises to the electors and kept them to the letter. No one is such a fool as to say the sun will not shine or that my country will have no more beer, if (?) the Liberal party gets in power. If I am glad you said if.

Why do you go out of your way to insult my fellow countrymen, by saying "no more beer to drink," do you wish to imply that my countrymen place beer before politics, and that the fear of the Liberals taking away beer, will frighten them into voting Conservative. Is that what you Liberals think about my fellow countrymen? Britishers are as sober and law abiding a class as any other in Canada, and they will certainly not like the Liberals any better for this insulting insinuation of yours. It is entirely without truth or foundation, but there, so are your statements.

We Britishers certainly boast of our country's freedom, but we have yet to learn, that we have any the less freedom here. We have every bit as much freedom here as at home. Then don't get sore, because I use the freedom of the press, to tell my countrymen the truth.

As to Mr. Arthur Hawke, he is such a man as you would love to have in the Liberal party, why don't you get that fine class of men to join you. You cannot, they won't do it, and so in your rage you sneer at them and fling mud (goodness knows you have lots of that to throw), but your childish efforts only do harm to yourselves.

In conclusion, when your Liberal party can show such a grand record as Sir James P. Whitney can, then, and not till then, try as you may, will you get either my fellow country men or their fellow Canadians to vote for you. Canadians and Britishers alike, join in praising the splendid achievements. Don't get sore yet my friend, as you are sure to be so on the night of the 11th. You have the sympathy of,

Percival G. S. Webb.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

Q. What causes double vision?
A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

Q. What is Astigmatism of the eye?
A. Astigmatism is an uneven curvature of the eye and causes a double focus, annoys the brain, and causes headache and nervousness. We make lenses called cylinders to correct astigmatism.

VOL XXXIV NO 277 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HELL LET LOOSE OUTSIDE THE CITY OF CHENTU

Viceroy Has Lost from 1,500 to 2,500 Men and Has Only 4,500 Left

VICTORY FOR VICEROY.

Pekin, Dec. 1.—Consular reports received from Sze Chuen dated Nov. 29, announce that the Imperialists defeated the rebels in a pitched battle on Nov. 27, at Ning Yuan, in the south of the Province of Sze Chuen. The missionaries are safe.

Chentu, Oct. 17.—We are still besieged by rebels. Nearly two hundred foreigners are cooped up in our Canadian Methodist Missionary compound, many of them being workers for other churches and foreign drummers. Well on to one hundred are Canadians.

The Sze Chuan Viceroy's army does not exceed 4,500 men at present, for it has lost at a conservative estimate 1,500 men, and according to the Chinese reports 2,500 men, in deaths wounds, and desertions. Consequently it cannot properly follow up a victory, and when one place gets too hot for them the rebel hordes simply move camp and force the soldiers to follow them. The Viceroy could do something if he had 30,000 men, as it is, he is playing a dangerous game and has to be very careful. The rebels can afford to throw away a few thousand men any time, for there are lots more, but the Viceroy cannot replace his losses, and the troops now on the way from Trianiang and Tsen only number four or five thousand. They will need them all.

HELL LOOSE OUTSIDE.

We appreciate the protection of the great city wall now. Inside all is quiet; outside all is turmoil. Chentu is the centre of the trouble, which is revolving around us on all sides, and if the rebels could just get an opportunity to attack the city again when most of the troops are away, they would doubtless do it.

It is hard for us to realize that there is so much misery right at our doors. The stories that are brought in from outside the city are pitiable. Hell is let loose and rapine and murder hold high carnival.

MARRIAGES RUSHED ON.

A queer result of the times is the fact that hundreds of men who have daughters engaged to be married of a marriageable age are insisted on delivering their daughters to the prospective husbands while they are unharmed, and hasty wedding festivities are the order of the day everywhere. In this time of distress, the bridegrooms are rather reluctant, but the bride's parents are anxious to get the girls off their hands while [illegible] are kept their part of the contract, so the men must line up and take the responsibility of the girl's protection.

The rebels have sent us word that they are going to occupy our college premises outside the city, but that is probably only a bluff, as lately they have been careful to keep a mile or two away from the city.

MISSIONARIES' GOODS BURNED.

I have just seen one of our gatemen at Penhsien. He said that the Sibley's (Canadian Methodist Missionaries) valuables and personal belongings which were moved over to the garner, were all destroyed or stolen when the rebels captured the city. The Sibleys fled after the first riot, with hardly any clothes, and we had to supply them.

Our press is running about half forces, despite wars and rumors of wars. Our telegrams are still carried by courier to Tzechow, but it is now comparatively easy work. Matters might change any moment and be very difficult.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ORDERED TO ADVANCE ON TEHERAN

Persia's National Assembly Ignores Advice of Sir Edward Grey

PREFERS DEFEAT TO NATIONAL SUICIDE

Troops Now Concentrated at Resht, Capital of the Persian Province of Ghilan, to Advance on Teheran.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—In consequence of the rejection by the Persian National Council of the Russian demands, Russia has ordered the Russian troops now concentrated at Rescht, capital of the Persian Province of Ghilan, 16 miles from Enzeli on the Caspian Sea, to advance on Teheran.

FINAL APPEAL TO BRISNIS.

London, Dec. 1.—A final appeal to Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey to intervene with Russia in order to obtain a prolongation of the time limit of the Russian ultimatum was made late last night by the Persian Minister, Mirza Fereidj Ullah Khan. Sir Edward Grey, however, said he could do nothing beyond advising compliance with the Russian terms.

COMPLETE SETTLEMENT.

The British Foreign Minister cabled this advice to the British Minister at Teheran, but ignored the addition to the demands already known that Russia insists that there must be a settlement of all outstanding questions between her and Persia. These are mostly minor disputes but are the causes of frequent friction.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 1.—The National Council has rejected the Russian ultimatum by a majority of [illegible]. The Foreign Minister has resigned.

EX-GOVERNOR MURDERED.

Teheran, Dec. 1.—Ala-Ed-Dowleh, ex-Governor of the Province of Fars, was assassinated as he was leaving his residence this morning. Three men participated in the crime. They riddled their victim with seven revolver shots.

UNANIMOUS AGAINST COMPLIANCE.

The vote of the National Council, which rejected the Russian ultimatum was cast in an open session. A subsequent secret sitting of the members was practically unanimous against compliance. A cablegram from British Foreign Minister, Sir Edward Grey, was presented to the assembly during its sitting.

NATIONAL SUICIDE.

The despatch urgently advised compliance with the Russian demands, but some of the members pointed out that England's advice had hitherto only led to Persian humiliation. They believed that Sir Edward Grey had been misinformed and emphatically asserted that Russian injustice had become intolerable. They thought that resistance on the part of the Persian Government to the Russian demands would awaken foreign attention and lead to an impartial inquiry. Compliance on the other hand would be construed as a sign of abject cowardice and would mean national suicide.

RUSSIA'S DEMANDS.

The Russian ultimatum to the terms of which the Persian National Council has refused to agree, called in the first place for the instant dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, the American, who has for several months occupied the post of Persian Treasurer General. A further demand by the Russian Government was for a cash indemnity from Persia to cover the cost of the despatch of Russian troops to that country.

WILL NOT BE PERMITTED

The statistics supplied by the Ontario Government a few days ago show that in spite of the "Ne Temere," mixed marriages are only too common. The statistics, as already published in The Times, show that in 1910, out of 7,351 Roman Catholics who were married in Ontario, no less than 1,509 married outside the church. That is, about one-fifth of the total number married Protestants.

In this connection the Christian Guardian asks: "Are we willing to allow Roman Catholic priests to cater 1,500 Ontario homes, and tell the husband or wife that loyalty to their marriage vows means eternal perdition?" This assumption of the Romish church is preposterous and intolerable, and will not be permitted in this Canada of ours.

ADJOURNMENT DECEMBER 7

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—In all probability the House will adjourn for the Christmas holidays on December 7th. A definite understanding between the party leaders will be reached this afternoon. Good progress was made yesterday on the estimates and as the Opposition is showing no inclination to hold them up, there should be no trouble about adjourning next week.

NINETY MILLION DOLLARS FOR A NEW FLEET

Berlin, Dec. 1.—A news agency which is sometimes well informed states that an increase of the German navy has been decided upon. It says that the Government is determined to spend $90,000,000 on the augmentation of its fleet, which will be spread over six years. Official circles maintain silence.

FRENCH WARSHIPS TO VISIT CANADA IN 1912

Quebec, Dec. 1.—News has been received here from France that a French squadron of warships will visit Canada next spring. The ships will remain eight days in Halifax, five days in Quebec and eight days in Montreal.

1,000,000 STRIKE IN BERLIN

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The lockout of the metal workers which went into effect last night, has already effected 50,000 to 60,000 men. Representatives of the men who had refused to accept the agreement drawn up by a joint committee of employers and trade unionists, met again to-day with the delegates of the employers to endeavor to reach a settlement which is earnestly desired by both sides. All the works have now plenty of orders on hand while the approach of Christmas and the expense of living affect the workmen very seriously.

A conference was also held to-day of the employers in the cloak and suit-making and children's clothing trades in Berlin, who met the representatives of the 50,000 female home workers and 3,000 tailor intermediaries, who have been on strike since November 23rd. It is stated that there is a prospect of a settlement.

EXPECTS CANADA TO MAKE A NAVAL GRANT.

London, Dec. 1.—The Express, alluding to the rumor that Winston Churchill, as Lord of the Admiralty, is to raise a new huge navy loan, says, "Undoubtedly Canada means to contribute in kind or cash. The result may mean co-operation such as will stagger Germany."

BARNS BURNED

At 2.15 this morning, a fire broke out in the barns of Dr. McGrath, at the rear of his residence, on George street. The doctor was in his surgery when the blaze was discovered. The horses and rigs were taken out of the barn, but the rest of the contents were destroyed. The brigade responded promptly and soon had the blaze under control. The origine of the fire is unknown.

PARLIAMENT HAS POWER TO PASS MARRIAGE LAW

The Minister of Justice Made Statement to This Effect in House Last Night

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, Dec. 1st.—The Government, through the Minister of Justice, made an important announcement in the House this afternoon, in reply to a question as to whether Parliament had power to legalise or validate marriages. The Minister of Justice replied that Parliament HAD power to legislate on the subject, and quoted the sections of the British North America Act, clearly setting forth the facts.

This is in exact contradiction of the statement made by Sir Allan Aylesworth, Minister of Justice in Laurier Government, and is regarded as an assurance that a Dominion marriage law will be forthcoming, that will forever put an end to the present intolerable conditions in regard to the famous Ne Temere decree.

LET NO OTHER LANGUAGE IN THE SCHOOLS THAN ENGLISH

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Criticism, which he termed "cruel, arbitrary, harsh, and unjust," has not caused Hon. J J. Foy, Attorney-General of the Provincial Government to alter one jot ot tittle of his opposing attitude towards bilingual schools. Mr. Foy spoke last night before a good-sized audience assembled in the Home Bank Building at the corner of Bloor and Bathurst streets, in the interests of Mr. W. K. McNaught and himself. In defining his position he reread his statement on the question to the electors at the opening meeting of the campaign on Nov. 20th, as follows:

"My views are," he said, "that the English language should be thoroughly taught in our schools to every pupil by teachers thoroughly competent to teach English.

"That no other language should be taught in those schools.

"That such is the law that should govern us.

"That there cannot be any bilingual schools in the Province of Ontario; and that if they are found they must cease to exist, and care should be taken to make all schools conform to the law.

"I wish to add," the speaker concluded, "that this policy is not one which is in any way unfriendly to any portion of the community, but on the contrary is in the interests and for the benefit of each one of the rising generation. It will remove what would otherwise be a drag on many a youth, in the race of life, and enable him fairly to compete with his fellows on an equal footing."

Mr. Foy then referred to the criticism of his statement as cruel, arbitrary, harsh and unjust. He considered it, on the contrary, in the interests of the children of the men who abused him, for unless their children were taught to read and write the English language, they must be handicapped, and embarrassed, and would not have a fair chance in competing with English-speaking rivals.

Mr. Foy also remarked incidentally that the Dominion Government might be expected to give the same support of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railroad which had been accorded to other pioneer roads by the late Government. The Government also had in contemplation a Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr W. K. McNaught agreed heartily with Mr. Foy in his attitude on the bilingual school question. "It was a racial and not a religious question," he said, "and was brought to focus by Bishop Fallon, a Roman Catholic." After the first book he believed that every child in the common schools should be forced to learn English. Hon. Thos. Crawford, Speaker of the Legislature, also spoke. Mr. J. R. L. Starr occupied the chair.

Hon. Mackenzie King Coming.

The biggest meeting in the local Provincial election campaign will be held in the Opera House on Thursday evening next, when Hon. Wm. Mackenzie King, the former Minister of Labor, and president of the Ontario Reform Association, will address the electors of the riding in support of the candidature of Mr. Hall. Hon. Mr. King is one of the best known public men in Canada, and his fame as an orator is widespread. There no doubt will be a large turnout to hear him.

MR. R. R. HALL IN SMITH

Another Largely Attended Meeting Held by the Liberal Candidate

Zion Hall, Smith, was well filled with electors last night when Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal candidate, and Mr. George A. Gillespie delivered stirring addresses on the issues of the campaign.

Mr. Hall, on rising got a hearty reception, and at once proceeded to discuss the educational system of the Province as it now exists under the Whitney regime.

In discussing the bilingual school question, Mr. Hall said, that it was perfectly idle for Sir James Whitney to shelter himself behind the fact that Mr. Merchant had not yet made his report. Even Sir James Whitney's attitude upon the bilingual school question has become so apparent and his course is so evasive that, even his own strong party friends are ridiculing his position. The Toronto World, (Conservative) cartooned him as sitting at his desk in a temper, pounding the desk and saying in one breath "there are no bilingual schools" and then in the next one saying that "Dr. Merchant has not had time to get round them all and make his report."

"What has the Minister of Education been doing?", asked Mr. Hall. It is ridiculous to suppose that the public school inspectors have not been doing their duty. The fact of the matter is that the public school inspectors have been doing their duty and have been making reports to the Minister of Education regularly. These reports also show that bilingual readers are used in these schools which have French on one side and English on the other, and on the back of every book is written the words "authorized by the Education Department of Ontario."

If Sir James Whitney's Government were doing their duty then how does it come, asked Mr. Hall, that 15,000 French Canadians have been added to our population during the last seven years who cannot speak a single word of English? How does it come that in many bilingual schools neither the teachers themselves nor the children can speak a single word of English?

The neglect of the Whitney Government has been nothing short of criminal. "It is a burning shame," declared Mr. Hall, "that in our enlightened Ontario that the French Canadian people are being deprived of acquiring any knowledge of the English language in this English speaking Province. The French Canadians are the chief sufferers because they are deprived of taking an effective part in the trade and commerce of this country and of this continent, on account of the fact that they have no knowledge of English.

Sir James Whitney prescribes no remedy. In my election address, I have pledged myself that necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent teachers for every school section in every part of the Province, so that every child in the Province should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

Mr. George A. Gillespie, in his speech, covered the other issues of the campaign, which he dealt with in a vigorous manner.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers for the candidate and the King.

A. Ligotti of Roman Bar Will Interrogate Him as to Business Transactions.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 1.—The appointment of A. Ligotti, of the Roman Bar, to a commissionership, by which he is authorized to interrogate Mgr. Sbaretti with regard to the business transactions which took place in the case of Le Petit Seminaire De St. Marie De Monnoir vs. Edwards, is the latest development in the proceedings which have grown out of a clash between civil and religious authority.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that Mgr. Sbaretti, in his capacity of papal delegate, altered the character of the corporation of the college and with the result that loss to the plaintiff ensued.

The ruling of Mr. Justice Bruneau is that questions shall be put to Mgr. Sbaretti, who is now in Rome, in order that his exact position in the matter may be determined.

CHINA TERMED BOILING GLACIER

Mr. J. A. Jones Interviewed by The Times

JUST BACK FROM CHINA

Interesting Talk on China — Great Mistake Was Made When Manchus Were Invited to Enter Empire — What the Outcome is Likely to be

THE Times had the pleasure of a call from Mr. A. F. Jones, who has just returned from China, and who is visiting his brother-in-law Mr. Frank Weldon, of this city, for a few days. In discussing China he said:

"The glacier had moved and melted with Alpine slowness for centuries, and now it has astounded the world by suddenly taking on the characteristics of boiling water. The Chinese race, having behaved like a glacier for ages, has become steam under high pressure, and is doing more business in 24 hours than it has before done in 2400 years."

"What we need in Canada to understand the situation is a background of facts," he said.

"We talk of the 'Chinese race.' But the term 'Chinese' is not a race term. It is a term of reference to the civilization which has been developed there. The Chinese are the peoples who have been influenced by Chinese civilization and include many races. Far back of the time to which we assign the beginning of the Roman Empire, and that was 750 years before Christ, we know the Chinese were going on their slow glacierlike way.

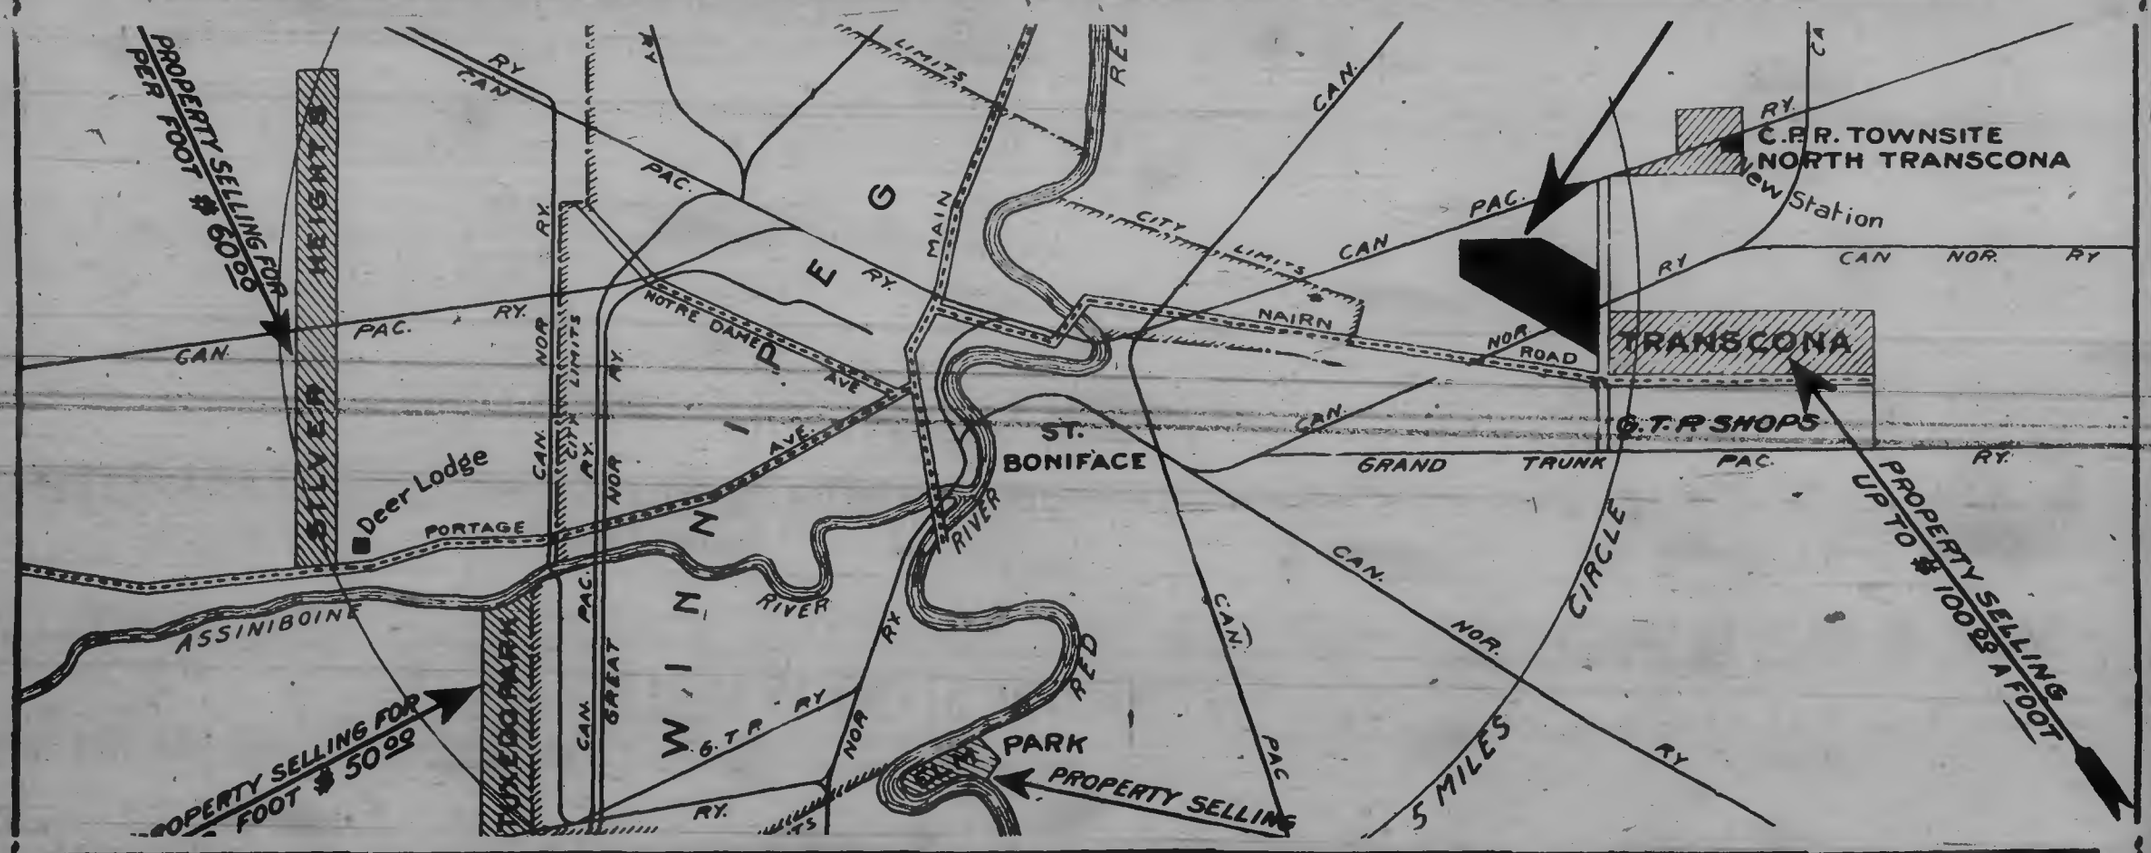
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturing, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

IMMENSE NEW GAS WELL AT BOW ISLAND

DAILY PRODUCTION OF NEW WELL 5,000,000 CUBIC FEET.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the opening of another new [illegible] gas well at Bow Island, which is producing natural gas at the rate of 5,000,000 cubic ft. every 24 hours. Attention was first attracted to Bow Island when the gas well, known as "Old Glory," was discovered. At the time of its discovery, "Old Glory", with its daily production of 8,500,000 cubic feet of gas, was the largest natural gas well on the American Continent. But in addition to "Old Glory", Bow Island has four other gas wells, one of which is producing 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The opening of this new gas well gives Bow Island a daily production of 61,365,000 cubic feet of gas every 24 hours and the distinction of being the world's greatest natural gas field.

The Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., which controls the Bow Island gas field, and in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is understood to be interested, is to supply natural gas to Calgary and the work of piping the gas from Bow Island to Calgary is now under way.

In its enormous supply of natural gas, Bow Island, with its practically unlimited supply of cheap fuel, will be able to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers and it is generally conceded that Bow Island will become an important manufacturing centre. The town, although less than two years' old, already has a population of 600 and presents to the eye of the visitor a scene of remarkable activity and development.

The Grand Prairie Land Co., Limited, with head offices in Winnipeg, Man., controls a part of the townsite of Bow Island and has appointed Geo. Ruth & Co., 305 Water St., Peterboro', as its exclusive Peterboro' representative for the sale of Bow Island lots. Complete information as to the World's Greatest Natural Gas Field and the opportunities for profitable investment in Bow Island may be had by calling upon or writing Geo. Ruth & Co., at Peterboro' or the Grand Prairie Land Co., Limited, at Winnipeg.

Provincial Loan of $1,000,000.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1911, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $1,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st November, 1911, and payable on the 1st November, 1941, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November in each year, at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N. Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

The issue price during the month of November, 1911, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of November, 1911, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st November, 1911.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of Stock or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

"To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago adopted the ban of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

POWER OF CO-OPERATION.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together, To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation begged him to put a tongue into his mouth. But nothing was left of the meat. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he fashioned a tongue for the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 32 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,643.63, has been invested at 4 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,323,000 to £145,319,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £18,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one million pounds sterling on naval defence.

What poverty is like that of moral penury? When the head is poor, what mockery is money wealth!

Few people regret the times when they were silent, but many regret and often suffer because of imprudent speech.

People who pray on their knees on Sunday, and prey on their neighbors on Monday, need simplicity in their faith.

The essence of all good work is timeliness. For the right thing done at the wrong time is as bad as the wrong thing at any time.

FACTS AND FALLACIES ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS.

A Child May be Born with a Tendency to Consumption, but Proper Care is Taken It May be Overcome.

Although there are many things that we do not know about consumption or tuberculosis, there are some that we do and a few that we are in the act of learning.

We do not know, for example, what makes for susceptibility and what for immunity. Strong and robust persons are sometimes stricken down with it; invalids and convalescents from other diseases are no more susceptible to it than are other people, and it is possible to live for an entire lifetime in the condition known as "run-down" or "weak" without becoming tuberculosis.

People, says a writer, still speak of consumption as "inherited," but it is not inherited. A child may be born with a certain tendency to it, but if proper measures are taken early, and kept up steadily and long enough, the tendency can be overcome. A child whose parents before him, and their parents before them, perhaps for generations back have been poor breathers, will probably inherit a small, meagre chest, and will therefore be the natural victim of the consumption germ as soon as it reaches him. That child will have to be taught to breathe. The tendency to pigeon-breast can be overcome and a narrow chest developed to a normal capacity; but to do this, the child must be kept constantly in good air, and taught how to develop and use the lungs. A person-breasted child who is being brought up on the coddling process—oversheltered, overfed and overclothed—is in as much danger as if he lived under the famous sword hanging from a hair.

WATER CARRIERS IN PARIS.

In the Modern Babylon Water is Still Brought in the Old-fashioned Way.

Paris is rich in contrasts, and sometimes the irony is charming. In the height of fashion to-day is still to be seen the picturesque water-carrier, and the scarcity due to the drought once more calls attention to his existence. On the heights of Montmartre are to be seen these robust Auvergnes, marching with their measured steps—and, by a fiction, the Paris water-carrier must always be an Auvergnat—with his two buckets. The extension of the water system has gone hard with the "porter d'eau," who in days past made a fairly good living. In 1860 there were 1,253 porters; in 1880 the number had fallen to 800; and to-day there are few indeed. A barrel of water contains about 1,000 litres, and its market value is about five francs. Like most other occupations in France, the water-carrier was under State or police supervision, and each night he had to fill his barrel and place it in the district he worked, so as to be ready in case of fire, but the supervision has fallen into desuetude.

Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into an wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years old before it is 30 days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

Good Eggless Doughnuts

Two cupfuls of warm mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, five level teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick. Fry in hot grease. The potatoes keep the doughnuts soft and they keep fresh much longer than those made with eggs.

The first camera-obscura was invented by Giambattista Della Porta, an Italian philosopher, during the latter half of the sixteenth century.

Sciatica

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, one tablet with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

CURED SIX YEARS.

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1911.

BRITISH LABOR PUZZLE.

"To strike or not to strike? The question is being earnestly revolved by British labor leaders of extreme views; but latest reports indicate a general disposition to wait at least for the result of the recommendations of the royal commission which recently investigated the railway situation. It was not to be expected that the recommendations of the commission would go so far as to satisfy the extremist element. That element complains that recognition is refused.

It all depends on what one means by recognition. What the syndicalist means is exclusion from employment of all but union members. The commission could not go so far. The law knows no distinction between union and non-union men.

But recognition of a sort to satisfy reasonable men is distinctly favored by the commission. It is proposed that workmen shall be represented on the conciliation boards by a secretary who shall not necessarily be a fellow-employe. This means, of course, that union workmen will be represented by a union official. That is the recognition the companies have been fighting, and, if it is conceded, it will be a real concession.

One guarantee against a renewal of the conditions that threatened Britain with famine in the midst of plenty last summer, is the consciousness on the part of the workingmen that, if they go out, public sentiment will be against them. So strong, indeed, is the feeling that the country must not be exposed to peril by the suspension of railway traffic that the government is considering legislation which will take from the railway employe the right to strike under any circumstances, compensating him for this abridgment of his liberty by special provisions respecting pay and treatment.

Another consideration which weighs with the sensible workingman is the practical certainty that his position is about to be improved. Judged by any fair standard, the wages of the British railway employe are too low. He will get an increase soon; but it will be at the expense of the public, for Parliament will authorize the railways to raise their maximum charges. It is said that the British public is willing to pay higher railway charges as the price of industrial peace. If so, all should be well.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Football Only Played by Nobles

"The Festival called Tanabata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked twig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionised the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution have produced the crisis of to-day, the first is the absolute segregation of the Chinese through these centuries. It has not been relative but absolute. They were shut in by mountains and their water craft were not adapted for long voyages. So nobody came and nobody went.

China Termed a Boiling Glacier

"Also the evolution of the Chinese has been slow. But all the time there has been evolution. Historians have looked and said, 'Why, they've always been doing these things.' But there was a time when they had no rice, no tea, no cotton, no silk, no kites, no queues, no foot-binding, no pagodas and no priests. Ask why they have not moved faster and the answer must be because they moved from within only.

"China would go on slowly developing as before. But the whole civilized world is at her door, saying, 'Well develop; we'll give you until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Hurry up with your revolution.

"At the top of the list of predisposing causes should be placed the Chinese high conception of moral duty. After all has been said, the Chinese are like other peoples; they are moved by the same affections, they have the same mental and moral processes. There is no great and radical difference between the east and the west; it is all a matter of environment and evolution."

Mr. Weldon spoke of the Chinese struggle to preserve their seclusion, and of the mistake made when the Manchus 467 years ago were invited to enter the empire and of the establishment, in consequence of this peaceful conquest, of the present Manchu dynasty, whose overthrow seems to be one of the great events of the present revolution.

Mr. Weldon says that out of the present chaos will come a high standard of civilization.

The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Was Incorporated Under the Laws of Manitoba by Special Act of the Legislature Assented to March 24th, 1911, With a Capitalization of

One Million Dollars ($1,000,000)

Divided Into Ten Thousand Shares of $100.00 Each, With Power to Increase the Capital to Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000), for the Purpose of Carrying on a Trust and Agency Business in All Its Branches, as Clearly Set Forth in the Company's Special Act of Incorporation, and as Hereinafter Dealt With in This Prospectus.

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a definite rate of interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are :—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed :—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	30	750.00	270.00
5	125.00	45.00	40	1000.00	360.00
10	250.00	90.00	50	1250.00	450.00
15	375.00	135.00	100	2500.00	900.00
20	500.00	180.00	200	5000.00	1800.00
25	625.00	225.00	300	7500.00	2700.00

Table showing total purchase price of the following number of shares at the price of $115.00 per share :—

No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price	No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price
1	$ 115.00	30	3450.00
5	575.00	40	4600.00
10	1150.00	50	5750.00
15	1725.00	100	11500.00
20	2300.00	200	23000.00
25	2875.00	300	34500.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from :

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies :—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.c.	Per ct. value per share	Per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap	Total assets and trust funds under control	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14½	*	25.33	$43,525,705	13
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	$ 600,000	8	100	17.00	41,691,297	29
National Trust Co., Toronto	1,500,000	1,000,000	1,200,000	10	200	13.77	24,087,110	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	600,000	10	120	19.44	12,415,147	10
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg	500,000	500,000	140,000	8	100	30.40	5,133,158	8
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg	1,500,000	1,200,913	133,100	7	120	12.30	6,191,724	6

These shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $300 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of very desirable business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this Canadian company the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Do not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

ILLUSTRATION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

The United States Government is Running Depar ment Stores, Hotels and a Steamship Line in Panama.

The United States government, as everybody knows, is engaged in building as a public enterprise, a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. What the world does not generally understand is that as part of this operation the government is also running lines of railway, a departmental store, hotels and a steamship line. At this government departmental store it is possible to buy almost everything, including ladies' patent leather shoes, briar pipes, teething rings for babies, sugared almonds etc. No less than fifteen hotels are operated, besides 18 mess halls. During one month these places served nearly 1,000,000 meals all told.

This has led a writer to suggest the possibility of the United States government developing Alaska by means of railways operated by the government itself.

Does not what has been accomplished suggest something more—the possibility of solving the trust problem by means of public ownership? It seems futile to talk of going back to the old days of small industries and free competition. The economy in large operations is something the public will not readily consent to surrender. Neither does it seem altogether easy to solve the problem by public control of corporations. The only easy way out would seem to be going the whole length and providing for public operation, something which does not, in view of what is being accomplished in Panama, appear so very difficult after all.

TWO WAR PICTURES.

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats.

It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms.

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle.

I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. S. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed.

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that covered the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and other things besides, in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell 'ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

Why a Chinese Republic?

The statement that the revolution is likely to result in the formation of a Chinese Republic has caused a good deal of surprise in the Western world. When one thinks of it, however, this seems the most natural solution of the problem that will be presented by a successful revolution. The Manchus, a foreign dynasty, which has held power in China for some 300 years, is, of course, impossible since, as a matter of fact, the present revolution is for the purpose of driving that dynasty from power. On the other hand, the old native dynasty has been out of business for so long that it would probably be impossible to find any legitimate claimant of the throne in that quarter. The natural aversion to Japanese intrigue shuts that country out of consideration as the source of possible supply for a king, and of course a Hanoverian prince would be altogether out of the question.

O'Hara once saw an advertisement in a street car reading—"Buy your stove at O'Brien's and save half your coal." "Begorra," he said, "I'll buy two stoves and save all my coal."

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

IRISH HOME RULE TO GO THROUGH

It Is a Foregone Conclusion that the Irish Bill Will Be Passed Next Parliament.

(Special Cable Service.)

When parliament assembles again the last battle for Home Rule will be on. For it is a foregone conclusion that Home Rule will win.

For now all liberal England has been won over to the side of the Irish. Indeed Ireland and the Irish have become actually popular with the English majority. Not since the days of Gladstone and Parnell has the cause of Ireland been accorded such sympathetic support among English people. Wherever the Irish Home-rule speakers, Redmond, "Tay-Pay" O'Connor and the rest have spoken in their recent campaigning in England they have been enthusiastically received.

The recess will be devoted largely to informal discussion of the proposed home rule bill. The Liberal and Irish leaders will get together and go over the tentative draft of the bill in detail with a view to solving some of the major difficulties before the bill finally goes before parliament.

The measure has already been roughed out. A cabinet committee has been working upon the bill in general while a committee of financial experts has been working on the specific question of the financial relations between Ireland and England—one of the knottiest problems to be solved.

Just what form the bill will assume can't well be forecasted. Some of the papers are publishing what purport to be outlines of the bill, but none of these is regarded as more than a guess.

GRANDSON OF EMPEROR WILLIAM

PRINCE OF PRUSSIA

BERLIN. — This is the latest and most unconventional photo of royalty ever taken and not intended for publication, but your correspondent was able to secure a copy for the Canadian people.

Looks like a live Canadian boy, doesn't he? Might belong to your neighbor, just around the corner? But he isn't, and doesn't. He's the grandson of William Hohenzollern, better known as Emperor of Germany to whose throne the boy will succeed some day — if he lives and the throne survives.

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cool weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

RIOTING IN MEXICO.

Striking Mill Hands Clashed With Rurales.

TORREON, Mex.—Rioting at Gomez Palacio, six kilometres north of here, was reported. Striking mill hands are said to have clashed with rurales in the streets. No casualties have been reported. Fifty cavalrymen and forty rurales were sent from here to assist in restoring order.

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved. Many of the employers have agreed to the eight-hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

The city water supply is threatened through idleness of the electric power plant which operates the pumps, but it is possible that it will resume operations under military protection.

"Were you introduced to the count last night, Marie?"

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, once. The hat pirate looked on Mr Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Something Big.

The Campbellford Herald reports a proposition to the town from a manufacturing company seeking a suitable place to locate. It is a large concern and would expend from $300,000 to $400,000 on buildings and the equipment, employing 175 hands and whose annual pay roll would amount to $110,000. The representatives of the concern and the town council will meet to discuss the details.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

PATRON SAINT OF FOOTBALL

The Patron "Sir Hugh" was Killed for Kicking a Ball Through a Window of a Jew's House.

Footballers may be interested in the following piece of folk-lore about the game. Although it is not generally known, football has a patron saint. In 1520 a boy named Hugh, who was one of the champions of his day, had the misfortune to kick a ball through the window of a Jew's house. Whether the ball struck the man or any member of his family is not known, but certain it is he was very much incensed about the affair. Determined on revenge, he enticed the unsuspecting Hugh into his home and plunged a knife in the youth's back. The English people were very much cut up about the loss of their champion, albeit not as much so as was Hugh. They severely punished his slayer, made the young football player a saint, and gave him a big and expensive funeral. They even wrote verses; bad verses, but still verses, describing the virtues of "sweet Sir Hugh" and his prowess as a football player.

Football was forbidden in Elizabeth's reign under pain of imprisonment, the reason being the extreme brutality of the game, we are told. And James I. debarred "all rough and violent exercises like football" from his Court. In spite, however, of the prohibition against the game, the London apprentices often kicked a football about the streets to keep themselves warm in winter, and it is on record that in the severe frost of 1665 the London streets were "full of footballs."

BOMBARDIER WELLS

The man who was to fight Jack Johnson recently in London but the contest was stopped by the authorities.

Long Distance Runners

Long distance runners require a great amount of stamina, wonderfully strong legs, a strong heart and powerful lungs; boxers must have strength and a supple constitution; football players, strength and the wearing activities that are distinctly antithetic to the ordinary companions of labor, or tasks or duties, as the term may apply.

Snugly ensconced in a soft cushioned chair, the public — that part of it which breathes the virulent vaudevillian atmosphere — claps its hands and thunderously applauds physical wonders.

The giants of the stage, wondrously developed with their coils of muscles transparently playing beneath whitened cuticle replenish the coffers of thought which revert to Atlas afoot with the world upon his broad shoulders.

The phenomenally strong man who tosses five hundred pound weights with the ease of the wind lifting a feather creates admiration, albeit not a little envy.

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyse the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test in athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that tasks the physical powers.

WESTERN PROGRESS

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candiana Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lawenia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

SLOWLY DYING

THOUSANDS ARE SLOWLY DYING FROM CATARRH, BUT DON'T KNOW THEIR DANGER.

A Case in Point

Mr. Ulric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Berault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ballasting the Road.

Lindsay Warder: During the past week or so the C.P.R. gravel train has been busy drawing material into Lindsay and dumping the same in a large crib along the north side of the Scugog river, in front of Flavelle's egg house. At this point the bank of the river has been built higher and the ground between the river edge and the C.P.R. tracks filled in with gravel for the purpose of strengthening the track for the heavy grain traffic which will pass over the line from now on.

Saw It in The Times.

A few days ago an item appeared in The Times, asking for the name and addresses of descendants of Thos. Page, who died about the year 1795, in the United States, and whose descendants settled in Ontario. Yesterday a letter came to hand from John Page, of Port Hope, who claims to be a grandson of the original Page, and is therefore heir to the Page millions. So you see how this great family journal helps the poor man to wealth and influence.

Wants Share of Power.

Norwood Register: The Dominion Government has acceded to the request of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the municipalities of the Trent valley for the leasing to the Commission for power purpose of dams four and eight on the Peterborough and Lakefield and Rice Lake divisions of the Trent Canal. Most of the municipalities mentioned as parties to the request were down along the lake front. Lakefield and Peterborough were the only places included on this side of the river. Is it not about time for Norwood and other neighboring municipalities who have a right to share in the benefits of this power, to get busy. The question is at least worth looking into.

Peterborough Old Boys.

At the banquet given by the Peterborough Old Boys of Winnipeg, a brief notice of which already appeared in The Times, there were 100 present. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, K.C., made an excellent chairman, and he proposed the toast of the evening, "Old Folks at Home," in a splendid speech. This was ably responded to by Messrs. A. E. Scott and R. F. McWilliams. Among the "Old Boys" present were Geo. Walton, ex-M.P., Alex. Haggart, ex-M.P., Dr. Harvey, Smith, Harold Daly, W. J. Spence, R. C. Brown, Portage la Prairie, Dr. Herb. Bell, J. H. Chalmers, Fred H. Dixon, A. N. Allison H. L. Brace, W. A. Daws and A. P. Moore. Features of the gathering were telegraphic messages of greeting from Mayor W. G. Morrow, of Peterborough, and one from the officers of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, read by the chairman. The latter contained the slogan of the officers of the Regiment, "Drill, ye terriers, drill," Mr. Dennistown and Mr. McWilliams are former officers of the corps. It was practically decided to form a Peterborough Old Boys' association and to make the reunion dinner an annual event.

CRITICISM UNFOUNDED

Toronto Saturday Night Takes Back Statements Made in That Paper.

The Independent Real Estate Company, in which Mr. H. P. Kennedy and other Peterborough people are interested, was criticised in the Saturday Night of a week ago, for making a mis-statement in an advertisement in reference to an Edmonton sub-division. This week's Saturday Night acknowledges its mistake, the company having shown its statement to be entirely correct, and there being no misrepresentation whatever.

The Saturday Night makes this correction

Mixed Names Up.

The name Industrial Centre originally utilized by the Independent Real Estate Company of 43 Victoria street, Toronto, in advertising its Edmonton sub-division (this corporation has since assumed the title Industrial Heights), no doubt led the Land Commission of the Grand Trunk Pacific to reply to a query from Saturday Night as he did respecting the Independent Company's proposition, and quoted in last weeks issue, which was in substance that the Grand Trunk Pacific did not intend building a station on "Industrial Centre." This statement is no doubt correct, but the original assumption of the name "Central" the Independent Real Estate Company confounded the latter company and their Industrial Heights proposition with Industrial Centre, which is one and one-half miles to the northwest.

So it turns out that the G. U. Ryley, Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Saturday Night, both unwittingly did the Independent Real Estate Company an injustice. As a matter of fact, the Industrial Heights sub-division already has a railway ticket office on its property and the G.T.P. has promised increased shipping facilities as soon as development warrants.

Too many claimants for one name has its disadvantages, even in the real estate business.

LEON SERGENT FOUND NEW HEALTH IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Suffered With His Kidneys and Was Very Feeble, But Now He Is Feeling Fine.

Saint Walburg, Sask., Dec. 1—(Special)—One healthy, happy family in this neighborhood are always ready to speak a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sergent, and here is the reason in Mr. Sergent's own words:

"I suffered with my Kidneys and I was very feeble. My urine was thick and had a brick-dust sediment. As Dodd's Kidney Pills had already cured my wife I bought three boxes. Now my urine is normal and I feel fine."

It is statements such as these that give Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity. They are no cure-all. They simply cure diseased Kidneys and the ills that come from diseased Kidneys. But no matter what neighborhood you visit you find some man or woman who has been sick and in pain, and has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. For a score of years this work has been going on and to-day in every part of Canada Dodd's Kidney Pills are known as the one sure cure for Kidney Disease, Urinary Troubles, Backache, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilized and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

A Strong Financial Company.

Elsewhere will be found the prospectus of the Imperial Canadian Trunk Company, the head office of which is located at Winnipeg. This company will fill a long felt want in the rapidly developing west. It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect. The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits, in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment. Investors should read the prospectus for themselves.

Q. What causes double vision?
A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

MR. BURNHAM, M.P., GETS INCREASE FOR MAIL CARRIERS

A deputation of the Letter Carriers of this city waited upon Mr. Burnham some time ago in regard to increasing the allowance for employing additional help, to insure a prompt delivery of the heavy Christmas mail. The carriers complained that in the past they have had to bear part of this expense themselves, and were only partly recompensed from the department. Mr. Burnham took the matter up with the Minister at Ottawa, and as a result the carriers will get a substantial increase to enable them to give the people a more satisfactory delivery of the Christmas mail. The deputation also asked for fur caps which have also been furnished.

MR. THOMPSON'S CAMPAIGN

Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., was in the city on Saturday, and gave The Times a friendly call. He has just returned from a trip to the northern portion of the riding, where he held a number of very successful meetings, as follows:

Pott's School House, Chandos.
Caldwell's School House, Chandos.
Apsley Town Hall.
Haultain School House.

These meetings were fairly well attended, and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. The leading issues of the campaign were discussed at length, and the electors were not slow to appreciate the splendid work of the Whitney Government. The following meetings are scheduled to take place this week in the interests of the Liberal Conservative candidate:

Church Hall, Douro, to-night.
Warsaw, to-morrow night.
Lakefield, Wednesday night.
Keene, Thursday night.

MR. PECK'S REPLY

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—My attention has been directed to three letters, which have appeared in the Examiner during the present week. As they contain personal reference to myself may I ask you to publish this brief reply, a copy of which has been forwarded to the Examiner:

1—"Anxious Parent," suggests that I have a financial interest in a brewery, meaning, I presume, the Calcutt Brewing Company. This is not correct. I am solicitor for the company and am holder of one share of stock (value $100), but I have this merely as a trustee for another party, and I have no personal financial interest in the company.

2—"E.W.H." refers to my acting as "arbitrator" between the printers and employers some years ago. The other arbitrators were Mr. Robert McGregor and Mr. T. F. Matthews. We then went into the matter thoroughly, collecting information as to rates of wages in other localities and finally agreed upon a basis of settlement, giving substantial increase in wages to the printers. The award, if it is available, should establish this. We all, including Mr. McGregor, who represented the printers, signed the award, and I had the impression until quite recently, that Mr. McGregor was quite satisfied that it was a fair one. If he were not satisfied with it, why did he sign it?

3—"Consistency" endeavors to stir up a feeling of the Sons of England against me, because I am not now a member of the order. I was a member of the order for many years. I held the office of secretary for some time and was afterwards president, but of late years demands upon my time have prevented me from attending the meetings or assisting to further its objects, and having no need for the benefits I concluded to sever my connection as a financial member. These are the only reasons why I am not a member. The society is a very worthy one, and I shall always feel interested in its progress.

Yours truly,
E. A. PECK.

M'NAMARAS WILL BE SENTENCED TOMORROW

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—James B. McNamara pleaded guilty last evening of murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Charles J. Haggarty, a victim of the Los Angeles Times' explosion and fire.

His brother, John J. McNamara, jointly indicted with him, pleaded guilty to dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works.

They will be sentenced next Tuesday, December 5th.

James B. McNamara probably will get from eight to ten years imprisonment. John J. McNamara, it was rumored, will get about one year. Each pleaded guilty of the charge on which he was extradited from Indianapolis.

FIGHT JUST BEGINS

Special to The Times.,
Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 3.—Walter Drew, chief counsel for the National Erectors' Association, which employed Detective Burns to run down the perpetrator of the Los Angeles dynamite outrages: "The fight has only just begun. This is only the first chapter. What we want to find out now is who were the men behind the McNamaras; and this we propose to do. The Federal investigation now under way at Indianapolis is all-important. Compared to this, the prosecution of the McNamaras is a side issue."

ST. PAUL'S HAS ITS MISSIONARY

Splendid Response to the Appeal for Support

Rev. D. A. MacDonald, Corean Missionary From St. Paul's Church—A Splendid Example in Missionary Effort—Rev. Mr. MacDonald Preached Powerful Discourses Yesterday—Will Remain in City This Week and Deliver a Number of Addresses.

Yesterday St. Paul's congregation was treated to two excellent discourses from its own special missionary at Corea, Rev. D. A. MacDonald who will spend the week in Peterborough before taking his departure for the scene of his future labours.

Some time ago the local Presbyterians set out to increase the amount of their missionary givings. The effort was undertaken in response to an appeal from the General Assembly to the whole Presbyterian Church in Canada to raise for the year 1912 the sum of one million dollars as its missionary budget. St. Paul's church was asked to aim at $5,000. A canvass of the entire congregation was made by the elders and managers of the church. The congregation was divided into districts and an elder and manager went together and called upon all in the district assigned them. The actual amount subscribed to date is over $4,600. There are a few to hear from yet, and this, with the amount which the Sunday School and Bible classes will contribute, will raise the total giving even beyond $5,000. In addition to this the Women's Foreign Missionary Society will give over a $1,000. So that the members of St. Paul's church are pledged to give $6,000 a year to all missionary purposes. Part of this amount is to be applied to the support of their own missionary. The Rev. D. A. MacDonald, B.A., who is about to go to Corea, has been assigned to St. Paul's. He will address the different young people's organizations and missionary societies this week. Tuesday evening the ladies are preparing a banquet for the men of the church. Mr. MacDonald and Mr E. A. Armstrong, of Toronto, and others, will address the meeting. Mr MacDonald will also address the Wednesday evening prayer meeting, and the Women's Missionary Society on Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

FINES OF $1,500 IN SOUTH PORCUPINE.

Provincial Officer Morrison Caught Fifteen—Some Sent to Jail.

The Provincial License Department received a telegram this afternoon from South Porcupine that fifteen men had been convicted of selling liquor without a license. Fines of $1,600 were imposed and several, not having the money, were committed to jail. Provincial Officer G. Morrison was in charge of the raid on the blind pigs.

'LABOR GROSSLY DECEIVED,' SAYS PRES. GOMPERS

Fears That Unions Will Suffer Because of Confessions—Labor Organizations Stand for Peace, Not for Violence and Brutality

Troy, N.Y., Dec. 2.—That the confession of the McNamara Brothers will be considered at a meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor at its meeting in Washington on January 8th next, was the opinion expressed to-day by President Samuel Gompers, who came here from New York to attend a meeting of the State Commission which is investigating factory conditions in first and second-class cities. He is a member of the Commission under an appointment from Governor Dix.

The Executive Council is composed of President Gompers, eight vice-presidents, treasurer and secretary. Mr. Gompers plans to return to New York to-morrow and to Washington on Tuesday.

The labor leader volunteered the information that he passed a restless night. He appeared to be extremely nervous whenever he referred to the sensational end of the McNamara trial.

"Labor was grossly deceived," said Mr. Gompers, with considerable emotion. "Only a few days ago and just before the close of the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor at Atlanta, we received a telegram from the McNamaras thanking the labor unions of this country for their confidence and help in their humiliation.

HAD TRUSTED MEN.

"The assumption is that the labor unions will suffer as a result of the confession, but I do not think they will, even if it will do them no good. Of course we stand for evolution rather than revolution, we stand for peace and the uplifting of man rather than violence and brutality. No cause is advanced when violence is resorted to, but the severest criticism that can be made against us, meaning the Federation, is that we had faith in the men who were accused of the crime.

"We had every cause to accept their innocence as a fact. Think of those telegrams declaring that they were falsely accused and expressing confidence that they would be adjudged innocent. When men proclaim on their honor that they are innocent of a crime of the character of this one, and 24 hours later plead guilty would it not unsettle any man interested in our cause?

"We went to work and assembled an immense fund of $190,000 to defend them, and we engaged the highest types of men morally and mentally to appear and defend them. Mr. Clarence Darrow gave up his business in Chicago, closed his office and his home, and went to California to free them, believing as we did in their innocence. Then this information comes that they are guilty, and admitted by their own tongues.

"If this was a crime against society it would be different. Then it would be revolution, but it is an attack on the business of an individual and that leads business men to think that the labor unions have duped them.

"No one likes this and it would be better for us were it against society.

BIG JOHN'S DUPLICITY.

"When I made my trip to the Pacific coast I went to see them, as naturally I would. I saw big John and taking my hand, he said:

"'Sam tell the boys that I am innocent. Give them this message from me, and tell them how grateful we are for their assistance.'

"He looked at me frankly and openly and his words were so sympathetic that I believed all he had said, and did convey his greetings as requested.

"When I got there the first thing he did was to give me a card receiver one that is made by pasting cancelled stamps or bits of cigar bands on the bottom of a glass plate, saucer-like, in fact. In the centre of it was my picture. I have it at my home now.

"I left there believing in the innocence of him and his brother and was among those who expected that at the trial they would be cleared.

"This was long before the Atlanta convention, and when more assurance came from them, as it did at this meeting, why would it not be disquieting when to the world they admit their guilt? It was an immunition and one that it is difficult to sustain.

"As to Detective Burns, I don't want to consider him. He has nothing to do with us, and that is all there is to that."

"I can't figure out the case of the McNamaras as being anything else than the act of crazy men or fanatics," said Mr. Gompers, in conclusion. "No sane man could entertain any idea that such a crime would benefit labor conditions in this country."

Mr. Gompers said he would issue a prepared statement later in which he would go into the details of the case at greater length.

WORSE THAN JUDAS, IF GUILTY BETRAYED THEIR FRIENDS

New York, Dec. 2.—"If the McNamaras are really guilty Judias Iscariot and Benedict Arnold pale into insignificance beside them. They have betrayed their best friends."

So said Cal. Wyatt, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and to-day he added:

"If I believe in capital punishment I myself would willingly pull the string on any man actually guilty of the crime which young McNamara pleaded guilty to."

Pittsburg, Dec. 2.—Thos. F. Flynn, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor said to-day:

"If McNamara was mean enough to commit such a crime and to conceal it, besides dragging the labor movement into it, he should be hanged. I believe him to be guilty."

Pueblo, Colo., Dec. 2.—Despite the fact that he was aware of the details of the evidence in the possession of the State in the McNamara case, Francis J. Henry, former graft prosecutor of San Francisco, to-day expressed surprise that the McNamara brothers had pleaded guilty.

"While I know that Detective Burns apparently 'had the goods on' the McNamaras, I thought it would be difficult to convict them," said Henley. "Burns wanted me to assume charge of the prosecution should he be murdered for his activities."

A TEMPORARY SETBACK.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 2.—"The acknowledgement of their guilt by the McNamaras will give the cause of Labor a temporary setback, but only until the rank and file can prove to the people that individuals and not labor unions were on trial," said President Chas. H. Moyer, of the Western Federation of Labor, to-day. "I think there is something deeper in these confessions than the labor movement can grasp at the present time."

New York, Dec. 2.—When Theodore Roosevelt was asked to-day what he thought of the confession of the McNamaras, he said: "My ideas on the subject were expressed in an 'Outlook' editorial entitled 'Murder is Murder,' and that is the way I still feel about it."

Boston, Mass., Dec. 2.—An official statement from the A.F. of L. was issued this afternoon by Secretary Morrison, as follows:

"The McNamaras have outraged the confidence that organized labor had in them, and have deceived the thousands of workmen who rallied to their support with financial assistance. The use of violence of any kind is contrary to the principles of unionism and is repugnant to the entire mass of our membership.

"The criminal acts of which the McNamaras stand self-confessed merit the condemnation of every member of organized labor and society as a whole.

The American Federation of Labor stands for government of law, and will not be remiss in even an implied attempt to condemn unlawful acts. The McNamaras, bearing witness against themselves, should receive punishment commensurate with the crime they committed.

"Organized labor stands for law and order. Every effort that the representatives of International unions have put forth to raise money for the defence was predicated on the belief that they were the victims of outrageous persecution by bitter enemies of trades unionism."

The following telegram, signed by Darrow, and addressed to Samuel Gompers, was received at the A. F. of L. to-day.

"There was no avoidance of the step taken. When I see you I know you will be satisfied that all of us gave everything we had to accomplish the best. Hope you believe that we realize our responsibility and did the best that could be done."

Joseph Rourke to Get His Hundred Thousand.

New York, Dec. 2.—A Jury in the Supreme Court gave a verdict to-day for Joseph Rourke in his suit to recover $100,000 from Herbert Turrell on Turrell's promisory note, given to William J. Cummins, the convicted banker, in September, 1910.

MRS. CHESTER GETS DIVORCE IN NEW YORK STATE.

Creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" Must Pay $4,000 a Year.

New York, Dec. 2.—Final decree was entered to-day by Justice Guy in the divorce proceedings separating Mrs. Elizabeth F. Chester from Geo. Randolph Chester, creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," prohibiting Chester from marrying again in this State until the death of the first Mrs. Chester.

Mrs. Chester is permitted to remarry.

Chester returned from Europe on November 1 with another wife, formerly Miss Lillian Deremo, to whom he was married in Paris.

This marriage he later described as an "emotional indiscretion."

Mrs. Chester is given $4,000 a year for the education of the two sons, to whose custody they were awarded, and her own maintenance.

Teheran Expects Russian Advance.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—The excitement of the populace at the news of the Russian advance on the capital is intense. The streets are filled with crowds. The walls of the city and Legations are covered to-day with red placards: "Death or Independence."

Assassins Slay Two More Persians.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—Two more Persian politicians were assassinated to-day. Hadj Mohmad Tagi, a prominent reactionary, was killed in the capital this morning. Prince Firman Firma, at one time Minister of Justice of the Province of Azerbaijan, was assassinated at Kasbin, a town 90 miles northwest of Teheran.

EMPEROR AND EMPRESS ACCLAIMED IN BOMBAY

Bombay, Dec. 2.—"King" Emperor George and "Queen" Empress Mary, as they are officially styled since their arrival in their great Eastern Empire, landed from the steamer Madina to-day at the quay at the Apollo Bunder at four o'clock. They were met by the Governor of Bombay and a large gathering of high officials belonging to the civil and military service. They at once proceeded to a huge amphitheatre which had been erected opposite the landing stage and which was filled to its surface capacity with many thousands, who had come to welcome their Majesties. The scene was a remarkably brilliant one. The handsome jewel dress of the officials and the uniform of the naval and military officers, together with the bright toilettes of the women, only served to emphasize the gorgeous hues of the ceremonial attire of the Indian chieftains.

Behind these were massed an immense throng, composed of Hindus, Mohammedans, and Arabs, all attired in richly colored festival costumes. Addresses of welcome were presented to the King-Emporer and the Queen-Empress by the municipality and other bodies to which His Majesty replied.

A Royal procession was subsequently formed. It was a mile in length and comprised representatives of all branches of the European and native armies in India. It subsequently traversed all parts of the gaily decorated city. The native quarters presented a particularly quaint appearance, forests of posts along the streets bearing a multitude of native religious symbols representative of the various sects.

Enormous crowds everywhere heartily acclaimed their Majesties, who returned to the Medina at 5.30 in the evening.

DUKE PUTS MEDAL ON BREAST OF A HERO

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 2.—To-day the Duke of Connaught presented Cadet J. O. Leach, of Toronto, with a Royal Canadian Humane Society medal for bravery. Leach saved six people from drowning on the Georgian Bay. The medal was sent for presentation at the Royal Military College. His Highness congratulated Leach on his bravery, and urged the Cadets to take his example if they were ever confronted with a similar opportunity. He pinned the medal on the cadet's right breast.

SPECIAL SERMON NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

Rev. Mr. Couch, pastor of the George street Methodist church, announced last night that next Sunday evening, December 10, he would preach on the "Relation Between Religion and Art." As some two weeks ago Rev. S. H. Gray, of Toronto, lectured before the Ministerial Association on "The Method of Art," as illustrated in King Lear; and last week there was an exhibition of art under the auspices of the Women's Art Association of Peterborough, this will be an opportune time for such a topic. Mr. Couch is preaching the same by special request, and has had the subject under preparation for some months.

The choir leader is preparing music appropriate for the occasion. A invitation is extended to all to attend this service. A large gathering will no doubt be present.

TOMORROW NIGHT

The first big Mass Meeting of the Campaign will be held to-morrow (Tuesday) night, in the Opera House. Hon. A. B. Morine Mr. Peck and others will address the electors on the issues of the campaign. Ladies invited.

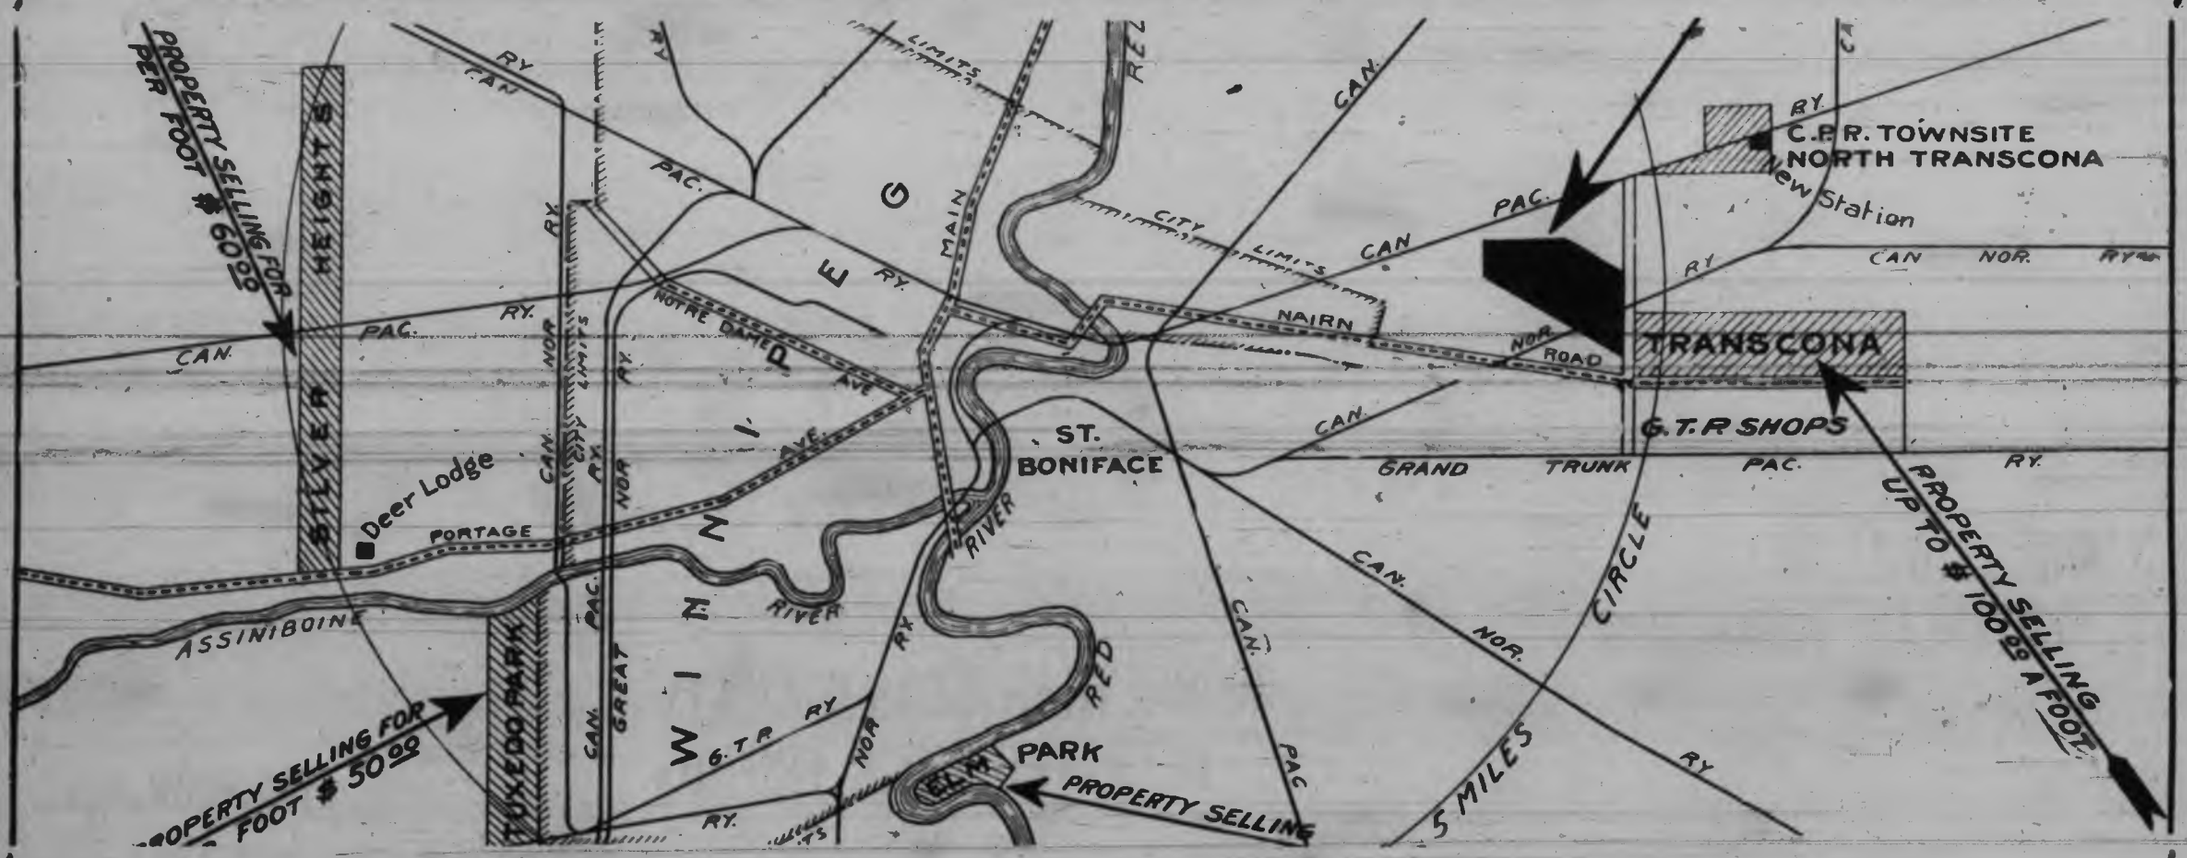
TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG



The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger han Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, its Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, at the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

Lots 30x100 to a 16 Foot Lane

$5.00 to $7.00

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, not to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a collar for your daughter?" meaning, of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a sugar for yourself?"

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly different thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

What poverty is like that of moral penury? When the head is poor, what mockery is money wealth!

Few people regret the times when they were silent, but many regret and often suffer because of imprudent speech.

People who pray on their knees on Sunday, and prey on their neighbors on Monday, need simplicity in their faith.

A WOMAN BUILDS HER OWN HOME

Eight Years Ago Mrs. Klingebiel Started Out to Build a House on $10 Per Week's Wages — Which Is Now Worth $5000.

(By special cable)

Des Moines.—Eight years ago Mrs. Nettie Klingebiel of Des Moines started out with a lot of courage and one bill.

She owns her own home today and a tract of land valued at $5,000.

Mrs. Klingebiel is a widow and eight years ago was working in an office at $10 per week.

One day when the future looked unusually dull she made a resolve. She took five dollars from her week's salary to a real estate man, bought a fifty-foot lot, and made weekly payments of $5 until the lot was paid for. She bought $40 worth of lumber in the same way.

To avoid paying rent, she then had a little shed built and lived in it until the lot was paid for. Then she borrowed $200 and put up a two-room cottage. Soon after there was a boom in another suburban section. She traded her property for a better lot and borrowed $400 to build a four-room cottage.

After office hours Mrs Klingebiel slapped paint on her house, or cemented the cellar floor and the sun's early rays found her setting out trees and vines.

While she was paying for her home SHE NEVER EARNED OVER $10 A WEEK.

Again there come a boom in another suburban district. Mrs. Klingebiel looked at her neat little home, and plunged again. This trade brought her a beautiful property valued at $5,000. She built another cosy little home and vows she will never leave it.

LLOYD GEORGE'S MESSAGE

London. — The Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, has addressed a message to the National Union of Woman's Suffrage Societies, in which he says:

"The Premier's pronouncement on the attitude which the Government is adopting towards the question seems to me to make the carrying of a woman's suffrage amendment, on broad democratic lines, to next year's franchise bill a certainty. I am willing to do all in my power to help those laboring to reach a successful issue in the coming sessions next year, which provides a supreme opportunity and nothing but unwise handling of that can compass failure."

BONAR LAW NEW LEADER

Says that the Canadian Elections Were a Declaration for Reciprocal Preference.

(Special Cable Service.)

LONDON.—Andrew Bonar Law, the new Unionist leader in the House of Commons, who succeeded Mr. Balfour, made his first speech at a leader at the annual conference of the Conservative associations of Great Britain at Leeds.

Mr. Law dwelt at length upon the Canadian elections, paying a warm tribute to ex-Premier Laurier as being the first to give preference to Great Britain and thereby setting an example to be followed by the other dominions. His admiration for Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not abated a jot when he rejoiced at the result of the elections. It was an ignorant and impudent claim, he said, that the elections did not bear upon the cause of preference. They were, and are, an emphatic reminder that reciprocal preference is the aim of Great Britain's autonomous dominions.

WIFE OF NEW DIPLOMAT

Mme. NAON

NEW YORK. — Mme. Naon, wife of the new Argentine minister at Washington, will preside this winter over one of the most popular legations in Washington. The minister and his wife have five children.

REQUEST TO STOP CRUELTIES

YOUSOF ZIA PASHA

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Turkish ambassador, Yousof Zia Pasha, recently laid before the state department here a formal request from his government to prevent the alleged barbarities by the Italian troops in Tripoli; this request was made in conjunction with one made in London, though the British authorities determined not to interfere at present.

McNAMARA DEFENCE FUND

Federation of Labor Fights Shy of Resolution.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA. — Labor leaders are trying to prevent the introduction into the convention of the American Federation of Labor now in session here of a resolution framed by the California delegation appropriating $50,000 for the defence of the McNamara brothers.

A large sum has been raised already for this purpose by private subscriptions and the leaders contend, it is said, that whatever money is needed for the McNamara defence can be obtained in this manner without drawing on the funds in the none too well stocked treasury of the federation.

Two brief sessions were held by the convention today, but practically no busines was transacted.

WARSHIPS AT TANGIER

French Vessels Exchange Salutes With Spanish Cruiser.

TANGIER. — The warships Leon Gambetta and Edgar Quinet, which were ordered here a short time ago after a Spanish vessel had arrived, came into the harbor. Salutes were exchanged with the Spanish cruiser Catalums.

The natives here are restless and sickness and misery are prevailing.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great raving seme, three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

DISMISSAL OF KING'S CHAPLAIN

Charges of Drunkenness and Immorality Against Rev. Frederick P. Farrar. — Bishop Investigating Case.

(By special cable)

London. — The first court scandal in King George's reign exploded with violence, when The Gazette announced officially the dismissal of the Rev. Frederick Percival Farrar, the King's domestic chaplain, and also honorary chaplain to Queen Alexandra.

Charges of drunkenness and immorality have been made against the deposed King's chaplain, and they are now being investigated by the Bishop of Norwich. The disgraced clergyman has been rector of Sandringham, where the favorite residence of the late King Edward and of Queen Alexandra was situated. It is understood that he has resigned his rectorship in consequence of the charges against him, and a startling report is abroad that the Rev. Farrar is missing and that search is being made for him.

He is a son of the late Dean Farrar, and only last July he married Miss Nora Davis, a sister of Richard Harding Davis, the author, and a daughter of the late Clarke Davis, of Philadelphia. The wedding was attended by many prominent society people of London. Members of the Royal family sent wedding gifts, those of King George, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra being especially handsome.

GERMANY AND MOROCCAN CRISIS

Many People Are Sore on the Supposed Laxity of German Government in Allowing Britain to Dictate.

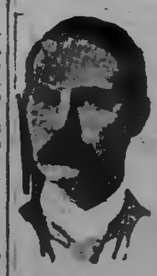
Berlin. — The official report of the secret sitting of the budget committee of the Reichstag in November, when Foreign Minister von Kiderlin-Waechter made a report on Anglo-German relations as affected by the Moroccan dispute with France, is now published.

The Foreign Minister's account of the interviews between the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the German Ambassador at London, Count Wolff-Metternich, and of the communications that passed between Germany and England, show that the situation was most tense from July 21 to July 27, and the language used on both sides was so sharp that a peaceful outcome of the affair under the circumstances is considered most fortunate.

Great Britain, according to Herr von Kiderlin-Waechter, after receiving on July 1 an individual, as well as a general, explanation of the objects of the despatch of the German warship Panther to Agadir, remained silent until July 21.

Sir Edward Grey then had a conversation with the German ambassador, in which he declared that the time had come for Great Britain to intervene in the Franco-German negotiations, since these apparently were about to be broken off owing to Germany's unacceptable proposals, which would raise the question of the future of Morocco, whereby British interests would be affected. He requested an explanation of the German designs at Agadir.

IN THE LIMELIGHT



BONAR LAW

London.—The unionist forces in the British parliament have called upon a Canadian to lead them against the assaults of the progressive liberal forces. Andrew Bonar Law, born in New Brunswick and who removed to Glasgow, and was from there sent to the House of Commons, has been chosen leader of the British standpatters to succeed former Premier A. J. Balfour. Law is one of the ablest conservative debaters; also, he is the best chess player in parliament.

THE EMPIRE AND CANADA

London. — The London Chamber of Commerce tonight discussed "Canada" in its relation to the Mother Country. Faithfull Begg, treasurer, who presided, said that no country could show such a remarkable advance in progress as Canada during the past five years. Canada had done its part nobly in the recent elections and it was for the United Kingdom now to do hers and show appreciation of the efforts of the Dominion in the cause of imperial unity.

A. W. Smithers, chairman of the C. T. R., thought the British Government was discreditable for investigating the emigration question so unscientifically. The Dominion doesn't want the riffraff of our cities, and he appealed to the Government to transform unemployed casual labor into citizens acceptable to Canada.

She: "Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a fool in every family, don't you?"

He: "Well — er — my opinion is rather biased. You see, I am the only member of our family!"

Worn-down Heels

There are some women who walk very awkwardly, and wear down the heels of their shoes on one side. This may be the result of badly fitting shoes or the heels may have been too high. As soon as the heel begins to wear in this way have it attended to at once; the cost will be but a few pence, but the result will speak for itself. If shoes are worn unbuttoned they quickly lose their shape, yet I have known many girls who seem ignorant of this fact.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

ACADIANS AND DOUKHOBORS

Two Communities, Whose Praises Were Sung by Longfellow and Tolstoy, Who Are Settled Happily in Canada To-Day.

The years 1605 and 1632 saw two considerable migrations from Normandy and Brittany to the peninsula since christened Nova Scotia, which for a long time subsequently formed a part of New France. These people were not fugitives of any description, neither the law requiring them nor persecution driving them. They formed a colony under their own Government's rule. They were farmers, with a desire to obtain freehold property and a life of peace and quietness. Their name resulted from the description of the Indians around, who designated any cultivated place as Kady. These people were comparatively few in number, for about a century after emigration their total population was computed at about two thousand. Things went fairly well at first, for they made excellent friends of the Indians in the vicinity, the Micmacs by name. Later, however, came the subjugation of the French in Canada by the English, and the latter's complete possession. Then it became necessary for these simple folks to take full measures and precautions for self-maintenance; as it turned out they were unmolested for forty years, no English settlement being formed in Acadia during that time. Eventually, however, the inevitable took place; the English settled at last, and founded the town of Halifax, and the disaffected Acadians had to undergo the bitter experience of deportation.

The Doukhobors

To turn our thoughts in another direction, we find the Doukhobors. These strange people differ considerably from the Acadians, the first and foremost reason being that they are now a scattered race, parts of which can be found in various Canadian States. Again, their nationality is different, for they are the descendants of Russian emigrants of the peasant class; and lastly, the cause of their emigration was in total contrast to that of the Acadians. In the reign of Catherine II, the Doukhobors, who are a religious sect entirely opposed to militarism, and in favour of a doctrine of non-resistance, could still not be induced to conform with the conscription laws of their country, the which had been the case for a considerable period previously; the ruler in question, however, considered persecution an unwise procedure, do that any sufferings the Doukhobors underwent were purely private. After the accession of Paul the plan was changed, and in 1799 persecution with the cognizance of the State commenced. Alexander I. reverted to the policy of Catherine and permitted the sect to form a settlement of their own at "Milky Waters," near the Sea of Azof. Thus the Doukhobors became an industrial and economic community, as well as merely religious. Unfortunately they failed to give complete satisfaction to the Government, and were transported to the Caucasus. Still, owing to their anti-militarist attitude, persecution followed them. After this a small detachment emigrated to Cyprus, whilst in 1898 permission to leave Russia for Canada was granted by the Government with somewhat stringent conditions.

THE PROGRESS MADE IN KOREA

Japanese Have Made Great Improvements in New Territory Recently Acquired.

Since the Japanese took over the control of Korea they have opened there 133 primary schools; 23 sericulture training schools; 21 training schools for weaving; 13 sericultural workshops; 3 training schools for the manufacture of paper 3 fishery training schools; 37 seeding nurseries; 4 mulberry farms; 6 common industrial workships; 7 industrial schools; and 4 industrial training houses. State aid has also been given to 217 other schools, established by public or private enterprise. Five hundred miles of common roads have been completed, and fourteen hundred miles more, to cost $5,000,000, are under construction. Telegraph offices have been opened at twenty additional places; ten more telephone exchanges have been established; and eight hundred miles of new telephone line will shortly be added to the long-distance system. The postal service has been greatly improved, and the routes now covered by a daily mail service amount in the aggregate to more than a thousand miles. Harbor improvements, to cost more than $4,000,000, are under way at Chemulpo, Chinnampo, and Fusan, and when they are completed steamers of the largest size will be able to receive and discharge cargo without lighterage at any of these ports. A free public hospital has been erected in every province of Korea, and in the first five months of the present year the number of patients treated in these hospitals was eighty-nine thousand.

Varying Colors of Flames.

The varying colors of flames as they appear in a wood fire are due to combustion of the elements of the fuel. The light blue flames are due to the hydrogen, the white to carbon, the violet to manganese, the red to magnesia and the yellow to soda.

Friendship of Books

To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world.

Whether it be biography, introducting us to some humble life made great by duty done; or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away; or poetry, making music of all the common things around us, and filling the fields and the skies and the work of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings — whether it be these, or religious books or science, so one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

Cause of Rheumatism

Many physicians believe that rheumatism is the result of over-feeding, followed by putrefactive changes in the foodstuffs in the alimentary canal; that the action of certain bacteria produces specific toxic (poison) substances which, when introduced into the blood, cause a deviation from the normal oxidation process, thus causing the condition that is designated rheumatic. In the majority of instances it is probably due to eating too much of the vegetable class of foods; in other cases it is the result of eating too much meat.

Maybe So.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

Prospectus of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Head Office: Bank of British North America Building, 436 Main Street, Winnipeg, Canada

Branch Offices: VANCOUVER, B.C., 559 Granville Street. VICTORIA, B.C., 1204 Government Street. CALGARY, Alta., Burns Block, 807 Centre Street. EDMONTON, Alta., 52 Jasper Avenue W.

Branch Offices: REGINA, Sask., Willoughby-Duncan Bldg., 1845 Scarth St. FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Cuthbertson Blk., 107 May St., N.

The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Was Incorporated Under the Laws of Manitoba by Special Act of the Legislature Assented to March 24th, 1911, With a Capitalization of

One Million Dollars ($1,000,000)

Divided Into Ten Thousand Shares of $100.00 Each, With Power to Increase the Capital to Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000), for the Purpose of Carrying on a Trust and Agency Business in All Its Branches, as Clearly Set Forth in the Company's Special Act of Incorporation, and as Hereinafter Dealt With in This Prospectus.

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a definite rate of interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are:—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed:—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	20	500.00	180.00
5	125.00	45.00	40	1000.00	360.00
10	250.00	90.00	60	1500.00	540.00
15	375.00	135.00	100	2500.00	900.00
20	500.00	180.00	200	5000.00	1800.00
40	1000.00	360.00	300	7500.00	2700.00

Table showing total purchase price of the following number of shares at the price of $115.00 per share:—

No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price	No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price
1	$ 115.00	20	2300.00
5	575.00	40	4600.00
10	1150.00	60	6900.00
15	1725.00	100	11500.00
20	2300.00	200	23000.00
40	4600.00	300	34500.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from:

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies:—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid-up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.c.	Par cl. value per share	Per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap.	Total assets held in capital and trust accounts	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14½	*	25.22	$43,536,776	12
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	$ 600,000	8	100	17.00	41,001,257	20
National Trust Co., Toronto	2,500,000	1,250,000	1,250,000	10	200	12.77	24,057,110	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	2,000,000	2,000,000	650,000	10	100	10.04	13,445,543	15
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg	500,000	500,000	140,000	8	100	20.40	5,123,189	6
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg	1,000,000	1,000,000	210,000	7	100	22.20	8,000,000	6

*These shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $240 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of very desirable business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures, it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this large Canadian company, the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Do not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

APPLICATION FOR ORDINARY SHARES

To the Directors of THE IMPERIAL CANADIAN TRUST COMPANY

I, ...

do hereby apply for ..... Ordinary Shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, in the Capital Stock of the Imperial Canadian Trust Company, at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115.00) per Share, being at a premium of Fifteen Per Cent. (15 per cent.), and I do hereby request you to allot or transfer to me the said number of Shares and I hereby covenant and agree with the said, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, to accept the Shares now applied for, or any lesser number that may be allotted or transferred to me, and to pay to said Company for such Shares, as follows: Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per Share on application, which shall include the said premium of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) per Share, and the balance owing on the Shares, in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of Nine Dollars ($9.00) per Share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from the date of allotment of said Shares.

I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint the Manager and Secretary and Treasurer of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, and each of them and the successor in office of any of them, my true and lawful Attorney, for me and in my name, place and stead, and on my behalf to sign and subscribe my name to the Subscribers' Agreement in the Stock Books of the said Company, for the aforesaid Shares in the within-named Company, and in accordance with the terms set forth in the Stock application, and to accept such Shares as may be allotted or transferred to me, and to register me therein as the holder of the said Shares.

It is my understanding that:

(a) Applications for Stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors, a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed the Shareholder forthwith.

(b) The holder of these Shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the Shares.

(c) Instalments on Shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such instalments have been paid, a fully paid Certificate will be issued to the holder of these Shares.

(d) These Certificates are transferable only on the Books of the Company by the owner in person, or by Attorney, on surrender of the Certificate of Stock, properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

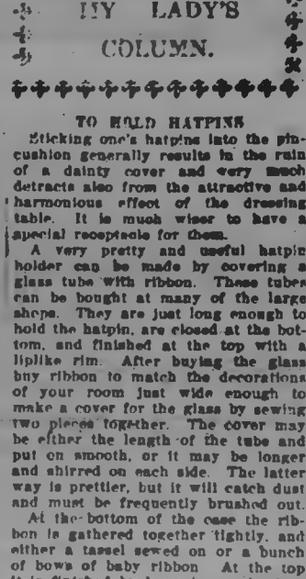
TO HOLD HATPINS

Sticking one's hatpins into the pincushion generally results in the ruin of a dainty cover and very much detracts also from the attractive and harmonious effect of the dressing table. It is much wiser to have a special receptacle for them.

A very pretty and useful hatpin holder can be made by covering a glass tube with ribbon. These tubes can be bought at many of the large shops. They are just long enough to hold the hatpin, are closed at the bottom, and finished at the top with a liplike rim. After buying the glass buy ribbon to match the decorations of your room just wide enough to make a cover for the glass by sewing two pieces together. The cover may be either the length of the tube and put on smooth, or it may be longer and shirred on each side. The latter way is prettier, but it will catch dust and must be frequently brushed out.

At the bottom of the case the ribbon is gathered together tightly, and either a tassel sewed on or a bunch of bows of baby ribbon At the top it is finished by hemming each piece of ribbon separately, not sewing the pieces together. The hem must be wide enough to come out beyond the rim of the glass. A long loop of the baby ribbon is sewed at the top of each seam to hang the case up or one piece of ribbon may be used, an end sewed at each side. In either case a small bunch of bows is used as a finish where the ribbon is sewed.

THE LATEST FROM PARIS



In this smart model the crown of the hat is of Burgandy velvet, with a little up and down frill of gold lace.

A Tasty Dish

The recipe given below treats of a method of cooking eggs for the breakfast table. Take three eggs and put them on in cold water and boil them for a quarter of an hour. After plunging them into cold water remove the shells. Then chop finely the whites of the eggs. Next melt in a stewpan one teaspoonful of butter, and mix with it 1 oz. of flour (1 tablespoonfull, a shake of pepepr, and half a teaspoonful of salt. Gradually mix in half a pint of milk (1 breakfastcupful) and stir until it boils. Add to this sauce the chopped whites of eggs, and pour the mixture on to a hot plate (a dinner plate). Next grate the yolks of the eggs, or rub them through a sieve, over the contents in the hot plate. Make a pretty border of little sippets of toast around it, and serve very hot.

Curried Eggs.

Allow one egg for each person and put into boiling water sufficient to cover them. Cover the pan tightly and let stand on the side of the range for half an hour. Then put into cold water for a moment, remove the shells, and stand aside until needed. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan and when it begins to color add an onion cut into very thin slices and a tablespoonful of Chutney sauce. Stir all together until cooked to a delicate brown then add a cupful of good stock mixed with a tablespoonful of curry powder and let simmer for ten minutes. Cut the eggs in half lengthwise, place in the curry mixture, cover tightly, and let stand until thoroughly hot. Serve with rice cooked in a separate dish and pass Chutney sauce.

It is hard to convince a man that the world goes round when he never gets his share.

If the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, of course they should be looked into at once.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his " trichiasos." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR HENRY W. PELLATT

Few men of the Dominion have done better work in the direction of bringing to the attention of the world beyond the seas what sort of men they are who compose this Canada of ours. Others have done their part with the pen, with the brush, and in other literary connections of a more or less beneficial character. Sir Henry produced the goods, so to speak. At his own financial expense, and doubtless at no inconsiderable personal trouble and inconvenience, he took to the old country the "Queen's Own" of Toronto of which he is Lt.-Colonel, first to the coronation of King Edward, and on the second occasion to the Aldershot Manoeuvres, thus showing to the folks in the old land how well Canada was following in the footsteps of her martial progenitors, and at the same time holding out in front of all whom it might concern, a suggestion that should occasion arise there was a conjoint Imperial army of good men and true to be taken into account.

SIR H. M. PELLATT
Lt.-Col. "Queen's Own" Rifles

From the mere advertising point of view, it was undoubtedly a great producer for Canada of brain, brawn and capital.

By those capable of judging, the Colonel is reckoned a clever business man, methodical to a degree, with the virtue of patience running all the time in the correct direction. His knowledge of public affairs is wide, and his application of that knowledge is directed along lines that are broad enough to bring appreciation and commendation from men of all colors of politics and shades of religion.

Of other admirable points, Sir Henry is first and all the time an Imperialist, — and a strong type of the breed at that.

Born at Toronto in 1860, the Colonel had his civil life education at Upper Canada College. His military attainments were handed out by nature. At the age of fifteen, young Pellatt entered the office of his father, and if he did not actually scrub out the floor and polish up the handle of the big front door, he, no doubt went through the usual ordinary schedule of the office-lad of the times. From the outset it was on evidence that his business acumen was right, and when yet a young man he blossomed out as junior partner with his father in the firm of Pellatt and Pellatt. Since then his name has been associated with a large number of commercial and industrial concerns, and in every instance, be it said, with honor and success.

Amongst other things, Sir Henry is a director of The Crow's Nest Pass Company; is president of the Toronto Electric Light Company, of the Toronto and Niagara Power Company, and the Cobalt Lake Mining Company; vice-president of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company; director of the Toronto Railway Co., the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., the Dominion Iron and Steel Co., the British America Assurance Co., etc., etc., and also finds hours to devote to the duties that fall on a governor of Grace Hospital, and a trustee of Trinity University.

Joining the Queen's Own regiment in early life, Sir Henry has passed through all the commissioned ranks to the command, and was, it will be remembered, major of the Canadian contingent, to the Queen's Jubilee celebrations in England in 1897. He is member of such clubs as the Toronto, National, and Rideau, and all the recreation demands of his nature are satisfied in connection with his military duties.

H. R. H. WAS DELIGHTED

Since his arrival, H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught has signified his pleasure at the complete arrangements made for his transportation from England to the Canadian Capital both on board the Empress of Ireland and on the special train by which he was carried from Quebec to Ottawa, and he has highly complimented the C. P. R. officials on their forethought and attention. One of the minor details that especially pleased the Royal party was a special edition of their annotated time-table, provided for the trip from Quebec to Ottawa. The time-table was bound in white padded cloth, bearing the Duke of Connaught's coat-of-arms embossed in color.

Corn-mills are often mentioned in the Bible. The original corn-mill much resembled the modern druggist's pestle. Moses forbade corn-mills to be taken in pawn, for that, he thought was like taking a man's life in pledge.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the worst you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't. I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Roberts loves a joke, but whether his case is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, once. The hat pirate looked on Mr Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge her with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in the uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

PRENEVEAU.

A number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. S. Munro gathered at their home on Friday evening, to congratulate them on their recent marriage. During the evening they were presented with an easy chair and a parlor table, accompanied by an address. Afterwards a pleasant evening was spent in games and social chat.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., is in the North this week, working in the interests of Mr. Jas. Thompson.

OAK LAKE.

Mr. Snelgrove of Beaverton, is spending a few days with Mr. George Ottmont.

Messrs. Dan and Fred Post have returned to Chandos after spending a week under the parental roof.

Mr. Bruce Post had the misfortune to cut his leg last week but we are glad to report that he is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Whitney and family are visiting friends in Cardiff.

Mr. Row of Cardiff, is holding religious services in the school house

Mr. John Wood is suffering with blood poisoning in his hand.

Master Floyd Marshall has returned home after a week's visit at his aunt's, Mrs. Frank Post.

Mr. Alex. and Miss Annie McCutcheon of Rockdale, spent Friday and Saturday with their sister, Mrs. Max Post.

Mr. C. W. Butcher, principal High School, Havelock, spent Sunday at Mr. W. F. Post's.

An Illustrated Lecture.

Mr. J. Segar gave an illustrated talk on astronomy at an open meeting at the Brotherhood of Philip and Andrew in the Brotherhood room of Knox Church last night.

Remains Interred.

The remains of the late Mrs Clifford Bal Trainor (nee Miss Maud Darcy) who passed away in Philadelphia arrived in the city yesterday evening, and were taken to the Little Lake cemetery, where interment took place.

Big Conservative Meeting.

The Liberal Conservatives have arranged a mass meeting to be held in the Opera House on Tuesday evening next, when Hon. A. B. Morine, who was leader of the Opposition in the Newfoundland Legislature, and who is now practicing law in Toronto, will speak on the issues of the campaign, and be assisted by Mr. Peck, and others.

Italians Departing.

During the past few days nearly a dozen sons of Italy have left Peterborough for their native land. It is not for the purpose of helping their country in its war with Turkey that they are going, but to visit their people. Good wages and constant employment has enabled them to save sufficient to make the journey. Every man of them will return bringing others with them no doubt.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

ON "THE CANNY SCOT."

Scotsmen Not Sentimental, But Deeply Romantic at Heart, Says a Well-known English Writer.

"I have been trying all my life to [illegible]," said Charles Lamb, "and am obliged to desist from the [illegible] in despair." There are [illegible] a few people who secretly or openly harbour similar antipathetic feelings towards the natives of Caledonia, but their number [illegible] daily. It would hardly be correct to say that the Scots are [illegible] popular. Popularity is usually the product of leisure and luxury, and is seldom accorded to those who have had little opportunity for the cultivation of the graces and amenities of life. For [illegible] Scots have been held [illegible] the crop of unpopularity [illegible] The poverty of the country, long stretches of bleak [illegible] moorland; the "Sawbath gloom" which so long reigned over the Lowlands, combined with "Calvinistic gloom" permeating every [illegible] in the Highlands, were not conducive to the development of a spirit of gaiety and charm. But what they have lost in one way they have gained in another. In this very schooling in "strait and narrow" ways which has given to the nation the grit and dogged [illegible] it now possesses.

HUMOUR NORTH OF THE TWEED.

A sense of humor is not now denied Scotsmen by the Sassenach. "A Scotsman and therefore quick to see the humor of things," was the recent comment of so cosmopolitan a critic as Mrs Annie Besant. What would Sydney Smith say if he could have heard it?

Meanness is another charge which seems to have been withdrawn in recent years. It probably arose in the first instance from the Scot's necessity for economy. Brought up in a country where money was unusually scarce, it was difficulty for him to develop suddenly an open-handed generosity. This fostered habit of economy, brought about by circumstances, must be carefully distinguished from the merely mean desire to hoard. Great generosity of heart is often found in the most economical person, while a certain cold selfishness not infrequently accompanies the most outrageous extravagance.

Another charge which has sometimes been levelled against the Scots is a lack of romance, but their history is an ample refutation of this charge. The Scotsman is not sentimental, but he is deeply romantic at heart."

Twixt Bull and Bear.

[illegible] stories are [illegible] and the tellers of them are more inaccurate in ascertaining their genuineness as they are prolific in producing them. The following tale may or "may not be a real Lincoln." It is, in any event, a good story:

Two farm-hands, Lincoln used to say, were set upon by a huge bull while crossing a rocky field. One managed to gain a tree. The other took refuge in a hole in the tree that proved to have an exit in the rear.

The man who had chosen the hole was no sooner in at one end than he was out at the other. With a bellow, the bull made for him. He turned and again shot through the hole. The bull once more bore down upon him, and once more he was in and out of his hole.

The strange pursuit kept up some minutes. At first it mystified the farm-hand up in the tree. Then it angered him.

"Hey," he shouted, "you idiot! Why don't you stay in the hole?"

The bull was dashing from one end of the hole to the other at great speed, and the man was bobbing in and out desperately. He heard, however, his comrade's shout, and found time before his next brief disappearance to shout back:

"Idiot yourself! There's a bear in the hole."

The Time of Long Sermons.

Those who like long sermons should have lived in the seventeenth century. The manner in which the Rev. John Howe, Minister of Great Torrington, in Devonshire, conducted Divine service on a public fast day is thus described by a contemporary: "Mr. Howe said that upon these occasions he began about nine in the morning with a prayer for about a quarter of a hour, in which he begged a blessing upon the work of the day, and afterwards read and expounded a chapter or psalm, in which he spent three-quarters of an hour; then prayed for about an hour, preached for another hour, and prayed for about half an hour. After this he retired and took some little refreshment for about a quarter of an hour (the people singing all the time) and then came into the pulpit and prayed for another hour; and gave them another sermon of about an hour's length; and so concluded the service of the day . . . ."

Good Eggless Doughnuts

Two cupfuls of warm mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, five level teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick. Fry in hot grease. The potatoes keep the doughnuts soft and they keep fresh much longer than those made with eggs.

The first camera-obscura was invented by Giambattista Della Porta, an Italian philosopher, during the latter half of the sixteenth century.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a sale and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to receive maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. Typhoid by Vaccination.

It will be interesting for the readers of The Times to learn that the treatment of typhoid fever by vaccination is being very successfully resorted to in the Winnipeg General Hospital. This institution is said to be the only one in Canada which is undertaking the treatment of the scourge by inoculation. In New York City it is doing wonders, according to authentic reports. It might be worth while for the Peterborough Medical men to investigate the method of treating one of the most prevalent of diseases.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that best cough medicine I have ever sold," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lawsonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

Vital Statistics.

The vital statistics for the past month show the same number of deaths in November, 1910, as there were in the same month this year. The following are the comparative figures:

	Births	Mrgs.	Deaths
1911	49	22	25
1910	32	13	25

Large Parliamentary Vote.

City Clerk Armstrong has completed the compilation of statistics regarding the number of voters on the lists for the coming elections. The total number of voters on the lists is 5,264, an increase of 245 over the previous year. These figures include duplicates. Voters having a vote in more than one ward, are designated as duplicates. There are twenty-two sub-divisions in the city.

No Passenger Service This Year.

The Orillia Packet learns on good authority that the C.P.R.'s management has given up the idea of running a passenger service through Orillia until the station is ready. This will not be till after the beginning of the New Year. It is intended, however, to make use of the new line for moving grain almost at once. Whether the company will be prepared to handle local freight, our informant did not know.

Election of Officers.

Charged With Theft.

County Constable Cochrane arrested Gilbert Horton, cheese and butter maker of Lakefield Dairy Co., on a charge of stealing $115 from the company and also of stealing a quantity of butter. He was arraigned before Magistrate Edmison and was remanded until this week to prepare for trial. He pleaded not guilty. It appears he has a wife and five children and has very little provision for them. He has been drinking lately, and when arrested he had a bottle of whiskey with him.

Indian River Mail Route.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., is interesting himself in promoting rural mail routes in his riding. A route is being formed covering a distance of eight miles eastward from Peterborough, along the Norwood road, and back by a highway further east. The people in the vicinity of Indian River also propose to have a mail route covering about four square miles of country, of which Indian River will be the centre. Mr. C. H. Pallin, of Indian River, is actively promoting this route and every man who resides along the route with perhaps one exception is in favor of the project. It is therefore sure to be a go, and of course will be a great boon to those who are served with a daily mail at their doors.

Borne to the Grave.

The remains of the late Mrs. Wilson, of London, were interred on Saturday afternoon, the funeral taking place from the home of her father, Mr. J. W. Buyers, 217 Townsend street, to the Little Lake cemetery, where interment took place. A very impressive service was conducted at the house, Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox Church, officiating. The funeral was largely attended, thus showing the high regard in which the deceased lady was held by her many friends. The floral tributes were beautiful, among which were wreaths from the following: The B. of L. E. and the B. of L. F. and E., of London, the Independent Order of Foresters, Knox Church, the Novel-Ti Co. (where the deceased was employed prior to her marriage) and from the C.P.R. employees of Peterborough. Following were some of the out-of town visitors: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Woollard, of Bobcaygeon; Mrs. J. Match, of Toronto, and Mr. Percy Wilson, of Toronto. The pall bearers were Messrs. Roy Lang, Walter Paton, Roy Menzies, J. Brownlee, Cecil Williamson and Percy Wilson.

Tuesday, January 12, a musical at-home will be given under the auspices of St. John's Church Association, in the school at 8 to 9.30 p.m.

Another New Mail Route.

A new rural mail route is being laid out which will serve a large and important section of the country. The route will start from Peterborough, going east along the Norwood road eight miles, then south to the 6th line two miles, then west one mile to the 7th line, to what is known as the Block road, and thence back along the 8th line to Peterborough. This route may be varied a little, but it is believed to be substantially correct. It is hoped that the route will be in operation about the beginning of the New Year.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

A COWARDLY ATTACK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed in a late issue of the Examiner, a letter over the signature of "Consistency," that deserves attention, for the reason that the statements made are untrue. Mr. Peck has for upwards of twenty years associated with the "British born," having filled every position, from a private member to that of Worthy President in the Sons of England Society. During these years he did much to promote the well-being of the society and was foremost in everything that had for its object the relief of those in distress.

It looks to me, Mr. Editor, as if the writer of the article referred to, was ashamed to come out in the open and sign his name to his base and untruthful charges.

James E. Bassett,
President S.O.E. Lansdowne Lodge No. 25.

IS IT RIGHT?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see there is considerable noise being made in regard to the conveyance of Ministers at funerals. If undertakers charge for a rig for this purpose and do not provide it, they are surely guilty of fraud. The question is: Do they provide a carriage for the minister or has he simply the privilege of riding with the undertaker? If the latter, then I say it is wrong to charge $1.50, or any sum whatever for this purpose.

Apart from this altogether, is it not lacking in dignity and in respect to the clergy to force them to become a part of the undertaker's outfit? Would it not be much more appropriate and immensely more respectful, and dignified to provide a separate carriage?

I am told that undertakers are in the habit of charging exhorbitant prices for their services. Of this, however, I will deal with later.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

CHINAMAN'S CURIOUS MISTAKE

In Chinese visiting etiquette the rank of the caller is denoted by the size of his card. Thus the visiting-card of a high mandarin would be an immense roll of paper, neatly tied up.

A gentleman who has travelled in China brought home a Chinese servant, and his wife soon after held a "reception." John Chinaman attended the door, and received with great disgust the small paste-boards of the visitors. Evidently with an opinion of his own of the low condition of his mistress's friends, he pitched the cards into a basket and with scant ceremony showed their owners into the drawing-room.

But presently the gas-man called with a bill—a big piece of cream-coloured paper. The "card" satisfied John. With deep reverence he received it. With low salaams he ushered the bearer not only into the drawing-room, but with profound bowings, to the dismay of the gas-man and horror of the hostess, right up to the centre of the room, where the lady was receiving her distinguished guests; and then John, with another humble reverence, meekly retired, doubtless supposing that the owner of the card was a person of very high distinction.

All He Said.

A Chinaman was called as a witness in the police court of Los Angeles in the case of a driver who had run over a dog. The judge asked him what time it was when he saw the man run over the dog.

"Me no sabe," replied the witness.

"I say," repeated the judge, "what time was it when you saw the man run over the dog?"

"Me no sabe," repeated John, smiling blankly.

"We shall have to have an interpreter," commented his honour, as he realised that the witness did not understand English; and accordingly another Chinaman was hailed into court to act as interpreter. "Ask the witness," commanded the judge, "when he saw this man run over the dog."

The interpreter turned to his fellow countryman and said, "We chung lo, ho me choo lung wow, o-ho me no show choo, loo, know so-foo bing gong tong yit ben."

To which the witness replied, "Wong lin kee, wo hoo, wing chong lung yue lee, kin sing, choy yoke cooy ying tang ding wah, sling cooy way can yick ling toy bing cooy bow gun, po long po gon hung mow kim quong quon lee chow yo ben tong."

The interpreter then turned to the judge and said, "Him say, 'Two o'clock.'"

WHAT DID HE MEAN?

"Two men got into a fight in front of the bank to-day," said a local tradesman at his family tea-table, "and I tell you it looked pretty nasty for one of them. The bigger one seized a great stick and brandished it. I felt that he was going to knock the other's brains out, and I jumped in between them."

The family had listened with rapt attention, and as the head paused in his narrative, the young heir, whose respect for his father's bravery is immeasurable, proudly remarked:

"He couldn't knock any brains out of you, could he, father?"

The head of the family gazed long and earnestly at the heir, as if to detect evidence of a dawning humorist; but, as the youth continued with great innocence to munch his bread and butter, he grasped and restored his tea.

Race Dying Out.

There is at least one native race that is not dying out. This is the Maori, of New Zealand. According to statistics obtained in the census of Maoris taken in last March, the total native population of New Zealand is said to be 49,350, an increase for five years of 1617. In addition there are 215 Maoris on the Chatham Islands. It is a matter of difficulty to ascertain the number of half-castes living at Maoris. Probably all half-castes, and a large proportion of the Maoris as well in the South Island, now live in European fashion. The health of the natives has been generally good. There has been a great advance in the observance of sanitary laws, and the Maoris are beginning to realize that the excessive mortality amongst their children has been due to unsanitary conditions.

CRITICISM UNFOUNDED

Toronto Saturday Night Takes Back Statements Made in That Paper.

The Independent Real Estate Company, in which Mr. H. P. Kennedy and other Peterborough people are interested, was criticised in the Saturday Night of a week ago, for making a mis-statement in an advertisement in reference to an Edmonton sub-division. This week's Saturday Night acknowledges its mistake, the company having shown its statement to be entirely correct, and there being no misrepresentation whatever.

The Saturday Night makes this correction:

Mixed Names Up.

The name Industrial Centre originally utilized by the Independent Real Estate Company of 43 Victoria street, Toronto, in advertising its Edmonton sub-division (this corporation has since assumed the title Industrial Heights), no doubt led the Land Commission of the Grand Trunk Pacific to reply to a query from Saturday Night as he did respecting the Independent Company's proposition, and quoted in last weeks issue, which was in substance that the Grand Trunk Pacific did not intend building a station on "Industrial Centre." This statement is no doubt correct; but the original assumption of the name "Central" the Independent Real Estate Company confounded the latter company and their Industrial Heights proposition with Industrial Centre, which is one and one-half miles to the northwest.

So it turns out that the G. U. Ryley, Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Saturday Night, both unwittingly did the Independent Real Estate Company an injustice. As a matter of fact, the Industrial Heights sub-division already has a railway ticket office on its property and the G.T.P. has promised increased shipping facilities as soon as development warrants.

Too many claimants for one name has its disadvantages, even in the real estate business.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—The confession of John J. and James B. McNamara in the famous dynamiting cases at Los Angeles will in no way affect the indictments pending here against Wm. J. Burns, whose investigations resulted in the arrests and Jas. Hoosick, special officer from Los Angeles, who are charged with kidnapping J. J. McNamara, here, according to prosecutor F. B. Baker.

Baker also asserts that three local indictments against John McNamara will stand.

Eminent Toronto Physicians

Failed to Cure Rheumatism.

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings as Ultimate Cure with "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

VOL XXXIV NO 280 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

CITY WANTS A REPRESENTATIVE IN THE SENATE

Council Takes a Hand and Passes Resolution to This Effect

The following resolutions passed unanimously by the City Fathers last night, speaks for itself:

Moved by Ald. Bradburn, seconded by Ald. Metheral,—That whereas the City of Peterborough has never had a representative in the Senate of Canada, and whereas this city is a very important commercial and manufacturing centre, is the largest city between Toronto and Ottawa or Montreal, and is the centre of a large and populous district.

This Council desires to impress upon the Government of the Dominion the strong claims which this city has to representation in the Senate, and to respectfully urge that a representative from this city should be appointed to that body at the earliest opportunity. And that the appointment of Mr. James Kendry, ex-M.P., who was for five years Mayor of the city, would meet with the general approval of the people.

Also that a copy of this resolution be sent to Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of Canada, and to the Cabinet Ministers from Ontario.—Carried.

ROADWAY OVER AUBURN POWER CO'S NEW DAM WOULD COST CITY $18,000 OR $19,000

By request of the City Council Mr. Larmouth, general manager of the Auburn Power Co. and the Radial Railway Co., submitted to the City Fathers last night an estimate of the cost to the city of a right-of-way for pedestrians and vehicles over the Auburn Power Company's new dam, now under construction. Mr. Larmouth pointed out that the scheme would entail extending the piers 4 foot 9 inches and other expenditure not allowed for in the original plans for this dam. Roughly speaking, he estimated that provision for a roadway to permit of two vehicles to pass on one side of a street railway track with an individual footway on the dam itself, would cost the city from $18,000 to $19,000. The railway track has already been arranged for. This $18,000 or $19,000 would be the actual cost of the additional outlay necessitated in these arrangements, the travelling public, and Mr. Larmouth offered that the Company should be entitled to a fixed assessment for ten years.

Ald. Morgan remarked that there would be nothing in it for the city. Would the Railway Company guarantee to run into Ward Five?

Mr. Larmouth—"We would be very glad to run into Ward Five if we could get access thereto across the Hunter street bridge."

Ald. Bradburn—"If this roadway is going to cost the city $18,000 or $19,000, we had better add a little more and build a bridge where it is most wanted—at King street or adjacent thereto."

Ald. Duncan—"We want a bridge at Sherbrooke street more badly than in the north end."

Ald. Buller—"Let us have an overhead bridge at Hunter street and move the present structure there lower down."

Moved by Ald. Anderson, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That this question be referred to the Board of Works to report on Thursday night.

POWER BY-LAW MAY BE SUBMITTED TO ELECTORS AT JANUARY ELECTIONS

The City Fathers, in Committee of the Whole last night, discussed a suggestion from Hon. Adam Beck that at the municipal elections a by-law be submitted to a general vote on the question "whether the Council shall enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission for the acquisition and transmission of power for municipal purposes or not." As no definite figures are yet to hand showing the cost of transmission of such power to the consumer, Council decided that the City Solicitor and City Clerk shall visit the Hydro-Electric Commission offices in Toronto either to-day or to-morrow in the hope of securing therefrom concrete information as to what power developed by the Hydro-Electric Commission can be distributed and sold at in Peterborough. In the event of the desired information in this respect being secured, Council will meet Thursday evening and pass a by-law dealing with this matter for submittal to the electorate on January 1st.

Peterborough Old Boys of Winnipeg Acknowledge Good Wishes.

Mayor Morrow has received the following letter from Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, K.C., at Winnipeg:—

His Worship W. G. Morrow,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I can assure you that the telegram of greeting which was read at the Old Boys' banquet, last night was very much appreciated by all present, and your suggestion of a warm welcome to us, when we return to permanently reside in the old town was received with enthusiastic cheers.

The dinner was a great success and I can assure you that the Old Boys are loyal to Peterboro, and that no other city will ever replace it in their affections.

Yours faithfully,
R. MAX DENNISTOUN.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Sommers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair thin, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers led me on! the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, were an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

THE GLOBE SUPPORTS MR. BURNHAM'S BILL

The Toronto Globe of Saturday has the following editorial note in reference to the bill introduced into the House by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.:

"Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has introduced into the Commons a bill, for which there should be very strong support, to abolish the $200 deposit required of candidates in Dominion elections. There is no deposit required in Ontario Provincial elections and none is needed to prevent "vexatious" contests. The deposit is a survival of the code of laws framed by the politically powerful to make still more feeble the politically weak."

To Flake off an Old Complexion

(From Life and Beauty.)

A woman need never cease to have a young-looking complexion if she will adopt the mercolized wax habit. The wax actually takes off the old complexion, with all its imperfections, and the newer and livelier skin which then appears, bears that rare beauty and irresistible loveliness that only a youthful skin can possess. The skin is indeed youthful, in reality as well as in appearance. The natural process of tissue-change, which slows up with the passing of the years, and in most conditions of ill-health, is hastened along by this mercolized wax treatment. Faded, yellowish or blotchy surface skin is flaked off in powder-like particles, a little each day, causing no inconvenience.

Mercolized wax, now procurable at any drug store, is the only known substance that accomplishes such results. It is applied at night like cold cream, and washed off in the morning.

NOMINATIONS HELD.

Two Candidates in West Peterboro and Three in the East.

As candidates for West Peterborough in the elections for the Ontario House, Mr. F. A. Peck was yesterday nominated by Mr. James Kendry and ex-Ald. H. Phelan for the Conservatives, and Mr. R. H. Hall by Mr. G. A. Gillespie and Mr. Hugh Robertson for the Liberals.

The proceedings of the Sheriff's office were quietly observed. The official agent for Mr. Peck is Mr. A. W. Hatton, while Mr. G. L. Hay will act for Mr. Hall.

The nominations at Norwood were James Thompson, M.P.P., of Havelock, Mr. Edward Hawthorne, Dummer, and Mr. David Andrews of Asphodel. Mr. F. D. Kerr was nominated but retired. Mr. Thompson is the Conservative candidate and sitting member, Mr. Hawthorne, is the Liberal candidate, while Mr. Andrews is Independent.

WAS THIRD MARQUIS TO DIE A VIOLENT DEATH.

His Father Suicided, and Preceding Title Holder Was Killed While Hunting.

Dublin, Dec. 4.—The Marquis of Waterford, who was found drowned to-day, had to cross a narrow bridge protected by only a low hand rail. It is believed that he stumbled and fell over and was rendered unconscious by his head striking the stones at the bottom of the stream, and was thus drowned. No suggestion of foul play has been put forward. The Marquis was most popular.

He is the third successive Marquis of Waterford to die a violent death. His father committed suicide after being crippled through an accident in the hunting field, and the preceding holder of the title broke his neck when jumping over a stone wall while hunting.

Board of Education.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will take place this evening, at the secretary's office 437 George street.

LAST REGULAR MEETING OF 1911'S CITY COUNCIL

THE USUAL YEAR-END BATCH OF BY-LAWS.

By-law Repealing the Bottle Clause in Milk By-law Passes Its Three Readings—Preparations for the January Elections—Grant of $75 to Poultry Association Assured.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night. There were present Mayor Marrow, Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Kerneghan, Graham, Brown, Edgar, Metheral, Bradburn, Duncan and Buller.

The Peterborough Poultry Association asked for a grant in aid of their January poultry show. This was referred to the Finance Committee on the understanding that the usual grant of $75 will be made at the first meeting in January.

L. Sherwood asked for a rebate of income tax, he not having been a resident of this city for some time—Referred to the Court of Revision.

A number of communications were referred to their respective Committees.

COMMITTEE REPORT.

The chairmen of the several committees reported their monthly business, as already published in these columns in detail.

LEGAL REPORT.

Ald. Graham submitted the following:

Gentlemen,—Your Legal Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the accounts of D. Bellegham and Jas. Akey for injury to their vehicles be left with the chairman of this committee with powers to act and that the City Treasurer be adthorized to pay them the amount ordered by the chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

BY-LAWS.

A by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement with the Bell Telephone Co., for an alarm service, with the new pumping station, at a rental of $40 a year passed its several readings.

A by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement with the Peterborough Light & Power Co., for the supply of electric light and power to the sewage pumping station passed its three readings.

A by-law to authorize the execution of contracts for snow ploughing passed Council.

A by-law to appoint Geo. B. Jamieson engineer of the pumping station at a salary of $100 a year passed its three readings.

A by-law appointing the polling stations, and officers thereat, for the election of Mayor, Aldermen, Water Commissioners and members of the Board of Education, passed its several readings.

A by-law repealing the bottle clause in the milk by-law, passed Council.

Council adjourned to 8 o'clock Thursday evening, when they will meet in special session.

CITY HALL SITE.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Kerneghan,—That the Clerk be instructed to write the City Trust Commissioners and enquire what has been done in reference to the purchase of the Birdsall lot as a site for a new city hall.—Carried.

NEW SNOW PLOUGH.

Ald. Metheral moved,—That the chairman of the Board of Works be authorized to purchase a snow plough.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., be asked to support the provision of Bill No. 5, now before the Dominion Parliament that a municipality shall not be ordered to pay any of the expense of protecting rail level crossings where the railway has been constructed before the passing of the act, and to use his influence to have it passed.—Carried.

SIR JAMES WHITNEY WINS 16 SEATS WITHOUT A FIGHT

(Toronto News)

The Provincial nominations to-day disclose the Liberal party hopelessly shattered.

In many constituencies, such as the West Torontos, East Grey and scores of others, Liberal candidates have had to be almost dragged into the contest.

In 28 or possibly 30 of the 106 ridings there is no Liberal candidate. In sixteen and possibly seventeen seats, the Conservative candidates take their seats without a contest.

It is the beginning of what appears to be an utter rout of the forces defeated in September.

Following is the revised list of Conservative acclamations as shown by the latest despatches:

Mrs. Emel Carlson Tells How Quickly and Completely They Cured Her Kidney Trouble.

Colonsay, Sask., Dec. 4.—(Special)—No remedy has done as much for the wheat growers of Saskatchewan as Dodd's Kidney Pills. They occupy a place in the family medicine chest on nearly every farm, and every day brings fresh evidence of the great work they are doing. One of the latest to sing their praises in this neighborhood is Mrs. Emel Carlson. Here is what she is telling her many friends:

"For about two years I was sorely troubled with Kidney Disease brought on by a strain. My heart bothered me. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and I was always tired and nervous. The least exertion would cause me to perspire freely, and my perspiration had an unpleasant odor. "Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. They are certainly the best medicine I ever used."

If you have any of Mrs. Carlson's symptoms your kidneys are wrong. Make them right with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WHOLESALE ATTEMPT TO BRIBE McNAMARA JURORS UNEARTHED.

Still Pumping McManigal—Hope to Get Information That Will Lead to the Conviction of Other Labor Leaders.

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—District Attorney John D. Fredericks to-day informed the Associated Press that Bert H. Franklin, a detective employed by the McNamara defence and now under arrest on a charge of attempting to bribe George N. Lockwood, a veniremen, with $4,000, actually paid Robert F. Bain, the first sworn juror in the case, $400 and promised $3,000 more at the end of the trial if he would vote for acquittal or cause a disagreement of the jury.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—Further details were learned to-day of the alleged plot to influence the McNamara jury the supposed frustration of which by the arrest of Burt H. Franklin, a detective of the McNamara defence, is said to have been an important factor in forcing a confession of guilt from the McNamara brothers.

A signed statement was declared to be in the hands of District Attorney John D. Fredericks, made by Mrs. Robert F. Bain, wife of the first sworn juror in the case charging that $500 was paid to her by an agent of the McNamara defence to influence her husband to secure a disagreement if not acquittal by the jury, of James B. McNamara then on trial.

HEAR HON. MACKENZIE KING VOICE THE VOICE OF LABOUR

Don't miss hearing Mackenzie King, at the Opera House next Thursday night, December 7th. He was Minister of Labor in the late Laurier Administration. Labor had in him more than a Cabinet Minister. It had an enthusiast.

Because he is a friend of the workingman and in full sympathy with Mr. R. R. Hall's advanced stand on the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the Factory Inspection Act, the former Minister of Labor comes here to speak.

As a workingman, as a friend of popular rights, you can say, "hear, hear," to anything Mackenzie King utters.

Mackenzie King's sympathy with the workingman goes back to his college days when he delved into the political economy books and then and there developed that noble indignation for the under dog which led him to his life work.

His sympathy goes further back than that. It was in the blood It had to come out. His grandfather was William Lyon Mackenzie the patriot of 1837, exiled, but afterwards received again with honor as the champion of popular liberty in Ontario. Mackenzie King has the root of the matter in him. The civil liberties which his grandfather suffered poverty and exile to secure, Mackenzie King makes it his duty to follow up and enlarge.

Go and hear Mackenzie King. You will hear an eloquent young man who looks like a boy and talks like John Burns. And after hearing him vote for R. R. Hall, who stands just where Mackenzie King does on the great question of the workingman's rights.

LYNCH DENOUNCES THE USE OF VIOLENCE.

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 4.—James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, attended a meeting of the Buffalo local yesterday.

Referring to the McNamara case last night, President Lynch said: "Union labor does not countenance the destruction of property or the taking of human life. I have nothing to say as to their punishment, as I do not know the details of their confessions."

RIFLE WENT OFF, NEARBY BOY SHOT.

Two Lads Were Handling Gun, But a Third Was One to Suffer.

Smith's Falls, Dec. 4.—Two young boys, named Burroughs and McKowne, of this place, were handling a rifle when one attempted to wrest it away from the other.

While doing so, the rifle was accidentally discharged, and the bullet entered the cheek of a boy named John Moran, who was standing fifteen feet away. The bullet came out of the eye, destroying the sight. The injured boy was removed to St. Francis Hospital, where he now lies in a precarious condition.

A Magnificent Country.

Letters received by the Grand Trunk Pacific Ry. headquarters from one of the prominent artists of New York, who has just returned from a trip over the Grand Trunk Pacific as far as the Canadian Rockies, contains the following:

"I went out to the end of steel on the Grand Trunk Pacific, then took the trail over to Maligne Lake, which I found to be the most beautiful lake I ever saw in my life. I had a delightful trip, and made several sketches. Returning I stopped off at Wainwright, and from there went out duck shooting in different directions, and had a most delightful time. Next year I hope to be able to get away earlier and see more of your magnificent country."

TRANSCONA PARK, - - WINNIPEG

The $5,000,000 work shops now being built by the Transcontinental Railway will soon be completed and Transcona inside of one year, will have a population of 20,000.

A new street car extension will be built next year from Winnipeg along the Nairn Road through Transcona.

The Grand Trunk are building a $20,000 station to the south of this sub-division.

The Canadian Pacific has just completed the purchase of the S.E. Quarter of Section No 17, and will erect a fine new station to accommodate traffic to and from Winnipeg and to provide access to the new Winnipeg Golf Grounds that will be opened next year.

The G.T.P. Shops to be Opened Jan. 6, 1912

These shops now employ over 1,000 men, and when completed will be, next to the Angus shops at Montreal, the largest and best equipped railway shops in the Dominion of Canada. They are not all completed. This will take some two years or more, when they will employ upwards of 5,000 men. Factories have been started in Transcona that will also employ a large number of men. It is only a question of time before Transcona has a population larger than Regina, Saskatoon or Moose Jaw. Transcona property has been on the jump for some time, and, as soon as things have fairly started, property here will increase in value very materially. Get a lot or two in Transcona Park before prices advance. They are very low now. Transcona Park is close to town, and you can watch development from day to day. As soon as the street car line is built along the Nairn Road you will be able to build in this sub-division and be in easy reach of Main Street and Portage Avenue.

TORREN'S TITLE

No incumbrance on this property. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time you may, on giving notice to the Vendor, receive all your money back with six per cent. interest added. We have had special forms printed including this as part of the Agreement of Sale and these will be issued by the owners of the property on receipt of your first payment.

Inside lots about the same distance west of Main Street, Winnipeg, as Transcona Park is east, are selling from $20.00 to $70.00 per foot. The small buyer has not much chance of making big money buying at these prices, as the demand for residential property over $50.00 per foot is limited; on the other hand buying at five to seven dollars a foot in a growing manufacturing and residential centre like Transcona Park, the small investor has a good chance of making a big thing. Get right into the game and secure an early choice.

You have no doubt noticed advertisements of subdivisions in and near different towns throughout the west. Have you ever compared prices and localities? If so, you must have realized that the chances of any immediate or rapid advance in value must be in favor of the locality in or near a large city like Winnipeg, with its Manufacturies, the Railways and Business Centres, as compared with a small prairie town. Transcona must eventually be part of Winnipeg. There is no buy on the market to-day equal to Transcona Park, as the prices and terms we offer.

Make early application and secure a choice site.

Lots 30x100 to a 16 Foot Lane

$5.00 to $7.00

Per Foot.

Cash $15.00 and $10.00 Per Month.

Or One-Fifth Cash and Balance 6, 12, 18 and 24 Months. No Encumbrance on the Property

TORRANS TITLE

If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time the owners will refund your money and pay you 6 per cent. interest.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, cast to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a collar for your daughter?" meaning, of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a cigar for yourself?"

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly different thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West Into India.

The same political developments are to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia, it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic was largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and was worn largely to the adornment of both sexes.

Two Good Reasons

"Dorothy," said that young lady's mamma, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low when young Smart was here last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist mamma, dear; doesn't it?" replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

De Rhyter: "You see, I drop into poetry occasionally."

Editor: "Yes, so I see! You appear to drop clear through it."

BONAR LAW NEW LEADER

Says that the Canadian Elections Were a Declaration for Reciprocal Preference.

(Special Cable Service.)

LONDON.—Andrew Bonar Law, the new Unionist leader in the House of Commons, who succeeded Mr. Balfour, made his first speech at a leader at the annual conference of the Conservative associations of Great Britain at Leeds.

Mr. Law dwelt at length upon the Canadian elections, paying a warm tribute to ex-Premier Laurier as being the first to give preference to Great Britain and thereby setting an example to be followed by the other dominions. His admiration for Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not abated a jot when he rejoiced at the result of the elections. It was an ignorant and impudent claim, he said, that the elections did not bear upon the cause of preference. They were, and are, an emphatic reminder that reciprocal preference is the aim of Great Britain's autonomous dominions.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Turkish ambassador, Yousof Zia Pasha, recently laid before the state department here a formal request from his government to prevent the alleged barbarities by the Italian troops in Tripoli; this request was made in conjunction with one made in London, though the British authorities determined not to interfere at present.

McNAMARA DEFENCE FUND

Federation of Labor Fights Shy of Resolution.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA. — Labor leaders are trying to prevent the introduction into the convention of the American Federation of Labor now in session here of a resolution framed by the California delegation appropriating $50,000 for the defence of the McNamara brothers.

A large sum has been raised already for this purpose by private subscriptions and the leaders contend, it is said, that whatever money is needed for the McNamara defence can be obtained in this manner without drawing on the funds in the none too well stocked treasury of the federation.

Two brief sessions were held by the convention today, but practically no busines was transacted.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

BERESFORD AND BRITISH NAVY

Lacked Efficiency in Many Ways at Time of Scare—McKenna Replies that there is No Foundation for Allegations.

(By special cable)

London. — Lord Charles Beresford, speaking at South-sea with reference to the Moroccan situation, said that he had availed mentioning the naval crisis recently because under the conditions that then prevailed all should forget party and support the Government. He felt that so strongly that he had refrained from publishing his book setting forth the real state of affairs.

Now the crisis was past, but it had been a blessing in disguise, because it would result in placing the services on a right footing.

At the time of the crisis, continued Lord Charles Beresford, the British fleet was divided. It had no reserve of coal or oil fuel; there were no guards over the magazines or dockyards, or on those parts of the railways which might have been destroyed in a few minutes, and in many other ways the navy lacked efficiency.

PAUL THOMAS
Who critizes Beresford

"All might be remedied," continued Lord Charles, "by having a war staff at the Admiralty. Every other nation has one and they must all be amazed that we, who owe our national existence to the sea, have none."

The German foreign minister's revelations have caused a great sensation in London, as showing how Europe was on the brink of war over Morocco, and Sir Edward Grey's version of the transactions next Monday in the House of Commons is awaited with intense interest.

The London newspapers are reserving comment until they have heard the British side. The Telegraph, in an editorial, remarks that Europe looked into the abyss and recoiled with horror.

That war was so narrowly averted gives a fresh impetus to every movement directed to the attainment of a permanent basis of peace between Great Britain and Germany, the paper adds.

Lord Charles Beresford's speech is regarded in some quarters as an attempt to justify the recent removal of Reginald McKenna from the Admiralty. Mr. McKenna, however, asserts that there is no foundation for the allegations respecting the unpreparedness of the navy

CHINA'S PREMIER SPEAKS OUT

Yuan-Shi-Kai's Answer to Message Advising Abdication of the Throne —Says China Not Yet Prepared for Republic.

Peking. — Yuan Shi Kai, the Chinese Premier, says:

"I am sure that the most enthusiastic Republican, if familiar with conditions in China, would doubt the wisdom of the adoption of such a regime here. The form of government suitable to America, where all the people understand the governmental problems, would be a serious experiment in China, where through centuries of a crude patriarchal monarchy, whose very slackness has developed in the people little respect for government, and less understanding of their responsibilities toward the government, has existed.

"It has been already demonstrated that agitation for a republic has conveyed to the masses only the idea that popular government means no taxes and no government.

"It is the vast majority and not the small minority, which must be considered in determining the most workable form of government for any country. While a republic might suit a modern, educated people, such a class, it must be remembered, is comparatively a small fraction of China's population.

"In this element the spirit of nationalism has grown up, wiping out in some measure sectional and provincial prejudices, but among the masses these prejudices are strong.

"I fear the embarkation of China on republican experiment would only lead to the dissolution of the Empire, foreign intervention and partition of the country. Therefore I believe a constitutional monarchy is the best.

"While the Manchu dynasty has done nothing to draw to it the hearts of the people, yet I cannot see any better hope in anything that could now be substituted."

As soon as the heel begins to wear in this way have it attended to at once; the cost will be but a few pence, but the result will speak for itself. If shoes are worn unbuttoned they quickly lose their shape, yet I have known many 'tis who seem ignorant of this fa

SIR JAMES WATSON

This eminent English physician is one of the greatest authorities on diseases of the respiratory organs.

In a recent address, Sir James Watson stated that the commonest of all disorders is Catarrh, and that not one person in ten thousand passes the winter without an attack of some sort.

Sir James advocates local treatment very strongly, and says that it is all nonsense trying to treat Catarrhal diseases by stomach medicines, atomizers, douches and snuffs.

Local treatment is applied most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which is inhaled into the nose, throat and lungs, and drives the disease completely out of the system.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common sense treatment; it clears the air passages, makes breathing easy, and relieves at once. Physicians prescribe Catarrhozone with gratifying results, and pronounce it a specific for Catarrh in any part of the system.

Mr. Thos. Cox, one of the most prominent citizens of Minden, Ont., says: "I want to recommend Catarrhozone. It is a nice, clean cure for Catarrh. Cured me perfectly, and is well deserving of a trial from everyone at all affected by Catarrh or throat trouble."

Mr. G. F. Fadden, of Royan, Que., writes: "In my opinion Catarrhozone is the only cure for Catarrh. I had the disease in its worst form but only got relief from Catarrhozone. It cured me quickly and permanently, and I have no fear of the Catarrh ever returning.

The foregoing brief extracts, like thousands of others that the proprietors of Catarrhozone have received, prove that the proper remedy to use is Catarrhozone. It is quite different from the ordinary Catarrh preparation, and is warranted to prove entirely satisfactory. If it fails your money will be refunded, so if not benefited you won't be out of pocket.

All druggists sell Catarrhozone. Complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, liquid for recharging, etc., costs $1; trial size, 25 cents. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

THE MORNING TIMES

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1911.

NO UNLIMITED SUPPLY.

An interview with an engineer given recently in a western paper to the effect that there is abundant timber on the line of the Hudson Bay Railway is an illustration of the misapprehension in regard to this matter that exists in the public mind. Because there are large areas of land in the north on which there is timber of some kind, the conclusion is reached that it is all of present value and that the country has an unlimited supply. As a matter of fact a careful inspection of the timber along the line of the Hudson Bay Railway made in the years 1910 and 1911, by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, shows that there is not enough mature timber along the line of that railway to build the road. There are no prairie districts of any extent along the route, there are trees everywhere, but owing to repeated fires the forest is, except on the merest fraction of the area, too small for commercial purposes and unless it can be protected from fire until it reaches maturity, will never be of any use to the country. Explorations in other parts of the northern forested districts tell the same tale. Everywhere fire has worked havoc, and the forest is a mere wreck of what it might have been if fires could be prevented. And unless adequate measures are taken now to protect the young and immature forests which form the major part of the stand, the outlook for the future is none too good.

If the northern forests are to continue to be a permanent source of wealth to the country, it is absolutely necessary that the fire ranging system should be extended and that proper methods of management of the forest should be applied, and public education to the value of the forest is even more necessary.

In Sweden, which has large extents of northern forest, practically uninhabited, similar to those in northern Canada, has about eliminated the fire danger in such districts mainly by educating her people to the value of the forests.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON G. T. P. DURING 1911.

The following construction work on the Grand Trunk Ry. System has been under way since January, 1911, and will be completed by the end of this year:

Overhead Bridges.

At Brighton, Oshawa, Scarboro, Groveton, Grimsby, Mallorytown and Palmerston, Ont.

Subways.

East Brighton, Vt., Pownal and Cobourg, Ont.

New Stations

Cobourg, Guelph, Manilla Jct., Bruce Lake, Thorndale, Wyebridge, Hepworth, Maxville, Dublin, Ont., and Beloeil, Chaudiere Jct. and Beauharnois, Que.

New Freight Sheds.

have been constructed at Cobourg, Paris Jct., Glencoe, and Bowmanville, Ont., and West Detroit, Mich., also a fruit shed at Detroit, Mich.

A large engine round house has been erected at Tiffin, Ont. Coal chutes have been built at Ottawa, Ont., and Elsdon, Ill.

Y.M.C.A. buildings have been constructed at Port Huron, Mich., and Elsdon, Ill.

The only addition to the mileage of the Grand Trunk Railway proper has been the building of the cut-off between Tay and Birch, Ont., about 9 miles, shortening the haul between Midland and Toronto.

How Wrinkles are Caused—and Removed

(From American Home.)

"Why did no one think of this before" writes a clear-thinking reader. "Wrinkles are caused by the skin becoming loose. Obviously the remedy is to tighten the skin. Equally it is obvious that the only thing which will tighten the skin is a powerful astringent.

Now, it is well known that the only powerful astringent which is absolutely harmless, and beneficial as well, is pure powdered saxolite, obtainable from any druggist. Dissolve one ounce in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in it daily and—behold! The result is almost magical. The skin becomes firm and smooth, the face feels snug, comfortable and solid, instead of loose and flabby. Simple, isn't it? As I asked—why did no one think of it before?

"One should be careful, however, to use no other astringents than pure saxolite, as the former do no good and are really injurious more often than not."

The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Was Incorporated Under the Laws of Manitoba by Special Act of the Legislature Assented to March 24th, 1911, With a Capitalization of

One Million Dollars ($1,000,000)

Divided Into Ten Thousand Shares of $100.00 Each, With Power to Increase the Capital to Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000), for the Purpose of Carrying on a Trust and Agency Business in All Its Branches, as Clearly Set Forth in the Company's Special Act of Incorporation, and as Hereinafter Dealt With in This Prospectus.

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a fixed interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are:—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed:—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	20	500.00	270.00
5	125.00	45.00	40	1000.00	540.00
10	250.00	90.00	50	1250.00	675.00
15	375.00	135.00	75	1875.00	1012.50
20	500.00	180.00	100	2500.00	1350.00
25	625.00	225.00	200	5000.00	2700.00

Table showing total purchase price of the following number of shares at the price of $115.00 per share:—

No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price	No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price
1	$ 115.00	20	2300.00
5	575.00	40	4600.00
10	1150.00	50	5750.00
15	1725.00	75	11500.00
20	2300.00	100	23000.00
25	2875.00	200	46000.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from:

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies:—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid-up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.c.	Per ct. value per share	Per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap.	Total assets held in capital and trust accounts	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14½	*	28.32	$43,526,708	13
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	$ 600,000	8	180	17.80	41,661,257	29
National Trust Co., Toronto	1,500,000	1,500,000	1,200,000	10	200	18.37	24,057,110	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	650,000	10	180	19.64	13,615,147	10
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg	500,000	200,000	140,000	8	160	20.40	8,123,180	8
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg	1,500,000	1,200,927	133,180	7	130	13.20	6,191,724	6

These shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $360 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of new business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures, it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this large Canadian company, the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Be not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

APPLICATION FOR ORDINARY SHARES

To the Directors of THE IMPERIAL CANADIAN TRUST COMPANY

I, ...

do hereby apply for ..... Ordinary Shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, in the Capital Stock of the Imperial Canadian Trust Company, at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115.00) per Share, being at a premium of Fifteen Per Cent. (15 per cent.), and I do hereby request you to allot or transfer to me the said number of Shares and I hereby covenant and agree with the said, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, to accept the Shares now applied for, or any lesser number that may be allotted or transferred to me, and to pay to said Company for such Shares, as follows: Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per Share on application, which shall include the said premium of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) per Share, and the balance owing on the Shares, in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of Nine Dollars ($9.00) per Share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from the date of allotment of said Shares.

I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint the Manager and Secretary and Treasurer of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, and each of them and the successor in office of any of them, my true and lawful Attorney, for me and in my name, place and stead, and on my behalf to sign and subscribe my name to the Subscribers' Agreement in the Stock Books of the said Company, for the aforesaid Shares in the within-named Company, and in accordance with the terms set forth in the Stock application, and to accept such Shares as may be allotted or transferred to me, and to register me therein as the holder of the said Shares.

It is my understanding that:

(a) Applications for Stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors, a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed the Shareholder forthwith.

(b) The holder of these Shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the Shares.

(c) Instalments on Shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such instalments have been paid, a fully paid Certificate will be issued to the holder of these Shares.

(d) These Certificates are transferable only on the Books of the Company by the owner in person, or by Attorney, on surrender of the Certificate of Stock, properly endorsed. Transfers all not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief histories are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 660 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favourite form of play. Of these fourteen at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest it may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another. "Let us go out and kill something," is the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 162 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four is yachting or sailing a recognized diversion. Canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming, to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 96 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

The fishing waters of the Caspian Sea are divided into plots and let out by the government at auction. Two firms combined and bid in the right to fish in two-thirds of all the fish water. This crowded out the smaller fishermen and made a monopoly. Thus both land and water are being monopolized.

Waste in Armaments.

Despite all the peace movements of the day the expenditures of the nations upon armaments is to-day, with no great war in progress, greater in the aggregate, according to a statement made by the editor of the London Statist, than they have ever been in times of war.

HE WAS SURPRISED.

House Was Ransacked While Family Sit on Doorstep.

While Mr. Ovide Tanguay, in company with his family was enjoying the fresh air on the front doorstep of his on Gilford Street, Montreal, a nervy second story man introduced himself through a window in the rear and ransacked the place from top to bottom. When Mr. Tanguay made up his mind to retire he was dumbfounded to note the appearance of his bedroom. All the drawers had been emptied and contents were strewn pell-mell on the floor while all the jewelry and other valuable articles had been taken. Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."

Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought it was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Mr. C. V. A. Mitchell, of the Bank of Montreal, branch, Port Hope, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. J. Mitchell, Park street.

Not Room for Both

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

Football Game Played by Nobles

"The Festival called Tanabata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented on a forked twig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionised the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realised that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution

THE CRIMINAL [illegible]

Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them; and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown tints, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacteria, because it has humps on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of the cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebrates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a young Mark Twain.

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total isn ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzenbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding; also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau plants these last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest, and certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, coming as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the good-byes and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Sugar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

There he also graduated B.C.L. in 1878, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1896, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being chosen lecturer on constitutional law, and about the same time was recommended for Q. C. by the Tupper administration.

Mr. McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was, indeed, one of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. Forming one of the deputation to the Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1886, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real live interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a Liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire"; "Commercial Union with the U. S. with a word on Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "No Revenue Tariff within the Empire"; and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships among the Presbyterians.

NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1902 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat.

The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

CORONATION,
ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited
154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

MRS. CHESTER GETS DIVORCE IN NEW YORK STATE.

Creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" Must Pay $4,000 a Year.

New York, Dec. 2.—Final decree was entered to-day by Justice Guy in the divorce proceedings separating Mrs. Elizabeth F. Chester from Geo. Randolph Chester, creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," prohibiting Chester from marrying again in this State until the death of the first Mrs. Chester.

Mrs. Chester is permitted to remarry.

Chester returned from Europe on November 1 with another wife, formerly Miss Lillian Deremo, to whom he was married in Paris.

This marriage he later described as an "emotional indiscretion."

Mrs. Chester is given $4,000 a year for the education of the two sons, to whose custody they were awarded, and her own maintenance.

Teheran Expects Russian Advance.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—The excitement of the populace at the news of the Russian advance on the capital is intense. The streets are filled with crowds. The walls of the city and Legations are covered to-day with red placards: "Death or Independence."

Charged With Theft.

County Constable Cochrane arrested Gilbert Horton, cheese and butter maker of Lakefield Dairy Co., on a charge of stealing $115 from the company and also of stealing a quantity of butter. He was arraigned before Magistrate Edmison and was remanded until this week to prepare for trial. He pleaded not guilty. It appears he has a wife and five children and has very little provision for them. He has been drinking lately, and when arrested he had a bottle of whiskey with him.

have produced the crisis of to-day, the first is the absolute segregation of the Chinese through these centuries. It has not been relative but absolute. They were shut in by mountains and their water craft were not adapted for long voyages. So nobody came and nobody went.

FIRE IN SEMINARY FRIGHTENS GIRLS.

Gaspipe Exploded, and Sixty Girls Turned Out of Beds and Bathtubs.

Poughkeepsie, Dec. 2.—Miss Grace Donaldson, of Wilmette, Ill., didn't get to finish her morning bath to-day for just after she got in the tub at Glen Eden seminary, a gas pipe exploded and the flames that followed routed her and sixty other drowsy girls from the dormitory in their "nighties."

The explosion occurred directly under the bed of Miss Ruth Ashby, of Fairmount, Neb., and she was tossed out of her blankets. Miss Berma Skinner, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, whose room adjoins that of Miss Ashby, was also shaken from her bed.

Joseph Rourke to Get His Hundred Thousand.

New York, Dec. 2.—A Jury in the Supreme Court gave a verdict to-day for Joseph Rourke in his suit to recover $100,000 from Herbert Turrell on Turrell's promisory note, given to William J. Cummins, the convicted banker, in September, 1910.

Assassins Slay Two Here Persians.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—Two more Persian politicians were assassinated to-day. Hadji Mohmad Tagi, a prominent reactionary, was killed in the capital this morning. Prince Firman Firma, at one time Minister of Justice of the Province of Azerbaijan, was assassinated at Kashin, a town 90 miles northwest of Teheran.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 2500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling this property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

NO LINIMENT LIKE "NERVILINE"

FIFTY YEARS' USE PROVES IT — THE STRONGEST, SAFEST, BEST.

1,000,000 Bottles Sold Annually.

The unexampled success of "Nerviline" is due to the fact that it is five times stronger, three times more penetrating, more pain relieving than any other liniment.

One million bottles used every year—think what this means! Surely stronger proof is not possible that Nerviline is a trusty liniment, a household remedy upon which mothers can depend in case of accident or sudden sickness. Scarcely an ache or a pain that Nerviline won't cure—among the hundreds of ailments for which it is guaranteed are the following:—

Headache	Neuralgia
Sciatica	Rheumatism
Lumbago	Chest Colds
Sore Back	Toothache
Earache	Cramps
Diarrhoea	Bowel Disorders

Doctors will tell you that nothing but the purest and most healing antiseptic drugs are used in Nerviline—that's why it is so safe for general family use, for the baby as well as the parent. If you haven't tried Nerviline, do so now—your neighbors are almost sure to know of its manifold merits and uses.

Refuse any substitute for Nerviline, sold the world over. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Convicted for Stealing.

At the Police Court yesterday, John A. McDonald, a young man about 20 years of age, was convicted of stealing $30 from B. Emrpyes, a Polack. McDonald elected to be tried summarily, and pleaded not guilty. He admitted, however, that he had been drinking heavily and did not know exactly what had happened. He said that he had a mother and two children to support in Montreal and he was just preparing to go home, as his job on the construction work on the C.P.R. had been completed. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

OBITUARY.

The death occurred at seven o'clock Sunday morning at 598 Downie street, of Mr. Henry Pearson, son of Mr. John Pearson, of Kirkcaldy, Scotland. The deceased had been ill for about six months, previous to which he was employed as a laborer in Hamilton's Foundry. He was in his 48th year and was born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland. He has been in Canada about four years and in this city for one year. Surviving are his wife and three children, John, Harry and Maggie, this city; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, three sisters and one brother, Miss B. Pearson, Mrs. Lawson, Kirkcaldy, Scotland; Mrs. Balfour, Buddington, Scotland, and Mrs. John Pearson, of Leeds, England.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from 598 Downie street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

William Forest.

Another highly esteemed resident of Peterborough in the person of Mr. William Forest, passed away yesterday morning at his residence, 191 Albert street.

The deceased was formerly of Kingston, Ont. His illness extended over a period of only eight weeks. Deceased was 58 years of age and has lived in Peterborough but two years.

Surviving him are one son, George of Peterborough, and three daughters namely, Mrs. Fred Hillier, of the city; Mrs. Wm. Bearance, of Souris, Man.; and Miss Mary, of Uxbridge, Ont.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Mrs. Hillier, 165 Sherbrooke street, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. H. J. Keith will officiate.

Charles Taylor.

On Wednesday last there passed away an old and highly esteemed resident of Chemong in the person of Charles Taylor.

The deceased, who had reached the advanced age of 77 years, was a lifelong resident of Chemong, and had quite a reputation for hunting, fishing, boating, etc.

He is survived by three sons, Noah, James and Abraham, all of Chemong and three daughters, Mrs. Susan Smoke of Rosemath, Mrs. Margaret Jarvis, of Lindsay, and Mrs. Anna Knott, of Chemong. Mr. Taylor's father was a centenarian.

The funeral took place at Chemong on Friday afternoon last.

Nomination Law.

As the last Monday in December is Christmas Day, the nominations of candidates for municipal councils will be held on Friday, the 22nd of December next, as provided by section 124 of the Consolidated Municipal Act. The Councils of towns, townships and villages are required to meet on the 15th day of December and to immediately thereafter publish detailed statements of their respective municipalities. This statement is intended to be in the hands of the ratepayers before Nomination Day.

In connection with the "Chateau Laurier," the new $2,000,000 Grand Trunk Hotel at Ottawa, it has been decided to establish an ice freezing plant, and the Porbes system of sterilization. This means that every drop of water that comes into the hotel for any purpose is first filtered twice, then sterilized and cooled, the ice not only absolutely pure, but rendering it not only absolutely pure a beautiful clear, transparent crystal, from all sanitary standpoints, but clear and free from any coloration.

As regards ice, the water from which it is made will be first filtered twice, then converted into steam and then condensed and frozen, rendering the ice not only absolutely pure, but

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up; or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE MASS MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT IN THE OPERA HOUSE

WERE BANQUETTED BY LADIES OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Last evening about 200 members of the congregation of the above church, sat down to a splendid repast prepared and served by the lady members in an excellent manner. The tables deserve special mention, being most tastefully arranged and decorated.

The object of the meeting was to give Mr. MacDonald a hearty send-off to Korea, where he is going to act as a missionary.

After the toast to the King had been duly honored, Mr. Cowan, the chairman, in introducing Mr. MacDonald, spoke of the power of missions generally, observing that $100,000 spent on them produces more lasting good than a million spent on armaments.

Mr. Sheriff Hall, in a few pointed remarks on the need of sympathy for the missionaries in their arduous work, proposed "The Missionary," Mr. MacDonald, who was listened to with rapt attention by those present, giving a graphic description of the district in which his future labors will be pursued, and telling them that over a million people in the Northern Province of Korea were being assigned to the Canadian missionaries.

To the overtures of the United States 25 years ago, Korea replied: "Korea is quite satisfied with the civilization of 4,000 years." Now Korea, like Japan, has awakened. The first Protestant missionary landed in 1885, and in 1907 the Great Revival broke out and is still progressing, so much so that in ten years, at the same rate, Korea will be a Christian nation.

To show the love of the Bible by the natives, he related an incident of a convert reciting the whole of the Sermon on the Mount.

The Church in Korea is so much in earnest in becoming self-supporting, that men even sold their oxen, and performed the labors themselves in order to provide funds for their church.

The churches are growing so rapid-

$25 REWARD FOR THE CONVICTION OF PARTY OR PARTIES GUILTY OF DAMAGING LAVORITIES AT QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night, Mr. R. Fair, reported that considerable damage had been done to property at the Queen Alexandra School. Last summer many windows were broken and the past autumn wilful plugging of the lavatories sewer connection on two occasions had entailed upon the Property Committee considerable expense. The attention of the Chief of Police had been drawn to these matters but the identity of the perpetrator or perpetrators of the damage had not been discovered. Mr. Fair suggested that the Board offer a reward for the conviction of any person doing damage to the school property.

Mr. Hill, while agreeing with the suggestion, thought the janitors should give attention to such matters He felt convinced that the plugging in the lavatories referred to by Mr. Fair had been done within school hours, and thought that a janitor's presence adjacent to the lavatories at noon hour and during recess would have prevented the perpetration of such acts as complained of.

Moved by Mr. Fair, seconded by Dr. Morrison,—That the Property Committee be authorized to offer a reward of $25 for the conviction of any person or persons guilty of destroying or damaging school property, especially in reference to the damage done to the lavatories in the Queen Alexandra School the past autumn. —Carried.

There were present at the meeting Trustees Col. Miller, R. Fair, T. H. Adams, Dr. Morrison, Dr. G. Burnham, W. H. Hill.

Miss Olive Fisher wrote tendering her resignation as a teacher in the Queen Alexandra School.—Accepted.

Miss Mabel A. Rainey accepted a position on the Public School teaching staff.—Received.

In the absence of Chairman, Mr. John Crane, Dr. Burnham presided.

The treasurer was authorized to issue a cheque to Miss Jean Armstrong for the amount of fees paid by her to the Principal of the Collegiate Institute, her father being a ratepayer in this city.

HYDRO POWER

By-Law Will Likely be Submitted to the People

A special meeting of the City Council is announced for to-morrow night to deal with the Hydro power by-law which it is proposed to submit to the ratepayers. The idea is to have the vote taken on the day of the municipal elections.

In order to clear up certain features of the matter, City Clerk Armstrong and City Solicitor Hall are in Toronto in consultation with Hon. Adam Beck. Should their report be favorable, the Minister of Power will be invited to come to Peterborough and address the ratepayers, and explain all the details of the proposed Hydro power agreement.

The Times commends the action of the Council in endeavoring to get the important matter of power put into shape at once.

LARGE AUDIENCE TO HEAR ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Hon. A. B. Morine Delivers Telling Address

MR. PECK WELL RECEIVED

Considerable Enthusiasm Manifested —Many Ladies Present—The Audience Strongly in Favor of the Conservative Candidate.

THE Opera House last night was comfortably filled when Mr. James Kendry, President of the Liberal Conservative Association took his seat and called the meeting to order. On the platform besides the candidate, Mr. E. A. Peck, and the speaker of the evening, Hon A. B. Morine, were seated the following gentlemen: Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, Robt. Ruddy, K.C., W. H. Moore, K.C., Jas. Edgar, L. M. Hayes, K.C., Geo. W. Hatton, Ald. Buller, Joseph Miller, H. Phelan, W. H. Hill, Walter Fisher, R. J. Soden, T. F. Matthews, Robt. Fair and others.

A fairly large audience greeted the speakers, and considerable enthusiasm prevailed, especially in the case of the Hon. A. B. Morine, K.C., who who held the undivided attention of the gathering throughout the whole length of a clear and lucid campaign speech, which elicited considerable demonstrative endorsation.

Mr. Jas. Kendry, ex-M.P., made a very efficient chairman and opened the proceedings with a brief, but exceedingly appropriate address.

The Opera House orchestra contributed the patriotic selections as is customary to such occasions.

MR. E. A. PECK.

The Liberal-Conservative candidate for West Peterborough, was enthusiastically received. His address showed his thorough conversance with whatever issues are before the electorate, and he handled his opponent's arguments in a gentlemanly and skilful manner. Referring to the Liberal's Workman's Compensation plank, he respectfully offered that the interests of the laboring class had not been lost sight of by Sir. James Whitney, to whom, amongst other desirable legislation, must be credited the Builders' Act providing for compensation in case of accident to workmen through the erection of faulty scaffolding.

In reply to a voice from the audience as to his attitude on the bi-lingual school question, Mr. Peck said he would support the teaching of English and English only wherever practicable. But there are French predominates, and in such instances it is necessary that the French language be used up to a certain stage in their education to teach French children the English tongue in which as residents of an English province they should be thoroughly instructed. The present law in this respect, Mr. Peck urged, is reasonable enough; it insists that the teacher shall instruct in English, and English only, excepting in such cases where the pupils do not understand English. In view of the bi-lingual education, Mr. Whitney has deputed Dr. Merchant to investigate school conditions throughout the province, and to report at next session. We have the Premier's assurance that the doctor's report will be adopted and acted upon in the interests of this English speaking Province, and concluded the candidate, if elected I pledge myself to use every effort to see that its provisions are carried out.

HON. A. B. MORINE.

Hon. A. B. Morine on rising to speak received an exceedingly flattering reception. He prefaced his inspiring address with the assurance that while at one time leaders of the Opposition in Newfoundland, he is still Canadian-born—in fact a Nova Scotian. He is now practicing law in Toronto, and shall be pleased at all times to accept from the laboring man that proper remuneration for legal services, which R. R. Hall and Liberal lawyers now say they no longer want. (Laughter). He contended that it is a foregone conclusion that the Government will be sustained and should West Peterborough elect Mr. Hall, he will only sit in the cold shades of Opposition the next four years. Even Mr. Rowell does not advance the supposition that he will have a majority in the next Legislature; all he hopes for is sufficient support to enable the Liberal party to frame a policy for the next general elections. Referring to the two local candidates he characterized them both as creditable gentlemen, the choice of whom must rest with the electorate. "And," he continued, "you are the best able to judge of this new found interest on the part of Mr. Hall in the working man. But do not put much stock in professions on paper, but vote on the character of the candidates themselves."

Continuing, Mr. Morine eulogized both party leaders as men worthy of public confidence, giving the preference, however, to Sir Jas. P. Whitney on account of his past experience at the head of the state and the experience this Province has had of him. There is not, he advanced, in the political arena of this Province to-day, and never has been, a statesman of such unbending honesty and sterling integrity of character as Sir Jas. P. Whitney. While commending Mr. Rowell for his temperance principles, he characterized him as weak and vacillating when politics entered into the question. His attitude, he contended, is that of one filled with hesitancy and uncertainty and depending upon the decision of a party caucus as to what his publicly expressed opinions shall be on questions of Provincial importance. He is not agreed as to a plank on the temperance platform, but practically admits that he will not frame one until after four years' leadership of the Opposition in the Legislature. On this vexed question Mr. Rowell is prepared to subordinate himself to party exigencies. Mr. Whitney, on the contrary, is personally strong, with the courage of his convictions.

PARTY RECORDS.

As to the records of the two parties, Mr. Morine contended that the Whitney Government would not be human were it without a fault. "But have they given you good government?" I'll leave the answer with yourselves. Compare the Whitney administration with that which went before, and then ask yourselves if this Province has not reason to be proud of its present government. (Prolonged applause). There is not an item in the Liberal manifesto that charges them with dishonesty or corruption. (Renewed applause). They have increased the revenue and reduced the cost of education. In school books alone an immense sum has been taken out of the hands of speculators and put into the pockets of the people.

THE LIQUOR ACT.

As a temperance man, who has never tasted liquor, the hon. gentleman heartily endorsed the three-fifths clause in the local option act as one giving substantial and permanent results. It is a measure embodying firmness, certainty and fixity of purpose, and calculated to more advance the cause of temperance than if we went back to the old game of bottle-dare and shuttle-cock—wet to-day and dry to-morrow.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS.

In referring to this question, the speaker contended that in this English-speaking Province the family of every man who comes here—be he French, German or Dutch—should be taught English, and perhaps the method advanced by some people of using the French language as a means for teaching English, in primary classes, and then stop, would be found practicable. But we want no racial agitation in this Province! However, Dr. Merchant will report on this question at the next Legislative Assembly. As to the scarcity of teachers, the speaker admitted that they are not sufficiently paid and that this Province suffers by reason of the lure of the prosperous West.

COMPENSATION ACT.

Turning to the Liberals' proposed amendment to the Workman's Compensation Act, the speaker was surprised that the Hon. Mackenzie King past Minister of Labor at Ottawa, had not actively engaged in this question when he had the power to do so. He could not understand his newly awakened interest in the workingman now that he is shorn of his power to give them anything. Then Mr. R. R. Hall was once an M.P. himself, and where are the works of his activity in the labor interests? And why had not Mr. Mackay, supported by Mr. Rowell, agitated for this more liberal compensation? Was it because they were in the Opposition? Well, how can they legislate in this matter now, when they will still be in the Opposition benches the next four years. (Laughter). The hon. gentleman next could not understand Mr. R. R. Hall's desire to make a poor man of himself by eliminating the legitimate fees to the legal profession for services rendered the workingman. He (Mr. Morine), would always ask a reasonable fee. Recently, he said, he settled a case for a widow involving the sum of $3750, and took for his costs $150; he would like to know if Mr. Hall, when he took a similar case accepted so small a fee?

Turning seriously to the proposed amendment to the Compensation Act the speaker contended that the English law in assuring liberal compensation for accidents, "providing the workman himself had not been negligent," was one calculated to increase law suits to a larger extent than any other act on the Statute books, as in most cases the master will always assume that the employee was negligent and take legal proceedings to avoid paying compensation for accident. The Whitney Government had amended the act considerably of late in fuller protection of the workingman. But my dear laboring man, continued the speaker, be not deceived; what the boss pays in compensation he takes out of you. He so protects himself that any compensation for injuries to the few is taken out of the many. This thing may be a good policy; it is not a gift, however, but a gold brick (Laughter). He ridiculed the Liberal party's cry for an amendment of the Compensation Act on English and German lines, when two years ago Sir J. P. Whitney had appointed Sir William Meredith to enquire into the law in force in these countries as a guidance for the Provincial Legislature in amending its Compensation Act, and surely the report of a man like Sir Wm. Meredith was more reliable than the complaints of politicians who are making a football of the question on the eve of an election.

In conclusion the Hon. A. B. Morine offered that the laboring class is no longer gullable, but are educated and know as well as Mr. King and Mr. Hall what is good for them. They no longer open their mouths, shut their eyes and swallow the dose that political apothecaries offer on the eve of an election; on the contrary, they will exercise their own judgment, form their own conclusions and as a result of which return to power the Whitney Government, and its representative for West Peterborough, Mr. E. A. Peck.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the distinguished visitor, and the usual cheers for notables.

M'NAMARA'S CONFESSION OF WHOLESALE MURDER

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—James B. McNamara's brief confession, penned by his own hand late yesterday and bearing many evidences of a man little skilled in letters, was made public to-day. It is as follows:

"I, James B. McNamara, defendant in the case of the people, having heretofore pleaded guilty to the crime of murder desire to make this statement, and this is the truth

"On the night of September 30th, 1910, at 5.45 p.m., I placed in Ink Alley, a portion of The Times Building, a suit case containing 16 sticks of 80 per cent. dynamite, set to explode at 1 o'clock the next morning. It was my intention to injure the building and scare the owners. I did not intend to take the life of anyone. I sincerely regret that those unfortunate men lost their lives. If the giving of my life would bring them back I would gladly give it. In fact in pleading guilty to murder in the first degree, I have placed my life in the hands of the State.

(Signed)

"JAMES B. McNAMARA."

The confession covers one side of an ordinary sheet of paper and was written with a fountain pen supplied by one of the attorneys. It is probably the only written statement of the case that will ever be made by the writer or his brother, John J. who pleaded guilty to dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works.

New York, Dec. 5.—Samuel Gompers was asked to what extent the American Federation of Labor, of which he is president, would aid in further investigation by the government of labor troubles.

"Our books and such records we have will be open," answered Mr. Gompers, "to the Federal Grand Jury, Investigating Committee, or any responsible person of decent character and integrity. We have nothing to withhold."

Mr. Gompers replied with some heat: "I tried to make myself as specific and accurate as possible."

Mr. Gompers was asked if he knew whether he was under surveillance or not.

"I know I am," replied Mr. Gompers. "Two of Burns' men have been following me since my arrival in New York. I go and come openly and I have nothing to conceal. I intend to remain here until Tuesday and then go to Washington.

Mr. Gompers began the interview with a positive denial of a statement credited to William J. Burns that Darrow was present at the conference in Indianapolis in June.

"It is absolutely false," he said "There were 40 labor leaders from all over the country present to discuss plans for raising money for the defence of the McNamaras. There was no intimation of their guilt given out at that meeting."

M'NAMARAS JOKED BEFORE JUDGE SENTENCED THEM

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—Court formally opened at 10.22 o'clock to-day for pronouncement of sentence upon the McNamaras. Judge Bordwell said he would not inflict the death penalty, and he proceeded to sentence James B. McNamara to life imprisonment for the Los Angeles Times' outrage, as requested by the District Attorney.

Judge Bordwell bitterly denounced James in sentencing him to San Quentin.

John J. McNamaras case was then called, and District Attorney Fredericks made a statement. The Judge sentenced him to fifteen years imprisonment.

The McNamara brothers were both in irons when they stepped into the courtroom. Darrow, Davis and Scott accompanied them. As the prisoners took a position at the right of the District Attorney's table, Judge Bordwell called the court to order.

Judge Bordwell sent for a squad of city police and ordered the corridors of the Hall of Justice cleared. The crowd at first refused to move, but were finally forced out of the doors of the building, which werebolted.

WOULD MAKE NO STATEMENT.

When the court recited the indictment for murder of Charles J. Haggerty, upon which McNamara pleaded guilty, McNamara was asked if he had any statement to make.

"I have not," he said.

"Have you anything to say?" he asked the District Attorney.

"There has been no dickering or bargaining in this matter," he said. "Council on the other side are well aware of the usual custom of granting clemency to persons pleading guilty. This defendant by so pleading has settled for all time the question which otherwise would always have been in doubt. He saves the state great expenditures, and served the State in other ways."

"The defendant will arise," said Judge Bordwell, who commented upon McNamara's declaration that he did not intend to destroy life.

"The circumstances are against the statement," he said. "A man who will place sixteen sticks of dynamite in a place where you as a printer knew gas was burning in many places and knew many were toiling, must have had no regard for life; must have been a murderer at heart, and undeserving of clemency."

For reasons other than such a plea of non-intent, Judge Bordwell declared he would impose the penalty of imprisonment for life.

John J. McNamara came next. The Llewellyn Iron Works indictment was read to him by the judge. He said he had nothing to say.

PLEADS FOR A FEW YEARS' FREEDOM.

District Attorney Fredericks, however, said that as in the other case, the idea of guilty permitted consideration, but pleaded that the defendant John J. McNamara be given a "few years of freedom at the end of his life."

Judge Bordwell declared that the strictures upon James B. McNamara would also apply to him. Clemency, he declared, was not because of merit as to intent. He then imposed sentence of 15 years in San Quentin Penitentiary, one year more than had been predicted.

The McNamaras were taken from the courtroom back to the jail.

Their counsel left the room almost immediately, and crowd filed out, laughing and chatting.

Judge Bordwell also left at once, returning to his chamber.

After seven years the McNamaras will come under the operation of the parol system.

Both the prisoners took their sentences in a jocular way, paying little attention to the judge's remarks.

SENSATION IN DURBAR CAMP CAUSED BY ANOTHER FIRE

Delhi, India, Dec. 5.—The magnificent pavilion in the Durbar Camp, with its massive silver supports and brilliant decorations, in which the King-Emperor was to be received by the Indian Princes on his arrival here, was burned down to-day.

This is the second disastrous fire of unknown origin in the Durbar Camp within a week, and the occurrence has caused a sensation.

HARD KNOCKS FOR MR. KING

Cayuga, Dec. 5.—Dr. Coleridge, of Ingersoll, met Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King at the nomination proceedings here yesterday, on behalf of the Conservative candidate, Dr. Jacques, and the former Minister of Labor cut a sorry figure. Dr. Coleridge had spoken for three-quarters of an hour and was followed by Mr. King, who left an opening for a reply by some remarks of a personal nature.

OVER-ADVERTISED POLITICIAN.

The eloquent medical man twitted him on being hailed as "the bright light of Liberalism in the Dominion of Canada." His own expectations however, had not been fulfilled, for he found that he had met the "most over-advertised politician in Canada."

He complimented him on the truthfulness of his statement that he had no expectations of winning in this contest. He did not think that Mr. King had intended to let that out. His guesses on prison farm treatment were probably as shrewd as those he had made before the 21st of September.

PIECE OF WRECKAGE.

"This man," said Dr. Coleridge, "is a piece of wreckage from a Cabinet wrecked by its own misdeeds, and floated up on the shores of Provincial politics by the great tide of political misfortune."

Dr. Coleridge's ready retort delighted a large portion of the audience. Mr. Christopher Kohler, the Liberal candidate, limited himself to a moment or two.

You will find that druggists everywhere speak well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. They know from long experience in the sale of it that in cases of coughs and colds it can always be depended upon, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

School and at McGill University, at the latter of which he attached the B.A. and gold medal honors in mental and moral philosophy of the year 1876, that of M. A. coming in 1880. There he also graduated B.C.L. in 1878, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1896, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being chosen lecturer on constitutional law, and about the same time was recommended for Q. C. by the Tupper administration.

Mr. McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was, indeed one of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. [illegible] Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1886, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real live interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a Liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire"; "Commercial Union with the U. S. with a word on Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Revenue Tariff within the Empire"; and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships amongst the Presbyterians.

NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1902 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat.

The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

The fishing waters of the Caspian Sea are divided into plots and let out by the government at auction. Two firms combined and bid in the right to fish in two-thirds of all the fish water. This crowded out the smaller fishermen and made a monopoly. Thus both land and water are being monopolized.

FIRE IN SEMINARY FRIGHTENS GIRLS.

Gaspipe Exploded, and Sixty Girls Turned Out of Beds and Bathtubs.

Poughkeepsie, Dec. 2.—Miss Grace Donaldson, of Wilmette, Ill., didn't get to finish her morning bath to-day for just after she got in the tub at Glen Eden seminary, a gas pipe exploded and the flames that followed routed her and sixty other drowsy girls from the dormitory in their "nighties."

The explosion occurred directly under the bed of Miss Ruth Ashby, of Fairmount, Neb., and she was tossed out of her blankets. Miss Berma Skinner, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, whose room adjoins that of Miss Ashby was also shaken from her bed.

Joseph Rourke to Get His Hundred Thousand.

New York, Dec. 2.—A Jury in the Supreme Court gave a verdict to-day for Joseph Rourke in his suit to recover $100,000 from Herbert Turrell on Turrell's promissory note, given to William J. Cummins, the convicted banker, in September, 1910.

Assassins Slay Two More Persians.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—Two more Persian politicians were assassinated to-day. Hadi Mohmad Taei, a prominent reactionary, was killed in the capital this morning. Prince Firman Firma, at one time Minister of Justice of the Province of Azerbaijan, was assassinated at Kaswin, a town 90 miles northwest of Teheran.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, not to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a sailor for your daughter?" meaning, of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a cager for yourself?"

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly different thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West into India.

The same political developments to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its 'fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained often in favour and [illegible] to the adornment of [illegible]

Two Good Reasons

"Dorothy," said that young lady's mamma, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low when young Smart was here last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waste, mamma, dear; doesn't it?" replied the artful girl. And her fond parent made no answer.

De Ruyter: "You see, I drop into poetry occasionally."

Editor: "Yes, so I see! You appear to drop clear through it."

PREMIER STOLYPIN'S ASSASSIN NOT DEAD

Rumour that the Wrong Man Was Hanged and that the Real Culprit Was Spirited Away.

(By special cable)

St. Petersburg. — News comes from Wilna, and it is generally believed here, that Dimitri Bogroff, the assassin of Premier Stolypin during a theatrical performance of Kiev, is not dead.

If this is true the report circulated shortly after the assassination that Bogroff committed the crime at the instigation of men high in power who promised that no harm would befall him.

The story goes that an execution took place at the hour named, but instead of Bogroff the man hanged was a revolutionist under sentence of death some time. This man was palmed off for Bogroff.

Meanwhile Bogroff, in disguise, was spirited out of Russia. Those who believe the story claim that Bogroff is either on the way to the United States or already landed safely and living in some American city under an assumed name.

TURKS IN FIGTING HUMOR

Turks Determined to Retake Tripoli If Possible.

Constantinople. — The newspapers here profess to have information which enables them to predict once more that Tripoli will shortly be retaken by the Turks. The Italians, they say, are in a deplorable position owing to the rain. The floods swept away a whole battalion with the exception of thirty men, and they are unable to land reinforcements and provisions because of the bad weather. An Italian cruiser is stranded at Benghazi.

TO MOBILIZE MORE TROOPS

GENERAL CANEVA

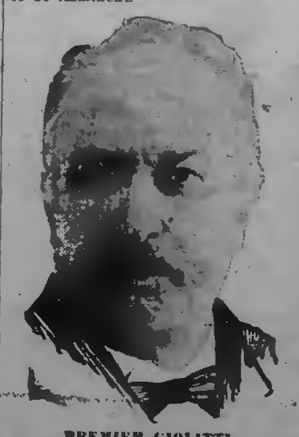
Italian Commander in Tripoli, Scene of Alleged Outrages.

Rome.—The Government has found it necessary immediately to mobilize another 25,000 men for service in Tripoli. It also authorized an extraordinary expenditure of $65,000,000 to cover the cost of the war until the end of December.

General Canevra reports that the Grenadiers attacked a horde of Arabs with the bayonet and killed forty-five of them.

Aeroplanes reconnoitred the desert and dropped a bomb in a Turkish camp. An Italian warship bombarded and burned the village of Amrass.

A general attack of Turks and Arabs on the Italian force is reported to be imminent.



PREMIER GIOLITTI,

Head of the Italian Government

TURKEY'S WARNING

Constantinople. — Turkey sent notices to all the Powers to-day, that if Italy resumes offensive operations in Turkish waters, as threatened, the Ottoman Government will be compelled to take defensive measures, which cannot but endanger neutral shipping.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

NO LYNCHING IN THIS CASE

Texans Who Didn't Lynch Youth Who Murdered Defenseless School Teacher Are Now Wondering If It Pays.

(By special cable)

Pecos, Texas. — Reeves-co passed up an excellent chance for a lynching been last July, when hundreds of virile citizens were itching to string up a young Mexican who confessed insulting, then murdering a white school teacher.

The murderer isn't hanged yet.

Emma Brown, pretty and 25, left the general store at Saragosa last July 22 and drove out over the prairie with a supply of groceries for her sister's ranch, 10 miles away. Half an hour later Leon Martinez, a young Mexican clerk in the store, left on a pony. Later Martinez returned. Miss Brown never reached the ranch

Next morning a stray horse and buggy were found. Four bullet marks were on the buggy. Pink Harbert, a cowboy deputy sheriff, was hastily summoned. Some distance from the buggy he found the corpse of Emma Brown, scarred with two bullet holes and six stab wounds. Worst of all, Emma Brown had been stabbed in the back!

Reeves-co heard the news and boiled. But it agreed with Dist. Atty. Will Brady before the murderer was discovered, that there would be no lynching. Reeves-co would let legal justice be done for this terrible murder.

Then Leon Martinez was arrested and he confessed.

Race feeling and horror almost brought a lynching. But they held in. A telegram summoned Judge S. A. Isaacs from Midland, 70 miles away.

MOHAMMEDAN WITNESS

New York. — The Criminal Courts building was searched in vain today for a copy of the Koran, a demand for which arose when Mohammed Ali, a Turk, refused to be sworn on the Bible to testify in a grand larceny case. "To be sworn on the Bible means nothing to me," declared the witness, and court attendants searched high and low for a copy of the volume sacred to the Turk. When the book of Mohammed could not be found, Ali was allowed to take oath after the fashion of those of his creed, holding up the index finger of his right hand, he said:

"I swear by the great Allah and by the beard of his only prophet Mohammed, to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing bu the truth. In failing, may I be swept off the face of the earth."

All was then permitted to give testimony favorable to the character of the defendant in the case.

NO DEFAULT ON LOANS

London. — The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that China's failure to pay the monthly interest on the Anglo-German loan need not cause anxiety. The half-yearly coupon is not due until April and all loans secured by the maritime customs will undoubtedly be paid punctually. The revolutionaries are as anxious as the Government to avoid foreign interference and are nowhere attempting to hinder the collection of the customs revenues.

However desperate China's internal finances, the foreign bondholders need have no fear of default in payment of any interest similarly secured.

REBELS HOLD THEIR OWN

Hankow. — The rebels are holding their own on the banks of the Han river. Sharp fighting and bombarding are daily occurring. The revolutionary forces are now awaiting the fall of Nanking, which will permit the fleet to come to their assistance. In such event, the Imperialist forces certainly will not be able to hold Station Kilometer Ten, which can be covered easily from the river.

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

LABOR'S LESSON.

In discussing the recent dynamiting campaign in the United States, our talented cootemporary, the Hamilton Herald thinks that the labor leaders who are demanding the execution of both the McNamara brothers are revealing their imprudence no less than they did when they were declaring the McNamaras to be martyrs and the innocent victims of a conspiracy framed by organized capital to crush organized labor. These leaders are speaking the language of passion, not of reason. They are furious, against the McNamaras because the brothers have deceived them, and they are demanding the infliction of the extreme penalty not so much because the McNamaras are guilty of crimes against society as because they have placed organized labor and its leaders in a compromising position. It is significant that the brothers are being denounced as "traitors" rather than as criminals. The blind, unreasonable vindictiveness of these demands is made clear by the fact that the crime of which John J. McNamara has confessed hi self to be guilty is not a capital offence, but an offence involving a minimum punishment of only a year's imprisonment. And the men who a few days ago were representing him as a high-souled martyr are now demanding his life!

To his credit be it said, President Gompers, of the A. F. of L., is not carried away by any such gust of vindictive passion. He repudiates the wild words of other leaders, and is content to leave it to the trial judge to determine the punishment which should be meted out to the two dynamiters.

The lesson which organized labor should learn from this affair is the expediency o. placing at the head of labor organizations only such men who can be trusted not only to refrain from acts of violence themselves even under extreme provocation, but who will also be careful to condone crimes of violence in others, and will use their utmost efforts to prevent the criminal employment of force.

McNAMARA DEFENCE FUND.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—From many directions comes repeatedly the question:—"What will be done with the large sum of money collected for the defence of the McNamaras?"

Many suggestions were made, the most popular of which, coming simultaneously from several sources was to divide the remaining portion of the fund among those who were dependent upon the unfortunates who lost their lives in the explosion of October 1st, 1910.

Attorney Darrow, confirmed the fact that $190,000 had been raised for the two brothers and had been at his disposal. Confronted with the statement that labor leaders expected that much of this would be refunded, he answered that he could not see how it could be done.

Money flies fast, very fast, he said, "and in a case like this it has wings. Of course, the trial to date did not cost much, but preparations for the handling of witnesses and evidence exhausted much of the funds. A greater part already has been spent and an accounting will be rendered as to every detail. We have been up against it for funds right along. We have been wondering for some time, how we could ever get very far with the means at our disposal."

BANQUETTED

ly that there are not nearly sufficient missionaries to cope with the work of organizing, and herein lay a great danger, which he hoped Christian churches would recognize and rectify as early as possible.

Mr. Wood, in introducing and toasting Mr. Armstrong, of Toronto, made some suitable remarks judging by the applause which followed. Mr. Armstrong, after congratulating Mr. MacDonald on becoming a missionary and the assembly in having such a worthy representative, went on to tell them that it is not a common thing for a congregation to support its own missionary, indeed, he could mention one church that supports seven, and several that support three or four, in fact, he said, there are some persons who support a missionary themselves, finding thereby a great deal more pleasure than in running an automobile.

The point which he most wished to impress upon his hearers, however, was that not until all the people in the world had the Word of God preached to them would the duty of Christians be performed in its fulness.

Touching briefly on the Chinese insurrection, Mr. Armstrong remarked that at its termination there is no doubt but a wonderful revival of Christianity will take place there.

The speaker mentioned at length the progress of Christianity throughout the world, concluding with again congratulating the congregation of St. Paul's on sending a man of such calibre as Mr. MacDonald.

The Rev. Mr. Pogue was the proposer of the next toast, "The Churches of Peterborough and Their Representatives." This he did most ably, being supported by the Rev. Mr. Keith, who gave his hearers an excellent idea of how a missionary is selected, and also by the Rev. Mr. Rollins.

Mr. Hill, the president of the Young Men's Bible Class, made a few well chosen remarks.

A hearty vote of thanks to the ladies of the congregation brought a most successful and enjoyable repast both bodily and mentally, to a close.

The Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. R. Pogue.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that most infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diptheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly lessen the danger of contracting these diseases. This remedy is famous for its cures of colds It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilized and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

Non-Strikers' Union.

London, Dec. 5.—A number of men employed on the Atlantic and other liners, which make Liverpool their home port, have organized a union which has for its object the prevention of strikes. The union hopes to avoid strikes by the formation of conciliation boards in every district for the organizers believe that the idea will be taken up in every port.

POSITIVELY PERSIST IN GETTING EDDY'S

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

DUN'S, BRADSTREET'S or ANY BANK

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-5 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

No encumbrance on the property. Torrens title. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time, the owners will refund your money and pay you six per cent. interest. Transcona Park is not an ordinary subdivision, all contracts are issued by the owners with this guarantee: There is no speculation about Transcona Park, but a guaranteed investment.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Everything points to Transcona Park as the residential district for Transcona, away from the noise and bustle, smoke and grind of the mammoth G.T.P. shops, yet conveniently situated, making the shops accessible in a few minutes. The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. By acting now you can "skim the cream off the milk" in Transcona Park. Transcona Park is the surest and quickest money-maker you can get to-day—BUY NOW. Street cars will run past this property.

To the Manager, EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Sir,—Enclosed please find my cheque (or draft), payable to your order for .....Dollars. If you are satisfied that the guarantee of the Winnipeg and Springfield Investments, Limited, to refund the amount of the purchase price of lots bought in its subdivision of Transcona Park, with interest at six per cent. per annum, is genuine, and that the company is responsible for its undertakings, please pay this amount to their selling agents, Clark and Munro, 513 Somerset Block, Winnipeg, as a payment on lots.....Block ....., in Transcona Park Subdivision, or return the money to my address.

At a meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday morning, they accepted the invitation to the Missionary Students' Conference to meet in Peterborough in November, 1912.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the envelope "Tender for Christian Island Timber," will be received until noon on Thursday, 7th December, 1911, for 500,000 feet, B.M., more or less, of timber, comprising Maple, Beech, Birch, Basswood, Ash and Hemlock, to be taken out by the Indians of Christian Island Band during the ensuing winter and delivered on the shore of the Island at convenient points for shipment.

Tenderers should state the prices they will pay for the different kinds of timber per M. feet, B.M., over and above the Crown dues, as stated hereunder.

The measurements are to be made by the Ontario Licensed Culler, and sworn returns of the measurements shall be furnished in accordance with the Timber regulations of this Department.

An accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered bank for $300,000 should accompany each tender, made payable to the order of the undersigned, which in the event of failure to carry out the undertaking, shall be forfeited to the Department.

The successful tenderer, if required, shall make reasonable advances to the Indians as the work progresses.

The Crown dues on timber as per tariff are as follows:

Beech, Birch and Maple and Ash...$2.00 per M. ft. B.M.
Basswood ..... 1.50 " "
Hemlock ..... 1.00 " "

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted, and the unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents

BEER VS. BRAINS.

Editor Morning Times.

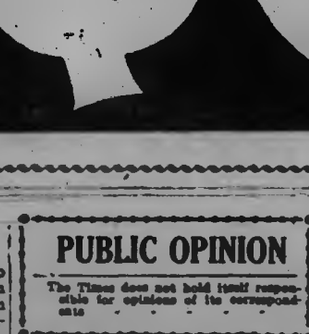
Sir,—Several letters have appeared in The Examiner, written by a man who signs himself "Anxious Parent" and when the two letters, which I have seen, are boiled down they simply mean that Mr. Peck is a very dangerous man because he happens to be Solicitor for a brewing company, and in consequence may perhaps lead people into bar-rooms and force them to drink the product of that brewery in order that his dividends may be increased. "Anxious Parent" evidently would like the public to think he is an apostle of temperance. Well, let us see what this apostle, and a great many more of such ilk, have done for temperance:

A few years ago a gentleman by the name of J. W. Miller ran in the Conservative interests for the Legislature. Now, as every one who knows Mr. Miller knows, he is a man who never in his life touched liquor, but don't go around shouting about it, and would, if elected, have supported any good temperance measure. May I ask did "Anxious Parent" and the rest of that bunch support Mr Miller? Not on your life, but went as one man for a supporter of a government who had bamboozled the temperance people for years, and who would have bamboozled them yet had they been kept in power. These so-called apostles of temperance are like what P. T. Barnum once said. "People like to be fooled and are willing to pay for it." I have had some experience with these shouting temperance people, and have found that a good many of them will drink a lot o, booze if another fellow will pay for it and thousands of them keep it in their homes ostensibly for medicine as it is good for cramps. (and they often have cramps.)

"Anxious Parent" ought to know that people as a rule, don't trust others who are in and out of season blowing their own horns and groaning for other's sins. It takes all sorts of people to make a world, and no doubt the Almighty had some object in view when he made temperance cranks.

The past, as I have pointed out in the case of Mr. J. W. Miller, has shown what these people will do and so they will continue until the crack of doom. No one takes them seriously, but it gets monotonous after a while, and now is a good time for "Anxious Parent" to quit.

—Not An Anxious Parent.



CRITICISM UNFOUNDED

Toronto Saturday Night Takes Back Statements Made in That Paper.

The Independent Real Estate Company, in which Mr. H. P. Kennedy and other Peterborough people are interested, was criticised in the Saturday Night of a week ago, for making a mis-statement in an advertisement in reference to an Edmonton sub-division. This week's Saturday Night acknowledges its mistake, the company having shown its statement to be entirely correct, and there being no misrepresentation whatever.

The Saturday Night makes this correction:

Mixed Names Up.

The name Industrial Centre originally utilized by the Independent Real Estate Company of 43 Victoria street, Toronto, in advertising its Edmonton sub-division (this corporation has since assumed the title Industrial Heights), no doubt led the Land Commission of the Grand Trunk Pacific to reply to a query from Saturday Night as he did respecting the Independent Company's proposition, and quoted in last weeks issue, which was in substance that the Grand Trunk Pacific did not intend building a station on "Industrial Centre." This statement is no doubt correct, but the original assumption of the name "Central" the Independent Real Estate Company confounded the latter company and their Industrial Heights proposition with Industrial Centre, which is one and one-half miles to the northwest.

So it turns out that the C. U. Ryley, Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Saturday Night, both unwittingly did the Independent Real Estate Company an injustice. As a matter of fact, the Industrial Heights sub-division already has a railway ticket office on its property and the G.T.P. has promised increased shipping facilities as soon as development warrants.

Too many claimants for one name has its disadvantages, even in the real estate business.

YUAN-SHI-KAI IS CHINA'S DICTATOR

The New Premier is a Manchu and a Militarist and Will Crush the Progressives If He Can. —But Can He?

(Special Cable Service.)

PEKIN. — Yuan Shi Kai, who has accepted the premiership is considered "the strongest man in China" since Li Hung Chang.

The return to power of Yuan-Shi-Kai, after two years spent in enforced retirement, is a matter of grave concern to the progressives. It may mean disaster to them.

For Yuan-Shi-Kai is a great man —one whose very name is more potent with the people of China than an army. He is feared and respected throughout the empire.

And now the government, in despair

PREMIER YUAN-SHI-KAI

at the spread of revolt, has summoned from obscurity this man who was so summarily dismissed and disgraced two years ago, and has put him again in supreme control of the army and navy. Which means that Yuan-Shi-Kai has virtually been made dictator.

That's just the sort of place Yuan is best fitted for. He is a Diaz-like individual, a man of tremendous energy and of big brain. In the days of the absolute monarchy he seemed like a progressive by contrast. He was associated with Li Hung Chang and did much toward untangling the mess caused by the Boxer outbreak. But Yuan is not a progressive. He is a militarist.

Indeed Yuan represents all that China is today in military standing. For Yuan MADE the present Chinese army. When he came to power on the death of the great Li Hung Chang he set about the reorganisation of the entire military establishment of the empire, and thanks to his efforts China has now a thoroughly equipped and well drilled army.

Now he has been called to take the premiership. If any one in China can turn the trick he can. And that he will do his best to crush the progressive movement may be taken for granted.

For Yuan is a Manchu.

THE FOUNDER OF SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT.

Mrs. EMMELINE PANKHURST

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is shortly coming to Canada, is one of the original suffragets. She is easily the most prominent figure among the English suffragets, with her clever daughter Christabel perhaps a close second. Just now she is touring the United States, speaking for the cause of woman's suffrage.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a little woman — but, Oh, my! She speaks like a house afire. Wherever she appears she awakens great enthusiasm by her simple yet dramatic telling of the story of the battles between the suffragets and the English authorities, and of how she and many others were thrown into prison for daring to stand up for woman's rights.

AMERICAN FORESTS

They Have No Timber Fit for Paper-Making.

NEW YORK. — South American forests will never yield pulp timber worth importing to the United States for paper manufacture, according to Louis Chable, representative of the International Paper Company, who arrived home lately. Mr. Chable said he had made an inspection of all the important forest lands of the Southern continent and found no pulp timber fit for paper-making.

Charged With Theft.

County Constable Cochrane arrested Gilbert Horton, cheese and butter maker of Lakefield Dairy Co., on a charge of stealing $115 from the company and also of stealing a quantity of butter. He was arraigned before Magistrate Edmison and was remanded until this week to prepare for trial. He pleaded not guilty. It appears he has a wife and five children and has very little provision for them. He has been drinking lately, and when arrested he had a bottle of whiskey with him.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

ABNER KINGMAN

Mr. Kingman of Montreal is by way of business a member of the big group of Canadian gentlemen who handle financial propositions, and is recognised as a successful and reliable business man. To the general public, he is, however, more widely known as one of the pillars of the Young Men's Christian Association, his active interest in which runs to a directorship of the International Organisation, formed in 1854 in connection with the Associations of the United States and Canada. To Montreal belongs the honor of having opened the Y.M.C.A. movement in the Dominion. This was in 1851. Men of all faiths, even those with no religious professions whatever, are free to acknowledge the value of the good work being carried out by all departments of the body, and in connection with the effort in Montreal

ABNER KINGMAN
Financial Agent and Y.M.C.A. Worker

particularly, Mr. Kingman's name stands well to the front. He has been an active member from an early stage, and is looked upon not only as a conscientious worker, but as an able adviser in financial matters in which latter connection, his business capabilities admirably fit in.

ARCH. P. McKISHNIE

Mr. McKishnie, fiction Editor on the Canadian Century, issued from Montreal, is one of Canada's young writers who turns out his stories in a fashion that attracts and holds the interest of his readers from the initial letter to the final word.

If you are by nature a lover of the woods, lakes and the wild things which inhabit them — if you like a good outdoor story or hunting yarn to spin, Archie P. McKishnie is your friend. The well known writer and author of Gaff Linkum and "Love of the Wild" is Canadian in birth and sentiment and comes of that grand old Scotch Ontarian stock about which Ralph Connor has written so many stories. You do not meet the real McKishnie when he is at his office desk or in his study — tho' to be sure his personality impresses you right away with visions of the open and the nature he knows and loves so well — but trail with him thro' the tangle of bush grown up-

ARCH. McKISHNIE
Journalist of Toronto and Montreal

lands in buff shirt and corduroy; paddle with him along placed, mountain hemmed lakes; or lay for drenching chilly hours in the reed blinds, and you will know McKishnie aright. The love of the wild games of the forest and marsh is his to impart to the ready listener, and McKishnie's camp soon receives his initiation into the Grand Lodge of the Open Spaces.

He is a practical man in wood woe: he knows his animals, reptiles, fish and birds at first hand. Nature selected him as one of the few to whom she reveals her secrets.

There is nothing conservative about him. Tho' his first love is the woods and the creatures of the wild, he has an open heart for kindred subjects, and is well informed upon topics other than that of nature. His numerous magazine stories show that he has a grasp on a wide range of subjects, while his next book will be illustrative of spheres far remotes from that of "the wild."

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, — once. The hat pirate looked on Mr. Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, bo," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

MY LADY'S COLUMN

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding; also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau plants these last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest, and certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, coming as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the good-byes and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Was Incorporated Under the Laws of Manitoba by Special Act of the Legislature Assented to March 24th, 1911, With a Capitalization of

One Million Dollars ($1,000,000)

Divided Into Ten Thousand Shares of $100.00 Each, With Power to Increase the Capital to Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000), for the Purpose of Carrying on a Trust and Agency Business in All Its Branches, as Clearly Set Forth in the Company's Special Act of Incorporation, and as Hereinafter Dealt With in This Prospectus.

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a definite rate of interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are :—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share ; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed :—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	30	750.00	270.00
2	50.00	18.00	40	1000.00	360.00
5	125.00	45.00	50	1250.00	450.00
10	250.00	90.00	100	2500.00	900.00
15	375.00	135.00	200	5000.00	1800.00
20	500.00	180.00	250	6250.00	2250.00
25	625.00	225.00	300	7500.00	2700.00

Table showing total purchase price of the following number of shares at the price of $115.00 per share :—

No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price	No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price
1	$ 115.00	30	3450.00
2	230.00	40	4600.00
5	575.00	50	5750.00
10	1150.00	100	11500.00
15	1725.00	200	23000.00
20	2300.00	250	28750.00
25	2875.00	300	34500.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions ; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from :

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate ; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies :—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid-up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.a.	Per ct. value per share	Per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap.	Total assets held in capital and trust accounts	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14%	*	26.22	$43,526,706	13
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	600,000	8	180	17.00	41,691,207	20
National Trust Co., Toronto.....	1,500,000	1,500,000	1,300,000	10	300	18.17	34,067,110	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	600,000	10	180	19.44	13,438,147	10
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg...	500,000	500,000	140,000	8	180	20.00	5,125,100	8
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg....	1,500,000	1,200,000	133,200	7	150	12.30	6,191,734	6

*These shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $300 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of very desirable business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures, it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this large Canadian company, the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba ; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Do not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation and Prevented Sleep. When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveller of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the travelling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4890

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

Knox Church Services.

Services will be held in the following homes on Wednesday evening:—Mrs. Reid's, 310 Maitland avenue; Mr. Grant's, 505 Bolivar street; Miss Gilbert, 478 Patterson street Mr. W. J. Byers, Byersville; Mr. J. P. Ego, 93 Gladstone avenue; Mr. J. Tully's, 275 Wescott street; Mr. J. Fair's, 84 Aylmer street; Mr. W. Patten's, 267 Stewart street. The members and friends in these localities are urged to avail themselves of the privilege of these meetings. They will commence at eight o'clock.

A Pleasant Evening.

One of the most enjoyable evening parties of the season was held at the residence of Mr. George Johnston, near Crawford's Grove on Monday evening, in honor of Miss Vera Johnston who left yesterday for Belleville to enter as nurse-in-training at the General Hospital there. About 25 couples were present and a very enjoyable dance constituted a portion of the evening pleasure. Miss Johnston was the recipient of many warm wishes for a happy and useful career in the profession which she has chosen.

A Painful Injury.

Ernest Laplante, an employee of the McDonald Lumber Company, received a painful injury, while at work yesterday morning. He was engaged in running one of the saws, when his hand came in contact with the cutting edge, lacerating it badly. He was also injured in the side, and it is feared that some of his ribs may be broken. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. McNulty.

Improving The Times.

The Times has just purchased another modern typesetting machine, which will be installed in the course of a week or ten days. This machine will enable us to greatly improve the paper, by increasing the quantity of reading matter. Our purpose is to make The Times in every way equal to the Toronto papers. Our friends have done wonders in helping us to build up the circulation of the paper, during the past few months, and we hope that they will continue the good work. We are figuring on securing at least another thousand names during the next couple of months. When we reach the 5,000 mark, which we hope to do in the near future, we promise that there will be "something doing" which will show our friends and the public that we will carry out our policy of equal rights to the full limit. You can help by sending in your order for the paper at 25c per month.

New C.P.R. Route.

Kingston Standard: It was stated at the C. P. R. offices at Smith's Falls, that the new route from Victoria Harbor to Bethany will be in operation early in December. There only remain a few miles of ballasting to be completed before the route is ready to be opened. The route has been inspected, and the road will practically have no grade. It is believed the C.P.R. will be able to run trains from fifty to sixty cars in length. At the new C.P.R. elevators at Victoria Harbor there are now half a million bushels of grain waiting to be carried eastwards. The new road will mean a saving to the C.P.R. of a hundred miles.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Dorothy Richards leaves today to resume her stage work.

Miss Laura Duffus spent Sunday with her cousin, Mrs. Patrick Angsley, Young's Point.

Miss Lizzie Sullivan, of Emmismore, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Patrick Angsley, Young's Point.

Mrs. Blatchford, who has been the guest of Dr. and Miss Caldwell, has returned to her home in Montreal.

Mr. T. C. Thompson, of Bellville, was in the city this week the guest of friends.

Mrs. George Jobbitt, of Charlotte street, left yesterday morning to spend a week in Toronto.

Mrs. T. Q. Quartermain has returned home after several weeks visit to Chicago, Ill., Brazil, Ind., and other western points.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Death at Lakefield.

The eight months' old son of Mr and Mrs. H. G. Mason of Lakefield, passed away at two o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral will take place at 2.30 this afternoon to the Lakefield cemetery.

Mrs. L. Anderson.

There passed away at the family residence, 580 Rogers street, East City, a highly esteemed citizen in the person of Margaret, wife of Mr. Laughlin Anderson, aged 44 years. The deceased lady had been subject to inflammation of the lungs, and had been treated in the hospital on several occasions, but the attack which carried her off was not to be arrested by medical science. With her husband and family she came from Haliburton County to Peterborough about two years ago and since then has been a resident of this city.

She leaves to mourn her demise a husband and eleven children, viz:—Mabel, Violet, Grace, Hazel, Katie, Alma, John of Saskatchewan and Willie, Stewart, Howard and Norman of this city. Three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Sharp, Sherbrooke street; Mrs. John Anderson, Bancroft; Mrs. W. Coon, Burleigh; Mr. Robert Clifford, Warsaw.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from 580 Rogers street, to Little Lake cemetery.

Elizabeth Cox.

Her many friends will be sorry to hear of the death of Elizabeth Cox, wife of Mr. George Campbell, 150 Stewart street.

The deceased, who has been in failing health for the past few years and confined to her room for the last month, expired at 3 p.m. yesterday.

She was 73 years of age and leaves to mourn her demise, her husband, three daughters, Misses Emma and Mattie, of Toronto; and Mrs. Dillon, of this city; and one son, Mr. Charles of Preston.

She was a member of Knox church and took an active interest in all church matters.

The remains will be conveyed to Colborne on the 8.20 G.T.R. train on Thursday morning. The funeral service will be held at the residence of the deceased on Wednesday evening.

The Late Henry Pearson.

The funeral of the late Mr. Henry Pearson, of this city, took place yesterday afternoon, from his late residence, 598 Downie street, at 2.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. R. Pogue conducted the service at the house which was very impressive. A large number of friends assembled to show their sympathy with the relatives and a last mark of esteem for the deceased, who was beloved by all who knew him.

There was a magnificent display of floral tributes among which were wreaths from the following: St. Paul's Bible Class, Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson, The Times' staff, Mr. and Mrs. Carr, Mr. Wm. Lorimer, Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Cole, and a wreath from the deceased's father and sisters.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. D. Webster, J. Mackie, T. Emmerson, R. Brunton, R. Carr, A. Smith.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WEST PETERBOROUGH

Progress of the Campaign Throughout the Riding

Matter under this heading solicited on the understanding that The Times will not hold itself responsible for the Opinions Expressed or the Statements made.

FOR MEN MUST WORK AND WOMEN MUST WEEP YES! BUT HOW MUCH?

Charles Kingsley once wrote a poem with the haunting refrain "For men must work and women must weep."

Under modern industrial conditions Kingsley's sadly beautiful sentiment is doubly true and women must not only weep, but they must work too.

In this manufacturing and commercial town of Peterborough there are one thousand girls and women who work in factories and take all the dangers and risks of such employment.

They take more risk of their health than men, for their constitutions are not as strong. It is true physically that they are the weaker sex.

They incur more danger to life and limb than men because their dress is more likely to be caught in the machinery.

And when it comes to compensation they stand less chance than man to collect damages for their injuries, because it seems more easy to prove contributory negligence against them.

The other day a young girl had her hand taken off in a Peterborough factory. It was her right hand—the master hand—more than half her working capital. She was advised that she might have legal recourse, and the action came on for trial, but the judge decided against her. She and her friends were out the costs.

That girl goes out into the world only half equipped. She lost her job of course. She will have difficulty in getting another for employers are not eager to have one-handed girls. When an employer "hires a hand" he means that he hires the full activity and co-operation of two hands belonging to one person. He has no place for the maimed or partly efficient.

The law gives this poor girl no money for an injury that will cripple her life. She has worked. She must weep. The Workmen's Compensation Act as it stands at present turns away from her tears.

All the girls and women, who work in factories in Peterborough are interested in the effective Workmen's Compensation Act that R. R. Hall stands for—a Workmen's Compensation Act that pays cash on the nail, full value without costly blood-sucking delays from law suits and appeal courts.

All the girls and women who do not work in factories but who stay at home and keep house for their fathers and brothers and sons and daughters, who do work in factories are interested too.

All the children who are able to go to school and prepare themselves to go on in the world so long as father has a job are likewise interested. They never know when an accident is going to kill or permanently disable their bread winner.

If there is not to be weeping and starving as well as working for the widows and orphans for many a long day after, they must have a Workman's Compensation Act that will give them enough money to see them through until they get on their feet.

Every practical citizen is interested in a Workman's Compensation Act that does not cheat and mock the injured worker, because a law that leaves the workers' dependents helpless and penniless only makes them burdens on public charity. The unthrifty state is dollars behind on this false economy.

Finally every honest-hearted man and woman is interested in a fair and square Workman's Compensation Act because justice, mercy and human brotherhood all point that way.

Men must work—Yes—and women must weep—Yes—but let us have as much work and as little weeping as possible and a Workmen's Compensation Act that means the minimum of tears and the maximum of satisfaction.

"Take my advice! I have proved Zam-Buk best for eczema and skin disease."

As a mother you owe it to your family to give it a trial! It ends pain and it heals!

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

BOARD OF WORKS IN BUSINESS SESSION

Plans for a Roadway Over Auburn Dam to Be Modified

The City Board of Works met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow, chairman, Ald. Metheral, Aldermen Duncan, Anderson, Graham Brown.

The Bell Telephone Company's application for permission to erect additional poles was granted.

W. H. Medcalf's request for a sewer at the corner of Stewart and Wolfe streets, to prevent flooding of his premises was left in abeyance till next year.

The Peterborough Radial Railway applied for permission to erect a shelter house where their road crosses the G.T.R. at Lock street—Granted.

The chairman reported that with good weather the Romaine street sewer will be completed in about three weeks. In connection with this South City sewerage system, Engineer Wilbs Chipman's request that he be paid $900 on account of services rendered as Consulting Engineer, together with the services of Mr. Perdue, the resident engineer supplied by Mr. Chipman, was granted.

On motion of Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Brown, the Quaker Oats Company will be notified to relay the portion of sidewalk on Hunter street torn up by them when erecting their new buildings, as agreed upon with the city.

ROADWAY OVER AUBURN BRIDGE.

Regarding the proposed roadway over the Auburn Power Company's new dam, City Engineer Hay reported that the roadway shown on blue print for proposed extension of dam is not wide enough to permit two vehicles to pass a car, then a footway is not provided for.

As to cost of the proposed work to the city, considering the urogress already made in constructing the dam the City Engineer did not think the estimate of $18,000 or $19,000 to be excessive, as the work will have to be extended and other expensive changes provided for.

Mayor Morrow offered that all the city needed was a cheap roadway for a team to drive over. Perhaps there would be room for this over the structure at present provided for.

Mr. Larmonth replied that unless the dam were extended beyond original plans, there would not be room for even a 12 foot driveway.

Mr. Larmonth added that the plan he had prepared and figured on was for a substantial standard 20 foot roadway, and in doing this the company had, when contemplating putting a deck on the dam to provide for a street car roadway to avoid future extraordinary expense, should the service be continued over the river at this point in a year or two. The cost of this "car" roadbed is not included in the $18,000 or $19,000 estimate for the city's right of way.

Committee did not feel justified in considering such an expensive roadway at this point, and asked Mr. Larmonth to figure on a cheap 12 or 16 foot roadway over the dam, which he cheerfully agreed to do.

TENDERS FOR STONE.

Moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by Ald. Buller,—That the chairman be authorized to advertise for tenders for, and the Board authorized to purchase, stone for street purposes.—Carried.

CRUSHED STONE.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the Clerk write the Hastings quarries and get prices for crushed stone.—Carried.

FAST DRIVING ON BRIDGES.

Ald. Duncan offered that something should be done to stop fast driving over the Hunter street bridge. Attention will be given this matter by the authorities.

On motion of Ald. Brown, a temporary wooden walk will be laid at once at west end of Bridge street to connect with the two concrete walks.

MAY SUE THE CHURCH FOR ANNULLING THE HERBERT MARRIAGE

DAMAGES TO BE ASKED, AND VALIDITY OF ECCLESIASTICAL DECISION ATTACKED.

A Final Judgment—Wife Asks That Marriage Be Declared Legal and Valid.

Montreal, Dec. 6.—The Hebert Marriage annulment case entered upon a new phase yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Geo. V. Cousins, acting in the interests of Mrs. Hebert, entered an inscription for final judgment ex parte on the opposition entered against the ruling of Mr. Justice Laurendeau some months ago. The opposition asks that the judgment be definitely nullified and set aside; that the marriage contracted before Rev. Mr. Timberlake be declared legal and valid, and that the court ruling annulling it be adjudged unfounded in law.

It is promised that other developments will follow closely upon the presentation of the inscription, it being stated unofficially that the next step in the proceedings will take the form of an attack on the validity of the ecclesiastical decree itself, whereby the marriage was declared null and of no effect, whilst an action for damages against the ecclesiastical court, which promulgated the decree is also spoken of as a possibility.

Madame Hebert's counsel says:

"We claim that the desistment of the husband has not the effect of annulling the judgment in so far as that judgment denied the status of wife to Dame Hebert. This can be brought about only by a final judgment on the opposition now asked for, and which should prove once and for all the validity of the marriage."

NO STANDING OUT WHEN GREAT BRITAIN IS AT WAR

London, Dec. 6.—Sir George Reid, the Australian High Commissioner, speaking before the Empire League last night, said he had heard of the arrangement mentioned whereby in times of war any part of the Empire could merely look on. Such idea was not only absurd, but impossible. If the Australian and Canadian Governments wanted to stand out when the Mother was threatened they could not keep the people back. At the same gathering Postmaster-General, Samuel, regarding the reduction of cable rates said the arrangement would in no way create a monopoly. Continuing, he said, that whatever reciprocity were, he was sure al, rejoiced in the motive so powerfully worked in the minds of Canadians indicating an abiding desire to maintain the unity of the British Empire. Loud cheers.

The Times says: "It is hard to think any other reform would more effectively unite our scattered Empire." The Chronicle says: "This is another addition to the pieces of sane and practical Imperialism the present Government has effected. Many will consider the rates might reasonably before long be reduced further. An alternative is the laying of a State-owned cable from which the United Kingdom and the [illegible] vantage."

STUPIDITY OF GERMANY

Noted German Editor Says That Trouble Cannot be Avoided—London Official Circles Also Take a Pessimistic View of the Outlook.

London, Dec. 5, 1911

THAT war will come between Britain and Germany, is regarded as certain. This is the opinion of Maximillan Harden, editor of the Zukunft, or Future, and Harden does not believe there will be a change.

"The Moroccan affair," Herr Harden said to-day, "has intensified the Anglo-German bitterness. Germans feel deep down in their hearts that England prevented Germany from being more successful in these negotiations.

"Now this affair was wholly unnecessary. Could German diplomats think that England would permit Germany to get a foothold on the West Coast of Morocco? It was not even to be thought of, and it was not necessary to Germany's national life. It was the crowning blunder of the dreadful series of German diplomatic blunders, each worse than the preceding one.

"How could it be otherwise with men, however estimable, personally who have not the diplomatic capacity to direct the empire's international affairs or to rise to the situation?

"Germany's international position to-day is worse than in many years. This is due to the incapacity of the [illegible] and to the unskilled hands of those who direct its foreign policy, to their lack of foresight, as well as to our form of government.

"The Reichstag is merely an ornament. Under it is no responsible ministry. It makes the people pay for errors they did not commit, and bear the results of blunders by men they did not select.

"I have it from many high sources that England wanted war with Germany late in the summer, and that it was considered a favorable opportunity. Why the 'entente powers' held back is of course not known generally. They are waiting for Russia to become capable of striking.

"When Russia again becomes a 'power,' there will be a sudden change in European politics. Will Germany not only wait and allow its enemies to become greater, but also permit them to set the time that it shall be reckoned with?"

War Is Approaching.

London, December 5.—It is believed in high official circles in Germany that war with England is inevitable, says a correspondent, who has returned from Berlin, where he interviewed men prominent in diplomatic and financial life.

Almost without exception they expressed the belief that the time is not far distant when the Germans will not longer tolerate what they term "Britain's high-handed interference" in their attempt to obtain their share of the world's expanding commerce.

One of the wealthiest and most influential men in Berlin, closely associated with the Foreign Office, and high in the Emperor's confidence, said: "There is no use trying to dodge the fact that we are going to have war. All conditions are working to that end."

ASQUITH TO FORCE HOME RULE BILL THROUGH AT ONCE

London, Dec. 6.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government would use all the constitutional means at its disposal to pass a Home Rule Bill for Ireland during the lifetime of the present Parliament.

Mr. Asquith declared this in reply to a question from William O'Brien, member for Cork City, who expressed concern at a recent report that Mr. Asquith was trying to get the House of Lords to throw out the Home Rule Bill when it reaches the Upper House.

The Premier by his announcement to-day means that he undertakes to force the Home Rule Bill through three consecutive sessions if necessary, thus making it become effective in spite of the opposition of the peers.

FOR CAUSE ONLY

Dismissals from Public Service Made for Offensive Partizanship

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., wired The Times last night as follows:

"No request is made for the dismissal of an official or employee except when a direct charge of offensive partisanship is entered for which I assume full responsibility to the Department. If investigation is wanted it must be demanded on receipt of notice of dismissal, and will be granted."

It would appear from the above that Mr. Burnham and the Government intend to carry out their purpose of expelling all who have been offensive political partisans, and thus purify the service.

To Quickly Chase Away Wrinkles

(From Fashion Review)

The surest and quickest way to obliterate wrinkles of every description, from the finest lines to the deepest furrows, is by means of the saxolite formula, about which we've heard so much of late. Bathing the face and neck in the lotion at once tightens and tones up the skin, affecting every wrinkle, as well as creased or saggy tissue about the cheeks, neck or chin. Any druggist can supply pure powdered saxolite, which is most effective. Dissolve an ounce of this in a half pint of witch hazel, and you have as perfect a solution as any expert can make.

BUILDING FELL AND FOUR MEN KILLED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 6.—Four men are reported dead and ten injured as the result of a collapse of a three-storey building being erected for the Prest-O-Light Company here this afternoon. The building was a concrete structure.

TWO NEGROES AND A NEGRESS WERE BURNED TO DEATH BY A MOB

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 6.—Two negroes and one young negress were burned to death by a mob of white land tenants, who object to the occupancy of land by negroes, near Savanah, Tenn., yesterday, according to meagre reports received here today. The lynching is said to have occurred ten miles from Clifton, Tenn.

The three negroes were travelling to a gin with a load of seed cotton. They were waylaid and tied to the wagonload of cotton, it is said, and the mob, after making a fire of the wagon, stood guard until the negroes were cremated.

REGENT OF CHINA HAS ABDICATED

Peking, Dec. 6.—Prince Chun, the regent and father of the child Emperor, abdicated to-day.

His place as guardian of the throne is taken jointly by Shih Hsu, a Manchu prince and former president of the National Assembly, and Han-Shih Chang, vice-president of the Privy Council.

Prince Chun has been the chief figure in China since the death of the Emperor Kwang Su and the Empress Dowager, in 1903. In the dark days which followed the death of those rulers he proved himself the greatest of all the wranglers and intriguers, and emerged the ruler of China.

At no time was Prince Chun's regency a smooth one. He tried to hold to a middle ground, which pleased neither the Manchu reactionaries nor the native progressives. He has handled the present crisis with perhaps something less than his old time vigor, and recent reports have hinted that his mind was weakening.

Wu Ting Fang, who is one of the revolutionary leaders in Shanghai, issued an appeal to Chun a few days ago, urging him to abdicate in favor of the republic. It was reported later from Peking that Chun was willing to accept a pension and retire to Je-Hol, if his personal safety was assured.

MEAT PACKERS MAY ADMIT THEIR GUILT

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Selection of a jury in the U.S. District Court to try ten indicted Chicago meat packers on the charge of criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was expected to begin to-day before Judge Carpenter.

Rumors of new moves by the packers were many. One was that the packers would appear and plead guilty. This would make useless all the results of months of investigation and preparation on the part of the Government; would place the packers in no greater jeopardy than an unsuccessful outcome of the case, which otherwise will drag on for months, and, many contend, would put the packers in a better position than they would be in if they lost their case.

Fines, it is believed would be the extreme penalty imposed by Judge Carpenter. The extreme penalty which can be given in the case of conviction is a fine of $5,000 or one year in jail, or both.

Public Guarantee.

We are authorized by the publishers to guarantee that every person who, during the month of December, pays a year's subscription to The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, will receive a copy of their valuable premium picture, entitled, "Home Again." The Family Herald and Weekly Star's subscription receipts in November were 60 per cent. over November, 1910, almost entirely owing to the picture which is admitted by all who have seen it to be the best premium ever given with a news paper. Those who fail to secure a copy will have themselves to blame. The Family Herald and Weekly Star and such a beautiful picture, all for one dollar is such rare value that no person can afford to miss it. The picture is given both to renewal and new subscribers.

NEW WORKSHOPS AT CALGARY.

C. P. R. Expect to Employ About 2,000 Men.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 6.—In Calgary where the Canadian Pacific Railway is to erect its new Western machine and car shops, surveyors have been at work for some time, laying out the site and placing the stakes for the excavation work. According to agreement between the company and the city, work is to be started not later than one month after the ratification of the agreement. No information has been given out as yet, with regards to the size of the new shops, but it is expected that there will be about two thousand men employed. Reckoning on the average of five to a family, this means that Calgary's population will be increased by nearly ten thousand as a result of the locating of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new shops in that city. It is stated that the new establishment will be modelled closely after the Angus Shops in Montreal.

Five Scoundrels Sentenced to Chair.

White Plains, N.Y., Dec. 6.—The five bandits who descended on an isolated farm house near Croton Lake on November 9th, and murdered Mrs. Mary Hall, the young wife of a superintendent of work on the New York aqueduct, were all sentenced by Justice Tompkins late yesterday to death in the electric chair during the week of January 15.

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-5 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

No encumbrance on the property. Torrens title. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time, the owners will refund your money and pay you six per cent. interest. Transcona Park is not an ordinary subdivision, all contracts are issued by the owners with this guarantee: There is no speculation about Transcona Park, but a guaranteed investment.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Everything points to Transcona Park as the residential district for Transcona, away from the noise and bustle, smoke and grind of the mammoth G.T.P. shops, yet conveniently situated, making the shops accessible in a few minutes. The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. By acting now you can "skim the cream off the milk" in Transcona Park. Transcona Park is the surest and quickest money-maker you can get to-day—BUY NOW. Street cars will run past this property.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly differtn thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents

BEER VS. BRAINS.

Editor Morning Times.

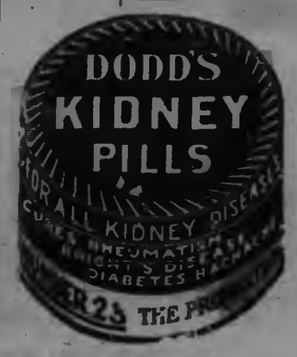
Sir,—Several letters have appeared in The Examiner, written by a man who signs himself "Anxious Parent" and when the two letters, which I have seen, are boiled down they simply mean that Mr. Peck is a very dangerous man because he happens to be Solicitor for a brewing company, and in consequence may perhaps lead people into bar-rooms and force them to drink the product of that brewery in order that his dividends may be increased. "Anxious Parent" evidently would like the public to think he is an apostle of temperance. Well, let us see what this apostle, and a great many more of such ilk, have done for temperance:

A few years ago a gentleman by the name of J. W. Miller ran in the Conservative interests for the Legislature. Now, as every one who knows Mr. Miller knows, he is a man who never in his life touched liquor, but don't go around shouting about it, and would, if elected, have supported any good temperance measure. May I ask did "Anxious Parent" and the rest of that bunch support Mr. Miller? Not on your life, but went as one man for a supporter of a government who had bamboozled the temperance people for years, and who would have bamboozled them yet had they been kept in power. These so-called apostles of temperance are like what P. T. Barnum once said. "People like to be fooled and are willing to pay for it." I have had some experience with these shouting temperance people, and have found that a good many of them will drink a lot o, booze if another fellow will pay for it and thousands of them keep it in their homes ostensibly for medicine as it is good for cramps, (and they often have cramps.)

"Anxious Parent," ought to know that people as a rule, don't trust others who are in and out of season blowing their own horns and groaning for other's sins. It takes all sorts of people to make a world, and no doubt the Almighty had some object in view when he made temperance cranks.

The past, as I have pointed out in the case of Mr. J. W. Miller, has shown what these people will do and so they will continue until the crack of doom. No one takes them seriously, but it gets monotonous after a while, and now is a good time for "Anxious Parent" to quit.

—Not An Anxious Parent.



CRITICISM UNFOUNDED

Toronto Saturday Night Takes Back Statements Made in That Paper.

The Independent Real Estate Company, in which Mr. H. P. Kennedy and other Peterborough people are interested, was criticised in the Saturday Night of a week ago, for making a mis-statement in an advertisement in reference to an Edmonton sub-division. This week's Saturday Night acknowledges its mistake, the company having shown its statement to be entirely correct, and there being no misrepresentation whatever.

The Saturday Night makes this correction:

Mixed Names Up.

The name Industrial Centre originally utilized by the Independent Real Estate Company of 43 Victoria street, Toronto, in advertising its Edmonton sub-division (this corporation has since assumed the title Industrial Heights), no doubt led the Land Commission of the Grand Trunk Pacific to reply to a query from Saturday Night as he did respecting the Independent Company's proposition, and quoted in last week's issue, which was in substance that the Grand Trunk Pacific did not intend building a station on "Industrial Centre." This statement is no doubt correct, but the original assumption of the name "Central" the Independent Real Estate Company confounded the latter company and their Industrial Heights proposition with Industrial Centre, which is one and one-half miles to the northwest.

So it turns out that the C. U. Ryley, Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Saturday Night, both unwittingly did the Independent Real Estate Company an injustice. As a matter of fact, the Industrial Heights sub-division already has a railway ticket office on its property and the G.T.P. has promised increased shipping facilities as soon as development warrants.

Too many claimants for one name has its disadvantages, even in the real estate business.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West Into India.

The same political developments are to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for them in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between those two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness for opals did not their popularity as time went on. Each country brought its own [illegible] and sorrows, luck and ill-luck to the human race, and each age [illegible] fashions in jewellery as in [illegible] but the opal remained a favourite and retained [illegible] adornment of both sexes.

Two Good Reasons.

"Dorothy," said that young lady's [illegible] "it seems to me that you [illegible] turned cooler low when you [illegible] was here last evening."

"It was only for economy, mamma," [illegible] the maiden.

[illegible] "Doesn't it?" replied the [illegible] girl. And her fond parent [illegible] answer.

PREMIER STOLYPIN'S ASSASSIN NOT DEAD

Rumour that the Wrong Man Was Hanged and that the Real Culprit Was Spirited Away.

(By special cable)

St. Petersburg. — News comes from Wilna, and it is generally believed here, that Dimitri Bogroff, the assassin of Premier Stolypin during a theatrical performance of Kiev, is not dead.

If this is true the report circulated shortly after the assassination that Bogroff committed the crime at the instigation of men high in power who promised that no harm would befall him.

The story goes that an execution took place at the hour named, but instead of Bogroff the man hanged was a revolutionist under sentence of death some time. This man was palmed off for Bogroff.

Meanwhile Bogroff, in disguise, was spirited out of Russia. Those who believe the story claim that Bogroff is either on the way to the United States or already landed safely and living in some American city under an assumed name.

TURKS IN FIGTING HUMOR

Turks Determined to Retake Tripoli If Possible.

Constantinople. — The newspapers here profess to have information which enables them to predict once more that Tripoli will shortly be retaken by the Turks. The Italians, they say, are in a deplorable position owing to the rain. The floods swept away a whole battalion with the exception of thirty men, and they are unable to land reinforcements and provisions because of the bad weather. An Italian cruiser is stranded at Benghazi.

TO MOBILIZE MORE TROOPS

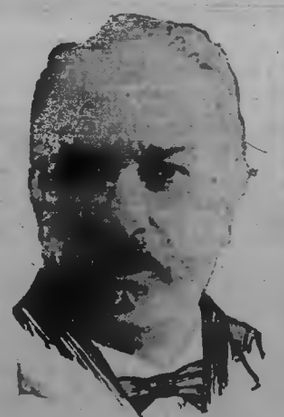
GENERAL CANEVA
Italian Commander in Tripoli, Scene of Alleged Outrages.

Rome.—The Government has found it necessary immediately to mobilize another 25,000 men for service in Tripoli. It also authorized an extraordinary expenditure of $65,000,000 to cover the cost of the war until the end of December.

General Caneva reports that the Grenadiers attacked a horde of Arabs with the bayonet and killed forty-five of them.

Aeroplanes reconnoitred the desert and dropped a bomb in a Turkish camp. An Italian warship bombarded and burned the village of Amrass.

A general attack of Turks and Arabs on the Italian force is reported to be imminent.



PREMIER GIOLITTI,
Head of the Italian Government

TURKEY'S WARNING

Constantinople. — Turkey sent notices to all the Powers to-day, that if Italy resumes offensive operations in Turkish waters, as threatened, the Ottoman Government will be compelled to take defensive measures, which cannot but endanger neutral shipping.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

NO LYNCHING IN THIS CASE

Texans Who Didn't Lynch Youth Who Murdered Defenceless School Teacher Are Now Wondering If It Pays.

(By special cable)

Pecos, Texas. — Reeves-co passed up an excellent chance for a lynching been last July, when hundreds of virile citizens were itching to string up a young Mexican who confessed insulting, then murdering a white school teacher.

The murderer isn't hanged yet.

Emma Brown, pretty and 25, left the general store at Saragosa last July 22 and drove out over the prairie with a supply of groceries for her sister's ranch, 10 miles away. Half an hour later Leon Martinez, a young Mexican clerk in the store, left on a pony. Later Martinez returned. Miss Brown never reached the ranch.

Next morning a stray horse and buggy were found. Four bullet marks were on the buggy. Pink Harbert, a cowboy deputy sheriff, was hastily summoned. Some distance from the buggy he found the corpse of Emma Brown, scarred with two bullet holes and six stab wounds. Worst of all, Emma Brown had been stabbed in the back!

Reeves-co heard the news and boiled. But it agreed with Dist. Atty. Will Brady before the murderer was discovered, that there would be no lynching. Reeves-co would let legal justice be done for this terrible murder.

Then Leon Martinez was arrested and he confessed.

Race feeling and horror almost brought a lynching. But they held fa. A telegram summoned Judge S. A. Isaacs from Midland, 70 miles away.

MOHAMMEDAN WITNESS

New York. — The Criminal Courts building was searched in vain today for a copy of the Koran, a demand for which arose when Mohammed Ali, a Turk, refused to be sworn on the Bible to testify in a grand larceny case. "To be sworn on the Bible means nothing to me," declared the witness, and court attendants searched high and low for a copy of the volume sacred to the Turk. When the book of Mohammed could not be found Ali was allowed to take oath after the fashion of those of his creed, holding up the index finger of his right hand, he said:

"I swear by the great Allah and by the beard of his only prophet Mohammed, to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing bu the truth. In failing, may I be swept off the face of the earth."

Ali was then permitted to give testimony favorable to the character of the defendant in the case.

NO DEFAULT ON LOANS

London. — The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that China's failure to pay the monthly interest on the Anglo-German loan need not cause anxiety. The half-yearly coupon is not due until April and all loans secured by the maritime customs will undoubtedly be paid punctually. The revolutionaries are as anxious as the Government to avoid foreign interference and are nowhere attempting to hinder the collection of the customs revenues.

However desperate China's internal finances, the foreign bondholders need have no fear of default in payment of any interest similarly secured.

REBELS HOLD THEIR OWN

Hankow. — The rebels are holding their own on the banks of the Han river. Sharp fighting and bombarding are daily occurring. The revolutionary forces are now awaiting the fall of Nanking, which will permit the fleet to come to their assistance. In such event, the Imperialist forces certainly will not be able to hold Station Kilometer Ten, which can be covered easily from the river.

Heaviness at Pit of The Stomach

A Feeling of Uneasiness Before And After Meals is Quickly Cured With Nerviline.

Nearly everyone gets an occasional attack of indigestion and knows just what that heavy feeling means in the stomach. "I was subject to stomach derangements and my health was seriously hampered on this account. After meals I belched gas, had a weighty sensation in my stomach and over my left side. The first relief I got was from Nerviline—I used it three times a day and was cured. I continue to use Nerviline occasionally, and find it is a wonderful aid to the stomach and digestive organs."

NERVILINE RESTORES WEAK STOMACHS

The above letter comes from Mrs. P. R. Stetson, wife of an important merchant in Brockton, and still further proof of the exceptional power of Nerviline is furnished by A. E. Rosaman, the well-known upholsterer of Chester, who writes: "Let everyone with a bad stomach use 'Nerviline,' and I am sure there will be few sufferers left. I used to have cramps, rumbling noises, gas on my stomach and severe fits of indigestion. Nerviline was the only remedy that gave me relief, and I found it so entirely satisfactory that I would like to have my letter of recommendation published broadcast in order that others may profit by my experience."

You'll find a hundred uses for Nerviline—it's a trusty household remedy that sells to the extent of a million bottles per year—that's the best proof that it must cure and give unlimited satisfaction. ITALY'S TASK.

Macaulay once said of Spain that no country was so easy to overrun; none so difficult to conquer. Italian military leaders are finding Tripoli a good deal like Spain.

It was easy enough to capture the strong places; it will be difficult to conquer, or even to overrun, the country. It is estimated that there are 30,000 of King Victor's troops in the African capital, half as many in Benghazi and Derna, 3000 at Khoms (Lebda) and Misrata and 2500 or so in Tobruk—a respectable total, but not large enough for the work in hand. Reinforcements are preparing, or on the way, and the strain on the resources of the invading power is likely to be heavy. The Tribuna's estimate of 100,000,000 lire ($20,000,000) as the probable cost of the war, begins to look ridiculously low. The difficulties of the peninsular forces have been tremendously increased owing to bitterness among the Arab tribes, stirred by recent severities.

The city of Tripoli is the centre and base of operations. Gen. Caneva at first disposed his troops in a line on the desert side, stretching about five miles, and flanked by the sea. Later he found it advisable to withdraw from two forts, one on the east and one on the west. These were promptly occupied by the enemy, and tidings of a great Turkish victory were telegraphed to Constantinople, to Vienna and to Berlin. In reality, Caneva, by curtailing his line, had strengthened his position, needing fewer men to hold the entrenchments. Thus, preparations for the advance into the desert can go on undisturbed within the city walls. Attacks from without, however brilliant, can only weaken the enemy and reduce his stores of ammunition, which he has no means of replenishing.

It is the advance into the interior, now postponed until the spring, that will test Italy's resources. If the Turkish, Arab and Berber commanders know their business—and they probably do—they will avoid pitched battles, but harass their opponents perpetually, filling up the wells as they retire, using their strength in cavalry for sudden surprises. The difficulty of provisioning the Italian forces will be enormous. There will be the danger of large bodies perishing by starvation, or small bodies being cut to pieces.

There is ever the possibility of Italy deciding to extend the area of warfare, and use her fleet for attacks on Turkish ports. In deference to Austria's wishes, she will leave Prevesa and the Adriatic stations alone at first. Can she blockade the Dardanelles, and do enough damage at other points to force the Ottoman government to yield? She could probably account for the Turkish fleet, such as it is, and do a lot of damage, besides stopping Turkey's sea borne trade. But Smyrna and Salonica are not so neglected as Tripoli was. Their walls are strong and they have better guns. Turkey is also in the position, fortunate for present purposes, of having little sea borne trade to be anxious about. A blockade could not starve Asia Minor or the European territory, and a little suffering would not quell the Ottoman spirit. Nothing would suit the Turks better than a chance to meet the Italians on land, and it is not likely that the Italians will gratify them.

Altogether, it looks like being a long drawn out war. There seems no immediate prospect of effective mediation. The attitudes of both parties are irreconcilable. One demands full sovereignty in Tripoli; the other refuses to yield a foot of Ottoman soil. No doubt, continual efforts are being made by the agents of the great powers to induce them to come to terms. It is in these efforts that the best hope of peace lies.

To Remove Blotchy, Muddy or Sallow Skin

(From Beauty and Health)

To remove sallowness, muddiness, freckles, blotches or any complexion difficulty, the best thing to do is to remove the skin itself. This is easily, painlessly and inexpensively done by the application of ordinary mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store. The wax absorbs the defective outer skin, a little each day, gradually bringing the cutis or second layer of skin to the surface. The pores are unclogged and the face breathes in the life-giving oxygen. The new skin is beautifully soft and white, bearing the healthy glow of youth.

Just apply the wax as you would cold cream, only not rubbing it in. In the morning wash it off with warm water. It's the most effective treatment I know of for blackheads, pimples, moth patches and liver spots.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a definite rate of interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are:—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed:—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	30	750.00	270.00

20	2300.00	200	23000.00
25	2875.00	300	34500.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from:

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies:—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid-up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.c.	Per ct. value per share	per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap.	Total assets held in capital and trust accounts	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14½	*	25.32	$43,526,776	13
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	$ 600,000	8	180	17.80	41,681,297	29
National Trust Co., Toronto.....	1,500,000	1,500,000	1,200,000	10	200	18.27	24,057,110	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	650,000	10	180	19.44	13,415,147	10
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg...	500,000	500,000	140,000	8	160	20.00	5,123,130	8
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg ...	1,500,000	1,500,000	125,000	2	100	13.20	6,104,736	6

*These shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $300 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of very desirable business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures, it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this large Canadian company, the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Do not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

Romans In Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

THE BRAND NEW JERUSALEM

Dream of the Zionists Has Made Palestine a Productive Land — Rejuvenating the Country Which for Ages Has Lain Dormant.

(By special cable)

Jerusalem. — The dream of Zionists, the restoration of Israel as a nation may never be realized, but whatever the outcome or the agitation, one thing is certain:

Zionism is rejuvenating the country which for countless centuries has lain dormant. The rose of Sharon which for ages has been wilted and withered is blossoming as of yore.

The vine and fig tree of which the Bible speaks, but which, in the recollection of many generations have only been a memory, are again a living reality. There are orchards of olive, orange and lemon trees, and miles of vineyards.

The soil of Palestine is today the most productive in the Turkish empire and all because, something over a decade ago, an enthusiast, a dreamer Theodor Herzl, a Viennese wrote a book which he Jewish State," and which gin of Zionism.

principal suburb of Jaffa, which sprang up almost over night, has been named Tel-Abib. It seemed to have grown out of the sands of the seashore. In appearance it is like an American summer resort with a blending of Orientalism. The streets are laid out like streets of American cities in squares, they are paved and lined with trees. Every house has a garden. Water pipes and bathrooms are considered not a luxury but a necessity.

Hebrew is the language principally used in this suburb. Less than 20 years ago Hebrew was regarded as a dead language.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

CONVERTIBLE SHIPS CONDEMNED

Resolution Moved and Withdrawn in Australian Parliament Against Convertible Ships In Their Waters.

(Special Cable Service.)

MELBOURNE. — Grave concern is felt throughout the Commonwealth over the assertion that all overseas vessels subsidized by foreign countries are easily convertible into commerce destroyers in war time. Private advice received in this country state that liners flying the German flag are especially equipped for this contingency. As a result of this feeling of apprehension, a resolution was moved in the federal Parliament to-day to the effect that action be taken forthwith to discourage such shipping for trading in Australian waters. Premier Fisher said: "We say most emphatically that ships of other nations which come to trade in our waters must not presume too much on our good nature and equip themselves so that they may act as ships of war upon the declaration of hostilities."

The Premier's words were greeted with ringing cheers, and the resolution was finally withdrawn.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, —once. The hat pirate looked on Mr. Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retriere his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionized the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with a forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Prof. ARCHIBALD McGOUN

Mr McGoun is a gentleman of wide and varied capabilities, and his legal connection aside, is well known and much esteemed by Canadians in many walks of life. The son of Scottish parents, his father hailing from the old-world village of Douglas in Lanarkshire and his mother from Auld Ayr, whaim ne'er a toon surpasses, our McGill professor was born in Montreal in December 1853, and imbibed knowledge at the High School and at McGill University, at the latter of which he attached the B.A. and gold medal honors in mental and moral philosophy of the year 1876, that of M. A. coming in 1879. Here he also graduated B.C.L. in 1878, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1894, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being chosen lecturer on constitutional law, and about the same time was recommended [illegible] by the Bench and Bar of the province for appointment to the Bench, but declined the honor, preferring the more active life of the profession and the larger remuneration.

Mr McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was [illegible] of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. Forming one of the deputation to the Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1886, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real live interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire" "Commercial Union with the U. S." with a word on Imperial Reciprocity" "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Revenue Tariff within the Empire" and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships among the Presbyterians.

NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1903 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat. The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experience and conditions. The earliest [illegible] Indian and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearances of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys, and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in quantity, interest, and occasional humor than the place-names are the nicknames of the people. Here, too, in effect is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian trader near Edmonton heard of the latest part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named his youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

The fishing waters of the Canadian sea are divided into plots and let out by the government at auction. Tenders combined and bid in the right to fish in two thirds of all the fish waters in this crowded [illegible] the smaller fishermen and made a monopoly. Thus both land and water are being monopolized.

FIRE IN SEMINARY FRIGHTENS GIRLS.

Gaspipe Exploded, and Sixty Girls Turned Out of Beds and Bathtubs.

Poughkeepsie, Dec. 2.—Miss Grace Donaldson, of Wilmette, Ill., didn't get to finish her morning bath to-day for just after she got in the tub at Glen Eden seminary, a gas pipe exploded and the flames that followed routed her and sixty other drowsy girls from the dormitory in their "nighties."

The explosion occurred directly under the bed of Miss Ruth Ashby, of Fairmount, Neb., and she was tossed out of her blankets. Miss Berma Skinner, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, whose room adjoins that of Miss Ashby was also shaken from her bed.

Joseph Rourke to Get His Hundred Thousand.

New York, Dec. 2.—A Jury in the Supreme Court gave a verdict to-day for Joseph Rourke in his suit to recover $100,000 from Herbert Turrell on Turrell's promisory note, given to William J. Cummins, the convicted banker, in September, 1910.

Assassins Slay Two More Persians.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 2.—Two more Persian politicians were assassinated to-day. Hadi Mohmad Tagi, a prominent reactionary, was killed in the capital this morning. Prince Firman Firma, at one time Minister of Justice of the Province of Azerbaijan, was assassinated at Kazvin, a town 90 miles northwest of Teheran.

A meeting of the Poultry Association is called for this evening in their hall, Simcoe street. All breeders of Minoreas and Leghorns are asked to bring their best specimens. The prize list will be ready and a full attendance is requested.

To Entertain the Children.

The annual Christmas tree entertainment of the Park street Baptist church will be held on Friday evening Dec. 22, at 8 p.m. There will be the usual Santa Claus and presents and a good programme. A most commendable feature about this Christmas tree will be the fact that the Park street Sunday School scholars will have for their guests the children of the Shelter, to whom they will give Christmas cheer and a good time, and thus fulfill the spirit of Christmas. Everybody is invited.

The Sale of Straw.

At the last meeting of the Lindsay Council, Ald. Naylor gave notice of motion that he would at the next meeting he would introduce a by-law regulating the sale of straw on the market. Mr. Naylor said that one of the worst frauds citizens had to contend with was the actions of unscrupulous men who did not hesitate to dispose of very small loads of straw at the prevailing price per load. The Times has heard that there are complaints along the same lines in Peterborough.

Reeve of Smith Will Retire.

Mr. T. H. Graham, who has so acceptably filled the position of reeve of Smith for two years and member of the Council, for eight years has announced his retirement. This will be regretted not only by the ratepayers of the township generally, but also by the members of the County Council, who have been associated with Mr. Graham in the discharge of his more important duties pertaining to the County. It is exceedingly probable that the present capable deputy reeve, Mr. J. H. Garbutt, will succeed to the reeveship.

Leaving For England.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridyard and family, of 26 Park street, along with Mrs. Milburn, Mrs. Coombe and Mr. Wm. Parke, also of the city, leave to-day for a visit to England by the S.S. Victoria, which sails to-morrow. Mrs. Milburn will perhaps be remembered as being so unfortunate as to lose her husband by drowning in the Otonabee river some time ago. Mr. Ridyard, who arrived from England about four years ago, is an employee of the C.G.E. WEDDING BELLS.

Sharon—Scott.

Monday last a pretty wedding took place in the Broadway Baptist church, at Winnipeg, when Miss Scott, eldest daughter of ex-warden Robert and Mrs. Scott, of Smith, was united in marriage to Mr. Thos. Herbert Sharon, the Rev. J. C. Bowen officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharon will visit in Winnipeg and Redners, Sask., before going to her home in Kinley, Sask. On the preceding Tuesday night a large number of the friends of the bride met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Moore, in Smith, and gave a miscellaneous shower. Other presents valuable and useful were received by the bride, and many friends will extend best wishes for a happy and prosperous life in the west.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Robt. Davidson, Antrim street will not receive again until the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner, sr., have returned from a visit to western points.

DELINQUENT PARENTS.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Please publish the following report of Hansard which shows that Parliament HAS power to treat of Marriage and Divorce:—

"Mr. Boivin: Has the Dominion government power to legalize or validate any or every marriage solemnized anywhere in Canada.

"Mr. Borden: This question is, strictly speaking, a question of law and, therefore, not usual under the practice of the House of Commons. For the information of the hon. gentleman I may say that the Dominion government has no legislative power whatever in such matters. So far as the Dominion parliament is concerned,—and perhaps the question was directed to the power of parliament rather than to the power of the government—the jurisdiction of parliament is fixed by section 91, subsection 26 of the British North America Act, which confers upon it the right to legislate with reference to marriage and divorce. The jurisdiction of the provincial legislatures in such matters is conferred by section 92, sub-section 12, of the British North America Act, which confers upon the provincial legislatures jurisdiction with respect to the solemnization of marriage in the provinces.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier: That is safe, Mr Borden: It is not only safe but accurate."

Observer.

A TOUCHING SIGHT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Those citizens of Peterborough who attend the Liberal meeting this evening, will witness a truly touching and heart-breaking spectacle Never again will they have the opportunity to see such a unique sight. They will behold on the stage, two men whose hearts are madly throbbing with love for the workingman, whose greatest wish and aim in life is to benefit the workingman. Tears fill their eyes as they think of the trials and troubles of their dear friends—the men who work for their living. They have devoted their lives from now (up till the 11th) to do all the good and give all the help and assistance in their power to the workingman. Their hearts are fired with an holy enthusiasm to be brave and strong, and to fight to the bitter death the cause of the workingman. In his zeal for the workers, one of them not only proposes, but is burning with feverish anxiety to, take away his own living, to benefit the men who toil. He does not want the worker to pay lawyers' fees. No, by the performance of some miracle, (the particulars of which he keeps to himself) he is going to do that which no man or no government has ever been able to do before, viz., to frame a bill where an appeal to the courts and the consequent employment of a lawyer (who must be paid) will be impossible. He is against workingmen paying exhorbitant law costs to get compensation. So are all men, I should say. The trouble is with everyone except him, they cannot frame a bill that will prevent appeals. Under his miraculous bill (particulars missing) the masters will not dispute the amount the injured man asks, if they do there will have to be an appeal with law costs, and that is just what he is going to stop.

Well, all I can say is, the men injured will have to quote a very low figure indeed, if their employer will give it without appealing. If that is the remedy of our dear patron, I am afraid it will not work for long. The reason why he does not give us particulars, but only a bare statement of his wonderful bill is easy to see. The poor man has not had sufficient time to think out the particulars. It is only quite recently he has thought anything at all about a bill, or anything else to benefit the workingman. He never thought of it when he was in the Dominion House, if he did, he kept his thoughts to himself very well. Neither did his companion, who burns to do such a great lot for us. Did he do anything, when as Minister of Labor he had such a glorious opportunity, to help us in any way. They are a pretty pair to come here and stand up as the apostles of labor. This is what makes it such a touching sight. They are both so full of sudden love for us workers they are so anxious to do us good, and yet how touching it is, neither of the pair can point to a single thing they have ever done for the workers. What a sight to see two such heroes, all armed to the teeth, like the knights of old, anxious to go and do battle for their fair lady, the laborers, and yet with all their grand speeches—with all their earnest protestations of love, they are handicapped, because they cannot show any foundation—any proof of their love—oh, the pity of it, isn't it sad that they were not filled with the holy zeal which they profess now,—when they had the chance to carry out their professions and show they meant what they said. We shall never have such a chance to see such a touching sight again—never again.

Now, fellow workers, before he wanted to be an M.P.P., the Liberal candidate never wanted to do anything for us, it has all come on during this campaign. Now, after he is defeated, just see where all this love for us goes to, and then judge as to the sincerity of his professed love.

Ernest H. Bartlett, succeeds Ernest S. Clarry, accountant in the Trent Canal Office.

J. R. Davis succeeds James Swanston, second assistant lock-master of the Trent Canal.

Alex. Calder succeeds John Cronin, lockmaster at No. 6 locks.

Benjamin McGill succeeds William Taylor, caretaker of the Customs House.

SUCCESSFULLY RESCUED

Mr. Harry Gibson, of Kingston, was rescued from an enemy that had relentlessly pursued him for years

Mr. Gibson was born and brought up in Kingston. By profession he is a school teacher. He received his training in Queen's University, where he took a course in arts and medicine that well befits him to talk on almost any subject.

The enemy that for 25 years relentlessly pursued Mr. Gibson is a menace to our entire population—it is the demon, Catarrh.

Mr. Gibson says:—"For years I was never free from Catarrh of the nose and throat. It bothered me winter and summer and kept me so continually coughing and hawking that I found it a great impediment to the proper performance of my duties at school. I used every available means of obtaining a cure, took bottle after bottle of medicine prescribed by local doctors, but never got more than temporary relief. I consulted a well-known specialist in the States, but after spending a considerable amount of money with him to no advantage, was forced to look elsewhere for relief, which I first received from Catarrhozone.

I consider Catarrhozone a genuine cure for Catarrh. It drove that loathsome disease completely out of my system, and to-day I am as well as if I never knew what the word Catarrh implied."

A straightforward proof of cure, coming from a well-known gentleman like Mr. Gibson carries conviction of the fact with it that Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it. As a cure for Catarrh and Bronchitis it positively has no equal. All druggists, price $1.00; small size, 25c. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

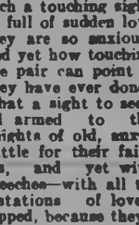
Confined to His Home for Weeks.



"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. Tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than regular fakes. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. BY-LAW NUMBER 644

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan to execute an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company for the right to use a Highway in the Township of North Monaghan as therein mentioned.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to; and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. AND it is expressly declared and agreed by and between the parties hereto that wherever in this agreement the parties of the First Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Corporation, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns, and wherever in this agreement the parties of the Second Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Company, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns.

3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6. THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with the water tables and drainage, and that the Company will maintain their roadbed between their rails and devilstrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by freshets or fires.

8. THAT it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation to lay down or permit to be laid down in the road water pipes and gas pipes, and to alter and repair or permit to be altered and repaired the same respectively, and also subject to Section 5 here of to grade, alter, improve and repair the road whenever public convenience may so require without cost or claim for damages against the Corporation for interruption or interference with the traffic of the Company or its railway.

9. THAT in case the Company shall refuse or on reasonable notice, neglect to do and perform any matter or thing required by the Franchise or contract thereunder to be done and performed by the Company the same matter or thing may be done by the Corporation and the cost thereof recovered from the Company.

10. THAT the Company shall and will at all times indemnify and save harmless the Corporation from and against all loss, costs, charges, expense, suits, actions, claims and demands whatever arising or occurring by reason of the constructing, maintaining or operating of the said railway or in anything connected with or relating thereto, including the cost of said Township Engineer.

11. THAT each car will be numbered and supplied with a gong to be sounded on approaching and crossing an intersecting street, or in case any person or vehicles shall appear on or near the track.

12. THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not in unduly affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

In Witness Whereof the said parties of the First Part have hereunto affixed their Corporal Seal, evidenced by the hands of their Reeve and Clerk, and the parties of the Second Part have hereunto affixed their Corporate Seal, evidenced by the hands of their President and Secretary.

Secretary.

3. The Reeve and Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan are authorized to execute the said Agreement in duplicate under their hands, and the Corporate Seal, provided the same is executed by the said Peterborough Radial Railway Company, either prior to or at the time it is executed on behalf of the Corporation.

4. The votes of the electors of the said Township of North Monaghan will be taken on this By-law on the First day of January, 1912, being the same day as the annual Election of the Municipal Council for the said Township is being held; and the polls will be held at the same hour on said day, at the same places and by the same Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks as are appointed and fixed for the said Municipal Elections.

5. The second day of January, 1912, at the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Township Clerk in the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan will sum up the number of votes given for and against the By-law.

6. The Twenty-ninth day of December, 1911, and the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, and the office of the Clerk of the Township of North Monaghan, are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various Polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in promoting or opposing the passing of the By-law respectively.

7. In the event of the Company not constructing the said Railway upon the whole of that part of the Monaghan Road to which this Franchise applies, the Corporation may notify the Company, in writing, to proceed to construct and operate such said Railway over and upon the remainder of the road to which this Franchise extends, and in the event of the Company not constructing such Railway and operating the same within twelve months after the giving of such notice, this Franchise, at the option of the Corporation, may be terminated as to such portion of the road, to which this Franchise applies, not then constructed and operated upon by the Company.

Q. What causes double vision?
A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

ALD. W. H. BRADBURN RESIGNS FROM COUNCIL

WILL CONTEST THE MAYORALTY ELECTION.

Ratepayers to Be Asked If They are in Favor of a Supply of Electric Power From the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario.

At a special meeting of the City Fathers held last night, the city's capable and indefatigable Finance Minister, Alderman W. H. Bradburn, tendered his resignation from the Aldermanic Board.

Ald. Brown suggested that the resignation be not accepted as the Council could not well afford to lose Alderman Bradburn's valued services.

Ald. Bradburn offered that he hoped he would still be found a member of the Council of 1912. He was going to make a break for it any way.

The resignation was accepted, and ex-Ald. Bradburn is now free to enter the mayoralty campaign in earnest.

Ald. Anderson was appointed chairman of the Finance Committee for the balance of the year.

There were present Mayor Morrow, Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Graham, Brown, Edgar, Metheral, Bradburn, Duncan and Butler.

The Peterborough Lumber Co. wrote suggesting that a bridge be built from Maria street across the river to Sherbrooke street, in the interests of the public in general—Referred to the Committee of the whole Council.

POWER REFERENDUM.

A by-law to take the vote of the ratepayers of the city, entitled to vote on money by-laws, on a question tobe submitted, whether the said ratepayers are in favor of a supply of electric power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, passed its several readings, and will be voted on at the municipal elections.

This measure, if carried, will not commit the city to any contract with the commission, but simply empower the council to negotiate with the Hydro-Electric Commission for an estimate of cost to the city of power developed by the former. When said cost is ascertained, if acceptable to the Council then a money by-law will be submitted to the people to provide for a definite contract being entered into with the Commission by the city. And Ald. Bradburn asserted the ratepayers can rest assured that no binding agreement with the Commission will be entered into until the question is again submitted to them. Hon. Adam Beck will address a public meeting in this city on the question before the January elections, when he will thoroughly explain the whole situation. The aforesaid by-law will be published in these columns in full to-morrow morning.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING OF LIBRARY BOARD

A regular monthly meeting of the Public Library Board was held in the Board room of the Library last evening at 8 p.m.

The members present were Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, chairman, H. R. H. Kenner, D. Walker, A. Mowat, T. F. Matthews, J. Corkery, H. Ritchie and Dr. McNulty.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Miss H. M. Cahill, Assistant Librarian, tendering her resignation to take effect on 31st inst.

Moved by Mr. Walker, seconded by Mr. Kenner,—That the resignation of Miss Cahill be accepted and the secretary be instructed to convey to her the Board's appreciation of her services and regret that she feels obliged to sever her connection with the work of the Library.—Carried.

A communication from Miss Dorothy Aylmer applying for the position of Assistant Librarian, rendered vacant by the resignation of Miss Cahill, was received.

Moved by Mr. Kenner, seconded by Mr. Ritchie,—That Miss Aylmer's application to be appointed Assistant Librarian be accepted, to take effect 1st January, 1912.—Carried.

A letter was read from Mr. Dela Fosse reporting on the cost of mending books and the number repaired to date.

Moved by Mr. Matthews, seconded by Mr. Kenner,—That the report of the Librarian be received.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Matthews, seconded by Mr. Ritchie,—That the matter of appointing a second assistant librarian be referred to the Library Committee to consider and report to the Board.—Carried.

A letter was read from the Peterborough Lumber Company with reference to the disposal of discarded books, and was referred to the Librarian with power to act.

The report of the Finance Committee was read by Mr. Corkery and adopted, recommending the payment of the following accounts:

Bell Telephone Co.	$3.65
Cassels Co.	15.79
White Bros.	.65
Otonabee Power Co.	15.90
H. Edmonston	1.60
Trebilcock Bros.	25.10
Review Co.	10.75
Virtue & Co.	25.00
R. Fair & Co.	1.05
F. M. Dela Fosse	9.95
Peterboro Hdwe. Co.	8.70

Mr. Walker, chairman of the Library Committee, submitted the following:

Gentlemen,—Your Library Committee would report, as follows:

1. That the contract for supplying magazines and newspapers for the year 1912 has been awarded to R. J. [illegible] at a cost for the purpose will be $193.50.

2. That at the request of the committee appointed to select books for the juvenile department an order has been placed with McClelland & Goodchild for books amounting to $38.00.

3 That your committee has endeavored to keep the expenditure for books for the present year within the sum of $1000, which the council was good enough to award us out of the special fund obtained from the sale of the building handed over for library purposes by the Nicholl's estate This year the books have, therefore, really cost the city nothing, and it has been found that this sum of $1000 is barely sufficient to keep the library in a satisfactory condition.

Moved by Mr. Walker, seconded by Mr. Ritchie,—That the report of the Library Committee be adopted.—Carried.

Mr. Matthews, chairman of the Property Committee, made a verbal report on several matters in connection with the library fixtures.

Moved by Mr. Corkery, seconded by Dr. McNulty,—That Mr. Matthews be authorized to order a card catalogizing cabinet and have the repairs made as reported by him.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment, he was well. For sale by all dealers.

FAIRLY LARGE AUDIENCE IN ATTENDANCE

Speeches Replete With Arraignment of the Whitney Government—The ex-Minister of Labor Does Not Hope for a Liberal Victory, But Expects the Opposition to Be Considerably Strengthened.

A fairly large audience, that was at times quite enthusiastic greeted Hon. Mackenzie King, Mr. R. R. Hall, the local candidate, and his prominent supporters at the Opera House last night.

Hon. J. R. Stratton filled the chair in a very acceptable manner.

Quite a few ladies graced the occasion with their presence.

The Opera House orchestra was in attendance.

HON. J. R. STRATTON.

Hon. J. R. Stratton in opening the proceedings in a brief but lucid speech mentioned how well all present knew Mr. Hall had represented them in the past in the Dominion House; in fact no man could have done better, and he predicted that he would act as faithfully and well, when elected next Monday as a member of the Provincial Legislature. Having touched on the Government practically giving away two million acres with one sweep of the pen to the Canadian Northern, and spoken for a few minutes on the education question, the necessity of improving the present assessment laws, and the need of a new Factory Act, the hon. gentleman introduced the candidate to the meeting.

Mr. R. R. Hall, on rising to address the meeting which contained quite a number of the fair sex, was greeted with expressions of applause. He was listened to most attentively while he spoke of the need of a live opposition to see that the money of the people was spent properly, and that a fair value was received for the land which the Government held as trustees for the people. Mr. Hall quoted instances where nothing near the value had been received as there had not been men in the legislature of sufficient ability to look after these interests in a fitting manner. Mr. Hall spoke at length on the education question and on the bad policy of the Government in abolishing the Model schools and introducing the Normal schools, the result of this policy being that the classes from which the best teachers were drawn could not afford to give their sons and daughters the necessity of education to fit them for becoming teachers. This source having been shut off, qualified teachers were never so scarce as at the present time, sixty per cent. of the teachers being unqualified and some country schools actually closed down.

These unqualified teachers did not know their business and as a consequence, the pupils, the children of the workingman, were the sufferers. Was not this a serious matter? He thought so, and went on to say that for every dollar spent on the child of the working man in the cities, towns, and villages of this Province $150 were spent on the child of the man who could send his child to receive higher education. As a matter of fact the question is top-heavy. In the bi-lingual schools if the English are neglected, the French are in a worse state, for how can they be taught English, which is so necessary in this country, if the teachers do not know it. The existing law is a dead letter, and it is time for the people of West Peterborough to withdraw their support from Sir James Whitney, as neither he nor Mr. Peck proposed any remedy for this frivolous state of affairs.

Continuing Mr. Hall said "every child should have a thorough elementary education, and especially a good knowledge of the English language."

[illegible] notice to the French Canadian children of this Province of Ontario not to be taught the English language. "The Government closed their eyes and shut their ears when representation on this subject were brought to their notice.

At Cobourg, Sir James Whitney was quoted as having said it was not worth while having a hundred new settlers in New Ontario because of the expenses which would be incurred for their education.

Tax reform was next referred to and came in for criticism of the government even by their own friends. Under the present existing law for every improvement a man makes on his property in this city of Peterborough he is taxed. Even when he adds a new wing to his house, round comes the assessor, up goes the tax, until the burden is becoming greater than can be borne. He hoped a speedy improvement would be made in this matter.

The Factory Act was next dealt with and here Mr. Hall said sweeping reforms were necessary, the present act not being beneficial to either the employer or to the workman.

When a manufacturer built a factory, he took every precaution to safeguard his property and to protect it from fire, he made floors of concrete, set up strong tanks, containing thousands of gallons of water, which could be worked automatically—for what purpose? So that he could convince the insurance officials of the slight risk there was of his premises taking fire, and thus getting the building insured at a low rate.

"Could not human life be safeguarded just as much as the property? Certainly it could." Mr. Hall quoted figures showing that while here, in Canada, under the existing law nine out of ten could not obtain compensation, in England, 99 out of every 100 who claimed it received it.

Limit Mr. Hall amid applause took his seat.

HON. MACKENZIE KING.

Hon. Mackenzie King received a rousing reception as might be expected from the fact of his having been Minister of Labor in the late Federal Government and a large number of the audience being working men. He left his audience with the assurance that there is no question but that the Whitney Government will be returned to power, and urged that the Opposition be strengthened as a check upon what he termed the autocratic characteristics of the Premier. If we speak of the Government of this Province, Mr. King said, we must say: "Sir Jas. P. Whitney, and be done with it." The Legislature is composed of 87 Conservatives and 17 Liberals, and Sir Jas. P. Whitney aggrandizes to himself its exclusive government. What we need is a stiffening of the Opposition to afford a check on any unfair measure that may be hurried through by a Cabinet dominated by one man—its leader—who ignores the Opposition and is even indifferent to the opinions of his own party. He offered the old-time battle cry, indulged in by both parties under conditions existing at present, that when one party is strongly entrenched at Ottawa an Opposition of considerable strength should exist at Toronto to serve as a counterbalancing power between the two parties. Sir Jas. P. Whitney used to be a strong advocate of that principle, but, for obvious reasons, had of late changed his views.

The speaker here arraigned the Premier for going to the country without any definite policy on which to appeal for renewed confidence. He submits no platform whatever to the electorate but deals in subterfuges and excuses. He does not explain his agreement, if any, for a port in Hudson Bay. He says the election at this moment will save the expense of bye-elections, when it is an open secret, that the Liberal whip offered should the Government allow his party the one seat vacant, the Liberals would permit the eight or nine Conservative seats to be retained without opposition.

Turning to the bi-lingual school question the hon. gentleman drew attention to the fact that eighteen months ago Bishop Fallon had protested against a method of education that permitted children to leave the public school without any knowledge whatever of the English language. In November, 1910, Sir Jas. P. deputed Dr. Merchant to investigate, and up to the present time he has not reported. This would point to the conclusion that the Premier was afraid of that report, and in referring to this question at all Sir J. P. Whitney had been lamentably inconsistent. First he said there were no bi-lingual schools in the Province. He next admitted that there were a few children north of Sudbury utterly ignorant of the English language. Well, continued the speaker, if that is all there is in it, what on earth has Dr. Merchant been doing the whole year of his investigation? And when cornered up on the question, Sir Jas. P. Whitney falls back on his old excuse that bi-lingualism is a legacy left by the old Ross Government. If that is true, thundered Mr. King, how is it that he has been so indifferent all this time to the momentous question of bi-lingual schools.

Talking directly to the laboring class, the ex-Minister of Labor pointed out that while a labor bureau was established by the Liberal administration of which Hon. J. R. Stratton was then a member, at Toronto, the same year as the bureau was inaugurated at Ottawa by the Laurier Government. It is, he said, a matter of history, the splendid work accomplished in the interests of labor by the labor bureau at Toronto, under the Ross Government, but that institution had been so utterly neglected by the Whitney party that it became useless and in fact is now defunct, in this connection the activity of the Labor Bureau at Ottawa had demonstrated the crying need for adequate compensation to workmen injured in their industrial pursuits. Statistics extending over seven years go to show that in Canada every year 2000 workmen are killed and five times that number annually receive injuries that permanently affect their industrial usefulness. This means that in ten years 20,000 workmen will be swept out of existence by accident and 100,000 permanently incapacitated. Now, he argued, does not these statistics show the need of the fullest measure of compensation being provided for by law, and Mr. R. R. Hall is seeking your vote in order that he may advocate an amendment to the present Workmen's Compensation Act giving ample protection in case of accident. All corporations and railways put aside a certain amount for wear and tear of machinery and rolling stock, and the Liberal party is asking to-day is not the loss of human life as important as loss in machinery and freight cars? Then is it not as necessary, in the interests of labor, that a certain yearly amount be written off by industrial concerns for the benefit of employees injured or killed while following their ordinary laboring pursuits. As the law stands now most companies insure their men against accidents and invariably the insurance companies fight the cases and carry them from court to court until the compensation is eaten up in litigation. Mr. Hall proposes to remedy this by amending the act by substituting and adding the best clauses of the English and German acts, including the provision that adequate compensation shall be paid in all cases except where the injured man has been negligent. This latter provision, Mr. King contended, would not increase law suits, for in most cases the companies hesitate to fight even claims where negligence on the part of the injured employee is probable.

Mr. Rowell's proposition is to establish a law that will prohibit litigation in cases of accident, the State to settle the question.

Continuing the speaker denounced the Premier for not amending the Assessment Act on the lines asked by 300 municipalities, and contended that municipalities should be permitted to vote on the question of assessing land at a little higher rate than improvements, which method has been successfully adopted in Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina and other towns. He next went on to deplore the lack of satisfactory educational government in the Province and offered that there is something radically wrong when over 1000 teachers in Ontario are non-certificated. He did not care if teachers were going to the prosperous West, or what the reason is for this state of affairs; the Minister of Education is responsible and should remedy the conditions or be fired higher than a kite. Neither did he care what on earth or in heaven, or elsewhere are the causes for the decline in Provincial agriculture; the Minister of Agriculture should right matters in this direction. He thought if the Hon. Mr. Hanna is justified in taking jail birds and putting them on the Guelph Farm, eating and sleeping with them, greeting them with a fraternal "well boys," and otherwise making things pleasant all round, he would be equally justified in appropriating some of the cash expended for that purpose in helping poor and deserving residents of crowded city districts. He found no fault with prison reform, but the Government's policy of making one "show piece" of an attempt to reform hundreds of jail birds on the one side, and on the other hand permitting the development of conditions in slums calculated to turn loose on the world thousands of criminals, is not a sufficient programme to go before the electorate with.

The meeting broke up with cheers for the King and candidate.

A COPY OF THE FAMOUS DECREE WILL BE PRODUCED IN COURT ON MONDAY

Montreal, Dec. 7.—A Protestant minister and a Roman Catholic priest will be the principal witnesses on Monday when the hearing takes place on the formal inscription for judgment following the Desistment of Eugene Hebert from defending the judgment originally annulling the marriage of himself and Emma Marie Clouatre, under the provisions of the Ne Temere decree.

Rev. Mr. Timberlake, the Methodist pastor, who married the Roman Catholic pair, will be the Protestant minister, and Rev. Father Callaghan Chancellor of the Roman Catholic Diocese, will represent his church, producing as a portion of his evidence a copy of the famous decree under which the wedding was declared null and void. Both ministers were present at court this morning, when the case was adjourned until Monday.

Geo. V. Cousins, the attorney for Mrs. Hebert, wants the testimony, owing to the principle at stake.

If you are troubled with chronic constipation, the mild and gentle effect of Chamberlain's Tablets makes them especially suited to your case. For sale by all dealers.

When you have a bilious attack give Chamberlain's Tablets a trial. They are excellent. For sale by all dealers.

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury,

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-5 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

No encumbrance on the property. Torrens title. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time, the owners will refund your money and pay you six per cent. interest. Transcona Park is not an ordinary subdivision, all contracts are issued by the owners with this guarantee: There is no speculation about Transcona Park, but a guaranteed investment.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Everything points to Transcona Park as the residential district for Transcona, away from the noise and bustle, smoke and grind of the mammoth G.T.P. shops, yet conveniently situated, making the shops accessible in a few minutes. The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. By acting now you can "skim the cream off the milk" in Transcona Park. Transcona Park is the surest and quickest money-maker you can get to-day—BUY NOW. Street cars will run past this property.

A PRESENTATION

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. Fred Cann, Smith, on Tuesday evening, to bid farewell to Miss Vera Cann, the bride-elect. Games were indulged in and a social evening was spent, during the course of which the following address was presented:

Smith, December 5th, 1911

Dear Vera,—We, your many friends and neighbors have assembled to extend to you our best wishes, and to spend an evening with you, ere you depart from our midst. We feel that we cannot allow you to go without showing some marks of the general esteem in which you are regarded in the neighborhood.

While you have not resided in our immediate neighborhood for a great many years, yet you, and the family to which you belong, are no strangers to us and during your sojourn among us, and your social intercourse, you have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the circle in which we have moved.

Let us assure you that our best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life, go with you to your new home.

As a token of our esteem, we present to you this chair, knowing that you will not regard it, for its intrinsic value alone, but for the motive which prompts us in giving it.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

Mrs. D. Mahood,
Mrs. G. Simpson,
Mrs. B. L. Tully.

Mrs. George Simpson read the address and Mrs. B. L. Tully made the presentation which took the form of a beautiful chair.

Miss Cann, although taken completely by surprise, made a suitable reply and expressed her appreciation of the good will extended to her by her many friends, who were gathered together.

Refreshments were then served and a very pleasant evening was terminated.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West into India.

The same political developments are to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and the claim that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the race which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake-dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Mahomedans for its pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and entered largely into the adornment of both sexes.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John." Husband (sighing)—"I wish it was, but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

NO DEMAND FOR RACERS

Failure of An Auction Sale at the Sheepshead Track.

The race horse is not so valuable an asset as in the days when the metropolitan tracks were running and anti-betting laws were not in force at eastern race courses, judging from developments at the Sheepshead Bay track, New York, when Sam Hildreth, the well-known owner of thoroughbreds, endeavored to auction off his string of good campaigners. Four horses were knocked down at what Mr. Hildreth declared were "miserable sums," and he ended the sale forthwith, and announced that he would take the stable to England and there dispose of it.

Wonderful Sprinting Feat

Sporting news from Australia contains the account of a wonderful sprinting feat by Jack Donaldson, the champion pro., in a match over 130 yards, against C. E. Holway, the American. Donaldson won by four yards in twelve seconds. To go ten yards inside evens is something that has not been seen since the palmy days of Harry Hutchens. English critics think the distance was 120 yds, but the account from Sydney are somewhat different.

Of the 440-yard race for the championship of the world between Holway and Trembath, the New Zealander, R. E. Terry, says in a letter:

C. E. Holway tacked Trembath's scalp to his girdle over 440, giving him the championship, for Trembath had beaten Postle some time ago. Trembath was favorite at 10 to 9, but there was not much betting. Holway drew the inside, but he allowed the New Zealander to take the lead after going 40 yards. They ran along for 160 yards with Trembath ahead; then the big fellow rushed past Trembath like a flash and put a gap of five yards between them. At 220 yards Holway was four yards in front of his rival, but Trembath kept plugging away in the hope of Charlie tiring, but it was of no avail, for Holway maintained his lead to the finish," and won by about four yards. The official time was 50 4-5 seconds, but I had my dog watch on, and made it 50 3-5. It had been raining hard and the track was bad."

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief histories are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 660 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favourite form of play. Of these fourteen at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest it may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another. "Let us go out and kill something," is the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 162 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four is yachting or sailing a recognized diversion. Canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 96 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the Chilan Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

HON. BENJAMIN F. PEARSON

After spending some years as alderman on the Halifax City Council with some share of benefit to the ratepayers if at the cutting away of many valuable hours from the prosecution of his own private interests, Mr. Pearson decided to fly at higher game and in 1901 an effort to book a seat in the Provincial Legislature of Nova Scotia proved successful. Again returned in 1906, he was on 22 December of that year appointed to the Cabinet as Minister without portfolio, and is recognised by men of both political parties as a politician of merit and of promise.

The hon. gentleman was born at Masstown, Colchester Co., Nova Scotia, in 1855, and was educated at Pictou Academy, and Dalhousie College, Halifax. Early in life his inclinations led him to the ranks of journalism and today he is president of the "Chronicle Publishing Co.", Halifax, and of the "Sun" Publishing Co. of St. John. Mr Pearson resides

MISS CARRIE DERICK

There has been a remarkable change in the women's teaching profession in Canada during the past score of years. Many will yet remember that at a time not so very remote, almost anybody who was so circumstanced as to be compelled to earn livelihood was apt to promptly go into the teaching profession, and open a day school. And many good and clever men and women have come to us from the old-fashioned "Dame's School". But this system is of the past, and today the woman school teacher must have passed every possible examination herself before setting up as an importer of knowledge. Many Canadian women have climbed much higher in the profession than that of the School Ma'am and of these both at home and in the United States, Miss Carrie Derick, who holds down the important position of Professor of Botany at McGill University, Montreal, is accounted a bright particular star.

HON. DR. SPROULE

New Speaker of House of Commons

The appointment of Dr. Sproule to the Speakership seems to have given wide satisfaction, the Hon gentleman being generally recognised as an all round fair minded man. Next to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Honorable John Haggart Dr. Sproule is the veteran of the Dominion House of Commons, having been first elected in 1878. He has sat continuously for East Grey since that time and he has been such a worthy representative that in his home constituency he enjoys the esteem and confidence of all classes of citizens, no matter what their political beliefs may be.

Dr. Sproule was born in the county of York, of Irish parentage and graduated in medicine from Toronto University in 1868. He has had a somewhat varied business career, having variously conducted drug and stationery businesses, flour and saw mill enterprises and for the past twenty-three years having been a successful farmer. He was however during all this time continuing his profession as a practising physician. He is a Methodist and grand master of the Orange Association of British America.

MONEY NO OBJECT

WHEN PEOPLE ARE SEEKING HEALTH OR RELIEF FROM ANY DISEASE THE PRICE NEVER COUNTS.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air, supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well-known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Complete outfit costs $1.00. Small size 25c. Sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

REV. MELDOLA DE SOLA

The well known Jewish pastor of Montreal is the eldest son of the late Rev. Abraham de Sola, L.L.D. of that city, who was one of the most scholarly exponents of orthodox Judaism in America and was born in Montreal May 22, 1853. He early showed theological studies, which were prosecuted under direction of his father, and after following commercial pursuits for a time, his father's failing health redirected his attention to the work of the ministry and from 1876 to 1882, he officiated regularly as voluntary lay assistant at the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue in his native city. On the death of his father in 1882, the son, at the urgent request of the congregation took over the charge, thus becoming the first Jewish minister of Canadian birth.

He is recognised as the leader of the orthodox majority of the community and as a steadfast opponent of innovation and so-called reform.

The Rev. gentleman is an accomplished musician, and he instructed the congregational choir for a long number of years.

Mrs. VERA SHEARD

The list of Canadian women who write charming verse is quite a lengthy one, and carries the names of not a few who are possessed of a very high talent in that particular section of literature, and whose work finds ready acceptance by the best class of magazines published in this country and in the United States. Amongst these Mrs. Sheard occupies an honorable position. One of her latest and best efforts reached the public within recent times through the pages of Scribners. Mrs. Sheard is a resident of Toronto.

HON. T. CHASE CASGRAIN

Although he first saw daylight on the southern side of the border, he saw so little of it before his transfer north, and has, moreover, been so closely identified with interests of prominence in Canadian life since the years matured him into manhood's estate, the Hon. T. C. Casgrain is by general acceptance an adopted son of the Dominion. Born in 1852, his educational terms were spent at Quebec Seminary and Laval University. During the years 1886-96 he was member of the Quebec Legislature; was Attorney-General for the province 1891-96, and member of the House of Commons 1896-1904. He took a leading part in election matters amongst the French-Canadians of Quebec during the recent contest.

In Mr. Casgrain's manner there is something of the military, and he has been likened to Lord Roberts in general appearance. Upstanding, dignified and alert, with self-command and determination expressed in every movement — one feels, as one looks at him, that the description is an apt once. The white tuft of hair upon the under-lip, and the white moustache that almost meets it, bristle with military vigor, — and vigor, too, is expressed in the snappy eyes partially concealed by gold-rimmed glasses.

As a platform speaker, he is recognised as of its orators of the country. In his own native language he is eloquence personified, and he is scarcely less magnetic in English. The sentences pour from him like a flood — humorous, compelling and at times extraordinarily ironical.

Mr. Casgrain's father was Hon. C. E. Casgrain, and the family dates back to Canada's early French days.

SIAMESE CATS.

At birth the Siamese cat is almost white, showing a faint line where the "markings" will, with age, develop. In a few months, the colour gradually darkens into a lovely pale fawn, and the markings are of a beautiful deep brown or even chocolate colour. These markings, which are prominently displayed on what canine fanciers would term the muzzle—the face and head—and on the legs and tail should be as clearly defined as possible, but the majority of cats seen at the present time have the colour smeared and smudgy. Besides its peculiar colour, the Siamese cat has wonderful opalesque — blue eyes, which seem to be set asiant, giving it a curious appearance. In the dark these strange creatures are stranger still, for they glow like red hot coals.

THE VEIL OF FUTURITY

By Martin Lyon

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Perfectly motionless lay the ship on the still water, awaiting the dawn to enter the harbor. In a deck-chair Leslie Cartwright stirred restlessly. It was late, and nearly all the other passengers had retired for the night; but he was in no mood for sleep.

In the dim light the man's face was gray with an unnatural pallor, scored blackly here and there, on the forehead and round the mouth, with short, hard lines. Every now and then his hands would clench nervously, and a quick, impatient sigh escaped his compressed lips. The light murmur from the bulwarks, where a late fellow-traveler and the first officer were chatting over a last cigar, came to him as an impertinence and an irritation. At length the voices died away as the speakers moved forward, and nothing broke the stillness save the long wash of the Australasian sea, and at intervals, with jarring suddenness, the striking of the ship's bell.

The man looked around to see if he was alone, and dropped back with an exclamation of satisfaction. By-and-by he began to murmur and fret once more. "What fools women are!" he growled. "They take an abstraction and make a god of it; they take a literature and make it a fetish. And what a fool I am to take so much notice of their chatter!"

He was silent for a time. Then he resumed his muttering. "Who said 'the Veil of Futurity is woven by the hand of Mercy'? Stuff! I should like to lift it, for one. Just as though there could possibly be any mercy in not letting a poor devil see what's ahead of him — and people have lifted it, too — what about the Eastern mystics — the sooth-sayers — the Chaldeans? — what about prophecy? The old prophets were more than the mere far-sighted statesmen as some would have us believe — wonderful — wonderful——"

His voice died away in a low, dreamy murmur; then he stirred again, and began to mutter once more.

"What about their wretched Western imitators! They are too grossly material to possess even a fraction of the occult power they presume to lay claim to. Centuries of European training have been quite enough to exterminate any force of the kind, even if it ever existed. Existed? — of course it did. Men have read the stars like an open book and seen their own fate in the signs of the wind and the wave — they have foretold war and famine and pestilence and the doom of nations; but they were men of old — not the puerile would-be mystics of to-day.

"I do not believe the most spiritualised, sensitive Anglo-Saxon could look five minutes into the unknown."

As he spoke, his white face grew whiter, and an expression almost of fear came over it. He shivered for a moment, then braced himself, evidently with an effort. He laughed nervously.

"Something is wrong with me," he said savagely. "I hope I am not going to get fever. I had a feeling then that I could know the future, if I would — only — that it would be well for me if I did not will to know. It's horribly uncanny; I can't shake it off. Well — his voice rose in excited defiance — "I will test this power. I demand to see myself a year hence."

x x x

Then he was floating in a thick, heavy atmosphere; now dark — dark to blackness — now lightening into transparent blue; sometimes flashing into silver, and even blazing into a splendor of gorgeous golden freshness.

Around him, with him, and of him, were long, spherical gray shapes. He was conscious of a curious sense of dispersion — of separation in some indefinite, indefinable manner from himself; and yet he was perfectly capable of connected thought.

"Can this be an answer to my demand?" he question[illegible]! At vague as all prophecy! Well, we will ask eleven months." There was no change. "Well, then, ten — nine — eight — seven six!"

A look of horror seized him. Great drops of sweat sprang out on his brow. One might have seen the muscles start and stiffen in his hands as he gripped the arms of the chair. "Five — four — three — two — a month, yes, a month!" he spoke with agonised intensity.

The sense of uneasiness was with him still, but in a modified degree He seemed more sentient, more living, more human. His voice rose to a shriek. "Take me back to this hour — to this minute." He was alive now, but oh! the agony of that revival! Ah, that fierce, deadly grip on his shoulder! A score of cruel, sharp points were entering his flesh and crushing his loins as in a steel trap! What was that awful wrenching tug at his foot? "Ah, mercy! mercy!"

x x x

The first officer reported to the captain:

"I had been talking to Mr. Chadwick till he finished his cigar. I noticed Mr. Cartwright — he was lying in a deck-chair, I thought asleep. Before turning in finally, I made the round of the decks, after Mr. Chadwick had gone. When I came back Mr. Cartwright was still there, and, as I thought he might get a chill if he slept in the open air, I was going to awake him.

"As I got close to him, I found that he was talking in his sleep very excitedly. I was just about to rouse him when he sprang out of his chair with a most dreadful shriek for mercy and before I could stop him he had rushed to the side and jumped overboard. I snatched up a coil of rope and ran to the place, but I was too late. It would almost seem as if the sharks had been waiting for him. There were three of them."

And he turned away and put his hand over his eyes.

The man who always follows the dictation of his conscience must have pretty sharp ears.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number" — here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 887 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that. I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

1—Pain in the back.
2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5—Prostatic trouble.
6—Gas or pain in the stomach.
7—General debility, weakness, dizziness
8—Pain or soreness under right rib.

ON "THE CANNY SCOT."

Scotsmen Not Sentimental, But Deeply Romantic at Heart, Says a Well-known English Writer.

"I have been trying all my life to like Scotsmen," said Charles Lamb, "and am obliged to desist from the experiment in despair." There are still probably a few people who secretly or openly harbour similar antipathetic feelings towards the natives of Caledonia, but their number is decreasing daily. It would hardly be correct to say that the Scots are universally popular. Popularity is usually the product of leisure and luxury, and is seldom accorded to those who have had little opportunity for the cultivation of the graces and external beauties of life. For generations the Scots have been held fast in the grip of uncompromising realities. The poverty of the country, with its long stretches of bleak but beautiful moorland; the "Sawbath gloom" which so long reigned over the Lowlands, combined with the "Celtic gloom" permeating every "distant shieling" in the Highlands, has not been conducive to the development of a spirit of gaiety and charm. But what they have lost in one way they have gained in another. It is this very schooling in "strait and narrow" ways which has given the nation the grit and dogged determination it now possesses.

HUMOUR NORTH OF THE TWEED.

A sense of humor is not now denied Scotsmen by the Sassenach. "A Scotsman and therefore quick to see the humor of things," was the recent comment of so cosmopolitan a critic as Mrs. Annie Besant. What would Sydney Smith say if he could have heard it?

Meanness is another charge which seems to have been withdrawn in recent years. It probably arose in the first instance from the Scot's necessity for economy. Brought up in a country where money was unusually scarce, it was difficulty for him to develop suddenly an open-handed generosity. This fostered habit of economy, brought about by circumstances, must be carefully distinguished from the merely mean desire to hoard. Great generosity of heart is often found in the most economical person, while a certain cold selfishness not infrequently accompanies the most outrageous extravagances.

Another charge which has sometimes been levelled against the Scots is a lack of romance, but their history is an ample refutation of this charge. The Scotsman is not sentimental, but he is deeply romantic at heart."

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

The Imperial Canadian Trust Company

Was Incorporated Under the Laws of Manitoba by Special Act of the Legislature Assented to March 24th, 1911, With a Capitalisation of

One Million Dollars ($1,000,000)

Divided Into Ten Thousand Shares of $100.00 Each, With Power to Increase the Capital to Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000), for the Purpose of Carrying on a Trust and Agency Business in All Its Branches, as Clearly Set Forth in the Company's Special Act of Incorporation, and as Hereinafter Dealt With in This Prospectus.

The Head Office of the Company is in the City of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, branch offices and agencies will be opened up throughout the Dominion. As a very active business will be carried on in Western Canada, special attention will be given towards effecting a thorough organization in the Western Provinces. The Company proposes to open an office in London, England, and to appoint a London board of directors with a view to facilitating its operations and establishing valuable financial connections in Great Britain. Accordingly, the Company will be able to get into close touch with British investors and be in a position to readily furnish its Old Country clients with direct information concerning the Company, and, generally speaking, the establishing of a London office and the appointing of a London board comprising representative business men, will prove not only of inestimable value to the Company, but will be a source of practical benefit and convenience to the Company's clients throughout Great Britain.

It is the intention of the directors to at once offer for public subscription in Canada One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) of Ordinary Stock, and, a little later on, having regard to the business requirements of the Company, the directors will make an issue in Great Britain of four hundred thousand dollars of Ordinary Stock and one million six hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock upon the sanction by the shareholders of a by-law to that effect.

The funds so obtained through the sale of the Preferred Stock will be invested in Western Canada, to yield a handsome margin of profit, and, as the Ordinary Stock will participate in these profits in addition to the profits accruing from the general business of the Company, it should prove to be a most satisfactory and profitable investment.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock will undoubtedly appeal strongly to the British public who desire to secure an investment which affords a definite rate of interest combined with absolute security.

THE FIRST ALLOTMENT OF ORDINARY STOCK is being issued at $115.00 per share, being at a premium of 15 per cent.

Already $300,000 of Stock has been Subscribed

by the directors and their friends, and, from the present very active demand and inquiries for the stock, indications clearly point to a prompt subscription of the entire allotment.

The terms of subscription are:—

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance owing on the shares, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be paid for in full on application or, as a matter of convenience to the subscriber, they may be purchased in accordance with the terms of payment as set forth in the next preceding paragraph. The investor of moderate means as well as the capitalist will, therefore, be enabled to secure with but little financial effort, a handsome number of shares. If so desired, the subscriber may pay any or all of the instalments prior to due dates and thereby derive the full benefit of his investment.

The following Table illustrates the first call as well as subsequent payments according to the number of shares subscribed:—

No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments	No. of Shares	Amount of First Call	Half Yearly Payments
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00	30	750.00	270.00
5	125.00	45.00	40	1000.00	360.00
10	250.00	90.00	50	1250.00	450.00
15	375.00	135.00	100	2500.00	900.00
20	500.00	180.00	250	6250.00	2250.00
25	625.00	225.00	300	7500.00	2700.00

Table showing total purchase price of the following number of shares at the price of $115.00 per share:—

No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price	No. of Shares	Total Purchase Price
1	$ 115.00	30	3450.00
5	575.00	40	4600.00
10	1150.00	50	5750.00
15	1725.00	100	11500.00
20	2300.00	250	28750.00
25	2875.00	300	34500.00

It is worthy of special mention that NO COMMISSIONS HAVE BEEN PAID for securing stock subscriptions; in fact the only expense incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company has been in connection with securing the Company's charter and a few necessary expenses, including printing, postage, stationery, etc.

NO BONUS STOCK whatever has been nor shall be issued to anyone. Even the directors who individually have large financial holdings in the Company and take a prominent and active interest in its welfare have, without exception, paid the same price for their shares as is being offered to the general public, or, in other words, not one dollar of Ordinary Stock has been nor shall be issued for any purpose whatever at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE INCOME of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will be derived from:

(a) The investment of its Capital Stock, Debentures, Deposits, etc.

(b) The fees and commissions in connection with the administration of estates, the investment of trust moneys, the collecting of accounts, rents, dividends, interest, mortgages, etc., acting as assignee, trustee, guardian, official administrator, etc., as well as agent for the owners of real estate; agent for the transaction of business, the management of and winding up of estates, acting as custodian of sinking funds, and also from rents derived from the safety deposit vaults, etc.

The following figures, which are the latest obtainable, relative to a number of our Canadian Trust Companies, will prove of much interest, showing their subscribed and paid-up capital, reserve, as well as dividends paid, the net earnings on paid-up capital, the present per cent. value of their shares, and the total volume of business under the control or administration of these different companies:—

Name of Company	Subscribed Capital	Paid up Capital	Reserve	Dividend p.c.	Per ct. value per share	Per ct. net earnings on paid-up cap.	Total assets and trust accounts	Years in business
Royal Trust Co., Montreal	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	14½	*	26.38	$43,876,795	13
Toronto General Trusts Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	$ 600,000	8	180	17.89	41,681,297	30
National Trust Co., Toronto	1,500,000	1,500,000	1,200,000	10	200	18.17	24,067,119	13
Union Trust Co., Toronto	1,000,000	1,000,000	650,000	10	130	19.64	13,415,147	10
Standard Trusts Co., Winnipeg	500,000	500,000	140,000	8	100	20.40	3,470,000	3
Northern Trusts Co., Winnipeg	1,500,000	1,200,000	133,180	7	130	12.30	6,191,724	6

*Tho shares are not listed, being very closely held, but, from a dividend point of view, they are worth $300 per share.

THE ABOVE FIGURES ARE MOST SIGNIFICANT, and clearly show that the volume of business controlled by each company is many times the amount of the paid-up capital, which has a most important bearing on the earning power of the Company, and therefore enables it to pay very satisfactory dividends, as well as build up a large reserve, as is evidenced by the foregoing figures.

As the profits are governed by the volume and character of the business transacted, it will be readily seen that, as the business grows year by year, the profits materially increase and, with a fixed amount of Capital Stock, the Company is able to pay higher dividends and carry larger amounts to the Reserve, resulting in a steady increase in the value of the stock.

In promoting The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, the directors were confident that, with the rapid accumulation of wealth and tremendous business expansion throughout the country, influenced by a succession of bountiful crops and great influx of settlers into the Dominion, the time was most opportune for organizing a large and progressive trust company.

The moral and hearty financial support already accorded the Company by leading business and professional men is indeed encouraging, and augurs well for the future success of the Company.

In offering for subscription such a large amount of Capital Stock, which will be widely distributed not only in Canada, but abroad, the directors anticipate that, through the active co-operation of the shareholders, a very extensive and valuable business connection will be established. This connection in itself will naturally result in a large amount of very desirable business, and, when combined with the powerful interests already associated with the Company, it will be at once apparent that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only commencing business under most favorable auspices, but it will always have at its command a great volume of business at a minimum cost to the Company.

Accordingly, the Company should experience a very rapid as well as substantial growth, and, with the low cost of organization, the directors are confident that the Company will be able to pay very satisfactory dividends and at an early date.

For this reason, the stock of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should strongly appeal to all careful, conservative investors who are desirous of securing an absolutely safe and profitable investment.

As it is confidently expected that the entire allotment will be promptly subscribed, the directors strongly recommend the investing public to make application for the stock with as little delay as possible.

During the last ten years the Dominion of Canada has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and has made more rapid progress in wealth, population and business expansion than at any other time in its history, until to-day, the Dominion is attracting world-wide attention not only as a desirable country for settlers but as a safe and profitable field for investors.

With the rapid growth of Western Canada, the scope of the financial institutions has become greatly enlarged, and, as a result, we find that most of our large Canadian companies have been obliged to materially increase their capital owing to the demand for money incident to expansion of business, also that many new companies have been organized with a view to improving the financial situation and assisting as far as possible in the general development of the country.

Western Canada, which was only a few years ago comparatively unknown to the outside world, and had not then demonstrated that these Western Provinces were capable of supporting millions of people, has now come to be recognized as a great agricultural country, admirably adapted for settlers of moderate means, and as a very desirable and profitable field for the investment of capital.

With the head office of the Company located in Winnipeg and the majority of the directors being Western men, thoroughly conversant with Western conditions, it is only natural to expect that, while this Company will operate in the various Provinces of the Dominion, yet the great volume of its business will be obtained in the four Western Provinces.

With the enormous influx of settlers into Canada, which is increasing year by year, the Western Provinces will continue to advance with even greater strides in the matter of railway extension, agricultural production, industrial and commercial enterprises than have hitherto been experienced in this country. With such a promising future in store for this portion of the Dominion, the energetic development in all lines of business will create a very active demand for money, so that financial institutions may look forward, with a great degree of confidence, to many years of active and profitable business.

It is worthy of note that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company is not only being organized at a most favorable and opportune time, but it will have at its command very extensive and valuable connections owing to the fact that the directors of this Company are directors of and are financially interested in a number of other strong financial institutions, through which will be derived a large amount of very desirable business. It will, therefore, be evident that the cost of organization of this Company, including the placing of the Capital Stock, will be much lower than that of companies organized under less favorable conditions, and, in view of the low cost of organization and the volume of business under its immediate control, this Company should be enabled to pay handsome dividends, and at an earlier date than could otherwise be reasonably expected.

The directorate of this Company is comprised of men of wide experience, well and favorably known in the financial and commercial world. Each director has subscribed for at least One Hundred shares of the Capital Stock, upon which all calls have been paid, and, in addition to this, every director takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company with a view to building up a strong and successful institution. Under these circumstances, it will be at once apparent that the affairs of the Company will be conducted on safe and conservative lines.

Every possible precaution will be taken in the investment of the Company's funds. Only high-class securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved real estate, stocks, bonds, and debentures of companies of unquestioned stability, also Dominion and Provincial securities, as well as Municipal, County and School securities of well established districts.

Absolute security, combined with a reasonable rate of interest, is a most essential feature to be considered when making any financial investment, and, in this connection, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company should excel.

The funds of the Company will be very largely invested in the security of first mortgages on improved productive real estate in Western Canada, where land values are steadily increasing and where the rates of interest obtainable are at least TWO PER CENT. HIGHER than in the older settled portions of the Dominion. With its mortgage loans, the Company is doubly secured, inasmuch as, while the Company's fixed policy is never to mortgage property for more than 50 per cent. of its conservative value, yet, with every mortgage, the interest as well as a definite amount of principal, is repayable yearly. Further precaution is exercised, as all mortgaged properties are covered by ample insurance, in thoroughly reliable companies.

In respect to the funds which will be invested in stocks, and debentures, it might be well to mention that these securities are, generally speaking, readily negotiable and constitute a very desirable liquid asset.

In view of the fact that a large portion of the Company's funds will be invested in first mortgages in Western Canada, it is highly important that the directors should be thoroughly conversant with Western conditions. A glance at the personnel of the board will be most reassuring in this respect. Situated at the Gateway of the West, this Company, with its representative board of directors, is destined to become one of our largest Canadian financial institutions, and, with its interests, international as well as local, it will materially assist in attracting foreign capital into the Dominion and thereby add to the general wealth, prosperity and development of our country.

THE BUSINESS OF A TRUST COMPANY has now come to be recognized as an absolute necessity in the business life of to-day, and what was formerly the common practice to appoint personal trustees to administer trust estates and perform such other duties as might be assigned them, is now very largely superseded by appointing, for such purposes, a trust company, which has, through its directors of long business experience as well as trained and trustworthy officials, a thorough organization, fully equipped with all the facilities so necessary for the prompt and efficient execution of the varied and complex obligations incident to the business.

Owing to the rapid accumulation of wealth and the great increase in population in the Dominion, the demand for the services of a trust company has grown to such an extent among the great masses of the people, that the trust companies are now regarded as almost indispensable in modern business. They now constitute a very important factor in our country as a safe, convenient and reliable means for looking after estates and sundry other business, which would be practically impossible for the private individual, no matter how capable and willing, to manage, for, perhaps, a long term of years, in the same thorough and comprehensive manner.

THE GENERAL SATISFACTION to clients which has resulted from their employment of trust companies to perform such duties as were formerly assigned to private individuals and the enviable record and financial standing of our Canadian trust companies, have been instrumental in securing the entire confidence of the general public. As an evidence of the increasing popularity of these companies and the esteem in which they are held by investors as well as clients, we have but to refer to their very rapid and substantial growth during recent years, until they now rank among the strongest of our financial institutions and exercise a great influence in the financial and commercial world.

In the promotion of this large Canadian company, the Directors have the utmost confidence that The Imperial Canadian Trust Company will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as one of our strongest and most progressive financial institutions, and, as this Company, through its valuable connections abroad, will be instrumental in bringing a considerable amount of capital into the Dominion for the purposes of investment, and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions, the Directors naturally anticipate that these facts will be fully appreciated by the Canadian people and that the Company will, accordingly, receive the moral and hearty financial support of all citizens who take a pride in building up our financial institutions and who are interested in the welfare and general development of our country.

As this is the first issue of the Company's stock and, therefore, the lowest price at which it will ever be available through public subscription, the Directors strongly recommend the investment to the public, for their immediate and careful consideration. Subscribers are requested to kindly fill out the attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address and mail the application along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or, if so desired, application for the stock may be made at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors, a Certificate of Stock for the number of shares subscribed for and allotted will be issued and mailed the shareholder forthwith. Do not fail to make application for the stock at once, as the Directors fully anticipate that, with such a very desirable investment, the entire issue will be promptly subscribed.

Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders, or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions, should be made payable to The Imperial Canadian Trust Company.

(Incorporated by Special Act of the Legislature of Manitoba.)
HEAD OFFICE: WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, CANADA.

APPLICATION FOR ORDINARY SHARES

To the Directors of THE IMPERIAL CANADIAN TRUST COMPANY

I, ...

do hereby apply for ..... Ordinary Shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, in the Capital Stock of the Imperial Canadian Trust Company, at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115.00) per Share, being at a premium of Fifteen Per Cent. (15 per cent.), and I do hereby request you to allot or transfer to me the said number of Shares and I hereby covenant and agree with the said, The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, to accept the Shares now applied for, or any lesser number that may be allotted or transferred to me, and to pay to said Company for such Shares, as follows: Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per Share on application, which shall include the said premium of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) per Share, and the balance owing on the Shares, in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of Nine Dollars ($9.00) per Share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from the date of allotment of said Shares.

I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint the Manager and Secretary and Treasurer of The Imperial Canadian Trust Company, and each of them and the successor in office of any of them, my true and lawful Attorney, for me and in my name, place and stead, and on my behalf to sign and subscribe my name to the Subscribers' Agreement in the Stock Books of the said Company, for the aforesaid Shares in the within-named Company, and in accordance with the terms set forth in the Stock application, and to accept such Shares as may be allotted or transferred to me, and to register me therein as the holder of the said Shares.

It is my understanding that:

(a) Applications for Stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors, a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed the Shareholder forthwith.

(b) The holder of these Shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the Shares.

Romans In Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

CONVERTIBLE SHIPS CONDEMNED

Resolution Moved and Withdrawn in Australian Parliament Against Convertible Ships In Their Waters.

(Special Cable Service.)

MELBOURNE. — Grave concern is felt throughout the Commonwealth over the assertion that all overseas vessels subsidized by foreign countries are easily convertible into commerce destroyers in war time. Private advice received in this country state that liners flying the German flag are especially equipped for this contingency. As a result of this feeling of apprehension, a resolution was moved in the federal Parliament to-day to the effect that action be taken forthwith to discourage such shipping for trading in Australian waters. Premier Fisher said: "We say most emphatically that ships of other nations which come to trade in our waters must not presume too much on our good nature and equip themselves so that they may act as ships of war upon the declaration of hostilities."

The Premier's words were greeted with ringing cheers, and the resolution was finally withdrawn.

ITALIAN RULER OF TRIPOLI

VICE-ADMIRAL BOREA D'OLINO

TRIPOLI. — Since General Caneva, on account of the massacres of the natives, who are Arabs, in the vicinity of Tripoli has been superseded by Vice-Admiral Borea D'Olino satisfaction is felt in the capitals of Europe. The new governor is probably the best naval fighter Italy possesses to-day, and though a stern disciplinarian he is very popular with his officers and men.

SIGNS OF ITALIAN RULE

Picture of Italian soldiers installing telephones in Tripoli. The Italians hold the city forts, but the outer forts are in the hands of the Turks.

TRIPOLI. — One of the first things the Italians did on capturing Tripoli was to install telephones in the city, and if it were not for the serious side, for now this city is again besieged from the land side by Arabs and Turks, one could smile at the incongruity of the placing of what represents the new age in buildings that are almost as old as the hills.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

AN OLD SAYING NOW AMENDED

Civic Cleanliness is as Necessary as Private Cleanliness and it is the Duty of Citizens to See that Streets are Clean.

The old saying, "Cleanliness is the Mother of Godliness," has been revised by modern science. It now reads, "Cleanliness is the Mother of Health."

Clean houses, clean yards, clean streets, clean lanes, clean water are essential to good health.

In the cities, towns and villages, individual cleanliness is not sufficient. You make take the utmost pains to keep your own house and premises clean, but if the public streets are dirty, dust laden with disease will be carried into your home. Civic cleanliness is as necessary as private cleanliness, and it is the duty of every citizen to use his vote and influence in favour of keeping the lanes, streets and other public places perfectly clean at all seasons of the year.

It costs money to keep a city clean, and the citizen should not grumble about any taxation that may be necessary for this purpose. There is danger, however, in every community that unless the right men are selected for municipal offices money which should be used to ensure civic cleanliness may be used for other purposes. The best way would be to have a special tax for street cleaning purposes, and restrict the municipal authorities from using the revenue obtained from this tax for any other purpose than street cleaning.

FACTS ABOUT THE DEAD SEA

The Celebrated Sea of the East is, on Account of its Buoyancy, Good for Swimming In.

The Dead Sea is some forty-seven miles long, and about ten miles wide at its greatest breadth. Curiously enough, it lies 1300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean. Many ridiculous stories are told about this sheet of water, even in Palestine itself. For instance, people will tell you in Jerusalem that it is impossible to swim in its waters, and that no animals or vegetables can exist near its shores. While it is true that fish cannot live in the lake, birds may frequently be seen, in certain places, flying over the surface.

As for swimming, the excessive buoyancy of the water merely renders it difficult to make much headway, but swimming is both feasible and refreshing. Among the party on an exploring vessel there were several who could not swim, yet in the evening they often ventured into the water, and floated about on their backs. What one has to be careful about is not to get the water into the eyes. Indeed, did Palestine belong to any other Power but Turkey, probably the northern shore of the lake would be a popular bathing station. No doubt the chrolide of magnesia which enters so largely into the composition of the water would be found to have medicinal and curative properties.

The water is certainly very dense, containing twenty-three per cent. of solid matter, and is, bulk for bulk, heavier than the human body. How dense it is may be realised from the following table:—In a ton of water from the Caspian Sea there are 11 lb. of salt; in the Baltic, 18 lb.; in the Black Sea, 36 lb.; in the Atlantic, 31 lb.; in the English Channel, 72 lbs.; in the Mediterranean, 85 lb.; in the Red Sea, 93 lb.; and in the Dead Sea, 187 lb.

It has generally been believed that this famous inland sea is decreasing in size, but the reverse is the case. Some twenty years ago there was a small island about half a mile from the north shore. This has now entirely disappeared, whilst on the west, east, and south shores evidences of the encroachment of the waters upon the land were noticeable in the presence of partially submerged forests of large trees still standing in the death-dealing waters.

RECORD IN TRANSPORTATION

Railway shippers and especially shippers of live stock will be interested in the record made by the Soo in transporting a shipment of horses from St. Paul to Vancouver recently. The shipment which consisted of one hundred and fifty thoroughbred horses was made from Lexington Kentucky, by Irving H. Wheatcroft, a retired United States Railway man and the owner of several large stock farms. In shipping his stock, the only stipulation of importance made by Mr. Wheatcroft was that the horses should be delivered in good condition at Vancouver in not more than six days after they had left St. Paul.

In forwarding the shipment, the railway not only made delivery at Vancouver within six days but cut the time down to under four days, three days and twenty-one hours to be exact. The special train containing the horses left Minneapolis at 10.15 A.M. one morning. The following day, at 6.30 P.M. it reached Portal and it left Portal the same night at 8.05 o'clock. The trip from Portal was made in sixty-two hours. Vancouver being reached four days later. This is remarkably good time and the arrival of the horses at Vancouver Mr. Wheatcroft complimented the Canadian Railway officials on the high standard of their freight service.

The horses were eventually shipped to Australia on the steamship "Kin[illegible]

REPRIMANDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, —once. The hat pirate looked on Mr Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge her with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boss in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

"The Festival called Tanabata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked wig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionized the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

School and at McGill University, at the latter of which he attached the B.A. and gold medal honors in mental and moral philosophy of the year 1876, that of M. A. coming in 1880. There he also graduated B.C.L. in 1878, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1896, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being [illegible] lecturer on constitutional law, and about the same time was recommended for Q. C. by the Tupper administration.

Mr McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was, indeed, one of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. Forming one of the deputation to the Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1886, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real live interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire"; "Commercial Union with the U. S. with a word on Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "Revenue Tariff within the Empire" and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships among the Presbyterians.

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1903 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat.

The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Horse Distemper

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares Nerviline Is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

NERVILINE CURES QUICKLY

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c, at all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co'y, Kingston, Ont.

This Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the W.F.M.S. auxiliary of St. Paul's church will be held in the guild room this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when officers will be elected. After the adjournment to the school, addresses will be given by Mr. Donald McGillivray of Shanghai, and Rev. Mr. Macdonald, St. Paul's missionary to Korea.

An Open Rink.

It is suggested that the Brookside Bowling Club construct an open air rink on their premises, corner of Brock and Aylmer streets. It is said that the flooding of the rink, if properly done, will in no way injure the grass next season. The officials of the club are considering the matter. It would certainly be a popular place of amusement, and is so centrally situated that it would be easy of access.

THANK THE PRESS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am instructed by the Ministerial Association of Peterborough to convey to you their unanimous expression of thanks for the valuable services rendered by your paper in the appeal recently made for the Grenfell Deep Sea Mission fund. The success of this appeal has in a large measure been due to the assistance given so heartily and generously by the press of the city. We desire also through your columns to thank the public for their liberal response to the appeal. Acknowledgement of the full amount subscribed will be made by the treasurer, Mrs. James Wood, within a few days.

THE HEBERT MARRIAGE CASE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The plain fact that the Roman Catholic Church, through its chief representative, dare not again marry Hebert, even according to their own marriage laws, furnishes in itself a complete answer to their own charges, that we Protestants do not understand and appreciate their position in the matter. Should the church marry Hebert, he, as the law now is interpreted, could be charged with bigamy, itself another evidence of the claims made by the church that it alone keeps marriage as a sacrament. The recent Eames and Gorgoza wedding, as well as some in our own city, furnish additional proof in spite of denial that certain people of their own faith can get around their own church laws when required. Individual liberty must be safeguarded in this matter in Canada, and only a Dominion marriage law that no church can interpret to suit itself will save us from social and moral ruin, and where it can be proven that clergy have broken up mixed marriages by declaring to the wife, or husband, or both, that such a marriage is illegal, that clergyman should also answer to the courts.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema.

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

58 DEATHS AMONG THE IMMIGRANTS ON BRITISH STEAMER ORTERIC

Washington, Dec. 8.—Penalties aggregating $7,960 were to-day imposed by the Department of Commerce and Labor upon the British Steamer Orteric, charged with what the Department characterizes as the worst case of neglect of steerage passengers ever brought under the passenger act of 1882.

LOADED WITH IMMIGRANTS.

The penalized vessel was employed to carry Spanish and Portuguese immigrants through the Magellan Strait of Honolulu. Among the 1,342 passengers there were in the eight weeks of her voyage, 58 deaths, 57 being children. The births numbered 14. This further reveals that the sexes were not properly segregated and that inadequate ventilation increased the mortality.

ALMOST BEYOND RELIEF.

The general sanitary condition of the vessel including the hospital quarter was found to be almost beyond belief.

NE TEMERE ENFORCEMENT

Another Mixed Marriage Case in County Tyrone, Ireland

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME

(Glasgow Mail)

HERE is another incident in connection with the enforcement of the Ne Temere decree reported as having occurred recently in the townland of Feddom, South Tyrone. The facts have been put into a sworn statement before responsible people. From these it is learned that a Mrs. Mary Moore, a Roman Catholic, married at the Protestant Cathedral, in Belfast, in February last, Nasson Moore, a Protestant. Mrs. Moore is expecting shortly to become a mother. On the 3rd of November, while her husband was at work, a Roman Catholic curate, accompanied by a missionary, entered her house. Mrs. Moore, in a sworn statement, says:—"The missionary asked me, 'Where did you get married?' and I replied that I had got married in St. Anne's Cathedral, in the city of Belfast. He then said, 'You might as well not have got married at all. You are not married. You are living in sin. You are as bad as those who are on the streets.' I replied, 'I believe I am married all right, and I believe my marriage will stand as it is.' My father, James McAnespie, then came in, and heard part of his conversation. He agreed with what the missionary had said, and the latter remarked, in his presence, 'We will not leave this house until you go with us.' At this time I was crying at the idea of being talked to in such a way, and because of the threat to take me away from my husband and my home. My father took no notice of this, and said, 'You must leave the house with us.' The curate did not talk so much as the missionary, but he also urged upon me to go. Through their influence over me when alone I was compelled to go out and leave the house in their company. They wanted to lock the door, but I locked the door myself, and proceeded down the road towards Mr. Wrays which is less than a quarter of a mile away. I ran after going from the door, and my father followed, demanding the key. He overtook me, and got possession of the key by force. He then shouted back to the two clergymen, 'I have got it.' The clergymen next got into a trap, which was driven by a third person, apparently a servant. They walked the horse past my father and me, and went on in front. It looked as if they were under the impression that I was going with them. All this time I was endeavoring to make for Mr. Wray's, where my husband was at work. My husband, however, had heard of what was going on at our home, and met us on the road, close to Mr. Wray's. He said, 'James, what is this you have got up now?' My father answered, 'It is not my fault. I have nothing to do with it.' He then ran away. I told my husband that my father had the key, and asked him to get it. My husband on hearing this, followed him and took the key from him."

Eye-witnesses of the struggle on the road state that Mrs. Moore made a plucky fight for liberty. The husband stated that a neighboring farmer told him that priests were at his house, and that he had better go and see what they were up to.

THE POSTMASTER SICK FOR YEARS

BUT HE FOUND PERMANENT RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. John Nolan had Backache, Nervousness, and Rheumatism But Cured Them So They Didn't Come Back.

Point La Nim, Restigouche Co., N. B., Dec. 8—(Special)—That as a renewer of youth Dodd's Kidney Pills has no equal is the experience of John Nolan, the veteran postmaster of this place. Sixty years of age but still strong and healthy, Mr. Nolan declares he owes his health to the great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For ten years I was a sufferer with Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism," says the Postmaster. "I was so bad at times that I was confined to my bed. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, had flashes of light before my eyes and had difficulty in collecting my thoughts. After using several medicines without benefit I began to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking in all fifteen boxes. That was four years ago, and though I stopped taking the pills two years ago I have had no return of my trouble."

Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism are all caused by diseased Kidneys. To cure them to stay cured you must cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A GOOD PROPOSITION

Attention of Investors Directed to the Half Page Advertisement of Aubin & Percy, Vancouver.

No centre and district in Canada holds greater promise for the coming years than Red Deer, Alta. Nothing is more certain than that, in the 200 miles distance between Calgary and Edmonton, the present largest cities of Alberta, there will be built up a half-way or mid-way city whose extent, population, and resources will rival them both.

The C.P.R. recently completed at this point, a handsome $20,000 station, and improvements to the shops and engine houses.

The increase in building permits for April, May and June, 1911, showed an increase of 320 per cent. over the same period of 1910. The sale of stamps at the post office increased 100 per cent. for the same time. The Canadian Northern Railway is constructing a line west from the Vegreville-Calgary branch to the Brazeau coal fields and Yellowhead Pass. This branch will put Red Deer in immediate touch with these extensive coal areas, which will exceed in extent and richness, the coal deposits of the Crow's Nest Pass.

Complete information in regard to property in Red Deer can be secured from Aubin and Percy, Real Estate Brokers, 142 Hastings St. West, Vancouver, B.C. This well known firm has a fine list of valuable lots at River View Heights, a subdivision at the west of Red Deer, which they are now selling at the remarkable low figure of $100 for inside lots and $125 for corners.

DECLARES HER MARRIAGE LEGAL

MRS. HEBERT ASKS COURT'S RULING ON LEGALITY OF THE FAMOUS DECREE—ATTACKS THE VALIDITY OF THE NE TEMERE.

FAMOUS CASE IN COURT MONDAY

Questions the Right of the Church to Interfere—Case to Be Thrashed Out—Rights of the Catholic Church Will Be Defended by Copious Extracts from Previous Cases in the History of Quebec.

Montreal, Dec. 8.—That the scope of the questions at issue in the marriage separation of Eugene Hebert and his wife under the Ne Temere decree will be greatly widened and the entire question of the legal solemnization of marriage and the validity of the much discussed decree threshed out, is evident from the contentions to be advanced by Mrs. Hebert when the case resumes on Monday.

THE WOMAN'S CONTENTION.

In the first place Dame Hebert claims that, according to law, the marriage of two Catholics can be validly solemnized before a Protestant minister. In answer to this, the attorney for Hebert points out that according to the decree "Tametsi" promulgated and in force in Quebec since before the session, the marriage of two Catholics may not be solemnized before any other than the Bishop of one of the contracting parties or by the parish priest, or by a clergyman duly delegated by either of these two latter. The decree Ne Temere served but to reinforce Ne Tametsi on this point, the dispositions of the two decrees on the matter at issue being exactly the same. Citations from the Civil Code as well as all juries pronouncements are given to show that the dispositions [illegible] in this respect have been substantiated as far as the Province of Quebec is concerned by the civil [illegible] just as much [illegible]

CHURCH'S JURISDICTION.

Secondly, Dame Hebert contends that according to law the sentence of the ecclesiastical tribunal, whereby her marriage was declared null is of no effect.

FALLING BRIDGE PLUNGED 200 MEN INTO RIVER

St. Petersburg, Dec. 8.—Between 150 and 200 workmen were to-day plunged into the Volga River through the collapse of a railroad bridge near Kazan.

The bridge was under course of construction, and was carried away by the pressure of ice.

Only four corpses thus far have been recovered.

It is hoped that some of the victims will be able to save themselves by clamoring on the ice floes.

All the towns along the lower part of the river have been warned to keep a sharp lookout for survivors.

In the collapse of the Quebecbridge some years ago, over 80 men, mostly French and Indian, were drowned or killed. The bridge fell because of its own overhanging weight.

THREE WERE BURNED TO DEATH IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Dec. 8.—One woman and two children perished in flames this morning, when the St. Lawrence Club Building on Champlain street, was destroyed by fire. Mrs. Thomas Jones and her two sons, Charles 5 years, and Willie 3 years, are the victims. The third son was also seriously burned.

Mr. J. M. Landry's auto garage on St. Paul street was destroyed by fire at noon to-day. Eight automobiles were completely wrecked, three belonging to Mr. Landry and five to private parties. The loss is $30,000.

MR. HALL ON TEMPERANCE.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—I see by The Examiner, that Mr. Hall is trying to induce the temperance parties to support him [illegible] just as much assurance as in asking the support of the working men. Is Mr. Hall a new convert to temperance, and if so what date did his conversion take place? I would suggest that the temperance people be called together and Mr. Hall be asked to address them as he did the Peterborough club the night of the East Peterborough Liberal nomination, and that he repeat exactly the same language he used that for the benefit of the Christian Temperance people? That there may be no mistake, would suggest that Mayor Morrow, who was one of the audience that night, be present to see that the speech is correctly given [illegible]

A True Temperance Man.

SIX MEN KILLED AND FIVE SERIOUSLY INJURED

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 7.—Six men were killed and five injured to-day in a triple wreck of two freights and a fast express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Devil's Bend, near Manor, Pa., 25 miles east of here.

One freight became stalled and a second crashed into it. Before warning could be given, the express train carrying nothing but express business westbound smashed into the freight wreckage.

TWENTY HORSES KILLED.

There were twenty horses being transported west on the express train and all were killed. Uhlman is believed to have been in New York buying valuable horses. In his pocket were found receipts showing that he had purchased 10 horses for $44,000.

It is estimated that the total value of the horses killed was between $50,000 and $60,000.

Trains Collided Fireman Killed.

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 8.—A fast freight and passenger train collided head-on on the short line railroad, running between New Marlinsville and Clarksbury, W. Va., to-day, and the fireman was killed and several of the passengers were injured.

DIE AT ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

New York, Dec. 8.—Childhood sweethearts in Germany, but by circumstances prevented from being married until seven years ago, an aged Williamsburg couple were preparing to receive a few friends last night for an anniversary celebration, when suddenly their home became a house of mourning. The husband, Bernard Koch, a retired tailor, 65 years old, was stricken with a fatal attack of heart disease, and his wife, Catherine, two years younger, died from shock.

The friends who had been bidden to the celebration feast took part instead in preparing for the funeral and burial of the aged pair, which will take place on Saturday.

HOW BRITAIN GOT TO KNOW THE SECRETS OF FOREIGN NAVIES

Leipsic Saxony, Dec. 8.—Reports which have leaked out regarding the progress of the espionage trial now taking place before the Imperial court in which the English ship broker, Max Schultz, and four German associates who were arrested at Hamburg on March 18th, are accused of attempting to procure information regarding German naval secrets, say it has been established that Schultz is connected with the general organization of an English information bureau.

The activities of this institution cover all the ship yards and naval machine works in foreign countries and aim at the discovery of every naval development.

Schultz, it is said, has been forced to admit the most incriminating charges.

The sentences will be fixed to-morrow. It is expected that Schultz and two German naval engineers who are among the accomplices will be punished severely.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.

ORGANIZED LABOR WAS GRIEVED BEYOND WORDS BY DYNAMITE OUTRAGES

Washington, Dec. 8.—"It is cruelly unjust to hold the men of the labor movement either legally or morally responsible for the crimes of an individual member," sets forth a statement on the McNamara case issued last night by the American Federation of Labor. "In so far as we have the right to speak, we welcome any investigation which either Federal or State courts may undertake. The American labor movements and its friends are loyal Americans and seek to obtain the abolition of wrongs, and the attainment [illegible] within the law.

The statement is signed by every member of the McNamara committee except F. M. Ryan, president of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union, with which the convicted Los Angeles Times dynamiters were prominently connected officially. Mr. Ryan returned to Indianapolis early in the day.

"Had he remained, however," said President Gompers positively, "I am sure that Mr. Ryan would have added his name."

Categorical denial of any knowledge of guilt is given and a statement of the defence fund is promised [illegible] has no wish to condone any crime.

A POLITICAL EXPLANATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I must apologize for having kept "Johnny Canuck" so long waiting for an answer to his enquiry as to where I am, but I did not see his letter for aday or two after it came out. However, "Johnny," I will do my best to satisfy you. You must be unfortunate in your inference that my principles are shallow because I have hitherto been silent in this election. It is the shallow water that babbles "Johnny," and still waters do not reveal every pebble that lies beneath the surface.

Again you are wrong in thinking that I subserve my principles to party exigencies. Had it been so I should not have taken the stand I did at the Dominion election. I have no objection, however, of letting you know "where I am" on the issues in the present election.

1st. I certainly am in favor of tax reform, and the taxation of land rather than improvements.

2nd. I am in favor of a radical improvement in the Workman's Compensation Act. I go further in this respect and would favor a factory [illegible] in addition, [illegible] on lines that would prevent a large proportion of the accidents that happen.

3rd. I am in favor of temperance reform, but while thinking that the three-fifths clause is too great a handicap, believe on the other hand that a simple majority is too narrow for stability and I would favor a 10 per cent. majority.

4th. I am in favor of public ownership of public utilities, not only of telephones, as advocated by Hon. Mackenzie King at the Opera House, but also of light and power, as denounced by Mr. R. R. Hall on the same platform and at the same meeting. Where was the consistency—it to take over the power was a violation of the rights of vested interests, how was it different in the case of the Bell Telephone?

5th. I am opposed to bilingualism in the schools, believing that the only way to build up a united Canada is to have the children taught one language, and that English.

Now, Johnny, do you ask which way I intend to vote? I answer, if one of our candidates stood for these measures, whether Grit or Tory, he would get my vote; as at present, in common with many of my fellow electors I am in the same position that Haley was when following Eliza the escaped slave, and turning to the candidates as he did to Andy and his chum, I say, "If you were not both such confounded lawyers" I should know which way to vote.

Geo. Leader.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

DO NOT BE MISLED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As many of my fellow workers read your valuable paper, I should be grateful if you would insert this letter.

Now boys, I find in conversation with some of you, that you honestly believe that by voting for the Liberal candidate on Monday, you will get a new compensation act. I am more glad than I can say, to find you earnest over this very important matter. It does you credit, and I am pleased to see you take such interest in Labor Matters and I hope you will always do so. The only way to get justice, is to be in earnest and show those who make our laws that we are in earnest. And when they see us in earnest they will pay more attention to us, it will be to their interest to do so.

Now, I want you to view the case as it really is, my friends, and view the facts as they really are, and then see if you are acting in your best interests by voting the Liberal ticket. Contrast the Liberal promises with the true and real performance of the Whitney Government. Think over these facts I give you and be honest to yourselves. Don't be led away by electioneering tales and promises, only made, remember, to get your votes.

Why is it that the Liberal candidate did not interest himself in our cause before he found himself a candidate in this election.

Why is it he cannot show a single benefit he has ever helped to give us.

Remarkable Home-Made Wrinkle Remover

(From Modern Housekeeper)

A wrinkle removing preparation which acts powerfully and quickly may at the same time be entirely harmless, as has been amply demonstrated in the case of the famous saxolite solution. While acting so marvelously on wrinkles of every sort, the saxolite is really beneficial to the skin itself, giving the latter tone and improving its texture. In the case of baggy cheeks or chin, also, more than mere temporary results are obtained.

One ounce of pure powdered saxolite, securable at any drug store, dissolved in a half pint witch-hazel, makes this most effectual wrinkle-remover. Use as a wash lotion. The effect is wonderful—and immediate.

SIR JAMES—"Well, if you're the Opposition, why in thunder don't you opposish?"

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-6 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

No encumbrance on the property. Torrens title. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time, the owners will refund your money and pay you six per cent. interest. Transcona Park is not an ordinary subdivision, all contracts are issued by the owners with this guarantee: There is no speculation about Transcona Park, but a guaranteed investment.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Everything points to Transcona Park as the residential district for Transcona, away from the noise and bustle, smoke and grind of the mammoth G.T.P. shops, yet conveniently situated, making the shops accessible in a few minutes. The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. By acting now you can "skim the cream off the milk" in Transcona Park. Transcona Park is the surest and quickest money-maker you can get to-day—BUY NOW. Street cars will run past this property.

To the Manager, EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Sir,—Enclosed please find my cheque (or draft), payable to your order for .....Dollars. If you are satisfied that the guarantee of the Winnipeg and Springfield Investments, Limited, to refund the amount of the purchase price of lots bought in its subdivision of Transcona Park, with interest at six per cent. per annum, is genuine, and that the company is responsible for its undertakings, please pay this amount to their selling agents, Clark and Munro, 513 Somerset Block, Winnipeg, as a payment on lots.....Block ....., in Transcona Park Subdivision, or return the money to my address.

A PRESENTATION

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. Fred Cann, Smith, on Tuesday evening, to bid farewell to Miss Vera Cann, the bride-elect. Games were indulged in and a social evening was spent, during the course of which the following address was presented:

Smith, December 5th, 1911

Dear Vera,—We, your many friends and neighbors have assembled to extend to you our best wishes, and to spend an evening with you, ere you depart from our midst. We feel that we cannot allow you to go without showing some marks of the general esteem in which you are regarded in the neighborhood.

While you have not resided in our immediate neighborhood for a great many years, yet you, and the family to which you belong, are no strangers to us and during your sojourn among us, and your social intercourse, you have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the circle in which we have moved.

Let us assure you that our best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life, go with you to your new home.

As a token of our esteem, we present to you this chair, knowing that you will not regard it, for its intrinsic value alone, but for the motive which prompts us in giving it.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

Mrs. D. Mahood,
Mrs. G. Simpson,
Mrs. B. L. Tully.

Mrs. George Simpson read the address and Mrs. B. L. Tully made the presentation which took the form of a beautiful chair.

Miss Cann, although taken completely by surprise, made a suitable reply and expressed her appreciation of the good will extended to her by her many friends, who were gathered together.

Refreshments were then served and a very pleasant evening was terminated.

The boy's appetite is often the source of amusement. If you would have such an appetite take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only create a healthy appetite, but strengthen stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. For sale by all dealers.

COTTESLOE.

The school pupils gave a very enjoyable "Scotch At Home" on St. Andrew's Day, which was enjoyed by a large number.

Messrs. McNeely, Barrie, Lobb, of Norwood, were in the vicinity Thursday and Friday.

A small house dance was enjoyed by the young people at Mr. Thos. Cuffe's hospitable home on Friday.

Mr. Geo. Barr has leased Miss Fitzpatrick's place on the 4th concession and Miss Fitzpatrick's sale which was held on November 30th, proved a great success.

Mr. Ross Nicol passed through here last week.

Mr. Robt. Elliott of Peterborough, has bought Mrs. Paget's house at the corner and intends opening the store.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Rosie Gardner is seriously ill. We hope for a speedy recovery.

The Football Association holds their annual ball on Friday. About 150 invitations have been issued and a big time is expected.

LAKEFIELD.

Lakefield, Dec. 5, 1911—Mr. Thos. Watley of Midland, Ont., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Alford.

Miss M. Alford returned last week from visiting friends at Dummer.

Mrs. M. Quigley of Toronto, is at present in the village, the guest of Mrs. P. Kennedy.

Mr. Domizico Sabastine left on Friday for Easton, Pa., where he will spend a few weeks visiting friends.

Mrs. T. H. Darcy left last week for Philadelphia on account of the illness of her daughter.

Mrs. J. W. Cornish of Peterboro', was visiting in the village this week.

Mr. H. J. Stuart left last week for a business trip to Havelock, Tweed, and Smith's Falls.

Mr. Bruce Murdock spent a few days in Midland and other places.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Bruce Ridpath is slowly recovering from his serious injury, but is not yet able to leave the hospital. We are sorry that he will not be able to play hockey this season at all.

Mrs. Chas. Pentz and children of Morris, Man., arrived in the village last week on a visit to her father, Mr. Thos. Gordon.

After Jan. 1st Mr. Wm. Dodge will be prepared to do all kinds of pruning. Ornamental and fruit trees a specialty.

Mr. Welly Garbutt has been transferred from the branch of the Traders' Bank, Lakefield, to the branch at Arthur, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fallis entertained a number of their friends last Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in playing cards and games. Lunch was served and the guests returned home, but not till the "wee sma' hours of the mornin'".

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER, and you will find the article full of duet, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West Into India.

The same political developments are to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is brought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and entered closely into the adornment of both sexes.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John." Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were, but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

NO DEMAND FOR RACERS

Failure of An Auction Sale at the Sheepshead Track.

The race horse is not as valuable an asset as in the days when the metropolitan tracks were running and anti-betting laws were not in force at eastern race courses. Judging from developments at the Sheepshead Bay track, New York, when Sam Hildreth, the well-known owner of thoroughbreds, endeavored to auction off his string of good campaigners. Four horses were knocked down at what Mr. Hildreth declared were "miserable sums," and he ended the sale forthwith, and announced that he would take the stable to England and there dispose of it.

Wonderful Sprinting Feat

Sporting news from Australia contains the account of a wonderful sprinting feat by Jack Donaldson, the champion pro., in a match over 130 yards, against C. E. Holway, the American. Donaldson won by four yards in twelve seconds. To go ten yards inside evens is something that has not been seen since the palmy days of Harry Hutchens. English critics think the distance was 120 yds, but the account from Sydney are somewhat different.

Of the 440-yard race for the championship of the world between Holway and Trembath, the New Zealander, R. E. Terry, says in a letter:
C. E. Holway tacked Trembath's scalp to his girdle over 440, giving him the championship, for Trembath had beaten Postle some time ago. Trembath was favorite at 10 to 9, but there was not much betting. Holway drew the inside, but he allowed the New Zealander to take the lead after going 40 yards. They ran along for 160 yards with Trembath ahead; then the big fellow rushed past Trembath like a flash and put a gap of five yards between them. At 300 yards Holway was four yards in front of his rival, but Trembath kept plugging away in the hope of Charlie tiring, but it was of no avail, for Holway maintained his lead to the finish, and won by about four yards. The official time was 50 4-5 seconds, but I had my dog watch on, and made it 50 3-8. It had been raining hard and the track was bad."

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, not to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a sailor for your daughter?" meaning, of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a soger for yourself?"

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief histories are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 660 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favorite form of play. Of these four-fifths at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another. "Let us go out and kill something," as the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 182 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four mentioning or sailing a recognized diversion, canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 96 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

ON "THE CANNY SCOT."

Scotsmen Not Sentimental, But Deeply Romantic at Heart, Says a Well-known English Writer.

"I have been trying all my life to like Scotsmen," said Charles Lamb, "and am obliged to desist from the endeavour in despair." There are still probably a few people who secretly or openly harbour similar antipathetic feelings towards the natives of Caledonia, but their number is decreasing daily. It would hardly be correct to say that the Scots are universally popular. Popularity is usually the product of leisure and security, and is seldom accorded to those who have had little opportunity for the cultivation of the graces and external beauties of life. For generations the Scots have been held fast in the grip of uncompromising realities. The poverty of the country, with its long stretches of bleak but beautiful moorland; the "Saxon cloth gloom" which so long reigned over the Lowlands, combined with the "Celtic gloom" permeating every "distant shieling" in the Highlands, has not been conducive to the development of a spirit of gaiety and harm. But what they have lost in one way they have gained in another. It is this very schooling in "strait and narrow" ways which has given the nation the grit and dogged determination it now possesses.

HUMOUR NORTH OF THE TWEED.

A sense of humor is not now denied Scotsmen by the Sassenach. "A Scotsman and therefore quick to see the humor of things," was the recent comment of so cosmopolitan a critic as Mrs. Annie Besant. What would Sidney Smith say if he could have heard it?

Meanness is another charge which seems to have been withdrawn in recent years. It probably arose in the first instance from the Scot's necessity for economy. Brought up in a country where money was unusually scarce, it was difficulty for him to develop suddenly an open-handed generosity. This fostered habit of economy, brought about by circumstances, must be carefully distinguished from the merely mean desire to hoard. Great generosity of heart is often found in the most economical person, while a certain cold selfishness not infrequently accompanies the most outrageous extravagance.

Another charge which has sometimes been levelled against the Scots is a lack of romance, but their history is an ample refutation of this charge. The Scotsman is not sentimental, but he is deeply romantic at heart."

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Cheadive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1911.

BANK OF MONTREAL.

On another page of to-day's Times will be found a report of the proceedings of the Bank of Montreal, including the profit and loss account and general statement. From these it will be seen that the profits for the year ending Oct. 31 last, after deducting charges of management and making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts, amounted to $2,276,518.75, or more by $836,518 than the sum needed to meet the dividend of 10 per cent. In consequence of the new stock issue and the adjustment of the bank premises account, the bank's capital will, on all payments being completed, stand at $16,000,000 in addition to a rest or reserve of the same amount. This with its assets of close on $230,000,000, not only enables the Bank of Montreal to maintain its premier position in Canada, but easily places it among the strongest institutions of its class in America. Of its assets, nearly one-half are readily realizable, and the fact testifies to the careful and conservative character of the management.

In his very interesting and suggestive address, Mr. Angus, the president, touched on a variety of topics of national importance. The retirement of Sir Edward Clouston from the general managership and the filling of his place by Mr. H. V. Meredith are events of wider scope than mere ordinary changes of administration. Sir Edward has been nearly half a century connected with the bank, and for twenty years has carried the main responsibility for the conduct of its affairs. Its ability to keep pace with the expansion of Canada and the efficiency displayed in all its departments are the finest tributes to his executive ability and fully deserved the encomiums offered by those who addressed the meeting. There is every reason to believe that Mr. Meredith will worthily fill the high position to which he was fully entitled by his length of service, his identification with its policy and the credit with which he has fulfilled the varied duties he has been called upon to discharge.

The president's review of the national situation was optimistic and not unduly sanguine. Business has been good and the indications justify the hope that it will continue and improve. Canadian industries have been active, employment satisfactory and the harvest, if it will not yield so large a return as at one time anticipated, is yet sufficiently profitable to stimulate land settlement. Mining is perhaps the line which has shown greatest activity and attracted the most outside attention, and this will certainly be increased in the near future. Mr. Angus noted that confidence displayed by British and continental markets in Canadian securities, but rightly urged that if this is to be confirmed and maintained, it is imperative that no issue having any taint or of doubtful value should be placed before the British or foreign investor.

UNITED STATES OF CHINA?

This world has seen all kinds of republics. Under that all-embracing title democracies, aristocracies, oligarchies and dictators have controlled cities, leagues, confederations, federations and highly centralized large states. It is, indeed, edifying to learn that the Chinese rebels intend to establish a republic. It is still more edifying that they propose to adopt the American form of government. But one is far from sure what interpretation the celestials will place upon a constitution under which in different parts of the western world the ideals of Jefferson and the practices of Diaz have equally flourished.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

CHINAMAN'S CURIOUS MISTAKE

In Chinese visiting etiquette the rank of the caller is denoted by the size of his card. Thus the visiting-card of a high mandarin would be an immense roll of paper, neatly tied up.

A gentleman who has travelled in China brought home a Chinese servent, and his wife soon after held a "reception." John Chinaman attended the door, and received with great disgust the small paste-boards of the visitors. Evidently with an opinion of his own of the low condition of his mistress's friends, he pitched the cards into a basket and with scant ceremony showed their owners into the drawing-room.

But presently the gas-man called with a bill—a big piece of cream-coloured paper. The "card" satisfied John. With deep reverence he received it. With low salaams he ushered the bearer not only into the drawing-room, but with profound bowings, to the dismay of the gas-man and horror of the hostess, right up to the centre of the room, where the lady was receiving her distinguished guests; and then John, with another humble reverence, meekly retired, doubtless supposing that the owner of the card was a person of very high distinction.

All He Said.

A Chinaman was called as a witness in the police court of Los Angeles in the case of a driver who had run over a dog. The judge asked him what time it was when he saw the man run over the dog.

"Me no sabe," replied the witness.

"I say," repeated the judge, "what time was it when you saw the man run over the dog?"

"Me no sabe," repeated John, smiling blankly.

"We shall have to have an interpreter," commented his honour, as he realised that the witness did not understand English; and accordingly another Chinaman was hailed into court to act as interpreter. "Ask the witness," commanded the judge, "when he saw this man run over the dog."

The interpreter turned to his fellow countryman and said, "We chung lo, ho me choo lung wow, e-ho me no chow chee, loo know so-too bing goang tong yit ben."

To which the witness replied, "Wong lin hee, wo hoo, wing cheong lung yue loo, kin sing, choy yoke coay ying lung ding wah, sling coay way can yick ling toy ling coay bew tee, po long po gou hung new kim quong quan loo chow yo ben tong."

The interpreter then turned to the judge and said, "Him say, 'Two o'clock.'"

WHAT DID HE MEAN?

"Three men got into a fight in front of the bank to-day," said a local tradesman at his family tea-table, "and I tell you it looked pretty nasty for one of them. The bigger one seized a great stick and brandished it. I felt that he was going to knock the other's brains out, and I jumped in between them."

The family had listened with rapt attention, and as the head paused in his narrative, the young heir, whose respect for his father's bravery is immeasurable, proudly remarked:

"He couldn't knock any brains out of you, could he, father?"

The head of the family gazed long and earnestly at the heir, as if to detect evidence of a dawning humorist; but, as the youth continued with great innocence to munch his bread and butter, he grasped and resumed his tea.

Race Dying Out.

There is at least one native race that is not dying out. This is the Maori, of New Zealand. According to statistics obtained in the census of Maoris taken in last March, the total native population of New Zealand is said to be 49,280, an increase for five years of 1617. In addition there are 215 Maoris on the Chatham Islands. It is a matter of difficulty to ascertain the number of half-castes living as Maoris. Probably all half-castes, and a large proportion of the Maoris as well in the South Island, now live in European fashion. The health of the natives has been generally good. There has been a great advance in the observance of sanitary laws, and the Maoris are beginning to realise that the excessive mortality amongst their children has been due to unsanitary conditions.

Roman Relics in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Palace the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

BANK OF MONTREAL

PROCEEDINGS AT THE 94TH ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS.

The 94th annual general meeting of the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal was held yesterday at noon in the Board Room, at the Bank's headquarters.

Amongst those present were: Mr. R. B. Angus, Sir Edward Clouston, Bart.; Sir William Macdonald, Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, Messrs. D. Morrice, H. V. Meredith, E. B. Greenshields, Hon. Robert Mackay, James Ross, W. Molson Macpherson, C. J. Fleet, K.C.; Dr. H. B. Yates, G. F. C. Smith, Rev. G. H. Parker (Lennoxville), C. H. Cahan, K.C.; William H. Evans, Hugh Paton, George Hooper, Henry Joseph, M. S. Foley, W. R. Miller, John Hamilton, George Durnford, C. S. Garland, W. Blackader, William Stanway, Mr. Archibald, C. Meredith, Mr. Alexander, Bartlett McLennan, James Crathern, P. F. McCaffrey, John Beatty, H. Meredith Smith, H. Dobell, J. B. Learmont, John Patterson, H. B. Scott, C. W. Buchanan, and James Skeoch.

On motion of Mr. W. M. Macpherson, the president, Mr. R. B. Angus, was requested to take the chair.

It was then moved by Mr. C. J. Fleet, K.C., seconded by Dr. H. B. Yates, that Messrs. G. F. C. Smith and Bartlett H. McLennan be appointed to act as Scrutineers, and that Mr. James Aird be the Secretary of the meeting. This was carried unanimously.

The Annual Report.

Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., the General Manager of the Bank, was then called upon to read the annual report of the directors to the shareholders at their 94th annual general meeting held 4th December, 1911:

The Directors have pleasure in presenting the Report showing the result of the Bank's business for the year ended 31st October, 1911.

Balance of Profit and Loss Account, 31st October, 1910	$ 961,789 11
Profits for the year ended 31st October, 1911, after deducting charges of management and making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts	2,276,518 75
Premiums on New Stock	365,677 50
Adjustment Bank Premises Account	3,400,000 00
	$7,003,985 34
Dividend 2½ per cent. paid 1st March, 1911	$360,000 00
Dividend 2½ per cent., paid 1st Sept., 1911	360,000 00
Dividend 2½ per cent., paid 1st Dec., 1911	360,000 00
	$1,448,000 00
Amount credited to Rest Account	3,000,000 00
Amount expended on new Premises during the year	706,800 00
	$5,148,800 00
Balance of Profit and Loss carried forward	$1,855,185 34

Since the last Annual Meeting Branches have been opened at Grand Falls, Nfld.; West Summerland, B. C.; Suffield, Alta.; Athalmer, B.C.; Kamloops, B.C., and Port Haney, B. C.

At a Special Meeting of the shareholders, held on 5th September, 1911, an issue of $1,600,000 new Capital Stock was authorized, making the total Paid-up Capital of the Bank $16,000,000, and at this date $1,013,000 of the New Stock has been subscribed for.

It has been decided to increase the Bank Premises Account to an amount which, while still thoroughly conservative, more closely approximates the value of our land and buildings as assets than did the former practice.

All the Offices of the Bank, including the Head Office, have been inspected during the year.

(Signed) R. B. ANGUS,
President.

Bank of Montreal,
4th December, 1911.

The President's Address.

The president, Mr. R. B. Angus, then moved the adoption of the Report, seconded by the Vice-President, Sir Edward Clouston, Bart. The President said:

I beg to move the adoption of the Report; and in doing so I have to call attention of the Shareholders to two important changes in the Annual Statement.

The one that was authorized by you at the Special Meeting, of 5th September and subsequently approved by the Treasury Board, provided for an increase of the Capital Stock by $1,600,000—mainly with a view of extending to that amount the right to increase the issue of notes in circulation. This appeared to be urgently demanded, as the circulation of this Bank had reached the legal limit, the amount of the paid up capital; and as other Banks were much in the same position, it was feared that a great scarcity of currency would soon be experienced.

Another considerable change in the Statement at this time will be seen in the treatment of Bank premises account, which for years had been represented by the comparatively insignificant sum of $600,000, notwithstanding the large expenditure recently incurred for Bank Buildings and for providing suitable accommodation for the increasing business throughout the country. Your Directors have been frequently criticised for having charged the full amount of the cost under this head against the profits of the year, and it has been suggested that we should alter our system to conform to that of other Banks in the published statements. We have, therefore, had a conservative valuation made of the property, which results in the figures now submitted, namely, $9,088,000, land $4,735,000 and buildings $4,353,000, and have taken back less than half that amount or $4,000,000—more adequate ly to represent this item in the balance sheet. To adjust bank premises consequently the sum of $3,400,000 has been applied and the balance carried forward.

The calls on New Stock extend over a period of nine months and the payments being completed the capital will stand at $16,000,000, and the rest at a like amount.

On 15th September last we sustained a loss of $271,721.00 by burglary at New Westminster, one of our important branches, where a considerable amount of money had been provided for the payment of wages. A small portion so far has been recovered in addition to the insurance and the balance has been written off.

The business of the bank has been fairly prosperous during the year, although the employment of spare funds, in call and short loans, has been less productive than usual, the prevailing rates having been extremely low in New York and London, during the whole period. The ordinary deposits show a gratifying increase, while those of a temporary character have to some extent fallen off, as we have been unwilling to encourage them at a higher rate of interest.

The money markets of Europe have taken freely of Canadian bonds and stocks, municipal, railway and industrial. There was a brief interval of dullness, but that condition seems to have passed and well vouched for securities are again in good demand. There is ample room for the employment of foreign capital in this rapidly developing country and it becomes the more imperative that no issue having any taint or doubtful value should be submitted to the foreign investor.

During the year under review Canada has enjoyed a period of great prosperity in almost every department of trade and commerce and has undoubtedly added largely to her permanent and productive wealth; although this has been more marked in the prairie provinces and British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces have not failed to participate.

The mining industry of British Columbia has taken on a new life, although the prolonged coal strike has seriously interfered with the operation of the mines and lessened their product. The mines in Ontario have been wonderfully productive. The iron and coal of Nova Scotia have had a large output and promise to be more profitable when their organization is more complete.

Manufacturers have been fully occupied and new industries of every description are springing up in all parts of the Dominion.

Immigration from Europe and the United States Canada has attracted 348,633 souls to her population, an increase over the previous year of 56,369. This item alone represents a very substantial gain, the value of each immigrant in money and property brought into the country has been variously estimated, and in the aggregate we know it must be very great; but still more to be valued is the advantage of the advent of so many additional hands, mostly farm laborers, who repair at once to the lands which lie open to their enterprise.

The increasing immigration, the consequent development of new acreage and the various climatic conditions make it difficult to estimate the result of the harvest. For instance the generally accepted figures for last year ranged from 60 to 95 millions of wheat, while the final outrun showed actually 118 millions in round figures. I have from a capable and well informed source the following estimate for this year: He says with regard to the Western crops:

Early estimates made by competent judges were in the neibhborhood of 200 million bushels. However, since then, these estimates have been reduced to about 180 millions, owing to subsequent unfavorable weather conditions. While the quality this year, as a whole, is not all that could be desired, the average prices being paid for the lower grades are even better than the prices obtainable in many previous years for the higher grades, and consequently the net cash returns will be the largest ever obtained from our Northwest;

When considering the effect of the wheat crop in relation to its influence on the prosperity of our Dominion, the value of the other cereals produced in our Northwest must not be overlooked. If we accept the present estimates of the various important grains, which are as follows:

Wheat	180,000,000 bushels
Oats	200,000,000 "
Barley	35,000,000 "
Flax	7,000,000 "

the cash value to the farmer, at the average prices prevailing to-day would be approximately over $235,000,000, no inconsiderable sum, considering that this is exclusive of the farmers' receipts from various other sources, such as live stock, hay, root crops and dairy products.

Railway construction especially in the Northwest continues to manifest great activity; and while in its immediate effect it benefits the country by the expenditure of money and the employment of labor, where the lines are judiciously chosen, it prepares the way for settlement and affords facilities for intercourse and ready access to markets.

Most worthy of note are the extensive irrigation works in the Northwest by which the arid lands are converted into fruitful fields destined to become the homes of a large farming population. As to the ready made farms they cannot be supplied fast enough to meet the wants of would-be settlers. While the railway took the initiative in this enterprise, it is being followed by large landholders and capitalists of Great Britain, who from patriotic motives in some instances are making such investments with the view of supplying homes, and giving a fresh start in life to the surplus population of the Mother Country. Experimental farms for the instruction and convenience of settlers are also of immense advantage and are gradually being extended to every province of the Dominion.

A review of the various branches of trade and industry throughout the Dominion is beyond my province, although the Bank in its widespread operations is vitally interested in the commercial life of the country, and touches it at every point. I, therefore, attempt but a brief summary.

The dry goods trade of 1911 has been somewhat unsatisfactory. In the Spring stocks were heavy and the demand light, this being to some extent a legacy of the previous year. But a decided improvement has set in, with much better prospects.

In Canadian cottons a largely increased trade has been experienced, with firm prices, and imports are gradually decreasing.

Early in the year also our Woolen and Worsted manufacturers suffered from the competition of foreign imports. Goods intended for the United States, where the markets were overstocked, were, according to Bradford reports, sold in Canada at a sacrifice, but that condition of things has been overcome and the mills are now well employed in goods for next season.

Indeed, competent authorities report the wholesale trade to be at present in a comparatively flourishing condition and increasing in volume.

The iron and hardware trade and groceries are said to be decidedly good, although profits are somewhat curtailed by excessive competition.

In boots and shoes a large and apparently profitable business has been transacted, notwithstanding the high price of leather. A most remarkable change has taken place in the values of butter and cheese, as compared with those of a year ago. Farmers have been receiving 3c more per lb. for cheese, and 5c to 6c more for butter. The advance has been realized on a considerable portion of the season's make—indicating that the farmers have received at least $3,000,000 more for their exports of dairy products than for the corresponding period of last year.

The hay crop of the Dominion for 1911 was less than the previous year, but the farmers have realized from it a larger return by $2 to $3 per ton, and a good demand exists both in the United States and Great Britain.

The export of cattle continues to grow less each succeeding year, this being due in a great measure to the larger consumption of the home market and the increasing population both in the East and West.

The fisheries on our Atlantic Coast have been exceedingly prosperous and last year everyone who handled fish made money through the transaction. The fishermen had the biggest catch and obtained the highest prices recorded. This is true generally both in regard to our Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

With regard to the Pacific Coast, the Salmon pack is reported to have been an average one. The market is active and prices good. Other fishery conditions are generally satisfactory.

Recent changes in the tariff of the United States and the comparative failure of the Water powers in that country have brought the pulp and paper making in Canada into prominence. Several of our Mills have been successful in their operations; and with our extensive spruce forests and unsurpassed hydraulic powers this industry is sure to find a natural development in this Country.

The lumber trade has been poor throughout the year especially in British Columbia, which has had to face the keen competition of the Western States, whose lumber has been forced upon the Canadian markets in consequence of the almost complete paralysis of business in their own neighborhood. In the East and especially of late, there has been experienced a marked improvement, both in export and local account. In the latter there has been an unprecedentedly brisk and profitable demand in consequence of the activity of building operations.

This leads me to remark upon the Real Estate transactions which in some districts savor too much of speculation. In Montreal and other large Eastern cities prices have long been in a measure dormant, until recently when the public suddenly realized the necessity of providing homes and commercial buildings, for the vastly increased population. Hence the rise in values which is not without justification.

The business of the port of Montreal shows a healthy increase. The total quantity of grain exported during the season of navigation is about 29,388,359 as compared with 26,349,514 bushels last season, while the exports of flour have almost doubled.

With the high prices of agricultural produce prevailing the farmers of Canada have had a profitable year, which is reflected in the satisfactory condition of the general business in all portions of the Dominion.

There can be no more certain indication of the business activity and general prosperity of the country than the railway earnings, which are phenomenally large.

I regret to announce the retirement of Sir Edward S. Clouston, Baronet, from the General Managership of the Bank. After 47 years of service, 20 of which have been passed in the Chief Executive Office, it is natural that he should seek some relief from the arduous duties of that position. I am happy to say, however, that his mature judgment and great experience will still be available to the administration, when required, in the less strenuous office of Vice-President.

He will be succeeded by Mr. H. V. Meredith, an able and well qualified officer, who will surround himself with such capable assistants as are always to be found on the staff of the Bank.

Sir Edward Clouston.

In seconding the adoption of the Report, Sir Edward Clouston said:

As the President has dealt with the general business of the country, I will confine the few remarks I make to the statement, a copy of which you have in your hands.

To meet the wishes of the Shareholders, expressed at several of our meetings, and to conform to the custom of the other Banks in Canada, we have shown the amount expended on new Bank Premises during the past year. We have also obtained valuations of all our lands and buildings, and I do not think we can be accused of over valuation when we place the value in our statement at $4,000,000, somewhat less than the value of the land alone. In fact, to the amount of $6,000,000 should be added the value of the buildings, making it $700,000 more. The increase of $3,400,000 over former statements has been employed partly to increase our Rest to an amount equal to our Paid-up Capital, and the surplus has been carried to our Profit & Loss Account. Speaking as an individual, and in no way as a mouthpiece of the Board, I would not advocate increasing, in future, our Rest beyond the Paid-up Capital. I should always like to keep the Profit & Loss Account at its present amount, as a Reserve, to be used when the Directors might see fit to do so in the interests of the Bank, and any surplus profits, after full appropriations have been made, I would suggest distributing among the Shareholders.

The shrinkage in deposits, as compared with last year, is accounted for by the fact that at that time we had very large special deposits, which were shortly after distributed. The regular deposit business of the Bank has been satisfactory. The increase in our Loans is an evidence that our Canadian business is steadily increasing. I think you will agree with me that the statement is a strong and satisfactory statement.

The President has mentioned that I have decided to retire from active Executive work. I have held the stage for a long time, for I find my service in the General Manager's position is more than double that of any of my predecessors. I have kept in mind however, that while Corporations may go on forever, the men who manage them come and go, and with that in view I have always tried to arrange that the exit of any one man should not in any way interfere with the business of the Bank. In passing over the reins of office to my successor, I feel I am doing a good thing for the Bank and its Shareholders. Mr. Meredith has spent all his active business life in the service of the Bank, is familiar with its policy, is trained in its traditions, and has been uniformly successful in his previous appointments. I have no doubt he will be equally successful in the high office to which he is called, and I am quite satisfied your property will be handled conservatively.

Rev. G. H. Parker then made a brief address, enquiring whether there was a prospect of increased dividends to the shareholders, with the increased earning capacity of the Bank.

Mr. R. B. Angus—"This question has already been dealt with by the retiring General Manager. He was of course only speaking for himself and without any knowledge of what the year might bring forth, when we shall be in better position to ascertain what the profits are. There is no doubt whatever that if the profits are adequate an additional dividend will be paid, but this depends so much on the outcome of the year's business that nothing definite can be said in anticipation."

The annual report was then unanimously adopted.

It was moved by Mr. Hugh Paton, seconded by Mr. George Hooper, that the thanks of the meeting be presented to the President, the Vice-President, and Directors, for their attention to the interests of the Bank.

Mr. Hugh Paton—"I am informed that it is not usual to speak to this motion. I will therefore content myself by remarking that it is singularly applicable to the present occasion, judging by the events of the year, and the work of the Bank as shown by the report just presented.

The motion was then unanimously adopted.

The President—"Gentlemen, on behalf of the President, the Vice-President and Directors, I wish to thank you for this mark of your renewed confidence. We have been able to carry on the affairs of the Bank during the year, with the loyal support of the staff, all of whom have been anxious to work for the furtherance of the interests of this institution. I feel that all the officials and staff have done their duty, and on behalf of them I wish to express our appreciation of the cordial support we have always received in our work." (Applause.)

Moved by Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, seconded by Mr. C. R. Hosmer that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the General Manager, the Assistant General Manager, the Superintendents, the Inspectors, the Managers, and others Officers of the Bank, for their services during the past year.

This was unanimously adopted.

The General Manager (Sir Edward Clouston)—"On behalf of myself, the Assistant General Manager, and the other officers of the Bank, I wish to thank you for this kind motion. I have always realized that the success of anyone in the position I have held depends largely on the efficiency and loyalty of his staff. I feel that I have had that to a great extent in the past, and on behalf of the Staff I have much pleasure in thanking you for your sign of continued confidence."

Mr. C. H. Cahan, K.C.—"As a shareholder I think it would be an expression of the feeling of all the shareholders of this bank if we, as shareholders, moved an expression of our regret at the announcement of the retirement of Sir Edward Clouston from the chief executive office of the bank, and an expression of our appreciation of the valuable services he has for so many years rendered to this Bank and its clients. Sir Edward Clouston has, during many years, held a very important and distinguished place in the banking affairs of Canada. Not only have his experience and services been of invaluable assistance to this Bank, but by his clear judgment, keen insight and extended knowledge of business affairs his advice has been of invaluable assistance to the clients of this Bank, who have frequently used it in times of need.

"As a shareholder therefore I beg to move a resolution expressing our appreciation of the services of Sir Edward Clouston and our regret that the circumstances of his health and long service have rendered it necessary in his opinion for him to sever his connection with the Bank as its chief executive officer." (Applause).

This resolution was seconded by Mr. James Skeoch, and unanimously adopted.

Sir Edward Clouston: "I must thank the mover and seconder of this resolution, and the Shareholders sincerely for all that has been said. I have always tried to do my best in the interests of the bank during my long connection with it, and feel very keen regret that I am now compelled to sever my connection with it as general manager."

The ballot for the election of Directors was then proceeded with, and without much delay the Scrutineers appointed for that purpose reported the following gentlemen duly elected, the old Board being re-elected:

Messrs. R. B. Angus, A. Baumgarten, Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., E. B. Greenshields, C. R. Hosmer, Sir William C. Macdonald, Hon. Robert Mackay, H. V. Meredith, D. Morrice, James Ross, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, K.C.V.O., Rt. Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O.

Officers Elected.

At a meeting of the Directors held later, the Right Honorable Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., was elected Honorary President of the Bank, Mr. R. B. Angus, President, and Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., Vice-President.

Bank of Montreal,
Montreal, 31st October, 1911.

R. S. CLOUSTON,
General Manager.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China appears, as it does in many other countries, to be complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed the New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is a month old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

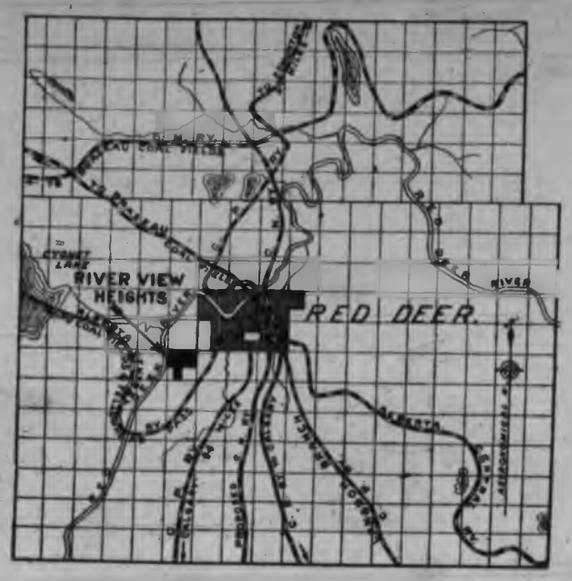
ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY! WILL YOU GRASP IT?

Everybody knows of the phenominal growth of Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon. How they have sprung from small villages in the course of two or three years, and now each can count its population by tens of thousands. The history of these large cities will, and is now, being repeated at

RED DEER, ALBERTA

RED DEER is an established town of 4,000 population to-day. Railroads now operating in Red Deer include C.P.R. Main Line to Edmonton, C.P.R Langdon Branch. Offices, Headquarters & Shops of Alberta Central. C.N.R. to Yellowhead Pass. Constructing G.N.R. Charter acquired. Red Deer with its location is destined to become the greatest divisional point of the great North-West as it is the key to the Yellowhead Pass. Railroads operating over this route will have a hauling capacity of 2,000 tons freight per engine more than those using the old route. Your own judgment will tell you what this means to Red Deer.



RED DEER has Water Sewer, Electric Light and Power Services. It has a Clothing Factory employing hundreds of hands. Sawmills, Brick Factory, a dozen Creameries and Cheese Factories and Elevators. It has an unlimited Fuel Supply, coal being obtainable at the Brazeau Mines which are situated only a few miles West of the Town, for $1.50 per ton. It has good Public and High Schools, Roman Catholic Convent and Presbyterian College. There is an abundance of shooting and fishing in the district. Look at Red Deer on the map then form your own conclusions as to its possibilities.

We are now placing on the market a Limited Number of Lots close to the city limits in "River View Heights" for the unusually low price of $100 & $125 per lot on terms of $10 Cash and $5 per month. Interest of 6% on balance.

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH BY-LAW NUMBER 1639

A By-Law to take the vote of the ratepayers of the City of Peterborough, entitled to vote on Money By-Laws, on a question to be submitted whether the said ratepayers are in favor of a supply of electric power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, deems it advisable to submit to the ratepayers of the said City of Peterborough, entitled to vote on money By-Laws a question as to whether the said ratepayers are in favor of a supply of electric power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

THEREFORE THE COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. That the following question be submitted to the ratepayers of the Municipal Corporation of the City of Peterborough, entitled to vote on money By-Laws:—

"Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario a supply of electric power?"

2. THAT the votes of the said ratepayers shall be taken on this question on the first day of January, 1912, being the same day as the annual election for the Municipal Council is being held and the polls will be held at the same hour on the said day, at the same places and by the same Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks as for the said Municipal Election.

3. A true copy of this By-Law shall be published in the Morning Times, a public newspaper, published in the said City of Peterborough on the days hereinafter mentioned, that is to say:—On the 9th, 16th and 23rd days of December A. D., 1911, and a copy of this By-Law shall be posted on George Street between Brock and Murray Streets, on Hunter Street between George and Aylmer Streets and between Water and Queen Streets, and on Charlotte St. between George and Aylmer Streets.

4. On the thirtieth day of December, 1911, at the City Clerk's Office at the corner of Simcoe and Water Streets in the City of Peterborough, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon, the Mayor will in writing signed by him, appoint two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk of the Corporation, and one person to attend each Polling Place on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of the answering of the said question in the affirmative and a like number on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of the answering of the said question in the negative respectively.

5. The second day of January, 1912, at the said Clerk's Office at twelve o'clock noon, is hereby appointed for the summing up by the Clerk of the Corporation of the number of votes given in the affirmative and in the negative respectively.

Made, passed and enacted this seventh day of December A.D., 1911.

W. G. MORROW, Mayor.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

NOTICE

Take notice that the above is a true copy of a By-Law passed by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough, on the seventh day of December, 1911.

And further take notice that at the hour, day and place therein fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

And further take notice that the name of any leaseholder, who does not at least ten days before the day in the said proposed By-Law appointed for taking the vote thereon, file in my office a Statutory Declaration proving that he or his wife is the holder of a lease, which under the provisions of section 354 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, entitles him to vote for or against the said proposed By-Law, shall not be placed on the Voters' List for such voting.

First publication the ninth day of December, 1911.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, City Clerk.

Council Chamber, December 7, 1911.

The Weather and Building Operations.

The open weather we are experiencing is enabling the various outdoor work in the city to be carried on vigorously, and is being taken advantage of more especially in the building trades, and on the drainage work in front of King Edward school.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

BEWARE OF SELFISHNESS

One of the Dangers of a Happy Life is Want of Thought for Others.

The bachelor girl, especially at the outset of her career, is usually bright, jolly, in love with life and the good times she is having. Everyone likes her because she has such good spirits, because her outlook on life is so cheery. She is welcomed everywhere. Her social calendar is usually full.

But if she wants to continue popular, if she wants her life to remain interesting, she should, as the years slip by, keep strict watch and ward upon herself. For this gay, care-free life of the bachelor girl is apt to make her self-centred, self-absorbed. She grows selfish. She is apt to be concerned only with herself and her own affairs. And gradually, little by little, lovableness slips out of her character. And before she knows it life still be less full of bloom and fragrance. There will be barren spots. It will begin to take on the air of the desert. And unless she heeds these signs of the times she will come to a rather desolate old age.

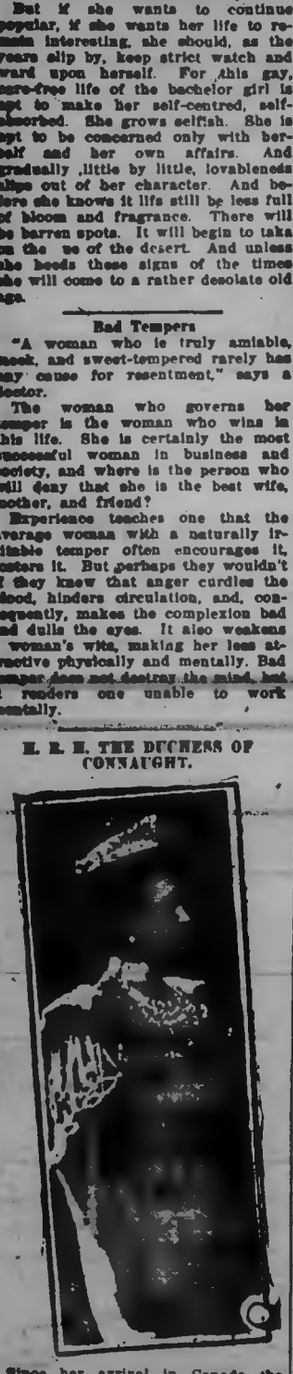
Bad Tempers

"A woman who is truly amiable, meek, and sweet-tempered rarely has any cause for resentment," says a doctor.

The woman who governs her temper is the woman who wins in this life. She is certainly the most successful woman in business and society, and where is the person who will deny that she is the best wife, mother, and friend?

Experience teaches one that the average woman with a naturally irritable temper often encourages it, fosters it. But perhaps they wouldn't if they knew that anger curdles the blood, hinders circulation, and, consequently, makes the complexion bad and dulls the eyes. It also weakens a woman's wits, making her less attractive physically and mentally. Bad temper does not destroy the mind, but it renders one unable to work mentally.

H. R. H. THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.



Since her arrival in Canada the Duchess has ingratiated herself with every one she has come into contact with simply by her sweet and gracious manners. She is delighted with Canadian ladies.

A Beauty Sleep

A grandmother who still possesses the freshness of complexion and youthfulness of eye that a woman of 30 would have, boasts that it is due to the daily siesta which she has taken all her life. She undresses every day after luncheon and sleeps for 20 minutes. She insists that one should put on a nightdress and really go to bed if one is to get the full advantage of the afternoon's sleep, and that it should not exceed 20 minutes.

A prolonged sleep in the afternoon makes one heavy and stupid, and keeps one wakeful when night comes, but 20 minutes' sleep will renew and refresh immensely.

This method is only possible to the woman of leisure, and utterly beyond the woman of business. But she can strive to get a sufficient amount of sleep at night.

Boots and Shoes.

Shoes are one of the expenses of a toilet that may be reduced by care alone. A worn-out shoe cannot be renovated; no amount of skill will make it pass as new. The only possible way to save in shoe leather is to care properly for the shoes while wearing them. When they are taken off they should be wiped at once, and if wet filled with paper and put in a dry place (nor near the first) for some hours. We do not advise putting shoes into a bag, for the sake of neatness. If boot-trees are not convenient the boots or shoes should be stood where the air can get to them, as this will tend to harden the soles.

Bottled Gooseberries

Cold Water Method.—Put in glass jars well washed gooseberries, or cut up rhubarb, fill the glass jars as full of water as they can hold, fastening on the lids under water Gooseberries rhubarb, huckleberries can be canned under water, not taking the jars out until rubber and cap are in place and fastened down tightly. They will be in perfect state until time gooseberries will come again — in other words will keep a year.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Prof. ARCHIBALD McGOUN

Mr. McGoun is a gentleman of wide and varied capabilities, and his legal connection aside, is well known and much esteemed by Canadians in many walks of life. The son of Scottish parents, his father hailing from the old-world village of Douglas in Lanarkshire, and his mother from 'Auld Ayr, wham ne'er a toon surpasses" — our McGill professor was born in Montreal in December 1855, and imbibed knowledge at the High

Professor of Civil Law at McGill

School and at McGill University, at the latter of which he attached the B.A. and gold medal honors in mental and moral philosophy of the year 1876, that of M. A. coming in 1880. Here he also graduated B.C.L. in 1878, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1894, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being chosen lecturer on constitutional [illegible] and about the same time was recommended for Q. C. by the Tupper administration.

Mr. McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was, indeed, one of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. Forming one of the deputation to the Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1884, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real live interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a Liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire"; "Commercial Union with the U. S. with a word on Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "A Revenue Tariff within the Empire" and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships amongst the Presbyterians.

NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1902 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat.

The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, —once. The hat pirate looked on Mr. Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

"The Festival [illegible] of which the football game [illegible] is an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked wig of the Kaji (paper mulberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionized the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution.

It is hard to convince a man that the world goes round when he never gets his share.

If the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, of course they should be looked into at once.

What poverty is like that of moral penury? When the head is poor, what mockery is money wealth!

Few people regret the times when they were silent, but many regret and often suffer because of imprudent speech.

People who pray on their knees on Sunday, and prey on their neighbors on Monday, need simplicity in their faith.

The essence of all good work is timeliness. For the right thing done at the wrong time is as bad as the wrong thing at any time.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edgaton in the current "British Medical Journal." In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest with seventeen cases in a list of twenty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their nails to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. THE GOLDEN ROSE MINING COMPANY

LIMITED, OF ORILLIA

Capitalization $500,000; Divided into 500,000 Shares; Par Value $1.00

Have decided to mine a large quantity of the Very Rich Ore shown up by recent developing work, and also intend to erect a mill to crush from 20 to 25 tons a day. This will enable the Company to pay dividends next summer. In order to provide funds for this purpose the Company now offer the balance of the 50,000 shares offered to the public in the Prospectus dated 26th day of September, 1910, filed with the Provincial Secretary. Sept. 27th, 1910. These shares are now selling at $1.25 per share until Nov. 25th. They will then advance to $1.50 per share. They will continue to advance in price as developing work proceeds. Assays got from this property run from $22.00 in gold per ton to $86.-240.40 (eighty-six thousand two hundred and forty dollars and forty cents). Part of the machinery is now at the mine—the balance will be taken in on the snow roads this winter.

The Golden Rose Mine is forty miles from Markstay Station by winter roads, and in summer it is reached by boat from Temagami Station on T. & N. O. Ry.

MILL RUN

Four and a quarter tons of ore was sent to Kingston. It averaged $50.00 in gold to the ton.

71.7 PER CENT. FREE MILLING

Four assays obtained from Hendley & Parker, Sudbury, gave, respectively, gold values of $2,419.01 $1,020.68, $787.63, $102.72. Two just recently assayed $607.20 and $393.60.

This stock is closely held, and will not be listed with any broker till the mill is installed and the first dividends paid. A small block will then be listed to make it liquid. As an investment this is second to none.

25 KNOT STEAMERS.

Fast Service Between Montreal and Liverpool in the Near Future

London, Dec. 7.—Lord Strathcona says a service of 25-knot steamers between Liverpool and Montreal will shortly be an accomplished fact, much sooner than people imagine.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment, he was well. For sale by all dealers.

Long Delayed in Delivery

A letter written in December, 1660, to a prominent member of the Body of Friends in Durham, Eng., has just been found in the Public Record Office, having been undelivered. A copy of the letter has been forwarded to the descendants in the eighth generation of those for whom it was intended. The letter is addressed: "For My Loving friend Richard Hickson, a butcher in Durham to be delivered to William Bywaters, Durham, paid 1d."

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

Hundreds of Thousands of Bottles of Nerviline Used Every Year for Curing Cramps, Diarrhoea, and Stomach Disorders.

Deadly cramps—the symptoms are not to be mistaken. Suddenly and without warning the patient experiences such agony in the stomach as to contort the countenance and cause him to cry aloud for help.

Then it is that the wonderful power of Nerviline can make itself felt — it cures so quickly, you would think it was made to cure cramps and cramps only

LETTER NO. 4877

"Last summer I was stricken with a frightful attack of cramps. I feared the pain in my stomach would kill me.

"My eyes bulged out and the veins in my forehead stood out like whipcords.

"My cries attracted a neighbor, who came to my assistance, and in a moment or two handed me half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in some sweetened water.

"It seemed as if an angel had charmed away the pain. In ten seconds I was well. Nerviline has a wonderful name in this locality, and is considered best for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, stomach and bowel disorders. I urge all my friends to use Nerviline.

WEDDING BELLS.

Sanderson—Cann.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cann Smith Township, when their daughter Jennie Vera, was united in marriage to Mr. Francis H. Sanderson, of Communication Road. The bride leaning on the arm of her father, entered the drawing room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by her cousin, Miss Kathleen Thorndyke, of Millbrook.

The wedding gown was of Paris de Soie with trimmings of seed pearl and duchesse lace.

The happy couple, amid showers of confetti and rice, left on their wedding trip, which will include Port Elgin and Toronto.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. J. E. L. Goodwill is confined to his home through illness.

Mr. David Meriam, of Fenelon Falls, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. Robertson are spending the day in Toronto.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, was in Lindsay on business yesterday.

The many friends of Mr. James Kendry, ex-M.P., will regret to learn that he is confined to his home through illness.

On account of poor gas supplied by the Gas Company, The Times' typesetting machines have been partly "stalled", with the result that considerable local and other matter has to be left over.

Farmers' Institute Meeting.

Owing to the Provincial elections coming on in December, the November and December Farmers' Institute meetings have been postponed until January. One of the important subjects to be taken up this year is that of cultivation of the soil and the conservation of moisture. Some sixty or seventy-five short courses are to be put on in various parts of the province.

Runaway.

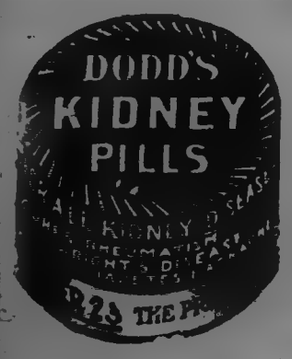
A team of horses belonging to Mr. James Brown, a farmer of North Monaghan, caused considerable excitement near the C.G.E. yesterday, when they ran away at the corner of Park and Romaine streets, the wagon being turned over and was completely demolished.

New Rink Manager.

The management of the Brock street rink has been taken over by Mr. Jack Thirnbeck, who has been connected with that establishment for several years. Manager Thirnbeck is making preparations for flooding the floor, when the weather warrants such action. Hockey teams desiring practice hours should interview the manager at once.

A Normal School Lecture.

A lecture was delivered last night in the Normal school lecture hall, by Mr. R. S. Neville, K.C., the subject being "Nation Building." There was a good attendance of students, but the citizens were not much in evidence. We think this is a pity, for these lectures given at this place are usually of a very high order, and are well worthy of the patronage of the general public.



An Enjoyable Dance.

The dance last night at the Conservatory of Music Hall, given by the bachelors of the city was a very enjoyable affair. There was a good attendance and everything passed off most satisfactory.

Leg Broken.

Mrs. Jordon, of 510 Parnell street, had her right leg broken by falling on the slippery pavement yesterday. Dr. McNulty, who is in attendance, states that her condition, although painful, is quite satisfactory.

The Humane Society's Medal.

On Good Friday last year a very gallant rescue from death was made by Mr. J. C. Ellis, when he saved the life of a young lad who had fallen into the Otonabee river. An effort is now being made to secure for Mr. Ellis, to which he is entitled, viz.: The Humane Society's Medal. According to the rules of the society, three witnesses must declare that they witnessed the rescue. Mr. John Carlisle, who has taken the matter up, would be pleased to hear from anyone who witnessed the occurance, and is prepared to furnish the necessary assurance, in order to conform to the rules of the society.

Go Slow Over Bridge.

Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Works' Committee of the City Council, has given notice that people driving over the Hunter street bridge must do so at no faster rate than a walk, or they will be liable to be fined. This bridge has practically served its day and generation, having been in use for nearly forty years. Even bridges made of steel do not last forever, and the purpose of Mr. Duncan is to try and preserve it until a new and better one is provided.

New Men for the Council.

Several new names have been mentioned as probable candidates for the City Council, amongst whom are ex-Ald. W. J. Johnson, G. N. Gordon, and Wm. Kempt. Mr. Johnson has already had long experience in the Council, and would make an excellent representative. Mr. Gordon, although without municipal experience on the Council Board, is a man who is in every way qualified, and would add strength and wisdom to that body. Mr. Kent is also, we believe, an exceptionally good man for the office. It looks as though there is likely to be a warm contest in all the wards of the city.

Jasper Park.

Pleasure seekers and tourists are impatient for the opening of travel to Jasper Park, B.C. During the past summer a number of parties travelled to the end of steel and then trailed away into this newly discovered wonderland of the West. They all came out with enthusiastic reports of the grandeur of the scenery along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Frank B. Kirkbride, of 55 Wall Street, New York, has just written to the Grand Trunk telling of a trip he had taken in the Athabasca country last fall. Mr. Kirkbride says in part:

The party met the outfit at mile 62 (Hinton), and from there rode to mile 110, stopping two nights on the way. The horses swam the Athabasca at mile 110, and the journey across Shovel Pass to Lake Maligne was made over the excellent trail which had been built by the Otto Brothers for the Park authorities in the Spring.

"From the time of leaving Hinton, the scenery grew steadily more interesting and beautiful. Maligne Lake was the climax of the trip. It is unique in the succession of constantly changing views—snow peaks, glaciers, and wooded foreground—which opens up as one rounds one promontory after another through the length of its eighteen miles. The party spent ten days camping at three different points on the lake, exploring valleys and climbing mountain ridges each of which disclosed new beauties.

"On our return we took the train at the end of steel, then mile 99. We are glad of this opportunity to express our appreciation of the thoughtfulness and courtesy of all the Grand Trunk Pacific officials on the construction trains.

"The trip was undertaken on the recommendation of the Otto Brothers who had previously guided some members of the party in the region near Field, B.C. Their enthusiastic reports of the new country to which they had moved were more than justified. The party consisted of Miss E. B. Kirkbride and Miss M. B. Kirkbride, of Philadelphia; Miss Marion R. Taber, Miss Josephine Taber, Miss Elsie Powell, Mr. Alfred Killmer, Mr. Edward Ingraham, and myself, all of New York.

"This was the first 'tourist party' to visit Maligne Lake, the Pearl of the West."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mr. Christopher Armstrong.

There passed away at the family residence Jenetville, an old and respected citizen in the person of Mr. Christopher Armstrong. The deceased gentleman had resided at Jenetville for upwards of 60 years, and was well known throughout the district. He was an Orangeman and a staunch Conservative. His wife predeceased him some seven years ago. Surviving are five daughters and three sons, who are Mrs. J. Ingram, Lindsay; Mrs. G. Hutchinson and Mrs. Geo. Nasmith, Jenetville; Miss Margaret Armstrong at home, and Mrs. Anderson of this city, and Messrs. James, John and Christopher of Jenetville.

TWO WAR PICTURES.

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats . . . It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms."

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle. . . . I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. S. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed.

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that covered the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and other things besides, in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

Why a Chinese Republic?

The statement that the revolution is likely to result in the formation of a Chinese Republic has caused a good deal of surprise in the Western world. When one thinks of it, however, this seems the most natural solution of the problem that will be presented by a successful revolution. The Manchu, a foreign dynasty, which has held power in China for some 300 years, is, of course, impossible since, as a matter of fact, the present revolution is for the purpose of driving that dynasty from power. On the other hand, the old native dynasty has been out of business for so long that it would probably be impossible to find any legitimate claimant of the throne in that quarter. The natural aversion to Japanese intrigue shuts that country out of consideration as the source of possible supply for a king, and of course a European prince would be altogether out of the question.

O'Hara once saw an advertisement in a street car reading—"Buy your stove at O'Brien's and save half your coal." "Bagorra," he said, "I'll buy two stoves and save all my coal."

Judge Got the Baby.

A few days ago an Iowa county court judge tried to imitate King Solomon in his well-known decision respecting the child that was claimed by two women. In the Iowa Court two women claimed to be the mother of a child that was produced before the judge. Thinking that history might repeat itself, the judge asked for the infant. Then, opening his knife, he announced his intention of cutting the child in half. Whereupon one of the mothers exclaimed, "Oh, no! If it comes to that you may keep the child yourself," and both women left the court.

"It appears to me that Solomon was a very over-rated man," murmured the judge.

THE WEATHER.

Snow or sleet and becoming colder.

Letters to The Editor

Is it not suspicious that his sudden interest in us, only commenced when this campaign began.

He was in the Dominion House, now why is it he never said one word about a compensation act to help labor then. If he really does wish to help us, why didn't he do it, or even try to when he had the chance?

Boys, remember the importance of the ballot to our cause and do not be led astray by your earnestness. Honestly, can you trust a man who has only just began to take the least interest in us.

Sir Jas. P. Whitney has in hand a good, sensible and righteous act, not only to give us proper and just compensation, but also to safeguard us by better factory inspection. Now he has promised us that Sir Wm. Meredith has the charge of drafting the act.

All that the Liberals here have done for us is to pass the present act, and which their candidate is grumbling about, and it is a long way from being a just act. But Mr. Whitney gave instructions months ago to the best lawyer in Ontario to examine the British and German acts and get evidence so he could draft a real good, just and satisfactory act. Now the Liberals in Opposition have not said a word in favor of a new act. That one factory act is the only piece of legislation for labor the Liberals have passed for 18 years. They know Whitney has a new act in good shape. To save their face a few of them are posing as anxious to give us a new act.

In the last three years, Sir Jas. P. Whitney has done something for us. In the Liberal Government's time and with their approval, the labor of prisoners in our gaols was farmed out to contractors, who used it to make goods at a lower cost than free labor could make them, and they sold these goods in the open market. What do you think of that? It is true—I can prove it. Prisoners' labor, bought by sweaters and used to compete against honest labor. Why doesn't the Liberal candidate tell you this. Whitney alone stopped this. Don't you think he proved himself our friend by doing so?

To protect men working in the building trade a bill was passed this year providing for the inspection of scaffolds by qualified inspectors.

There were no free employment bureaus in the Liberal government. Sir Jas. P. Whitney opened five and has secured work for no less than 21128 men through them. His Labor Bureau has also settled in a just way many labor disputes and has secured the prevailing rate of wages on all public works. Further, the Liberals thought six factory inspectors were enough. Whitney said "No," and appointed four more and a chief inspector.

Space alone prevents me from telling you more of what Whitney has done for the cause we have at heart. Contrast that with the work the Liberals have done for us—one bill in 18 years. Whitney will give us a new act, a better factory act.

I feel it is to our best interests to support Whitney. Don't you think so? Vote for Mr. Peck and do not be misled.

THE BEST MILL

Cannot grind good flour from poor wheat, nor can the human body get good health from food and drink which is not exactly fitted to the individual. What is good for one may be wrong for another.

Right food—the kind the system requires, goes a long way toward putting one on THE ROAD TO WELLVILLE.

This road leads to comfort, happiness and long life.

Grape-Nuts

is a food scientifically prepared from wheat and barley.

In the making, the starch of the grains is partially pre-digested for quick and easy assimilation—and furnishes the nourishment Nature requires for the daily rebuilding of body and brain.

It pays to keep oneself in the highest condition of physical and mental vigor.

Bad Food and Good Health Won't Mix

The human stomach stands much abuse but it won't return good health if you give it wrong food.

If you feed right you will feel right, for proper food and a good mind is the sure road to health.

"A year ago I became much alarmed about my health for I began to suffer after each meal no matter how little I ate," says a Denver woman.

"I lost my appetite and the very thought of food grew distasteful, with the result that I was not nourished and got weak and thin.

"My home cares were very heavy, for beside a large family of my own I have also to look out for an aged mother. There was no one to shoulder my household burdens, and come what might I must bear them, and this thought nearly drove me frantic when I realized that my health was breaking down.

"I read an article in the paper about some one with trouble just like mine being benefited by Grape-Nuts food and acting on this suggestion I gave Grape-Nuts a trial. The first dish of this delicious food proved that I had struck the right thing.

"My uncomfortable feelings in stomach and brain disappeared as if by magic and in an incredibly short space of time I was again myself. Since then I have gained 12 pounds in weight through a summer of hard work and realize I am a very different woman, all due to the splendid food, Grape-Nuts."
